PART 416—CORN CROP INSURANCE

MEANING OF TERMS

The 1947 Corn Crop Insurance Regulations (11 F. R. 13135) are hereby amended as follows:

§ 416.137 Meaning of terms. • • •

(f) "Coverage per acre" means (1) in case of yield insurance, the insured percentage of the average yield, or (2) in the case of investment insurance, the amount of investment insurance per acre determined by the Corporation pursuant to § 416.133 for the level of insurance shown on the approved application.

• • • • •

(n) "Insured percentage" means, in the case of yield insurance, the percentage of the average yield per acre covered by the insurance contract.

Adopted by the Board of Directors on February 12, 1947.

[SEAL] E. D. BERKAW,
Secretary,
Federal Crop Insurance Corporation.

Approved: February 12, 1947.

CLINTON P. ANDERSON,

PART 419—COTTON CROP INSURANCE REGULATIONS FOR THE 1947 AND SUCCEEDING CROP YEARS

CAUSES OF LOSS INSURED AGAINST

The Cotton Crop Insurance Regulations for the 1947 and Succeeding Crop Years (11 F. R. 8761, 9067, 13576, 13577) are hereby amended as follows:

Section 419.9 is amended by striking out the period at the end of the last sentence, inserting a colon in lieu thereof, and adding the following:

§ 419.9 Causes of loss insured against. • • • Provided, however, That the contract shall not cover loss in any year due to the shortage of irrigation water on any farm where the Corporation determines that the total acreage of all crops planted on the farm which require irrigation is in excess of that which could be irrigated properly, assuming normal conditions throughout the period when the cotton crop will require irrigation, with the supply of irrigation water which could be reasonably expected at the time the cotton is planted: Provided, further, That in areas where a part of the cotton is normally irrigated and a part is not normally irrigated, the acreage of cotting which shall be insured on an irrigated basis in any year shall not exceed that acreage which could be irrigated in a normal year with the facilities available.

Adopted by the Board of Directors on February 12, 1947.

[SEAL] E. D. BERKAW,
Secretary,
Federal Crop Insurance Corporation.

Approved: February 12, 1947.

CLINTON P. ANDERSON,

Chapter IX—Production and Marketing Administration (Marketing Agreements and Orders)

[Grapefruit Reg. 82]

PART 933—ORANGES, GRAPEFRUIT, AND TANGERINES GROWN IN FLORIDA

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

§ 933.330 Grapefruit Regulation 82—(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and the order, as amended (7 CFR, Cum. Supp., 933.1 et seq.; 11 F. R. 9471), regulating the handling of oranges, grapefruit, and tangerines grown in the State of Florida, issued under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, and upon the basis of the recommendations of the committees established under the aforesaid amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of shipments of grapefruit, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that compliance with the notice, public rule making procedure, and effective date requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act (Pub. Law 404, 79th Cong.; 60 Stat. 237) is impracticable and contrary to the public interest in that the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, is insufficient for such compliance.

(b) Order. (1) During the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., e. s. t., February 17, 1947, and ending at 12:01 a. m., e. s. t., March 3, 1947, no handler shall ship:

(i) Any grapefruit of any variety, grown in the State of Florida, which grade U. S. No. 3, or lower than U. S. No. 3 grade (as such grades are defined in the United States standards for citrus fruits, as amended (11 F. R. 13239; 12 F. R. 1));

(ii) Any seeded grapefruit, other than pink grapefruit, grown in the State of Florida, which are of a size smaller than a size that will pack 80 grapefruit, packed in accordance with the requirements of a standard pack (as such pack is defined in the aforesaid amended United States standards), in a standard box (as such box is defined in the standards for containers for citrus fruit established by the Florida Citrus Commission pursuant to Section 3 of Chapter 20449, Laws of Florida, Acts of 1941 (Florida Laws Annotated § 595.09));

(iii) Any seedless grapefruit, other than pink grapefruit, grown in the State of Florida, which are of a size smaller than a size that will pack 96 grapefruit, packed in accordance with the requirements of a standard pack (as such pack is defined in the aforesaid amended United States standards), in a standard box (as such box is defined in the aforesaid standards for containers for citrus fruit); or

(iv) Any pink grapefruit, grown in the State of Florida, which are of a size smaller than a size that will pack 126 grapefruit, packed in accordance with the requirements of a standard pack (as such pack is defined in the aforesaid amended United States standards), in a standard box (as such box is defined in the aforesaid standards for containers for citrus fruit).

(2) As used in this section, "variety," "handler," and "ship" shall have the same meaning as is given to each such term in said amended marketing agreement and order. (48 Stat. 31, 670, 675; 49 Stat. 750; 50 Stat. 246; 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.)

Done at Washington, D. C., this 13th day of February 1947.

[Orange Reg. 111]

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

§ 933.332 Orange Regulation 111—(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the amended marketing agreement and the order, as amended (7 CFR, Cum. Supp., 933.1 et seq.; 11 F. R. 9471), regulating the handling of oranges, grapefruit, and tangerines grown in the State of Florida, issued under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, and upon the basis of the recommendations of the committees established under the aforesaid amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of shipments of oranges, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that compliance with the notice, public rule making procedure, and effective date requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act (Pub. Law 404, 79th Cong., 60 Stat. 237) is impracticable and contrary to the public interest in that the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, is insufficient for such compliance.

(b) Order. (1) During the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., e. s. t., February 17, 1947, and ending at 12:01 a. m., e. s. t., March 3, 1947, no handler shall ship:

(i) Any oranges, except Temple oranges, grown in the State of Florida, which grade U. S. No. 2, as such grade is defined in the United States standards for citrus fruits, as amended (11 F. R. 13239; 12 F. R. 1), if more than one-half of the surface in the aggregate is affected with discoloration;

(ii) Any container of oranges, except Temple oranges, grown in the State of Florida, which grade U. S. Combination Grade (as such grade is defined in the aforesaid amended United States standards) unless at least sixty-five percent (65%), by count, of the total quantity of oranges in such containers meet the requirements of U. S. No. 1 grade (as such grade is defined in the aforesaid amended United States standards) and each of the remainder of the oranges meets all other requirements of the aforesaid U. S. Combination Grade;

(iii) Any oranges, except Temple oranges, grown in the State of Florida, which grade U. S. Combination Russet, U. S. No. 2 Russet, U. S. No. 3, or lower than U. S. No. 3 grade, as such grades are defined in the aforesaid amended United States standards;

(iv) Any oranges, except Temple oranges, grown in the State of Florida, which are of a size smaller than a size that will pack 288 oranges, packed in accordance with the requirements of a standard pack (as such pack is defined in the aforesaid amended United States standards), in a standard box (as such box is defined in the standards for containers for citrus fruit established by the Florida Citrus Commission pursuant to Section 3 of Chapter 20449, Laws of Florida, Acts of 1941 (Florida Laws Annotated § 595.09));

(v) Any oranges, except Temple oranges, grown in the State of Florida, which are of a size larger than a size that will pack 126 oranges, packed in accordance with the requirements of a standard pack (as such pack is defined in the aforesaid amended United States standards), in a standard box (as such box is defined in the aforesaid standards for containers for citrus fruit); or

(vi) Any Temple oranges, grown in the State of Florida, which grade U. S. No. 3 or lower than U. S. No. 3, as such grades are defined in the aforesaid amended United States standards.

(2) As used in this section, "handler" and "ship" shall have the same meaning as is given to each such term in said amended marketing agreement and order. (48 Stat. 31, 670, 675; 49 Stat. 750; 50 Stat. 246; 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.)

Done at Washington, D. C., this 13th day of February 1947.

[Tangerine Reg. 63]

PART 933—ORANGES, GRAPEFRUIT, AND TANGERINES GROWN IN FLORIDA

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

§ 933.331 Tangerine Regulation 63—(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the amended marketing agreement and the order, as amended (7 CFR, Cum. Supp., 933.1 et seq.; 11 F. R. 9471), regulating the handling of oranges, grapefruit, and tangerines grown in the State of Florida, issued under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, and upon the basis of the recommendations of the committees established under the aforesaid amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of shipments of tangerines, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that compliance with the notice, public rule making procedure, and effective date requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act (Pub. Law 404, 79th Cong.; 60 Stat. 237) is impracticable and contrary to the public interest in that the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, is insufficient for such compliance.

(b) Order. (1) During the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., e. s. t., February 17, 1947, and ending at 12:01 a. m., e. s. t., March 3, 1947, no handler shall ship:

(i) Any tangerines, grown in the State of Florida, which grade U. S. No. 3, or lower than U. S. No. 3 grade (as such grades are defined in the U. S. Standards for Tangerines, issued by the United States Department of Agriculture, effective September 29, 1941, as amended); or

(ii) Any tangerines, grown in the State of Florida, which are of a size smaller than the size that will pack 246 tangerines, packed in accordance with the requirements of a standard pack (as such pack is defined in the aforesaid U. S. Standards), in a half-standard box (inside dimensions 9½ x 9½ x 19⅛ inches; capacity 1,726 cubic inches).

(2) As used in this section, "handler" and "ship" shall have the same meaning as is given to each such term in said amended marketing agreement and order. (48 Stat. 31, 670, 675; 49 Stat. 750; 50 Stat. 246; 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.)

PART 953—LEMONS GROWN IN CALIFORNIA AND ARIZONA

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

§ 953.316 Lemon Regulation 209—(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement and the order (7 CFR, Cum. Supp., 953.1 et seq.), regulating the handling of lemons grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona, issued under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the Lemon Administrative Committee, established under the said marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of the quantity of such lemons which may be handled, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that compliance with the notice, public rule making procedure, and effective date requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act (Pub. Law 404, 79th Cong., 2d Sess.; 60 Stat. 237) is impracticable and contrary to the public interest in that the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, is insufficient for such compliance.

(b) Order. (1) The quantity of lemons grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona which may be handled during the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., February 16, 1947, and ending at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., February 23, 1947, is hereby fixed at 250 carloads, or an equivalent quantity.

(2) The prorate base of each handler who has made application therefor, as provided in the said marketing agreement and order, is hereby fixed in accordance with the prorate base schedule which is attached hereto and made a part hereof by this reference. The Lemon Administrative Committee, in accordance with the provisions of the said marketing agreement and order, shall calculate the quantity of lemons which may be handled by each such handler during the period specified in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph.

(3) As used in this section, "handled," "boxes," "handler," "carloads," and "prorate base" shall have the same meaning as is given to each such word in the said marketing agreement and order. (48 Stat. 31, 670, 675; 49 Stat. 750; 50 Stat. 246; 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.)

PART 966—ORANGES GROWN IN CALIFORNIA AND ARIZONA

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

§ 966.311 Orange Regulation 165—(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the provisions of the order (7 CFR, Cum. Supp., 966.1 et seq.) regulating the handling of oranges grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona, issued under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the Orange Administrative Committee, established under the said order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of the quantity of such oranges which may be handled, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that compliance with the notice, public rule making procedure, and effective date requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act (Pub. Law 404, 79th Cong., 2d Sess.; 60 Stat. 237) is impracticable and contrary to the public interest in that the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, is insufficient for such compliance.

(b) Order. (1) The quantity of oranges grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona which may be handled during the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., February 16, 1947, and ending at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., February 23, 1947, is hereby fixed as follows:

(i) Valencia oranges. Prorate Districts Nos. 1, 2, and 3, no movement.

(ii) Oranges other than Valencia oranges. (a) Prorate District No. 1, unlimited movement; (b) Prorate District No. 2, 1,100 carloads; and (c) Prorate District No. 3, unlimited movement.

(2) The prorate base of each handler who has made application therefor, as provided in the said order, is hereby fixed in accordance with the prorate base schedule which is attached hereto and made a part hereof by this reference. The Orange Administrative Committee, in accordance with the provisions of the said order, shall calculate the quantity of oranges which may be handled by each such handler during the period specified in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph.

(3) As used in this section, "handled," "handler," "carloads," and "prorate base" shall have the same meaning as is given to each such term in the said order; and "Prorate District No. 1," "Prorate District No. 2," and "Prorate District No. 3" shall have the same meaning as is given to each such term in § 966.107 (11 F. R. 10258) issued pursuant to said order. (48 Stat. 31, 670, 675; 49 Stat. 750; 50 Stat. 246; 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.)

Done at Washington, D. C., this 13th day of February 1947.

Director, Fruit and Vegetable Branch, Production and Marketing Administration.

§ 803.5 Authorization and priorities assistance for housing—(a) What this section provides. This section, (Housing Expediter Priorities Regulation 5), was the method by which the Housing Expediter provided priorities assistance under the Veterans' Emergency Housing Program on applications filed from September 10, 1946 until December 24, 1946. During that period it was also the method by which persons who wished to construct, repair, make additions to, alter, install fixtures in, improve, or convert housing accommodations restricted by Civilian Production Administration's Veterans' Housing Program Order 1 could apply for authorization under that order when the work was to be done on structures used for residential purposes. Applications under the regulation were made to the National Housing Agency or an agency acting for it under a delegation. On December 24, 1946, this system of applications was superseded by requests for permits under the Housing Permit Regulation. A person who has received authorization or a preference rating for the construction of any building under this section (HEPR 5) may surrender his authorization and apply for a permit as provided in the Housing Permit Regulation if he has not yet begun construction of such building. If a permit is granted, the provisions of this section shall be inapplicable with respect to construction begun after December 24 and covered by the permit, and the approved application will be amended or cancelled to exclude such construction therefrom. The provisions of this section remain applicable to all housing accommodations built, altered, completed or repaired hereunder. This includes all housing accommodations which have been authorized hereunder upon which construction has begun on or before December 24, 1946, and all housing accommodations started after December 24, 1946, unless the applicant properly surrendered his authorization in accordance with the Housing Permit Regulation. Such construction, subject to the conditions of this section, may continue to receive priorities assistance, and the applicant and succeeding owners will be subject to the provisions of this section as long as it remains in effect. Requests for changes in applications approved under this section which do not involve additional dwelling units shall be made in accordance with the provisions of this section.

APPLICATIONS

(c) Kinds of applications approved. Applications for authorization under Civilian Production Administration's Veterans' Housing Program Order 1 or for priorities assistance under this section, or both, have been approved when made by persons in the following categories:

(1) A veteran wishing to build, complete, alter, or repair a house for his occupancy as owner.

(2) A person wishing to build or complete family dwelling accommodations (or convert dwellings or other structures into family dwelling accommodations) to which veterans will be given preference in selling or renting.

(3) A person wishing priorities assistance to complete dwelling accommodations under construction on March 26, 1946, not eligible for authorization under the preceding subparagraph.

(4) A person wishing to reconstruct (or build on another site in event of total destruction) or repair dwelling accommodations destroyed or damaged by fire, flood, tornado, or other similar disaster if the reconstruction or repair is necessary to the continuance of year-round occupancy by the applicant or his tenant.

(5) A person wishing to re-erect a dwelling which is required to be moved because the land on which it is located has been or is in the process of being acquired by eminent domain. An application submitted under this subparagraph is not subject to the provisions of paragraphs (i), (j), and (k) of this section unless the dwelling is to be re-erected for sale or for rent.

(6) A person wishing authorization to make repairs or alterations to dwelling accommodations necessary in order to maintain them in a habitable condition or to return them to a habitable condition, or to make a summer home habitable for year-round or winter occupancy by a veteran, or to provide space for additional persons who are either veterans or members of the immediate family of the applicant, or both.

(7) A producer of a scarce material or product needed for the construction or production of dwelling accommodations, facilities or materials or needed for public health or safety, wishing to construct, repair, or alter dwelling accommodations which are necessary to increase or maintain the production of the scarce material or product, and which are to be held for rent to employees of the industry producing the scarce material or product.

(8) A person wishing to construct, repair, or alter a farm dwelling, such construction, repair, or alteration, being necessary to increase or maintain the production of essential food products.

(9) An educational institution (or a person under its sponsorship) or a public organization wishing to construct, repair, or alter a dormitory or other single-person housing facility for student veterans.

(10) A person wishing to construct or erect dwelling accommodations for experimental or testing purposes or to obtain materials for other experimental or testing purposes. Such dwelling accommodations are not subject to paragraphs (i), (j), and (k) of this section unless sold or rented for dwelling purposes.

(d) Restrictions on applicant. An applicant who constructs, completes, converts, alters, or repairs dwelling accommodations under this section must comply with all agreements and conditions stated in the approved application and shall do the work in accordance with the description given in the application and any attachments thereto, unless he has obtained prior written approval for a change from the agency which approved the original application.

CONSTRUCTION

(e) Use of HH rating. The HH rating assigned for dwelling accommodations may be used only to obtain materials of the kinds listed on Schedule A to Civilian Production Administration's Priorities Regulation 33 and only to obtain the minimum quantities of such materials which are needed for the dwelling accommodations as described and approved in the application. All materials obtained by using the HH rating shall be used only in the construction of the dwelling accommodations as described and approved in the application and attachments thereto. Schedule A to Civilian Production Administration's Priorities Regulation 33 explains how the rating may be applied to a purchase order, who may use the rating to obtain materials, when it expires and how it may be extended under certain circumstances. An applicant who has failed to comply with the requirements of the next paragraph may not use an HH rating under this section.

(f) Posting of placards or signs. Upon approval of an application for new construction or conversions under this section, a placard or placards was sent to the applicant indicating that the dwelling accommodations are being built under the Veterans' Emergency Housing Program. If the application was approved under paragraph (c) (2) or (c) (9) of this section, the applicant must insert the application serial number in the placard or placards, legibly and permanently, and must post a placard in front of each separate residential building on the site in a conspicuous location within 5 days after the time construction is begun and must continue to post the placard until completion of the building. Unless all the accommodations in the building have been sold or rented to veterans in accordance with paragraph (j), the applicant must continue to post the placard for 60 days after completion in the case of offer for sale or 30 days afterwards in the case of offer for rent. As soon as any residential accommodation is completed, the builder must insert, legibly and permanently, the appropriate rent and sales price, not in excess of those specified in the application as approved. The applicant may post a project sign instead of posting the placards sent to him. If he chooses to use a project sign, he must post at least one sign having the approximate dimensions of 3 feet by 5 feet or more in a conspicuous location on the site of each project. Such a sign must contain the same information that is required on placards as provided above and all provisions applying to placards, apply to signs posted instead of placards.

(g) Construction inspection. Some applications have been approved under this section pursuant to provisions that the dwellings built thereunder must comply with all or part of the "HH Minimum Property Requirements". When the Federal Housing Administration has approved an application for authorization or priorities assistance for such a dwelling, it transmits to the applicant three postal cards (HH Form No. 1010) for use by him in reporting construction progress. The applicant shall properly fill out each card received by him and mail it at the stage of construction indicated below to the State or District Office of the Federal Housing Administration where his application was approved. The first card shall be mailed when construction has begun. The second card shall be mailed when the dwelling has been enclosed and roofed, structural framing completed and exposed, and roughing-in of heating, plumbing, and electric work installed and visible for inspection. The third card shall be mailed when the dwelling has been substantially completed. The Federal Housing Administration will make an inspection of the dwelling upon receipt of the second postal card referred to above and a second inspection upon receipt of the third postal card. These are for the purpose of determining whether the construction conforms to the plans, outline specifications, and other exhibits made a part of the application. Inspections under the National Housing Act, where applicable, may be made in place of the inspections provided in this paragraph. An applicant who has failed to fill out and mail each card as required by this paragraph may not use an HH rating under this section and may not sell or rent the dwelling involved until such card has been filled out and mailed to the State or District Office of the Federal Housing Administration where his application was approved.

HOLDING FOR RENT

(h) Housing required to be held for rent. If an application as approved contains a statement or otherwise indicates that a dwelling or an apartment will be held for rent, the original applicant and any subsequent owner shall hold the dwelling or apartment for rent as long as this section remains in effect (but not later than December 31, 1947). However, the structure may be sold (at not more than the maximum sales price if specified in the application) to any person for investment purposes. In such case the purchaser shall not occupy the dwelling or apartment but shall hold it for rent in accordance with this section. Any subsequent owner of dwelling accommodations approved under paragraph (c) (7) of this section shall continue to hold them for rent to the persons described in that paragraph.

MAXIMUM SALES PRICES AND RENTS

(i) Maximum sales prices and rents—(1) General. The restrictions on sales prices and rents contained in this paragraph must be observed as long as this section remains in effect. They apply to sales prices and rents for dwellings of the kinds described below when built or converted under this section.

The restrictions on sale prices contained in this section do not apply to property being sold in the course of judicial or statutory proceedings in connection with foreclosures and do not prohibit any subsequent sale of such property at or below the amount of the sale price in such proceedings.

In the case of any dwelling unit provided by converting a structure in a Defense Rental Area established pursuant to the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, the maximum rent specified in the application as approved is not the authorized amount at which the dwelling may be rented as the rents for converted units must be determined by the Office of Temporary Controls (Office of Price Administration).

Approval of a proposed sales price or rent under this section should be considered merely as a limit upon the price or rent to be charged. It should not be considered as a statement that the sales price or rent represents the value of the dwelling or the apartment for other purposes.

Within 30 days of any sale, by the applicant or a subsequent owner, of any dwelling accommodations for which a maximum sales price has been established under this section, the seller shall fill out in triplicate a sales report form (NHA form 14–39). The seller shall file the original and one signed copy of this form with the local Area Rent Office of the Office of Temporary Controls (Office of Price Administration). If the dwelling accommodations are not in an area under OTC rent control, the seller shall send the original and one signed copy of the form to the nearest OTC Area Rent Office.

(2) One-family dwellings. (i) An applicant or subsequent owner must not sell a one-family dwelling built or converted under this section, including the land and all improvements (including garage if provided), for more than the maximum sales price specified in the application as approved.

(ii) No person shall rent a one-family dwelling unit built or converted under this section for more than the maximum rent specified in the applicaiton as approved. If no rent was specified in the application for a dwelling built under this section, the person wishing to rent the dwelling may request the agency with which the application was filed to set a rent. This will be done on the basis of information given in the original application and any supplemental information filed, and no person shall rent the dwelling for more than the amount set. After the first renting of the dwelling in an area under Federal rent control, the request to set or approve a rent should not be made as described above, but should be made to the OTC Area Rent Office or, in the District of Columbia to the Administrator of Rent Control.

(3) Two-family dwellings. (i) An applicant or subsequent owner must not sell a two-family dwelling built or converted under this section, including land and all improvements (including garage if provided), for more than the maximum sales price specified in the application as approved.

(ii) No person shall rent an apartment in a two-family dwelling built or converted under this section for more than the maximum rent specified for the apartment in the application as approved. No person shall sell for the occupancy of the purchaser any apartment, undivided interest, or other right to accommodations in a part of a two-family dwelling built or converted under this section unless a proposed maximum sales price for such accommodations has been submitted to and approved in writing by the agency which approved the original application. No person shall sell such accommodations for more than such maximum sales price.

(4) Multiple-family dwellings. No person shall rent an apartment in a multiple-family dwelling built or converted under this section for more than the maximum rent specified for the apartment in the application as approved. No person shall sell for the occupancy of the purchaser any apartment, undivided interest, or other right to accommodations in a multiple-family dwelling built or converted under this section unless a proposed maximum sales price for such accommodations has been submitted to and approved in writing by the agency which approved the original application. No person shall sell such accommodations for more than such maximum sales price.

(5) Dormitories. As long as this section remains in effect, no person (whether the applicant or any other person) shall rent accommodations in a dormitory or other housing facility built or converted under this section for more than the maximum rent specified in the application as approved.

(6) Requests for increases in sales prices or rents because of increased costs. An applicant may apply by letter in triplicate to the agency with which the application was filed for an increase in the maximum sales price or maximum rent approved in the application before title to the dwelling has passed or before it is initially rented. The increase will not be approved unless it can be shown that he has incurred additional or increased costs in the construction over which he had no control, and which could not reasonably have been anticipated by him at the time of the initial application, or unless it can be shown that he will incur additional or increased costs in the operation of rented accommodations over which he has no control, and that these increased or additional costs will make it unreasonable to require him to sell or rent at the price or rent approved in the application. No increase in sales price or rent will be granted in excess of the increase in construction costs, or a proper proportion thereof in the case of rent, or the increase in operating costs, as the case may be.

(7) Requests for increases in sales prices or rents because of improvements. If he has made major structural changes or improvements (not including ordinary maintenance and repair) to the dwelling which would warrant an increase, a subsequent owner or any owner-occupant of a dwelling built or converted under this section may apply for an increase in the sales price or rent specified in the application. Such an application should be made by a letter in triplicate, or by such form as may be prescribed, to the agency with which the original application was filed. No increase will be granted in excess of the cost of such changes or improvements, or a proper proportion thereof in the case of a requested increase in rent. Moreover, no increase in sales price to an amount more than $10,000 (or $17,000 in the case of a two-family dwelling) will be granted and no increase in shelter rent to an amount more than $80 a month will be granted except where unusual hardship would result to the applicant for the increase. If an increase in rent is needed because of subsequent changes or improvements, and the accommodations have previously been rented and are in a Defense Rental Area established pursuant to the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, the owner should apply to the Area Rent Office of the Office of Temporary Controls (OPA) for an increase (or in the District of Columbia, to the Office of Administrator of Rent Control for the District of Columbia). If an increase is granted, one copy of the instrument granting the increase must be filed with the local office of the agency with which the application was filed. Upon the filing of this copy of the instrument granting the increase, the new rent granted becomes the maximum rent under this section. The right to apply for any increase in the sales price or rent specified in the application shall have no effect upon the authorized sales price or rent until the increase has been approved in writing in accordance with this section. (Under Civilian Production Administration's Veterans' Housing Program Order 1 it may be necessary to get authorization to make these changes or improvements.)

(8) Tie-in sale. It shall be a violation of this section to condition a sale or rent upon the purchase of, or the agreement to purchase, any commodity, service or property interest, except where this section specifically permits the consideration paid for such commodity, service, or property interest to be included in or added to the maximum sales price or maximum rent.

PREFERENCES FOR VETERANS

(j) Preferences for veterans—(1) General. This paragraph tells how preferences will be given under this section to veterans in the initial or any subsequent sale or rental as long as this section remains in effect. Although these preferences for veterans are limited to the periods specified below, the restrictions of paragraph (i) of this section on sales prices and rent continue as long as this section remains in effect. The preferences for veterans provided by this paragraph do not apply to sales in the course of judicial or statutory proceedings in connection with foreclosures. Sales subsequent to such sales, however, are subject to the provisions of this paragraph. The provisions of this paragraph do not apply to dwellings for which neither a maximum sales price nor a maximum rent were required to be stated in the application or established under this section, or to dwellings approved on applications under paragraph (c) (7) of this section, or to the initial occupancy of a dwelling or an apartment in it approved under this section for the occupancy of the applicant or the continued occupancy of his tenant.

(2) One-family dwelling. (i) An applicant who has built or converted a one-family dwelling under this section must publicly offer it for sale or for rent to veterans for their own occupancy at or below the maximum sales price or the maximum rent specified in the application as approved. In case of sale, this offer must be made during construction and for 60 days after completion. In case of rent, this offer must be made during construction and for 30 days after completion.

(ii) If a one-family dwelling built or converted under this section is being offered for sale, the owner (whether the applicant or any subsequent owner) must not sell or otherwise dispose of it to any person other than a veteran unless he has publicly offered it for sale to veterans for at least 60 days (or during construction and for 60 days afterwards in the case of the applicant) at or below the maximum sales price specified in the application as approved.

(iii) If a one-family dwelling built or converted under this section is being offered for rent, the person offering it for rent must not rent it to any person other than a veteran unless he has publicly offered it for rent to veterans for at least 30 days (or during construction and for 30 days afterwards in the case of the applicant) at or below the maximum rent specified for the apartment in the application as approved.

(3) Two-family dwellings. (i) An applicant who has built or converted a two-family dwelling under this section must publicly offer it for sale or the apartments in it for rent to veterans for their own occupancy at or below the maximum sales price or the maximum rent specified in the application as approved. In case of sale, this offer must be made during construction and for 60 days after completion. In case of rent, this offer must be made during construction and for 30 days after completion.

(ii) If a two-family dwelling built or converted under this section is being offered for sale, the owner (whether the applicant or any subsequent owner) must not sell or otherwise dispose of it to any person other than a veteran unless he has publicly offered it for sale to veterans for at least 60 days (or during construction and for 60 days afterwards in the case of the applicant) at or below the maximum sales price specified in the application as approved.

(iii) If an apartment in a two-family dwelling built or converted under this section is being offered for rent, the person offering it for rent must not rent it to any person other than a veteran unless he has publicly offered it for rent to veterans for at least 30 days (or during construction and for 30 days afterwards in the case of the applicant) at or below the maximum rent specified for the apartment in the application as approved.

(4) Multiple-family dwellings. (i) An applicant who has built or converted a multiple-family dwelling under this section must, during construction and for 30 days after completion, publicly offer the apartments in it for rent to veterans for their own occupancy at or below the maximum rent specified in the application as approved.

(ii) No person shall rent an apartment in a multiple-family dwelling built or converted under this section to any person other than a veteran unless he has publicly offered the apartment for rent to veterans for at least 30 days (or during construction and for 30 days after completion) at or below the maximum rent specified in the application as approved. However, an owner or his building service employee may reside in such a multiple-family dwelling if the accommodations to be occupied by him do not exceed in floor space a normal one-family unit in the structure, and if the space so occupied does not exceed 15% of the floor space of the structure used for residential purposes.

(5) Dormitories. An applicant who has built or converted a dormitory or other single-person housing facility under this section must make the accommodations available exclusively for veterans and their dependents otherwise eligible to occupy the dwelling accommodations. However, if an educational institution builds a dormitory under this section, it may make 40% of the accommodations in the dormitory available to nonveterans if it makes available to veterans an equivalent number of similar or better accommodations in other dormitories at rents not larger than the rents specified in the application as approved.

NOTICES OF RESTRICTIONS

(k) Notices of restrictions—(1) Deeds. The applicant and every person who has acquired title to a dwelling (whether completed or not) approved under paragraph (c) (1), (2) or (9) of this section must, as long as this section remains in effect, include a statement in the following form in any deed, conveyance, or other instrument by which the dwelling is sold, transferred, or mortgaged to any other person:

The building on the premises hereby sold, transferred or mortgaged was built (converted) under Housing Expediter Priorities Regulation 5 (Application Serial No. ——). Under that regulation a limit is placed on either the sales price or the rent for the premises, or both, and preferences are given to veterans of World War II in selling or renting. The premises must also be held for rent if the application as approved under that regulation contains a statement to that effect. As long as that regulation remains in effect, any violation of these restrictions by the grantee or by any subsequent owner will subject him to the penalties provided by law. The above is inserted only to give notice of the provisions of Housing Expediter Priorities Regulation 5 and neither the insertion of the above nor the regulation is intended to affect the validity of the interest hereby sold, transferred, or mortgaged.

(2) Advertisements. The applicant and every subsequent owner, and their agents and brokers, must, as long as this section remains in effect, include a statement in substantially the following form in any advertisement printed or published in which dwelling accommodations approved under paragraph (c) (1), (2) or (9) of this section are offered for sale or for rent:

Built under the Veterans' Emergency Housing Program. For sale (for rent) at or below $-------- (insert maximum sales price or rent) only to veterans, during construction and for 60 (30 in case of rent) days after completion (or for the next 60 days in case of subsequent sale or 30 days in case of subsequent rent).

OTHER PROVISIONS

(l) Prohibition against transfer of authorization. No person to whom an authorization has been given or an HH rating has been assigned shall transfer the authorization or rating to any other person (as distinguished from applying the rating to purchase orders) and any transfer attempted is void. If for any reason an applicant wishes to abandon construction approved under this section and another applicant wishes to continue it, the new applicant should apply to the agency with which the original application was filed. He should attach to his application a statement from the former applicant (or his representatives) joining in the request for the granting of the authorization or the assignment of the rating to the new applicant.

(m) Appeals. Any person affected by this section who considers that compliance with its provisions would result in an exceptional and unreasonable hardship on him may appeal for relief. An appeal from any provisions of this section should be filed with the appropriate local office of the Federal Housing Administration or other agency with which the application was filed.

(n) Amendments to applications. An applicant may apply to the agency which approved his application for an amendment to it, Provided, That such amendment does not involve the construction of additional dwelling units. The request for an amendment should be made by letter in triplicate or by such form as may be prescribed. If the request for an amendment is granted, the provisions of this section shall apply to the application as amended and approved.

(o) Definitions. As used in this section:

(1) The term "veteran" shall include:

(i) A person who has served in the active military or naval forces of the United States on or after September 16, 1940, and who has been discharged or released therefrom under conditions other than dishonorable;

(ii) The spouse of a veteran (as described in the preceding subparagraph) who died after being discharged or released from service, if the spouse is living with a child or children of the deceased veteran;

(iii) A person who is serving in the active military or naval forces of the United States requiring dwelling accommodations for his dependent family;

(iv) The spouse of a person who served in the active military or naval forces of the United States on or after September 16, 1940, and who died in service, if the spouse is living with a child or children of the deceased;

(v) A citizen of the United States who served in the Armed Forces of an allied nation during World War II (and who has been discharged or released therefrom under conditions other than dishonorable) requiring dwelling accommodations for his dependent family;

(vi) A person to whom the War Shipping Administration has issued a certificate of continuous service in the United States Merchant Marine who requires dwelling accommodations for his dependent family; and

(vii) A citizen of the United States who, as a civilian, was interned or held a prisoner of war by an enemy nation at any time during World War II, requiring dwelling accommodations for his dependent family.

(2) "Maximum rent" means the total consideration paid by the tenant for the dwelling accommodations. This includes charges paid by the tenant for tenant services specified on the application and charges paid by the tenant for garage as specified on the application. However, it does not include charges covering the actual cost on a pro rata basis for gas and electricity for the tenant's domestic purposes when the application specifies that such charges will be made. The total charges for tenant services will not be approved if more than $3 per room per month. The charge for garage will not be approved if more than $10 per month, and will be allowed only for multiple-family dwellings.

Any payment, contribution, or investment required of or made by a tenant, or prospective tenant, of the dwelling unit in connection with a mutual ownership or similar plan, shall be considered as part of the maximum rent. This is so whether such payment, contribution or investment be made as a lump sum or in several amounts or whether it be in the form or nature of a certificate, deposit, membership, undivided interest, or otherwise.

Any payment for the rental of furniture made by a tenant or a prospective tenant in connection with the renting of any dwelling accommodations heretofore or hereafter constructed under this section, shall be considered a part of the maximum rent. However, if the rental of furniture in dwelling accommodations was voluntarily requested by a tenant, any payments for furniture pursuant to an agreement entered into with such tenant prior to December 13, 1946 (or any payments by a subsequent tenant for furniture in such dwelling accommodations), need not be included in the maximum rent.

(3) The term "maximum shelter rent" means the maximum rent, less charges for tenant services and garage.

(4) "Maximum sales price" means the total consideration paid (including any charge made a condition to the sale) by the buyer for the dwelling accommodations with accompanying land and improvements. The only items which are excluded are those incidental charges, such as brokerage fees or commissions or charges, which buyers or sellers of such dwelling accommodations customarily assume in the community where such accommodations are located, and which actually have been incurred for services rendered at the buyer's or seller's request in connection with the sale. (Such incidental charges may not be charged in the first sale unless enumerated in the application as approved.)

Any payment, contribution, or investment required of or made by an occupant or prospective occupant, other than a tenant of the dwelling unit, in connection with a mutual ownership, stock company, or other group plan, shall be considered as part of the maximum sales price. This is so whether such payment be made as a lump sum or in several amounts or whether such payment be in the form or nature of a certificate, deposit, membership, undivided interest, or otherwise. (See paragraph (l) (3) and (4) of this section with respect to sales prices for interests in multiple-family or two-family dwellings.)

(5) "Person" means an individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of any of the foregoing, or legal successor or representative of any of the foregoing.

(6) "One-family dwelling" means a building designed for occupancy by one family and to be occupied, rented, or sold as a unit, including a detached or semi-detached house or a row house, but not including an apartment house or a two-family "one-over-one" house or a farm-house.

(7) "Two-family dwelling" means a building designed for occupancy by two families which, if sold, will be sold as a unit, not including semi-detached or row houses covered by the preceding subparagraph (6).

(8) "Multiple-family dwelling" means a building containing three or more separate living accommodations for three or more families, not including semi-detached or row houses covered by paragraph (o) (6), or (o) (7) of this section.

(9) "Begun construction" means to have physically incorporated at the site, materials which will be an integral part of the construction.

(10) "Convert" means to provide an additional dwelling unit or units by repair, alteration, reconstruction, or otherwise.

(11) "HH Minimum Property Requirements" shall be the same as the "Property Standards", "Minimum Construction Requirements", and "Minimum Requirements for Rental Housing", as established for the area and amended from time to time by the Federal Housing Administration under the National Housing Act, insofar as they apply to the structure itself and its water supply and sewage disposal systems, or as modified by rulings or standards issued by the National Housing Agency on special methods of construction or substitute materials. The "HH Minimum Property Requirements" will be made available in all State and District Offices of the Federal Housing Administration.

(12) "Public organization" means a governing body such as the United States Government, a state, county, city, town, village or other municipal government or an agency, instrumentality, or authority of such a governing body.

(13) "Educational institution" means a school, including a trade or vocational school, a college, a university or any similar institution of learning.

(p) Communications. All communications concerning this section should be addressed to the office of the agency to which the application was submitted.

(q) Violations and enforcement—(1) General. The maximum sales price, rent and other requirements of this section shall not be evaded either directly or indirectly. It shall be unlawful for any person to effect, either as principal, broker, or agent, a sale or rent of any dwelling accommodations at a price or rent in excess of the maximum sales price or the maximum rent applicable to such sale or rent under the provisions of this section, or to solicit or attempt to offer, or agree to make any such sale or rent.

(2) Suit by purchaser for overcharge. If any person sells housing accommodations in excess of the maximum amount authorized for such accommodations under this section, the person who buys such accommodations may, within one year from the date of the sale, bring an action or suit for the amount by which the consideration exceeded the maximum authorized selling price, plus reasonable attorney's fees and costs as determined by the court.

(3) Suit by Housing Expediter for restitution. If the person who may bring such action has not previously done so, the Housing Expediter (or the department, agency, or officer as he shall direct) may bring an action or suit to compel restitution of the amount by which the consideration exceeded the maximum authorized selling price.

(4) Penalties. Any person who willfully violates any provision of this section and any person who knowingly makes any statement to any department or agency of the United States, false in any material respect, or who wilfully conceals a material fact, in any description or statement required to be filed under this section, shall, upon conviction thereof, be subject to fine or imprisonment, or both. Any such person or any other person who violates any provision of this section, or any regulation or other issuance under the Second War Powers Act (56 Stat. 176, as amended) relating to priorities assistance for housing, may be prohibited from making or obtaining any further deliveries of, or from using, any materials or facilities suitable for housing construction, and may be deprived of priorities assistance for such materials or facilities.

(r) Reports. All persons affected by this section shall file such information and reports as may be required by the Housing Expediter (or a person or agency authorized by him to make such requests), subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942. The reporting requirements of this section have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Issued this 13th day of February 1947.

FRANK R. CREEDON,
Housing Expediter.

INTERPRETATION 1

PUBLIC OFFERING

Paragraph (j) of Housing Expediter Priorities Regulation 5 provides generally that the owner of dwelling accommodations constructed under the regulation must "publicly offer" them for sale or for rent exclusively to eligible veterans during prescribed periods. This requirement imposes upon the owner the obligation not only to offer the accommodations to veterans in good faith but also to take such affirmative steps as, under the circumstances, will give notice to all veterans or a reasonably large class of veterans in the community that the accommodations are available and will give them a reasonable opportunity to negotiate for them. These steps may take the form of newspaper advertisements, listing the property with real estate brokers, or consulting the local Mayor's Veterans' Housing Committee for the purpose of finding eligible veterans. The mere posting of a placard is not sufficient for this purpose. The owner's intention as manifested by his conduct is an important element in determining whether the public offer requirement has been met. The refusal of the owner to sell to a particular veteran for personal reasons does not by itself necessarily constitute a violation of the public offer requirement. If, however, an owner refuses to sell or rent to veterans whom he does not know to be unqualified or unable to purchase or rent and then sells or rents to a nonveteran, the owner has violated the regulation. (Issued October 31, 1946.)

PREFERENCES TO VETERANS IN SELLING OR RENTING HOUSING ACCOMMODATIONS

Paragraph (j) of Housing Expediter Priorities Regulation 5 sets forth the preference which must be given to veterans of World War II when housing accommodations built under the regulation are being sold or rented. Paragraph (l) sets forth limitations on the sales prices and rents which may be charged for the accommodations. In general these paragraphs provide that the accommodations must be publicly offered for sale or rent to veterans of World War II (as defined in HEPR 5) during construction and for 60 days after completion if offered for sale, or during construction and for 30 days after completion if offered for rent. In case of subsequent sales or rentals the accommodations must again be offered to veterans for a period of 60 days if offered for sale or 30 days if offered for rent. The requirements that housing accommodations be offered for 60 or 30 days does not prevent the offeror accepting a veteran's offer within the period. The following examples will illustrate the effect of these general rules:

(a) A one-family dwelling was built under the regulation, with a maximum sales price of $7,500. The builder sold it to a veteran when it was complete. The veteran now wishes to move to another town. The veteran must publicly offer the house to other veterans of World War II for 60 days. He must not charge more than $7,500 for the house whether he sells to a veteran or to a non-veteran, unless he has been authorized to charge more by FHA. However, if any customary brokerage fees are paid for services rendered in connection with this subsequent sale, whether paid by the buyer or the seller, they may be added to the sales price.

(b) A one-family dwelling was built under the regulation, with a maximum sales price of $7,500. The builder publicly offered the dwelling to veterans during construction and for 60 days after completion without finding a veteran who wanted to buy it. He then sold the house to a non-veteran for $7,500. The non-veteran now wishes to sell the house. The non-veteran must publicly offer the dwelling to veterans of World War II for 60 days, at a price of $7,500 or less. However, if any customary brokerage fees are paid for services rendered in connection with this subsequent sale, whether paid by the buyer or the seller, they may be added to the sales price.

(c) A one-family dwelling was built under the regulation. A maximum sales price of $7,500 was approved but no rent was stated in the application. The builder, instead of selling the dwelling at once, decided to rent it. The builder must apply to FHA for approval of a maximum rent before he rents the building.

(e) A one-family dwelling was built under the regulation, having a maximum rent of $63 a month and a maximum sales price of $7,500. The builder, leased it to a non-veteran for $63 a month, no veteran having applied during construction and for 30 days after completion. The tenant now wishes to sublet the house. He must publicly offer the house to veterans of World War II for 30 days and must not rent it for more than $63 a month. This would also be the case if the tenant who wished to sublet were a veteran.

CHARGES IN EXCESS OF MAXIMUM SALES PRICE REQUESTED BECAUSE OF INCIDENTAL CHARGES, EXTRAS, OR ADDITIONAL CONSTRUCTION

Under paragraph (i) of Housing Expediter Priorities Regulation 5 a seller must not require a purchaser, as a condition to the sale of a house authorized under that Regulation, to buy or agree to buy any commodity, service or property interest, except where the regulation specifically permits the charges for the commodity, service or property interest to be added to the maximum sales price. Under paragraph (o) items which may be added are those incidental charges, such as brokerage fees or commissions or charges, which buyers or sellers of such dwelling accommodations customarily assume in the community, and which actually have been incurred for services rendered at the buyer's or seller's request in connection with the sale. (Such incidental charges may not be made in the first sale unless enumerated in the application as approved.) This means that, except for such customary incidental charges, the seller must offer the dwelling accommodations to the purchaser at or below the approved maximum sales price and free from charges and extras. The following examples illustrate the effect of this general rule:

1. Abstract fees, title insurance and financing charges. It is permissible for the purchaser to pay the abstract fees and title insurance over and above the maximum sales price and to pay incidental charges (such as fire insurance, title insurance, mortgagee's appraisal fees, and future taxes) in connection with financing a particular purchase if these charges are not made a condition to the sale. If it is customary in the community for the buyer to assume these incidental charges and they have been actually incurred for services rendered, he may even be required to pay them as a condition to the sale. (Such incidental charges may not be made in the first sale unless enumerated in the application as approved). In connection with financing, the purchaser must be given an opportunity to purchase the dwelling for cash at or below the approved maximum sales price and to finance the purchase in any way he desires.

2. Previously incurred charges. Charges which have been incurred by the builder before the sale of the dwelling must not be charged the purchaser in addition to the maximum sales price. A request that a prospective purchaser pay such charges for prior services would be necessarily making the charges a condition to the sale. Charges of this kind include accumulated taxes before the date of sale, interest before the sale, prepayment penalties in connection with a builder's loan, fees for survey of site, and fire and liability insurance before the sale.

3. Charges for additional construction or for equipment or fixtures not specified in the application. The builder must publicly offer the dwelling described in his application at or below the approved maximum sales price. He may not under his authorization do any additional construction in connection with the authorized construction over and above what is specified in his application, except where he gets written approval from the agency which approved the original application. He must not increase his sales price above the original approved maximum sales price by reason of any such additional construction or added equipment, except where the increased price has been approved in writing by the agency which approved the original application.

A person who has bought a house built under Housing Expediter Priorities Regulation 5 and who has made improvements to the house (authorization for such improvements may be required by VHP–1) must not charge more than the approved maximum sales price for the house if he sells it, unless he has obtained permission for the increased charge from the agency which approved the original application. § 806.1 Authorization for housing—(a) General—(1) What this section provides. This section, Housing Permit Regulation, is issued in accordance with the Veterans' Emergency Housing Program for 1947. The section provides for giving specific authorization under the Civilian Production Administration (Office of Temporary Controls) Veterans' Housing Program Order 1 to veterans and certain other persons who wish to construct, repair, make additions to, alter, install fixtures in, improve, or convert housing accommodations. Such authorization will be given in the form of a construction permit.

This section explains:

(i) Who may apply for a construction permit.

(ii) How to apply.

(iii) The conditions upon which applications for permits will be approved.

(iv) The conditions which will be imposed on the applicant and succeeding owners while this section is in effect.

(2) Effect of this section on approved priority applications. New authorizations and priority ratings under Housing Expediter Priorities Regulation 5 will not be issued after the effective date of this section (December 24, 1946). However, this section does not apply to or affect applications or dwelling accommodations heretofore approved under Civilian Production Administration (OTC) Priorities Regulation 33 or Housing Expediter Priorities Regulation 5. Any requests for changes in applications approved under those regulations which do not involve additional dwelling units shall be made in accordance with CPA Priorities Regulation 33 or Housing Expediter Priorities Regulation 5, whichever is applicable. However, if a person is authorized to use an HH rating under either of those regulations but has not begun the construction of all the dwellings approved in his application, he may return his approved application to the Federal Housing Administration (or in appropriate cases to the Federal Public Housing Authority) and apply for a permit in accordance with this section for the construction of the dwellings on which construction has not begun. If the permit is granted, the provisions of this section shall be applicable to such construction instead of the provisions of the regulation under which his priority application was approved, and his priority application will be amended to exclude the construction for which the permit is granted. However, such a person is not required to obtain a permit under this section, but may elect to use the HH rating and authorization originally granted, subject to the provisions of the regulation under which it was granted.

(b) Housing construction covered by this section. (1) The following kinds of construction, alteration, or repair are included in this section where the application and construction qualify under paragraphs (c) through (h) or relief is granted on appeal under paragraph (o):

(i) The construction of any building in which 50% or more of the floor space involved is to be used for residential purposes except where the purpose is primarily for the accommodation of transients or overnight guests. Construction which is covered includes subsidiary buildings on residential property where used for residential purposes, such as private garages, tool sheds, piers, greenhouses and the like, and includes dining halls and other essential residential accommodations used entirely as part of dormitory or other single-person accommodations also covered by the application. Farmhouses and other farm living accommodations and bunkhouses for transitory farm labor are included under this subparagraph. Housing of the War and Navy Departments, summer or winter camps, and hotels or tourist cabins primarily for transients and overnight guests, are not included.

(ii) Additions, alterations, or repairs to a building where 50% or more of the floor area involved in the proposed additions, alterations, or repairs will be used for dwelling accommodations of the kinds described above.

(2) Construction not included in this section is under the jurisdiction of the Office of Temporary Controls (Civilian Production Administration). Also, if a project under this section involves construction, additions, alterations, or repairs of which more than 25% is nonresidential, a recommendation will be obtained from the Office of Temporary Controls (CPA) as to the essentiality of the non-residential part of the work.

APPLICATIONS

(c) Persons eligible. Applications for a construction permit under this section may be made by the following:

(1) Veteran. A veteran who wishes to build, complete, alter, or repair a family dwelling (or convert a dwelling or other structure into a family dwelling) for his occupancy as owner. The cost of any alteration or repair of any house under this subparagraph may not exceed $10,000.

(2) Builder for veterans. A person who wishes to build or complete family dwelling accommodations (or convert dwellings or other structures into family dwelling accommodations) to which veterans will be given preferences in selling or renting as provided in this section. (Any applicant, although not a veteran, may initially occupy a dwelling unit in a two-family or multiple dwelling owned by him and constructed under this section.)

(3) Non-veteran building for own occupancy. A person who wishes to build a family dwelling (or convert a dwelling or other structure into a family dwelling) for his occupancy as owner.

(4) Disaster. A person who wishes to reconstruct (or build on another site, in event of total destruction) or repair dwelling accommodations destroyed or damaged by fire, flood, tornado, or other similar disaster. Such a person is eligible only if the reconstruction or repair is necessary to the continuance of year-round occupancy by the applicant or his tenant. Any application under this subparagraph must be made not later than 6 months after such destruction or damage.

(5) Repairs or alterations to make a house habitable or to provide space for additional persons. A person who wishes authorization to make repairs or alterations to dwelling accommodations necessary in order (i) to maintain them in a habitable condition or to return them to a habitable condition, or (ii) to make a summer home habitable for winter occupancy by a veteran, or (iii) to provide space for additional persons who are either veterans or members of the immediate family of the applicant. If space for additional persons is provided, under subdivision (iii), the estimated cost of the construction shall not exceed $1500 per person. In the event that such additional space is vacated, the applicant or a subsequent owner or other person must not, while this section is in effect, rent it to any person other than a member of his immediate family or a veteran, unless it has been publicly offered for rent to veterans for at least 30 days on the same or more favorable terms.

(6) Educational institution or public organization. An educational institution (or a person under its sponsorship) or a public organization which wishes to construct, repair, or alter a dormitory or other single-person housing facility (or to repair or alter any dwelling accommodations) for student veterans. An application for new construction under this paragraph (c) (6) will not be approved if the maximum rent proposed is more than the amount charged for comparable accommodations in the area. If the application is made by a person under the sponsorship of an educational institution, the application must be accompanied by a letter from that institution which (i) requests that the application be approved, (ii) states that there is not a sufficient number of available rooms in the community for its student veterans, and (iii) represents that the institution will refer student veterans to the proposed accommodations as long as this section is in effect. Accommodations provided by persons under the sponsorship of an educational institution must be made available during the institution's school year only to student veterans and their dependents referred by the institution.

(7) Experimental housing. A person who wishes to construct or erect dwelling accommodations for experimental or testing purposes, where the proposed work is determined by the Technical Office of the Office of the Administrator of the National Housing Agency to be essential to the Veterans' Emergency Housing Program.

(d) Filing applications. Applications for construction permits under this section should be made on OHE Form 14–56, and filed with the appropriate State or District Office of the Federal Housing Administration, except that:

(1) Applications by educational institutions, or persons under their sponsorship, or by public organizations (whether under paragraph (c) (6) or other paragraph of this section) should be filed with the appropriate Regional Office of the Federal Public Housing Authority.

(2) Applications to construct or erect dwelling accommodations for experimental or testing purposes should be filed with the Technical Office of the Office of the Administrator of the National Housing Agency.

(e) Plans and specifications. When an application is made in which a maximum rent is required to be stated, as provided by paragraph (j) (2), plans and outline specifications shall be attached to and made a part of such application.

(f) Approval of applications. The application for a permit may be approved if (1) the conditions and requirements in paragraphs (c) through (e) of this section have been met, and (2) the proposed rents, where required to be stated, are reasonably related to the proposed accommodations. Upon approval, a copy of the approved application will be given to the applicant and will constitute his construction permit.

(g) Restrictions on applicants. An applicant who constructs, completes, converts, alters, or repairs dwelling accommodations under this section must comply with all agreements and conditions stated in the approved application and shall do the work in accordance with the description given in the application and any attachments thereto, unless he has obtained prior written approval for a change from the agency with which his application was filed.

CONSTRUCTION

(h) Construction standards and limitations—(1) Suitability for year-round occupancy. No person shall build or convert any dwelling accommodations under this section except accommodations which are suitable and intended for year-round occupancy.

(2) Maximum floor area. No person shall build or convert any dwelling accommodations under this section in which the total calculated floor area of any dwelling unit exceeds 1,500 square feet. Calculated area comprises the square foot area of spaces above basement or foundation including utility rooms, vestibules, halls, closets, stair wells and interior chimneys and fire places. It does not include garages, unfinished attics, open porches, attached terraces, balconies and projecting fire places or chimneys outside the exterior walls. Measurements are taken to the outside surfaces of exterior walls. In a half story, measurements are taken to the outside surfaces of exterior walls or partitions enclosing the areas, but any area where the ceiling height is less than five feet is not included.

(3) Bathroom fixtures. No person shall install in any dwelling or apartment constructed, converted or altered under this section any bathroom fixtures which will result in the dwelling or apartment having more such fixtures than are normally required for one bathroom.

(4) Subsidiary structures. The granting of a permit under this section constitutes authorization only (i) to construct, convert, alter or repair the dwellings specified in the application, and (ii) in connection with the construction of new residential accommodations, to construct subsidiary sanitary facilities, garage space, tool sheds, walls and fences.

(i) Posting of placards or signs. When permits are granted for new construction or conversions under paragraphs (c) (2) or (c) (6) of this section, the applicants must post either placards or signs as explained in this paragraph.

(1) Placards. When such permits are granted, a placard or placards will be sent to the applicant indicating that the dwelling accommodations are being built for veterans under the Veterans' Emergency Housing Program. If the permit covers the construction of dwelling accommodations to be rented, the placard will contain a space for the maximum rent. If the applicant posts a placard or placards, he must insert the application serial number legibly and permanently. Such a placard must be posted in a conspicuous location in front of each separate residential building within five days after the time construction is begun and must continue to be posted until completion of the building. Unless all the accommodations in the building have been sold or rented to veterans, the applicant must continue to post the placard for 60 days after completion of the building in the case of offer for sale or 30 days afterwards in the case of offer for rent. In the case of such offer for rent, the applicant, upon completion of construction, must legibly and permanently insert the appropriate rent, not in excess of the amount specified in the application as approved.

(2) Signs. If the applicant elects to post a project sign in lieu of the placards sent to him, he must post a sign having the approximate dimensions of three by five feet (or greater) in a conspicuous location on the site of each project. Such a sign much contain the same information and be posted during the same period as is required under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph in the case of placards.

RENTS

(j) Maximum rents—(1) General. The restrictions on rents contained in this paragraph apply to all new dwelling accommodations built under this section for which a proposed maximum rent must be stated under subparagraph (2) of this paragraph. These restrictions must be observed as long as this section is in effect. Proposed rents, where required, will not be approved under this section unless they are reasonably related to the proposed accommodations. However, approval of a proposed rent should not be considered as a representation by the processing agency that the rent represents the value of the dwelling or apartment for other purposes.

After the first renting of the dwelling in an area under Federal rent control, the request to approve a change in rent should be made to the Area Rent Office established pursuant to the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, or in the District of Columbia to the Administrator of Rent Control. Any changed rent granted becomes the maximum rent under this section.

(2) Proposed rent to be stated in application. In case of an application for a permit to construct new family dwellings or apartments to be offered for rent, the proposed maximum rent and maximum shelter rent must be stated for each such dwelling or apartment. In case of an application for a permit to construct new single-person dwellings, the proposed maximum rent to be charged each person must be stated. Maximum rents and shelter rents must be stated for every new dwelling or apartment in a proposed two-family dwelling, multiple-dwelling, or housing facility designed for occupancy by single persons. However, maximum rents or shelter rents need not be stated for construction in disaster cases under paragraph (c) (4) of this section.

(3) Maximum rent which may be approved. No maximum shelter rent exceeding $80 per month may be approved for a dwelling or apartment under this section unless the average of all shelter rents approved in the application for dwellings in a single project is $80 per month or less.

(4) Maximum rent not to be exceeded. No person shall rent a family or single-person dwelling or apartment for which a proposed maximum rent or maximum shelter rent has been specified in the application as approved, for more than the rent as approved.

(5) Requests for increases in rents because of increased costs. An applicant may apply by letter in triplicate or such form as may be prescribed to the agency with which the application was filed for an increase in the maximum rent approved in the application before the dwelling is initially rented. The increase will not be approved unless it can be shown (i) that the applicant has incurred additional or increased costs in the construction over which he had no control, and which could not reasonably have been anticipated by him at the time of the initial application, or (ii) that he will incur additional or increased costs in operation over which he has no control, and that these additional or increased costs of construction or operation will make it unreasonable to require him to rent at the amount approved in the application. No increase in rent will be granted unless reasonably related to the increase in construction costs or the increase in operating costs.

(6) Requests for increases in rents because of improvements. If a subsequent owner or any owner-occupant of a dwelling (except a dwelling which has been previously rented and which is located in a Defense Rental Area established under the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, or in the District of Columbia), built under this section has made major structural changes or improvements (not including ordinary maintenance or repair) to the dwelling which would warrant an increase in the rent specified in the application, he may apply for the increase to the agency with which the original application was filed. Such application should be made by a letter in triplicate or by such form as may be prescribed. No increase will be granted unless it is reasonably related to the cost of such changes or improvements. Moreover, no increase in shelter rent of any dwelling will be granted to an amount more than $80 a month unless (i) the average of all shelter rents approved in the original application, as amended, for dwellings in a single project will be $80 a month or less or (ii) unusual hardship would result to the applicant if the increase is not granted. (Under CPA Veterans' Housing Program Order 1 it may be necessary to get authorization to make these changes or improvements.)

PREFERENCES FOR VETERANS

(k) Preferences for veterans—(1) Family dwellings. If a family dwelling or apartment built or converted under this section is being offered for sale or rent, the owner (whether the applicant or any subsequent owner) or any other person must not sell, rent or otherwise dispose of it to any person other than a veteran unless he has publicly offered it for sale or rent, as the case may be, to veterans for their own occupancy. In the case of sale, this offer must be made to veterans for at least 60 days (or during construction and for 60 days afterwards in the case of the applicant). In the case of rent, this offer must be made to veterans for at least 30 days (or during construction and for 30 days afterwards in the case of the applicant). An applicant who has built or converted a family dwelling or apartment approved for rent or sale under this section must, for these periods of time, publicly offer it for sale or for rent to veterans for their own occupancy. No person may sell or rent or otherwise dispose of a dwelling or apartment built or converted under this section to a person other than a veteran on terms or at a price more favorable than offered to veterans during the time a public offering must be made to veterans under this subparagraph. However, this subparagraph does not apply to:

(i) Dwellings or apartments approved in disaster cases under paragraph (c) (4) of this section;

(ii) The initial occupancy of a dwelling or apartment built or converted under this section for the occupancy of the applicant or the continued occupancy of his tenant;

(iii) The occupancy of an apartment in a two-family or multiple dwelling structure by the owner of the entire structure;

(iv) Sales in the course of judicial or statutory proceedings in connection with foreclosures (sales subsequent to such judicial or statutory sales are subject to the provisions of this subparagraph (1)); or

(v) The occupancy of a dwelling or apartment by a building service employee which does not exceed 15 percent of the residential floor space of the structure or project.

(2) Dormitories or other single-person housing facilities. An applicant who has built or converted a dormitory or other single-person housing facility under this section must make the accommodations available exclusively for veterans and their dependents otherwise eligible to occupy the dwelling accommodations. However, if an educational institution builds a dormitory under this section, it may make 40% of the accommodations in the dormitory available to non-veterans if it makes available to veterans an equivalent number of similar or better accommodations in other dormitories at rents not higher than the rents specified in the application as approved. It may also make 15 percent of the residential floor space of any dormitory or dormitory project available to building service employees.

DEFINITIONS

(l) Definitions. As used in this section:

(1) The term "veteran" shall include:

(i) A person who has served in the active military or naval forces of the United States on or after September 16, 1940, and who has been discharged or released therefrom under conditions other than dishonorable;

(ii) The spouse of a veteran (as described in the preceding subparagraph) who died after being discharged or released from service, if the spouse is living with a child or children of the deceased veteran;

(iii) A person who is serving in the active military or naval forces of the United States requiring dwelling accommodations for his dependent family;

(iv) The spouse of a person who served in the active military or naval forces of the United States on or after September 16, 1940 and who died in service, if the spouse is living with a child or children of the deceased;

(v) A citizen of the United States who served in the armed forces of an allied nation during World War II (and who has been discharged or released therefrom under conditions other than dishonorable) requiring dwelling accommodations for his dependent family;

(vi) A person to whom the War Shipping Administration has issued a certificate of continuous service in the United States Merchant Marine who requires dwelling accommodations for his dependent family; and

(vii) A citizen of the United States who, as a civilian, was interned or held a prisoner of war by an enemy nation at any time during World War II, requiring dwelling accommodations for his dependent family.

(2) "Maximum rent" means the total consideration paid by the tenant for the dwelling accommodations. This includes charges paid by the tenant for tenant services specified on the application and charges paid by the tenant for garage as specified on the application. However, it does not include charges for the rental of furniture or charges covering the actual cost on a pro rata basis for gas and electricity for the tenant's domestic purposes when the application specifies that such charges for gas or electricity will be made.

The total charges for tenant services will not be approved if more than $3 per room per month. The charge for garage will not be approved if more than $10 per month, and will be allowed only for multiple-family dwellings.

(3) "Maximum shelter rent" means the maximum rent, less charges for tenant services and garage.

(4) "Person" means an individual, corporation, partnership, association, public organization, or any other organized group of any of the foregoing, or legal successor or representative of any of the foregoing.

(5) "One-family dwelling" means a building designed for occupancy by one family and to be occupied, rented, or sold as a unit, including a detached or semi-detached house or a row house, but not including an apartment house or a two-family "one-over-one" house.

(6) "Two-family dwelling" means a building designed for occupancy by two families which, if sold, will be sold as a unit, not including semi-detached or row houses covered by subparagraph (5) of this paragraph.

(7) "Multiple-family dwelling" means a building containing three or more separate living accommodations for three or more families, not including semi-detached or row houses covered by subparagraphs (5) or (6) of this paragraph.

(8) "Project" means construction authorized on a single site or contiguous sites except for streets, roads and alley ways.

(9) "Begun construction" means to have physically incorporated at the site materials which will be an integral part of the construction.

(10) "Convert" means to provide an additional dwelling unit or units by repair, alteration, reconstruction, or otherwise.

(11) "Public organization" means a governing body such as the United States Government, a State, county, city, town, village or other municipal government or an agency, instrumentality, or authority of such a governing body.

(12) "Educational institution" means a school, including a trade or vocational school, a college, a university or any similar institution of learning.

OTHER PROVISIONS

(m) Advertisements. The applicant and every subsequent owner and their agents and brokers, must, as long as this section remains in effect, include a statement in substantially the following form in any advertisement printed or published in which dwelling accommodations approved under paragraph (c) (1), (2), (3), or (6) of this section are offered for sale or for rent:

Built under the Veterans' Emergency Housing Program. For sale (for rent at $_____). It is being offered for sale (for rent) only to veterans during construction and for 60 (30 in case of rent) days after completion (or for 60 days in case of subsequent sale or 30 days in case of subsequent rent).

(n) Prohibition against transfer of permits. No person to whom a permit has been given shall transfer it to any other person and any transfer attempted is void. If for any reason an applicant wishes to abandon construction approved under this section and another applicant wishes to continue it, the new applicant should apply to the agency with which the original application was filed. He should attach to his application a statement from the former applicant (or his representative) joining in the request for the granting of the permit to the new applicant.

(o) Appeals. Any person who considers that compliance with any provision of this section would result in an exceptional and unreasonable hardship on him may appeal for relief. In addition, any person whose application has been denied in whole or in part as a result of an interpretation of the section which he considers to be incorrect may file an appeal. An appeal shall be in the form of a letter in triplicate and should be filed with the appropriate local office of the Federal Housing Administration or other agency with which applications may be filed under this section. The letter must state clearly the specific provision of the section appealed from and the grounds for claiming an exceptional and unreasonable hardship, or the denial action appealed from, as the case may be.

(p) Amendments to applications. Any applicant may apply to the agency which granted his permit for an amendment to it. The request for an amendment should be made by letter in triplicate or by such form as may be prescribed. If the request for an amendment is granted, the provisions of this section shall apply to the permit as amended and approved. However, if the request for an amendment requires additional buildings or dwelling units not included in the original permit, a new application should be filed on OHE Form 14–56 covering the new units.

(q) Communications. All communications concerning this section should be addressed to the local office of the Federal Housing Administration or other appropriate agency indicated in paragraph (d) of this section.

(r) Violations and enforcement—(1) General. The veterans' preference, maximum rent and other requirements of this section shall not be evaded either directly or indirectly. It shall be unlawful for any person to effect, either as principal, broker, or agent, a rental of any dwelling accommodations at a rent in excess of the maximum rent applicable to such rental under the provisions of this section, or to solicit or attempt, offer, or agree to make any such rental. It shall also be unlawful for any such person to condition a rental of any dwelling accommodations upon the purchase of, or agreement to purchase, any commodity, service or property interest, except tenant services specified on the application, the rental of furniture or an investment interest in the accommodations.

The restrictions in paragraph (k) of this section apply to the builder and subsequent owners of all dwelling accommodations constructed in violation of VHP 1. However, this does not relieve the builder of any penalty to which he may be subject by reason of the violation of VHP 1.

(2) Penalties. Any person who willfully violates any provision of this section and any person who knowingly makes any statement to any department or agency of the United States, false in any material respect, or who willfully conceals a material fact, in any description or statement required to be filed under this section, shall, upon conviction thereof, be subject to fine or imprisonment, or both. Any such person or any other person who violates any provision of this section, or any regulation or other issuance under the Second War Powers Act (56 Stat. 176, as amended) or the Veterans' Emergency Housing Act of 1946 relating to the construction or disposition of dwelling accommodations may have his permit revoked or suspended and may be denied the right to obtain any permit in the future and may be prohibited from making or obtaining deliveries of, or from using any materials or facilities suitable for housing construction.

(s) Reports. All persons affected by this section shall file such information and reports as may be required by the Housing Expediter (or a person or agency authorized by him to make such requests), subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942. The reporting requirements of this section have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

PART 1010—SUSPENSION ORDERS

[Suspension Order S-1084]

J. C. NICHOLS

J. C. Nichols of 1823 Vine Avenue, Covina, California, as owner, began the construction of a $13,000.00 one-story concrete block building at 400-402 West Garvey Avenue, West Covina, California, for use as a market and an appliance store. Construction was begun on August 29, 1946, and thereafter carried on without written authorization from the Civilian Production Administration and despite the previous denial of authorization therefor by the Civilian Production Administration on July 30, 1946. The beginning and carrying on of this construction, subsequent to March 26, 1946, at an estimated cost in excess of $1,000, constituted a wilful violation of Veterans' Housing Program Order No. 1. This violation has diverted critical materials to uses not authorized by the Civilian Production Administration. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby ordered that:

§ 1010.1084 Suspension Order No. S-1084. (a) Neither J. C. Nichols, his successors or assigns, nor any other person, shall do any further construction on the premises located at 400-402 West Garvey Avenue, West Covina, California, including the putting up, alteration or completion of any structure located thereon, unless hereafter specifically authorized in writing by the Civilian Production Administration.

(b) J. C. Nichols shall refer to this order in any application or appeal which he may file with the Civilian Production Administration for priorities assistance or for authorization to carry on construction.

(c) Nothing contained in this order shall be deemed to relieve J. C. Nichols, his successors or assigns, from any restriction, prohibition, or provision contained in any other order or regulation of the Civilian Production Administration, except insofar as the same may be inconsistent with the provisions hereof.

Issued this 14th day of February 1947.

Chapter XI—Office of Temporary Controls, Office of Price Administration

PART 1305—ADMINISTRATION

[3d Rev. RO 3,[1] Amdt. 16 to Supp. 1]

SUGAR

Supplement 1 to Third Revised Ration Order 3 is amended in the following respect:

Item 29 of section 3.1 is amended to read as follows:

Ration period	Stamp valid during ration period	Weight value of stamp
No. 29 (Jan. 1, 1947 through Mar. 31, 1947).	Sugar ration book and book 4, spare stamp 53.	5

This amendment shall become effective February 19, 1947.

Issued this 14th day of February 1947.

PHILIP B. FLEMING,
Temporary Controls Administrator.

The Office of Price Administration is the agency established to assist the Temporary Controls Administrator in the administration of this program. To expedite the answering of inquiries regarding this document, they should be directed to the Commissioner, Office of Price Administration, Office of Temporary Controls, Washington 25, D. C., or the appropriate field office in your vicinity.

PART 1407—RATIONING OF FOOD AND FOOD PRODUCTS

[3d Rev. RO 3,[1] Amdt. 36]

SUGAR

A rationale for this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Third Revised Ration Order 3 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 6.2 is amended by adding a new paragraph (e) to read as follows:

(e) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section, Spare Stamp No. 53, received in accordance with this order by a registering unit, which is neither a depositor nor required to be one, authorizes the registering unit to take delivery of five pounds of sugar through April 15, 1947 and if Spare Stamp 53 is surrendered to a depositor, it shall be valid for deposit in his account through April 25, 1947.

2. Section 6.4 (b) is amended by inserting after the first sentence of the paragraph a sentence to read as follows:

Only stamps of the same weight value may be pasted on any one gummed sheet.

This amendment shall become effective February 19, 1947.

Issued this 14th day of February 1947.

PHILIP B. FLEMING,
Temporary Controls Administrator.

Rationale Accompanying Amendment No. 36 to Third Revised Ration Order 3

Present regulations. The present regulations provide that stamps which have been validated for sugar and which have been received in accordance with this order by a registering unit which is neither a depositor nor required to be one, authorizes the registering unit to take delivery of sugar if such stamp is surrendered or transferred to another registering unit or a primary distributor within a month after the close of the ration period assigned to such stamp. A stamp surrendered to a depositor shall be valid for deposit in his account for a period of a month and ten days after the close of the ration period assigned to such stamp.

Proposed amendment. This amendment provides that Spare Stamp No. 53, received by a registering unit, which is neither a depositor nor required to be one, authorizes the registering unit to take delivery of five pounds of sugar through April 15, 1947. If Spare Stamp 53 is surrendered to a depositor, it shall be valid for deposit in his account through April 25, 1947.

Reason for amendment. On and after April 1, 1947 sugar stamps for consumer use will be validated for ten pounds of sugar each instead of five pounds each. Increasing the value of sugar ration stamps from five pounds to ten pounds each is necessary since the number of stamps remaining in the Sugar Ration Books which are now issued to returned service personnel, new babies and as replacements, if designated for five pounds each, would not provide enough stamps for consumer and home-canning use much past the middle of 1947. Since it now appears likely that it will be necessary to continue sugar rationing at least through most of 1947 and since the expense of printing and distributing a new ration book at this time is prohibitive from a budgetary standpoint, it is necessary to designate the remaining stamps which are available for consumer use for ten pounds of sugar each.

On January 1, 1947 Spare Stamp 53 was validated for five pounds of sugar for consumer use for the period from January 1, 1947 through April 30, 1947. However, to avoid the confusion to the trade and to the banks which would result if both stamps of five and ten pound denominations were in the rationing system for any length of time, this order is being amended to provide that Spare Stamp 53 will expire for consumer use on March 31, 1947 instead of April 30, 1947 and to provide that if such stamps are received by a non-depositing registering unit it may transfer or surrender such stamps through April 15, 1947 or if such stamps are received by a depositor, such stamps must be deposited in its ration bank account not later than April 25, 1947.

The Office of Price Administration is the agency established to assist the Temporary Controls Administrator in the administration of this program. To expedite the answering of inquiries regarding this document, they should be directed to the Commissioner, Office of Price Administration, Office of Temporary Controls, Washington 25, D. C., or the appropriate field office in your vicinity.

PART 1407—RATIONING OF FOOD AND FOOD PRODUCTS

[3d Rev. RO 3,[1] Amdt. 37]

SUGAR

A rationale for this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Third Revised Ration Order 3 is amended in the following respects:

Section 17.7 is added to read as follows:

SEC. 17.7 Application for base or adjustment in base by persons who invested in productive equipment for use in making products for designated agencies. (a) Any person who used sugar or sugar-containing products in the manufacture of products for delivery to a designated agency as defined in section 13.1 and any other agency or activity which was a designated agency for the purpose of replacement and who invested in productive equipment for such purposes between April 20, 1942 and January 1, 1946 may apply for a base or an adjustment in base. (A person who made a sugar-containing product to be used by another person in products to be delivered to designated agencies may apply.)

(b) Application shall be made on OPA Form R-380 and the applicant must give all of the information required by the form. The application must be filed:

(1) At the Sugar Branch Office for the place where the industrial user establishment is registered if the application is for an adjustment in base of a registered industrial user establishment;

(2) With the Sugar Branch Office serving the area in which the applicant's establishment is located if:

(i) He does not have a registered establishment and the application covers only one establishment;

(ii) He has one establishment already registered and wishes to register separately the establishment for which application is made. (If the applicant desires to register more than one establishment and desires to register them separately, a separate application should be filed for each such establishment.)

(3) With the Sugar Branch Office serving the area in which the applicant's principal office is located, if:

(i) The application covers more than one establishment and the applicant desires to register such establishments together; or

(ii) If he has more than one establishment already registered and they are registered together; or

(iii) If he has one establishment already registered and wishes to register the establishment for which application is made with it.

(c) A transferee of an establishment in which an investment had been made in productive equipment between April 20, 1942 and January 1, 1946 for the purpose and under the conditions required by paragraph (a) may not apply under this section unless:

(1) He obtained the establishment by inheritance or will and the previous owner was eligible under the provisions of paragraph (a); or

(2) He is a member of the immediate family of the transferor who was eligible under the provisions of paragraph (a). (A member of the immediate family of the transferor includes father, mother, son, daughter, wife, husband, brother or sister); or

(3) The change in ownership is only as to the form of the business organization but the same parties both in interest and in number have the establishment at the time of application; or

(4) One or more of the owners of the establishment at the time of application for an adjustment is a person who had an ownership interest in the establishment continuously from the time when an investment in productive equipment had been made for the purpose and under the conditions required by paragraph (a) to the date of application. Such person may obtain an adjustment to the extent of that interest. (Thus, if 50% interest in the establishment was subsequently sold to another person only 50% of the adjustment computed under paragraph (c) may be granted.

(5) At the date of transfer, or subsequent thereto, the establishment was using sugar or sugar-containing products in the manufacture of products for delivery to a designated agency under contract or order from such agency.

(d) The following persons are not eligible to apply for a base or an adjustment in base under this section:

(1) A person who prior to January 1, 1945 used jams, jellies, preserves, marmalades or fruit butters in making the the product, or who made jams, jellies, preserves, marmalades or fruit butters unless he invested after that date in productive equipment for designated agency production;

(2) A person who used a sugar-containing product for which a provisional allowance may be obtained in making the product or who makes a product or a sugar-containing product for which a provisional allowance may be obtained; or

(3) A person who makes or uses bulk sweetened condensed milk in containers over one gallon.

NOTE: A person who did not produce products for delivery to designated agencies but merely packaged products may not apply under this section.

(e) From the information given on the form the capacity or additional capacity acquired for producing sugar-containing products for delivery to designated agencies will be computed. (For the purposes of this computation, "capacity" means the maximum amount in units, i.e., cases, pounds, of products that could be produced per hour on the appropriate date using all of the equipment normally used for the production of such product in the way such equipment was used on that date. In determining capacity of machinery the manufacturer's rated capacity should be used where available.) The following formula, adjusted for each individual case, will be used in compuffing the base or adjustment in base to be granted under this section:

(1) The capacity (as defined above) times the sugar content equals the capacity in pounds of sugar per hour;

(2) The capacity of sugar in pounds per hour times the number of hours per normal work week in 1941 for that industry times 52 equals the capacity of the plant in pounds of sugar per year;

(3) Capacity of the plant in pounds of sugar per year times the figure representing the lowest percent of operation of a substantial number of firms in the industry equals the base or adjustment in base to be granted.

Example 1: Candy manufacturer. The Sweet Candy Company, a registered industrial user, producers of hard candy, reports a capacity in pounds per hour of 500 pounds as of April 20, 1942. Due to additional equipment installed after that date to take care of a contract with the Army, the capacity of the plant is reported as 800 pounds per hour as of January 1, 1947. Figures submitted by the company show a sugar content in the candy produced of 60%. In determining the amount of adjustment to which the company may be entitled the following computation is made:

1. Increased capacity—300 pounds (800 lbs. minus 500 lbs.) times 60% (sugar content)—equals 180 pounds sugar capacity per hour.

2. 180 lbs. times 2080 hours (40 hours × 52 weeks) equals 374,400 lbs. (capacity of plant in lbs. of sugar per year).

3. 374,400 times 50% (industry factor) equals 187,200 lbs., the amount of adjustment to be granted to the Sweet Candy Company.

Example 2: Bottler. In October, 1943, the Wet Beverage Company invested in bottling equipment and started in business producing beverages for the Navy. They report the capacity of the plant as of January 1, 1947 as 150 cases per hour. Figures submitted by the company show a sugar content of 1½ pounds per case. In determining the amount of base to which the Wet Beverage Company may be entitled, the following computation is made:

1. 150 cases per hour times 1½ lbs. per case equals 225 lbs. sugar capacity per hour.

2. 225 lbs. times 2080 hours (40 hours × 52 weeks) equals 468,000 lbs. capacity of plant in lbs. of sugar per year.

3. 468,000 lbs. times 30% (industry factor) equals 140,000 lbs., the amount of base to be granted to the Wet Beverage Company.

NOTE: A similar formula is used when the industrial user acquired capacity or additional capacity for using sugar-containing products, rather than sugar, in producing products for designated agency delivery.

(f) Population increase adjustments under section 2.3 may not be granted to persons receiving either a base or an adjusted base under this section. An industrial user who has been receiving a population increase adjustment under section 2.3 for the class of products for which an adjustment is granted under this section may not continue to receive such population increase adjustment for that class of products.

(g) A Sugar Branch Office may not act on an application filed under this section but must send the application, together with all other information received, including the entire file, to the Regional Office for decision.

(h) No adjustment granted under the provisions of this section shall be effective prior to April 1, 1947.

This amendment shall become effective February 21, 1947.

NOTE: The reporting and record-keeping requirements of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Issued this 14th day of February 1947.

PHILIP B. FLEMING,
Temporary Controls Administrator.

Rationale Accompanying Amendment No. 37 to Third Revised Ration Order 3

During the war years, many manufacturers who had not been in the business of manufacturing sugar-containing products before April 20, 1942, the date on which sugar rationing began, invested in sugar-using equipment and commenced manufacturing sugar-containing products in order to supply the armed forces and other designated agencies with such products. Other industrial users who had been in business prior to April 20, 1942, made investments in sugar-using equipment during the war years for the purpose of increasing their productive capacity in order to fulfill war contracts they had made with the armed forces and other designated agencies. In either case, these manufacturers received sugar for this purpose from the designated agency involved free of the rationing system.

The termination of the war contracts with these designated agencies has resulted in curtailment or complete cessation of operations by such industrial users as ex-quota sugar is not available to them. Many of these manufacturers had been urged by the armed forces and other designated agencies to produce for war purposes and, in some instances, had even been assured they would be able to obtain sugar upon the termination of their war contracts. Since it now appears that sugar rationing will be necessary longer than had been anticipated, it is recognized that great hardship would be imposed upon both these types of producers unless they were given relief.

This amendment is designed to provide a sugar base or adjustment in base for such persons comparable to bases granted persons who invested in productive equipment during the base period. Experience in the operation of that program, the pre-rationing investment adjustment program, has indicated that the method used therein has met the considerations of equity and fairness and will likewise serve to alleviate hardship in the types of cases this amendment covers.

The Office of Price Administration is the agency established to assist the Temporary Controls Administrator in the administration of this program. C., or the appropriate field office in your vicinity.

PART 25—MEDICAL

HOSPITALIZATION AND DOMICILIARY CARE

1. Paragraph (c) (2) of § 25.6047 Eligibility for hospital treatment or domiciliary care of persons discharged or retired from military or naval service is amended to read as follows:

(2) Domiciliary care for persons enumerated in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, when suffering from a permanent disability or tuberculosis or neuropsychiatric ailment and who are incapacitated from earning a living and who have no adequate means of support. If a member is discharged on his own request it will be presumed he no longer regards himself as incapacitated from earning a living and his request will be complied with. Under such circumstances he will not be furnished hospitalization or domiciliary care until the expiration of three months from the date of such discharge, except when requiring readmission in a medical emergency.

2. A new subparagraph (3) is added to § 25.6047 (d) as follows:

(3) If a member is discharged on his own request it will be presumed he no longer regards himself as incapacitated from earning a living and his request will be complied with. Under such circumstances he will not be furnished hospitalization or domiciliary care until the expiration of three months from the date of such discharge, except when requiring readmission in a medical emergency. Chapter I—Fish and Wildlife Service, Department of the Interior

Subchapter C—National Wildlife Refuges; Individual Regulations

PART 27—SOUTHEASTERN REGION NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGES

OKEFENOKEE NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE, GEORGIA

1. Section 27.698 (50 CFR 27.698) is revised to read as follows:

§ 27.698 Okefenokee National Wildlife Refuge, Georgia; public use area. Persons may, without permit, enter and temporarily use for boating, nature study, photography and other recreational purposes such areas of the refuge as may be designated for said purposes by the Officer in Charge by suitable posting and shall observe such special regulations and conditions as may be prescribed by the Officer in Charge of the refuge, copies of which shall be posted on the refuge and available at refuge headquarters.

Entry on and use of the refuge for any purpose is covered by the regulations for the administration of National Wildlife Refuges dated December 19, 1940 (5 FR 5284; 50 CFR, Cum. Supp., Part 12), as amended and strict compliance therewith is required.

Persons desiring to enter areas of the refuge not designated as Public Use Areas may be issued a permit by the Officer in Charge or his authorized representative, which permit may require the employment of an accredited guide or such other conditions as the Officer in Charge may deem necessary for the safety of the individual and the protection of wildlife on the refuge.

2. A new regulation to be known as § 27.698a is hereby inserted following § 27.698, to read as follows:

§ 27.698a Okefenokee National Wildlife Refuge, Georgia; fishing. Non-commercial fishing, in accordance with the State laws of Georgia, is permitted during the daylight hours on all waters designated by posting as Public Use Areas within the Okefenokee National Wildlife Refuge, and in other areas when entry is authorized by permit, in accordance with the following provisions:

Each fisherman must comply with the applicable State fishing laws and regulations and must have on his person and exhibit at the request of any authorized Federal or State officer whatever license is required by such laws and regulations, which license shall serve as a Federal permit for fishing on the designated waters of the refuge.

During periods of waterfowl or other wildlife concentrations, fishing may be closed on such areas of the refuge as, in the judgment of the Officer in Charge, such limitations or restrictions are necessary in order to provide adequate protection for wildlife. Such limitations or restrictions are to be clearly designated by posting.

Live bait shall not be used for fishing, and no minnows shall be taken for bait in any of the waters of the refuge.

WAGES AND SUGARCANE PRICES IN HAWAII FOR 1947

NOTICE OF HEARINGS AND DESIGNATION OF PRESIDING OFFICERS

Pursuant to the authority contained in subsections (b) and (d) of section 301 and section 511 of the Sugar Act of 1937 (50 Stat. 885), as amended, notice is hereby given that public hearings will be held in the Territory of Hawaii as follows:

At Honolulu, on the Island of Oahu, on February 25, 1947, at 9:30 a. m., in the Court Room of the United States District Court for the Territory of Hawaii, in the Federal Building at Honolulu; and

At Hilo, on the Island of Hawaii, on February 27, 1947, at 9:30 a. m., in the Court Room of the United States District Court for the Territory of Hawaii at Hilo.

The purpose of the hearings is to receive evidence likely to be of assistance to the Secretary in determining (1), pursuant to the provisions of section 301 (b) of the said act, fair and reasonable wage rates for persons employed in the production, cultivation, or harvesting of sugarcane during the calendar year 1947 on farms with respect to which applications for payments under the act are made, and (2), pursuant to the provisions of section 301 (d) of the said act, fair and reasonable prices for the 1947 crop of sugarcane to be paid, under either purchase or toll agreements, by processors who as producers apply for payments under the said act; and to receive evidence likely to be of assistance to the Secretary in making recommendations, pursuant to the provisions of section 511 of the said act, with respect to the terms and conditions of contracts between producers and processors of sugarcane, and the terms and conditions of contracts between laborers and producers of sugarcane.

Such hearings, after being called to order at the time and places mentioned above, may for convenience be adjourned to such other place in the same city as the presiding officers may designate, and may be continued from day to day within the discretion of the presiding officers.

Samuel Shapiro and Will N. King are hereby designated as presiding officers to conduct, either jointly or severally, the foregoing hearings.

Issued this 11th day of February 1947.

CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD

[14 CFR, Part 61]

LISTING OF PILOTS AND DISPATCHERS IN AIR CARRIER OPERATING CERTIFICATE

PROPOSED ELIMINATION OF REQUIREMENT

Part 61 of the Civil Air Regulations requires that first pilots and dispatchers be listed in the air carrier operating certificate of the air carrier which they serve. This requirement makes it necessary to amend the air carrier operating certificates almost daily to provide for such listings. The required additions to or deletions from the air carrier operating certificates impose an undue amount of paper work upon the Administrator and the air carriers, and it is therefor proposed to amend the Civil Air Regulations to eliminate the frequent amendment of the air carrier operating certificates and to provide equivalent airmen records.

Pursuant to section 4 (a) of the Administrative Procedure Act the Safety Bureau of the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby gives public notice that the Bureau will propose to the Board an amendment to Part 61 of the Civil Air Regulations as follows:

1. Elimination of the requirement that pilots and dispatchers be listed in the air carrier operating certificate from §§ 61.511, 61.513, 61,552, 61.554, 61.7100, and 61.7803 (c) (4).

2. Amendment of § 61.50 to read as follows:

§ 61.50 Airmen utilization. No scheduled air carrier shall utilize any dispatcher or flight crew member in scheduled air transportation until such airman has met the appropriate qualifications and requirements prescribed by the Civil Air Regulations.

3. Addition of a new § 61.500 to read as follows:

§ 61.500 Airmen records. Each scheduled air carrier shall maintain such current records of dispatchers and flight crew members utilized by the air carrier in scheduled air transportation at such points on its routes as the Administrator may designate. These records shall contain such information concerning the qualifications of each airman as the Administrator may prescribe. No scheduled air carrier shall utilize in scheduled air transportation any dispatcher or flight crew member unless records are maintained for such airmen as required herein.

This regulation is proposed under the authority of Title VI of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938.

It is the desire of the Bureau that those interested offer suggestions and comments regarding the proposed amendment. Comments in writing should be addressed to the Safety Bureau, Civil Aeronautics Board, Washington 25, D. C., for receipt within 15 days from the date of this public notice.

[Docket No. FDC 47]

CANNED TOMATOES; DEFINITION AND STANDARD OF IDENTITY

NOTICE OF HEARING

In the matter of proposals to amend the definition and standard of identity for canned tomatoes.

Notice is hereby given that the Administrator of the Federal Security Agency, upon application of a substantial portion of the interested industry, stating reasonable grounds therefor, and in accordance with the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (secs. 401, 701, 52 Stat. 1046, 1055; 21 U. S. C. 341, 371), will hold a public hearing commencing at 10 o'clock in the morning of March 20, 1947, in Room 5545, Social Security Building, Independence Avenue and Fourth Streets, SW, Washington, D. C., upon proposals to amend § 53.40 (a) (4) (21 CFR Cum. Supp. 53.40) to provide for the use of additional optional calcium salts for firming tomatoes, and § 53.40 (b) (21 CFR Cum. Supp. 53.40) to provide for label statement of such optional ingredients.

Mr. Bernard D. Levinson hereby is designated as presiding officer to conduct the hearing, in the place of the Administrator, with full authority to administer oaths and affirmations and to do all other things appropriate to the conduct of the hearing. The presiding officer is required to certify the entire record of the proceedings to the Administrator for initial decision.

The hearing will be conducted in accordance with the rules of practice provided therefor.

In lieu of oral testimony, interested persons may submit affidavits to the presiding officer at the Social Security Building, Federal Security Agency, Independence Avenue and Fourth Street, SW, Washington, D. C., at any time prior to the hearing. Such affidavits should be submitted in quintuplicate. Every interested person will be permitted, in accordance with the above-mentioned rules of practice, to examine all affidavits submitted and to file counter-affidavits with the presiding officer.

At the hearing evidence will be restricted to testimony and exhibits that are relevant and material to the issue contained in the proposals.

The proposal is subject to adoption, rejection, amendment, or modification by the administrator, in whole or in part, as the evidence adduced at the hearing may require.

Dated: February 12, 1947.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

Wage and Hour Division

LEARNER EMPLOYMENT CERTIFICATES

ISSUANCE TO VARIOUS INDUSTRIES

Notice of issuance of special certificates for the employment of learners under the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938.

Notice is hereby given that special certificates authorizing the employment of learners at hourly wage rates lower than the minimum wage rate applicable under section 6 of the act have been issued to the firms hereinafter mentioned under section 14 of the act, Part 522 of the Regulations issued thereunder (August 16, 1940, 5 F. R. 2862, and as amended June 25, 1942, 7 F. R. 4725), and the determinations, orders and/or regulations hereinafter mentioned. The names and addresses of the firms to which certificates were issued, industry, products, number of learners, learner occupations, wage rates, learning periods, and effective and expiration dates of the certificates are as follows:

Independent Telephone Learner Regulations, July 17, 1944 (9 F. R. 7125). The special learner certificate issued to the following company under the above regulations provide for the employment of learners in the occupation of commercial switchboard operator for a period not in excess of 480 hours at not less than 30 cents per hour for the first 320 hours and 35 cents per hour for the remaining 160 hours of the learning period. The number of learners authorized to be employed depends on the number of operators in the exchange, i. e., one learner if the exchange employs 8 operators or less, two learners if the exchange employs from 9 to 18 operators, etc. See Regulations, Part 522, § 522.6f3.

Central Iowa Telephone Company, K Street, Forest City, Iowa; effective January 30, 1947, expiring January 29, 1948.

Regulations, Part 522—Regulations Applicable to the Employment of Learners (supra).

Colette Manufacturing Company, Santurce, Puerto Rico; Hairnet Industry; as follows:

Four (4) learners, Covering elastics; and four (4) learners, Examining; at not less than 16½ cents an hour for the first 160 hours, not less than 25 cents an hour for the second 160 hours, and not less than 27½ cents an hour for every hour thereafter;

Two (2) learners, Machine-Knotting; at not less than 16½ cents an hour for the first 120 hours, not less than 25 cents an hour for the second 120 hours, and not less than 27½ cents an hour for every hour thereafter;

Eight (8) learners, Hand-Knotting; and twelve (12) learners, Knitting; at not less than 16½ cents an hour for the first 240 hours, not less than 25 cents an hour for the second 240 hours, and not less than 27½ cents an hour for every hour thereafter;

Ten (10) learners, Spooling; at not less than 16½ cents an hour for the first 320 hours, not less than 25 cents an hour for the second 320 hours, and not less than 27½ cents an hour for every hour thereafter;

Ten (10) learners, Warping; at not less than 16½ cents an hour for the first 400 hours, not less than 21 cents an hour for the second 400 hours, not less than 25 cents an hour for the third 400 hours, and not less than 27½ cents an hour for every hour thereafter; effective January 13, 1947, expiring June 13, 1947.

Zekaria Brothers, Puerta de Tierra, San Juan, Puerto Rico; Machine Embroidering; fifty (50) learners, in operation of machine embroidering at not less than 18 cents an hour for the first 240 hours, and for every hour thereafter not less than the minimum established by any applicable wage order that may be in effect at the termination of the learning period; effective January 23, 1947, expiring January 22, 1948.

The employment of learners under these certificates is limited to the terms and conditions therein contained and is subject to the provisions of the applicable determinations, orders and/or regulations cited above. These certificates have been issued upon the employers' representations that experienced workers for the learner occupations are not available for employment and that they are actually in need of learners at subminimum rates in order to prevent curtailment of opportunities for employment. The certificates may be cancelled in the manner provided in the regulations and as indicated in the certificates. Any person aggrieved by the issuance of any of these certificates may seek a review or reconsideration thereof within fifteen days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER pursuant to the provisions of regulations, Part 522.

Signed at New York, New York, this 6th day of February 1947.

ISABEL FERGUSON,
Authorized Representative of the Administrator.

OFFICE OF DEFENSE TRANSPORTATION

[Special Allocation Order ODT R-1, Amdt. 1]

TANK CARS FOR TRANSPORTATION OF SULFURIC ACID AND AMMONIUM NITRATE SOLUTION

ALLOCATION FOR USE

Since the issuance of Special Allocation Order ODT R-1 on January 23, 1947, (12 F. R. 564), it has been determined that three of the commercial companies named in Appendix A of that order have arranged with the War Department for the return to the War Department of the number of Class ICC 103A or ARA 3 tank cars shown opposite their respective names in Appendix A of Special Allocation Order ODT R-1. The three companies are Royster Guano Co., Norfolk, Virginia, Solvay Process Co., New York, New York, and U. S. Rubber Co., New York, New York. The War Department has advised the Office of Defense Transportation that the total number of tank cars to be made available to it by other commercial companies named in Appendix A of Special Allocation Order ODT R-1 may be reduced therefore from 190 to 130. The War Department has further advised the Office of Defense Transportation that as Class ICC 103A or ARA 3 tank cars which it has leased to the Spencer Chemical Company, Kansas City, Missouri, are returned to the War Department, the number of tank cars required from commercial companies named in Appendix A of Special Allocation Order ODT R-1 may be reduced accordingly. To enable the Spencer Chemical Company to release to the War Department the Class ICC 103A or ARA 3 tank cars which said company has under lease from the War Department, General American Transportation Corporation, Chicago, Illinois, has agreed to forthwith lease to said Spencer Chemical Company approximately 46 tank cars of an aggregate capacity of not less than 345,000 gallons, provided the furnishing of such cars to said Spencer Chemical Company will fully discharge the responsibility of said General American Transportation Corporation under Special Allocation Order ODT R-1. The release of such War Department tank cars by the Spencer Chemical Company will reduce the number of tank cars to be made available to the War Department by commercial companies named in Appendix A of Special Allocation Order ODT R-1 to a total of 84. An equitable distribution among the commercial companies shown in Appendix A of such reduced number of tank cars permits eliminating from said Appendix A the names of commercial companies leasing fewer than three Class ICC 103A or ARA 3 tank cars from the War Department.

In view of the foregoing and pursuant to Title III of the Second War Powers Act, as amended, Executive Order 8989, as amended, and Executive Order 9729, Special Allocation Order ODT R-1 is hereby amended as shown in Revised Appendix A and Revised Appendix B attached hereto and by changing the figures 318 and 190 where they appear in the order to read 249 and 84 respectively.

This Amendment 1 to Special Allocation Order ODT R-1 shall become effective on February 12, 1947.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File No. 70-1431]

WISCONSIN HYDRO ELECTRIC CO.

NOTICE REGARDING FILING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on the 7th day of February 1947.

Notice is hereby given that an application or declaration (or both) and amendments thereto have been filed with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 by Wisconsin Hydro Electric Company ("Wisconsin Hydro"), a public utility company and a subsidiary of Eastern Minnesota Power Corporation, a registered holding company.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than February 24, 1947, at 5:30 p. m., e. s. t., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the reasons for such request, the nature of his interest and the issues of fact or law raised by said application or declaration which he desires to controvert, or may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania. At any time after February 24, 1947, such application or declaration, as filed or as amended, or any of the transactions proposed therein, may be granted or may be permitted to become effective as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act, or the Commission may exempt such transactions as provided in Rule U-20 (a) and Rule U-100 thereof.

All interested persons are referred to said filing, as amended, which is on file in the office of this Commission, for a statement of the transactions therein proposed which are summarized below:

Wisconsin Hydro proposes to borrow on April 1, 1947, the sum of $1,750,000 from the Harris Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago, Illinois. The loan will be evidenced by an unsecured note of Wisconsin Hydro bearing interest at 3% annum payable at any time, without premium, upon 3 days' written notice and maturing October 1, 1947. Wisconsin Hydro has paid to the bank the sum of $4,375, being ¼ of 1% of the principal amount of the loan, as a commitment fee for said loan. The proceeds of said proposed loan, if made, will be applied, together with treasury funds, to pay the principal and interest to April 1, 1947, of the Company's First Mortgage Bonds bearing 5% interest due October 1, 1947, outstanding in the principal amount of $2,077,000.

Wisconsin Hydro states that the proposed borrowing from the Harris Trust and Savings Bank is not subject to the jurisdiction of the Wisconsin Public Service Commission.

Wisconsin Hydro further states that it expects to issue, prior to October 1, 1947, long-term bonds and serial notes, the proceeds of which will be applied to the payment of the aforesaid proposed temporary borrowing, and that it will file for authorization by this Commission of the issuance of such bonds and serial notes.

By the Commission.

NEW ENGLAND GAS AND ELECTRIC CORP. ET AL.

SUPPLEMENTAL ORDER APPROVING ALTERNATE PLAN

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on the 11th day of February 1947.

In the matter of New England Gas and Electric Corporation, File No. 54-120; New England Gas and Electric Association et al., File No. 59-34.

The Commission having, by order dated June 24, 1946, approved the Amended Plan under section 11 (e) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 for the recapitalization of New England Gas and Electric Association ("New England"), a registered holding company, and related transactions; and said Amended Plan having been approved by the United States District Court for the District of Massachusetts by Order dated July 17, 1946; and

New England having filed a further application, pursuant to section 11 (e) of the act and other applicable sections thereof, for approval of an Alternate Plan for the recapitalization of New England and related transactions so that New England, upon approval of the Alternate Plan by the Commission, may, at its election, subject to the entry of the requisite enforcement order by the District Court of the United States, proceed with the carrying out of the Alternate Plan or of said Amended Plan; and

New England having requested the Commission, pursuant to section 11 (e) of the act, to apply to a court in accordance with the provisions of subsection (f) of section 18 of the act to enforce and carry out the terms of the provisions of the Alternate Plan; and

The Commission having issued its notice of filing and order for hearing on said Alternate Plan, and having directed that copies of said notice of filing and order for hearing and copies of the Alternate Plan be mailed by New England to each of the holders of its outstanding securities (insofar as the identity of such security holders was available or known to New England); and copies thereof having been mailed by New England to all its security holders, notice having been given to all interested persons, a public hearing having been held, at which hearing security holders of New England and other interested persons were afforded an opportunity to be heard; and

General Public Utilities Corporation ("GPU"), a registered holding company, having requested approval of the acquisition by it of new common shares of New England to be received by GPU in exchange for its holdings of $5.50 preferred shares of New England pursuant to the terms of the Alternate Plan; and

The Commission having considered the record in the matter and having made and filed its findings and opinion herein;

It is ordered, Pursuant to section 11 (e) of the act and other applicable provisions of the act, that the Alternate Plan be, and hereby is, approved, subject to the conditions contained in Rule U-24.

It is further ordered, That jurisdiction be, and hereby is, reserved to the Commission to entertain such further proceedings, to make such supplemental findings, and to take such further action as it may deem appropriate in connection with the plan, the transactions incident thereto and the consummation thereof, and, in the event that neither the Alternate Plan nor the Amended Plan is consummated, with reasonable promptness, to enter such further orders as it may deem appropriate under section 11 (b) (2) of the act without further proceedings.

It is further ordered, That jurisdiction be, and hereby is, reserved to the Commission to take such steps as may be appropriate, after notice and opportunity for hearing, at any time prior to the entry by the United States District Court of an order enforcing the Alternate Plan, to vacate or modify this order and to secure consummation of the Amended Plan, should it appear to the Commission that the Amended Plan approved by order of the Commission dated June 24, 1946 has become feasible.

It is further ordered, That jurisdiction be, and hereby is reserved over the following additional matters: (1) To pass upon certain necessary amendments with respect to the terms of the new securities to be issued; (2) the reasonableness of the price to be paid for securities; the terms of the offering thereof, the underwriters' spread and the fees and expenses in connection therewith; (3) the reasonableness and appropriate allocation of all fees and expenses and other remuneration incurred or to be incurred in connection with the Alternate Plan and the Amended Plan and the transactions incident thereto; and (4) the accounting treatment in connection with the carrying out of the Alternate Plan.

It is further ordered, That counsel for the Commission be, and they hereby are, authorized and directed to make application forthwith on behalf of the Commission to an appropriate United States District Court, pursuant to the provisions of section 11 (e) and in accordance with subsection (f) of section 18 of the act to enforce and carry out the terms and provisions of the Alternate Plan.

It is further ordered, That this order shall not be operative to authorize the consummation of the transactions proposed in the Alternate Plan until an appropriate United States District Court shall, upon application thereto, enter an order enforcing said Alternate Plan.

It is further ordered, That the application of General Public Utilities Corporation, pursuant to section 10 of the act, in respect of the acquisition by it of new common shares of New England to be received by it in exchange for its holdings of $5.50 preferred shares of New England pursuant to the terms of the Alternate Plan, be, and hereby is, granted, subject to the conditions contained in Rule U-24.

It is further ordered, That the transactions specified and itemized below, all as provided by the Alternate Plan, are necessary or appropriate to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) of the act:

(1) The issue and sale by New England of $22,425,000 principal amount of its sinking fund collateral trust bonds plus 77,625 cumulative preferred shares, and the application of the proceeds of such sale (together with such additional cash as may be necessary) to the retirement, at par and accrued interest to a date to be fixed by it, of the debentures of New England presently outstanding;

(2) The allocation by New England of 766,776 common shares to the holders of the present $5.50 Dividend Series Preferred Shares in exchange therefor at the rate of 8 common shares for each present preferred share held plus the transferable right to subscribe for 5 additional shares of common at $9 per share plus the nontransferable right to subscribe for a maximum of 20 additional shares of common, to the extent the same may be available for allocation after exercise of transferable rights, at $9 per share, as set forth in the Plan.

(3) The issue by New England of such number of common shares as may be:

(a) Necessary to fulfill subscriptions by the holders of rights; or

(b) Sold at not less than par to provide $4,312,500 or such part thereof as may be necessary.

(4) The payment by New England of $1,944,550 to Utilities Investing Trust and the Trustee of the Estate of Associated Gas and Electric Corporation, Debtor; and the cancellation of all the presently outstanding $7 Second Preferred and Common Shares of New England which are now held by Utilities Investing Trust; and the execution by New England on the one hand and the Trustees of the Estates of Associated Gas and Electric Company and Associated Gas and Electric Corporation, Debtors, NY PA NJ Utilities Company, Associated Utilities Corporation, Gas and Electric Associates and Utilities Investing Trust on the other of mutual releases of claims; all as required by the Plan.

By the Commission.

TITLE 29—LABOR

Subtitle A—Office of the Secretary of Labor

PART 6—RULES OF PROCEDURE FOR EMERGENCY BOARDS OF INQUIRY

The following rules for the conduct of proceedings by Emergency Boards of Inquiry are hereby issued, pursuant to the authority vested in me by R. S. 161 (5 U. S. C. 22) and the act of March 4, 1913 (37 Stat. 736; 5 U. S. C. 619).

Sec.
6.1 Appointment of Emergency Boards of Inquiry.
6.2 Hearing to be public.
6.3 Participation by board in the hearing.
6.4 Participation by parties in the hearing.
6.5 Stenographic records.
6.6 Rules of evidence.
6.7 Facilities available to board.
6.8 Requests for the production of evidence.
6.9 Adjournment of hearing to permit direct negotiation.
6.10 Settlement of issue by agreement between parties.
6.11 Question as to extent of board's authority.
6.12 Findings of fact and recommendations.

AUTHORITY: §§ 6.1 to 6.12, inclusive, issued under R. S. 161, 37 Stat. 736; 5 U. S. C. 22, 619.

§ 6.1 Appointment of Emergency Boards of Inquiry. Emergency Boards of Inquiry may be appointed by the Secretary of Labor in connection with any labor dispute whenever in his judgment the interest of industrial peace may require it to be done.

§ 6.2 Hearing to be public. Whenever such a board has been appointed it shall hold a public hearing on the merits of the dispute, unless the parties agree to present their case in writing. The record made at such hearing shall include all documents, statements, exhibits, and briefs, which may be submitted, together with the stenographic record. The parties shall have the right to attend the hearing with such persons as they desire, and the hearing shall be open to any other person who wishes to attend, including representatives of the press and radio. The board shall have authority to make whatever reasonable rules are necessary for the conduct of an orderly public hearing. The board may, with the consent of the parties, exclude persons other than the parties at any time when the expeditious settlement of the dispute so requires.

§ 6.3 Participation by board in the hearing. The board may, on its own initiative, at such hearing, call witnesses and introduce documentary or other evidence, and may participate in the examination of witnesses for the purpose of expediting the hearing or eliciting material facts.

§ 6.4 Participation by parties in their hearing. The interested parties or their representatives shall be given reasonable opportunity: (a) To be present in person at every stage of the hearing; (b) to be represented adequately; (c) to present orally or otherwise any material evidence relevant to the issues; (d) to ask questions of the opposing party or a witness relating to evidence offered or statements made by the party or witness at the hearing, unless it is clear that such questions have no material bearing on the credibility of that party or witness or on the issues in the case; (e) to present to the board oral or written argument on the issues.

§ 6.5 Stenographic records. An official stenographic record of the proceedings shall be made. A copy of such record shall be available for inspection by the parties, and copies may be purchased by the parties from the court reporter.

§ 6.6 Rules of evidence. The hearing may be conducted informally. The receipt of evidence at the hearing need not be governed by the common law rules of evidence.

§ 6.7 Facilities available to board. The board may during the proceedings consult with the office of the Secretary of Labor or his designated agents for the purpose of obtaining information pertaining to any wage or salary issue. (Such information may include information in the possession of other governmental agencies.)

Emergency Boards shall be serviced, including the making available of personnel and facilities of the Department, through the office of the Director of the United States Conciliation Service.

§ 6.8 Requests for the production of evidence. The board does not have the power of subpoena. It may request the parties to produce any evidence it deems revelant to the issues but such evidence must be obtained upon the voluntary compliance of the parties.

§ 6.9 Adjournment of hearing to permit direct negotiation. Where, in the opinion of the board, the parties should make further efforts to settle an issue by collective bargaining or where the parties agree to do so, the board may recess the hearing to allow the parties to resume direct negotiations for as long a period as they may mutually agree upon or until a date specified by the board for reconvening of the hearing. Whenever possible, the board shall, at the time of the recess, notify the parties of the date when the board will reconvene with the parties. If it is not possible to give such notice at the time of recess, the parties shall be given at least five days advance notice of this date of reconvening, unless the exigencies of the situation require shorter notice.

§ 6.10 Settlement of issue by agreement between parties. If during the proceedings an agreement is reached between the parties with respect to the issues in dispute they shall be requested to execute a statement in writing to that effect.

§ 6.11 Question as to extent of board's authority. If during the proceedings a question arises as to the extent of the authority of the board to inquire into the facts, or as to the interpretation of the order of the Secretary setting up the board, the board may recess the hearing and consult with the Secretary or his designated agent for the purpose of obtaining clarification.

§ 6.12 Findings of fact and recommendation by the board. (a) After the conclusion of the hearing the board shall submit to the Secretary an original and six copies of its findings of fact and recommendations, unless the parties in the meantime have settled the dispute or agreed to submit it to arbitration.

(b) The time for filing findings of fact and recommendations may not be extended except upon consent of the Secretary.

Signed at Washington, D. C., this 20th day of January 1947.

L. B. SCHWELLENBACH,
Secretary of Labor.

PART 1300—PROCEDURE

[Rev. Procedural Reg. 1, Amdt. 12]

PROCEDURE FOR THE ISSUANCE, ADJUSTMENT, AMENDMENT, PROTEST AND INTERPRETATION OF MAXIMUM PRICE REGULATIONS

Section 55 of Revised Procedural Regulation 1 is amended in the following respects:

1. The words, "nearest district office," appearing in the fifth line of paragraph (a) are deleted, and in their place are substituted the words, "appropriate regional office."

2. Paragraph (a) is redesignated as paragraph (a) (1) and a new subparagraph (2) is added to read as follows:

(2) Interpretations with respect to decontrolled commodities. No official interpretation will be issued with respect to any regulation or order covering a commodity that is no longer under price control, except upon the request of persons involved in enforcement proceedings or current investigations, or upon the request of any federal, state or local government agency. Such requests must be addressed to the General Counsel, Office of Price Administration, Office of Temporary Controls, Washington 25, D. C., and must, in addition to fulfilling all the requirements of sub-paragraph (1) above, clearly identify the enforcement proceeding or investigation involved or in the case of a request by a government agency, explain why the request is made.

3. Paragraph (b) is amended to read as follows:

(b) Interpretations to be written; authorized officials. Official interpretations shall be given only in writing. Interpretations with respect to commodities still under price control shall be signed by the Temporary Controls Administrator or by one of the following officers of the OPA: The Commissioner, the General Counsel, any Associate or Assistant General Counsel of the Sugar Department, any Legal Branch Chief of the Sugar Department, or any Regional Sugar Attorney. All other official interpretations may be signed only by the Commissioner or the General Counsel.

4. Paragraph (c) is amended to read as follows:

(c) Revocation or modification of interpretation. Any official interpretation, whether of general application or otherwise, may be revoked or modified by a publicly announced statement by any official authorized to announce such interpretations of general application or by a statement or notice by the Commissioner or General Counsel published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. An official interpretation addressed to a particular person may also be revoked or modified at any time by a statement in writing mailed to such person and signed by the General Counsel, or in the case of commodities still under price control, by any Associate or Assistant General Counsel, or by any Legal Branch Chief of the Sugar Department. An official interpretation addressed to a particular person by a Regional Sugar Attorney may also be revoked or modified at any time by a statement in writing mailed to such person and signed by the attorney who issued it or his successor.

This amendment shall become effective February 17, 1947.

Issued this 17th day of February 1947.

PHILIP B. FLEMING,
Temporary Controls Administrator.

PART 1388—DEFENSE-RENTAL AREAS

[Housing, New York City Area,[1] Amdt. 85 (§ 1388.1281)]

HOUSING IN NEW YORK CITY AREA

Section 1 (b) (6) of the rent regulation for housing in the New York City defense-rental area is amended to read as follows:

(6) Resort housing. Housing accommodations located in a resort community and customarily rented or occupied on a seasonal basis prior to October 1, 1945, which were not rented during any portion of the period beginning on November 1, 1943, and ending on February 29, 1944.

This exemption shall be effective only from June 1, 1947, to September 30, 1947, inclusive.

Effective: February 17, 1947.

Issued: February 17, 1947.

PHILIP B. FLEMING,
Temporary Controls Administrator.

Statement To Accompany Amendment 35 to the Rent Regulation for Housing in the New York City Defense-Rental Area

By this amendment the provision which created an exception in the case of the City of Long Beach from the resort housing exemption with reference to multiple-unit buildings, is eliminated in view of the fact that the conditions which necessitated the exception no longer exist.

In the judgment of the Price Administrator, this amendment is necessary and proper in order to effectuate the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act.

No provisions which might have the effect of requiring a change in established rental practices have been included in the amendment unless such provisions have been found necessary to achieve effective rent control and to prevent circumvention or evasion of the rent regulations and the act. To the extent that the provisions of this amendment compel or may operate to compel changes in established rental practices, such provisions are necessary to prevent circumvention or evasion of the rent regulations and the act.

TITLE 33—NAVIGATION AND NAVIGABLE WATERS

Chapter I—Coast Guard, Department of the Treasury

[CGFR-47-6]

PART 6—SECURITY OF PORTS AND THE CONTROL OF VESSELS IN THE NAVIGABLE WATERS OF THE UNITED STATES

SUBPART C—ANCHORAGE AND RESTRICTED AREAS

Pursuant to the authority contained in section 1, Title II, of the Espionage Act approved June 15, 1917, 40 Stat. 220 as amended by the act of November 15, 1941, 55 Stat. 763 (50 U. S. C. 191, 191c), and by virtue of Proclamation 2412, June 27, 1940 (3 CFR Cum. Supp.), the regulations for the Security of Ports and Control of Vessels in the Navigable Waters of the United States are amended as follows, which shall become effective upon the date of publication of this order in the FEDERAL REGISTER:

FIRST NAVAL DISTRICT

1. Section 6.1-27 Narragansett Bay, Naval Torpedo Station Torpedo Testing Area, is canceled.

FIFTH NAVAL DISTRICT

2. Paragraphs (1) and (2) of § 6.5-15 are repealed, and the following paragraph (1) is substituted in lieu thereof:

§ 6.5-15 Chesapeake Bay; Lynnhaven Roads, anchorage grounds—(1) Anchorage L-A, naval anchorage. Beginning at a point 5,350 yards, 308° true from Cape Henry Light, a line thence 10,350 yards, 288° true; thence 1,820 yards, 203° true; thence 6,140 yards, 108° true; thence 1,350 yards, 173°30′ true; thence 4,525 yards, 108° true; thence 3,075 yards, 005° 30′ true to the point of beginning.

NOTE: This anchorage is reserved primarily for the use of naval vessels, but in the absence of the fleet, the Captain of the Port may, in his discretion, permit it to be used by merchant vessels. Movement of vessels through the area will not be restricted.

3. A new § 6.5-30 is added to read as follows:

§ 6.5-30 York River, Virginia; naval anchorages—(a) The anchorage grounds—(1) Anchorage Y-1, naval anchorage. The area enclosed by lines drawn as follows: Beginning at a point 700 yards, 018° true from Tue Marshes Light; thence 900 yards, 359° true; thence 4,090 yards, 255° true; thence 6,000 yards, 270°30′ true; thence 450 yards, 180° true; thence 2,300 yards 115° true; thence 3,690 yards, 083° true; thence 4,340 yards, 075° true to the point of beginning.

(2) Anchorage Y-2, naval anchorage. The area enclosed by lines drawn as follows: Beginning at a point 2,650 yards, 302° true from Gloucester Point Light, a line thence 500 yards, 047° true; thence 2,700 yards, 317° true; thence 2,960 yards, 302° true; thence 2,140 yards, 316° true; thence 500 yards, 226° true; thence 2,270 yards, 136° true; thence 2,850 yards, 122° true; thence 2,660 yards, 136° true to the point of beginning.

(b) The regulations. These anchorages are exclusively for the use of naval vessels and, except in cases of emergency, no other vessel shall anchor in the above described areas without permission from the local naval authorities, obtained through the Captain of the Port, Norfolk, Virginia. Movement of vessels through the anchorages will not be restricted.

4. Sections 6.5-137 (b) (1) and 6.5-137 (b) (5) (a) are amended to read as follows:

§ 6.5-137 Patuxent River, Maryland, restricted areas • • •

(b) The regulations—(1) Distance from military establishments. Except in the gut off the tip of Point Patience, no craft shall approach closer than 75 yards to beaches, shore line, or piers of Naval Mine Warfare Test Station and Naval Air Station property. Civilian craft shall not approach rafts, barges, and platforms closer than 100 yards.

• • • • • •

(5) Seaplane landing area. • • •

(a) Will be confined to areas not less than 75 yards nor more than 500 yards from the beaches of the Air Center.

5. A new § 6.5-270 is added to read as follows:

§ 6.5-270 James River, Skiffes Creek, Virginia, restricted area—(a) The area. A restricted area, for use of the War Department, located in James River, Virginia, off the entrance to Skiffes Creek, is hereby established. The area is enclosed within the following boundaries: Beginning at a point lying 650 yards, 015° true from Deep Water Shoals Light structure, extending thence 555 yards, 090° true; thence 1,650 yards, 018° true; thence 760 yards, 270° true; thence 1,590 yards, 190° true to the point of beginning.

(b) The regulations. (1) The above area is for the use of vessels of the War Department. No other vessels or craft shall enter the area, except as provided in subparagraph (3).

(2) Vessels anchored in the area shall be anchored so as not to obstruct the arc of visibility of Deep Water Shoals Light.

(3) Nothing in these regulations shall prevent the setting of fish traps within the area, under permits granted by the War Department, nor shall the passage of fishing vessels to and from authorized traps be unreasonably interfered with or restricted.

6. Section 6.5-295 Albemarle Sound; intracoastal waterway, target danger areas, is amended by cancelling subparagraph (2) (Target No. 8) of paragraph (a).

7. Section 6.5-305 Pamlico Sound, Hancock and Slocum Creeks, prohibited area, is cancelled.

8. Section 6.5-325 Maryland-Virginia Seacoast, Sinepuxent and Chincoteague Bays, target danger areas, is amended by cancelling subparagraph (3) (Target No. 28) of paragraph (a).

SIXTH NAVAL DISTRICT

9. Section 6.6-7 Waters of the Cape Fear River, North Carolina, restricted area, is cancelled.

TENTH NAVAL DISTRICT

10. A new § 6.10-50 is added to read as follows:

§ 6.10-50 Vieques Sound, Puerto Rico, explosive anchorages and ammunition handling berths—(a) The anchorages—(1) Anchorage No. 1 (explosives). The circular area of 2,000 yards radius about the center, located at 18°11′12″ North Latitude, 65°33′12″ West Longitude, is designated an Explosive Anchorage and Ammunition Handling Berth.

(2) Anchorage No. 2 (explosives). The circular area of 2,000 yards radius about the center, located at 18°11′48″ North Latitude, 65°26′06″ West Longitude, is designated an Explosive Anchorage and Ammunition Handling Berth.

(b) The regulations. No vessel or craft shall enter or remain in the above designated areas while occupied by vessels having on board explosives or other dangerous cargo. These regulations will be enforced by the Commandant, Tenth Naval District and the Captain of the Port, San Juan, Puerto Rico.

TWELFTH NAVAL DISTRICT

11. Section 6.12–5 is amended by changing subparagraphs (13) and (26) of paragraph (a) and by changing paragraph (b) to read as follows:

§ 6.12–5 General anchorage areas for San Francisco Bay, San Pablo Bay, Carquinez Strait, Suisan Bay, New York Slough and San Joaquin River, California—(a) General anchorages. * * *

(13) Anchorage No. 13 (explosives). The circular area having a radius of 1,000 feet about a white buoy used to mark the location of this anchorage, the center of which is 2,000 yards 038° true from the most northerly extremity of California Point. The circular zone, 2,000 feet wide, partially surrounding this Explosives Anchorage No. 13, is forbidden anchorage and shall not be used as anchorage by any vessels. The additional area included by a 2,000 yard radius is to be vacated when the anchorage is occupied by a vessel handling explosives and having on board 3,000 tons or more of explosives which will or may explode en masse.

(26) Suisun Bay; Anchorage No. 26 (general). The area on the west side of Suisan Bay adjacent east and northeast of the city of Benecia within the boundaries: The northeast edge of the Southern Pacific Bridge from the north shore to the first siren; thence 550 yards, 077½° true; thence 6650 yards, 035° true; thence 2,100 yards, 044° true; thence 314° true to the shore and along the shore to the point of beginning.

(b) The regulations and special limitations—(1) Anchorage No. 1. Except as described below in this paragraph, this anchorage is a temporary anchorage reserved for the use of vessels entering port while undergoing examination by quarantine, customs or immigration authorities. Upon completion of these examinations vessels shall promptly move out of this anchorage. Yachts may anchor in that portion of this area lying south of a line between Anita Rock Buoys and the northern extremity of Pier 45; west of Steiner Street extended; and east of Lyon Street extended. No permanent moorings shall be placed in the above described area.

(2) Anchorage No. 5. Vessels may anchor in this anchorage immediately adjacent to the channel to Richmond Inner Harbor; Provided, however, That ships obstructing the said channel must move from their positions immediately if and when the fairway is required by vessels navigating the channel.

(3) Anchorage No. 7. Vessels are not authorized to remain anchored in this anchorage for a period exceeding 24 hours without special permission from the Captain of the Port. Permission is not required to anchor in this anchorage for a period of less than 24 hours.

(4) Anchorage No. 10. (i) This anchorage is for the use of public vessels of the United States, but may be used by yachts when not required for use by public vessels.

(ii) All yachts making use of this anchorage shall be prepared to move immediately upon notice, should the anchorage be required for public vessels.

(iii) With the permission of the Captain of the Port, permanent yacht moorings may be placed within this anchorage, not more than 900 feet from the shore and not outside the limiting lines of the anchorage.

(5) Anchorage No. 11. This anchorage is reserved for the exclusive use of vessels and seaplanes of the United States Navy.

(6) Anchorage No. 12. This anchorage is reserved for the use of vessels of the United States or foreign navies and for other public vessels of the United States. With the permission of the Captain of the Port this anchorage may be used temporarily by vessels other than public vessels, but vessels availing themselves of this privilege must hold themselves in readiness to shift berth immediately upon receiving notice to do so.

(7) Anchorages Nos. 13, 14, 19–A, 22 and 23. (i) These anchorages are for the use of vessels loaded with, loading, or unloading explosives, and these anchorages shall not be used by any other vessels.

(ii) Subdivision (i) of this subparagraph is not intended to prohibit lighters and barges from tying up alongside of ships for the transfer of cargo.

(iii) The circular zones 1500 feet wide surrounding the Explosives Anchorages Nos. 14 and 19–A are forbidden anchorages and no vessel shall anchor therein.

(iv) Except as provided in subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph, vessels carrying explosives or other dangerous articles, including inflammable liquids, inflammable solids, oxidizing materials, corrosive liquids, compressed gases, and poisonous substances, shall be anchored within Anchorages Nos. 13, 14, 15, 16, 19–A, 22, and 23 only.

(v) Whenever any water craft, while carrying explosives and not fitted with mechanical power, anchors in Anchorages Nos. 13, 14, or 19–A, the Captain of the Port may require the attendance of a tug when, in his judgment, such action is deemed necessary.

(8) Anchorages Nos. 15 and 16. (i) These anchorages are for the purpose of storage of explosives.

(ii) Barges and vessels shall be anchored so as not to approach one another closer than 500 feet.

(iii) All barges using these anchorages for storage purposes shall anchor with two or more anchors.

(iv) The Captain of the Port may authorize the placing of moorings within these areas, provided these moorings be so placed that barges at one mooring shall at all times be not less than 500 feet from barges at an adjacent mooring.

(v) The square zones 1,500 feet wide surrounding Explosives Storage Anchorages Nos. 15 and 16 are forbidden anchorages and no vessel shall anchor therein.

(9) Anchorage No. 26. Vessels other than those under Federal supervision shall not go alongside or in any manner moor to any Government owned vessel, mooring buoy, or pontoon boom, their anchor cables, or any of their appendages. Vessels other than those under Federal supervision shall not obstruct or interfere in any manner with the mooring, unmooring, or servicing of vessels owned by the United States.

12. Section 6.12–125 (a) is amended to read as follows:

§ 6.12–125 Benicia Arsenal restricted area; Carquinez Strait and Suisun Bay at Benicia, California—(a) The area. The area in Carquinez Strait and Suisun Bay at Benicia, California, is hereby defined and established as a restricted area: Beginning at the North Siren on the Southern Pacific Bridge, Suisun Bay, California, running thence 1375 yards, 232½° true; thence 1075 yards, 314° true to a point on the shore 1850 yards, 268½° true from the North Siren; thence along the shore to the Southern Pacific Bridge and along the Southern Pacific Bridge to the point of beginning.

13. A new § 6.12–152 is added to read as follows:

§ 6.12–152 Naval Operating Area in Monterey Bay, California—(a) The area. An area in Monterey Bay is established as an operating area for Navy Minecraft operations, as follows: The area enclosed within the line starting at the stack in about 36°58'06" North Latitude, 121°54'06" West Longitude, thence 6 miles, 230° true; thence 7.5 miles, 140° true; thence 050° true to the beach; thence along the beach to the starting point.

(b) The regulations. This area will be used for training in various phases of mine warfare operations. During the period from August 1st to February 15th each year, no operations shall be carried on which will involve placing any obstructions in the water nor shall any operations be carried on at night. During the period from February 16th to July 31st each year, operations may be carried on which will involve laying exercise mines and other moored or bottom obstructions. In each case when moored or bottom obstructions are laid a notice to mariners shall be issued giving notice of the approximate location within the operating area.

THIRTEENTH NAVAL DISTRICT

14. Section 6.13–125 Columbia River, Oregon, Slough Anchorage, is cancelled.

TITLE 49—TRANSPORTATION AND RAILROADS

Chapter I—Interstate Commerce Commission

PART 115—DESTRUCTION OF RECORDS OF CARRIERS BY PIPE LINES

PRESERVATION OF OTHER RECORDS

At a session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Division 1, held at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 6th day of February A. D. 1947.

The matter of regulations to govern the destruction of records of pipe line carriers being under consideration pursuant to provisions of section 20 of the Interstate Commerce Act, as amended; and,

It appearing that the "Regulations to Govern the Destruction of Records of Carriers by Pipe Lines, Issue of 1943," as prescribed by order dated November 25, 1942, should be modified for proper administration of the act; and,

It further appearing that this proposed modification was initiated prior to the effective date of the Administrative Procedure Act and that, under the provisions of section 12 of that act, publication of a general notice of the modification as proposed rule making, as contemplated by section 4 of the same act, was not necessary. It is ordered, that:

1. The following paragraph (c) be added to § 115.2 Preservation of other records; special permission to destroy (49 CFR, Cum. Supp.):

(c) Pipe line companies may be granted authority to preserve photographic copies of certain records in lieu of original records or other copies specified in the regulations in this part. Application for such authority shall be filed in the form of a letter which shall describe the particular records intended to be preserved by this method and the process to be used.

2. This order shall be effective March 17, 1947.

3. A copy of this order shall be served upon every carrier by pipe line and upon every trustee, receiver, executor, administrator, or assignee of any such carrier, and notice of this order shall be given to the general public by depositing a copy thereof in the office of the Secretary of the Commission at Washington, D. C., and by filing it with the Director of the Division of the Federal Register.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

TREASURY DEPARTMENT

United States Coast Guard

[33 CFR, Ch. I; 46 CFR, Ch. I]

[CGFR 47–8]

MERCHANT MARINE COUNCIL PUBLIC HEARING

NOTICE OF PROPOSED CHANGES IN REGULATIONS

1. The Merchant Marine Council will hold a public hearing in Room 8205, Coast Guard Headquarters, 13th and E Streets NW., Washington, D. C., on March 26, 27, and 28, 1947. The meetings will convene at 9:30 a. m. and the agenda for this hearing is as follows:

March 26—Marine engineering regulations and material qualifications. Welding electrode specifications.

March 27—Casualty and accident investigations. Suspension and revocation proceedings. Great Lakes pilot rules. Dangerous cargo regulations. Termination of approval of equipment (York-Shipley boilers).

March 28—Use of liquefied petroleum gases on vessels other than passenger vessels.

2. The proposed changes in the regulations together with the authorities for making such changes are described generally in the following paragraphs. Copies of the proposed changes in the regulations have been mailed to persons and organizations who have expressed an active interest in the subjects under consideration. Copies of any of the proposed regulations may be obtained from the Commandant (CMC), Coast Guard Headquarters, Washington 25, D. C., so long as they are available. Comments may be submitted in writing prior to the public hearing, or orally or in writing at the hearing. All comments received will be considered before recommending any changes to the Commandant, U. S. Coast Guard. (R. S. 4405, 4417a, and 4472, as amended; 46 U. S. C. 375, 391a, and 170; sec. 4, Administrative Procedure Act, Public Law 404, 79th Congress, 60 Stat. 238)

MARINE ENGINEERING REGULATIONS AND MATERIAL SPECIFICATIONS

3. The regulations in 46 CFR, Parts 51 to 57, inclusive (Subchapter F—Marine Engineering), are being revised and brought up to date so that the regulations and specifications will reflect the experiences gained through wartime operations. In general, the changes are intended to clarify the existing regulations, effect editorial changes, and bring the regulations into closer agreement with the requirements of the American Bureau of Shipping and the boiler and unfired pressure vessel codes of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and the standards of the American Society for Testing Materials, as well as to incorporate numerous recommendations proposed by boiler manufacturers, marine engineers, and others. It is intended that any amendments adopted by the Commandant will be made effective 90 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

4. The regulations in 46 CFR, Part 51, covering material specifications are being revised to bring them into substantial agreement with the latest standards of the American Society for Testing Materials and the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. It is proposed to add three new specifications covering carbon steel bolting material, now in 46 CFR 51.16b–1 to 51.16b–14, inclusive; copper alloy plate, now in 46 CFR 51.21–1 to 51.21–9, inclusive; and flange and fire box steel plates, now in 46 CFR 51.22–1 to 51.22–11, inclusive. The specifications which are proposed to be revised are as follows:

(a) Marine boiler steel plate; 46 CFR 51.2–1 to 51.2–10, inclusive.

(b) Steel bars and shapes; 46 CFR 51.5–1 to 51.5–10, inclusive.

(c) Lap-welded and seamless steel and lap-welded iron boiler tubes; 46 CFR 51.9–1 to 51.9–16, inclusive.

(d) Electric-resistance-welded steel and open-hearth iron boiler and superheater tubes; 46 CFR 51.9a–1 to 51.9a–18 inclusive.

(e) Seamless steel boiler tubes for high pressure service; medium-carbon seamless steel boiler and superheater tubes; carbon-molybdenum alloy-steel boiler and superheater tubes; 46 CFR 51.10–1 to 51.10–18, inclusive.

(f) Steel pipe; 46 CFR 51.11–1 to 51.11–9, inclusive.

(g) Welded and seamless steel pipe; 46 CFR 51.11a–1 to 51.11a–19, inclusive.

(h) Electric-resistance-welded steel pipe; 46 CFR 51.11b–1 to 51.11b–19, inclusive.

(i) Welded wrought-iron pipe; 46 CFR 51.12–1 to 51.12–10, inclusive.

(j) Seamless brass pipe; 46 CFR 51.13–1 to 51.13–14, inclusive.

(k) Seamless copper pipe; 46 CFR 51.14–1 to 51.14–10, inclusive.

(m) Alloy-steel bolting material; 46 CFR 51.16–1 to 51.16–8, inclusive.

(n) Carbon and alloy-steel nuts for high temperature service; 46 CFR 51.16a–1 to 51.16a–9, inclusive.

(o) Steel castings; 46 CFR 51.17–1 to 51.17–13, inclusive.

(q) Bronze castings; 46 CFR 51.20–1 to 51.20–10 inclusive.

5. The other proposed regulations for 46 CFR, Parts 51 to 57, inclusive (Subchapter F—Marine Engineering), will amend 46 CFR 51.1–7, tension tests; 46 CFR 51.1–13, stamping plates and specimens; 46 CFR 52.1–1, definition of pressure vessel; 46 CFR 52.5–3, computations and detail requirements of pressure vessel heads; 46 CFR 52.6–4, computations of openings and reinforcements; 46 CFR 52.13–5, 52.14–1 to 52.14–6, inclusive, safety valves and relief valves; 46 CFR 52.15–2, 52.15–6, 52.15–11, and 55.19–10 (j), boiler mountings and attachments; 46 CFR 52.16–1 to 52.16–7, inclusive, evaporators, heaters, traps, separators, pressure vessels, and miscellaneous appliances; 46 CFR 53.17–3, damper installations; 46 CFR 54.18–2, testing and inspection of new boilers; 46 CFR 54.18–5, inspection of mountings and attachments; 46 CFR 54.18–12, unfired pressure vessels; 46 CFR 55.19–3, detailed requirements re piping systems; 46 CFR 55.19–6, Class I, piping, Table P–1, piping stresses; 46 CFR 55.19–8, flange standards and methods of attachment; 46 CFR 55.19–9, bolting in piping systems; 46 CFR 56.20–1 to 56.20–19, inclusive, fusion welding; 46 CFR 57.21–1 to 57.21–23, inclusive, re forms, welding, repairs, and brazing. The intent of these proposed changes is to clarify existing regulations, effect editorial changes and bring the regulations into closer agreement with the requirements of the American Bureau of Shipping and the standards of the American Society for Testing Materials and the American Society of Mechanical Engineers as well as to incorporate recommendations proposed by boiler manufacturers, marine engineers, and others.

6. The authority for regulations on marine engineering and material specifications is in R. S. 4405, 4417a, 4418, 4426, 4429–4434, as amended, 49 Stat. 1544, sec. 2, 54 Stat. 1026, and sec. 5 (e), 55 Stat. 244; 46 U. S. C. 367, 375, 391a, 392, 404, 407–412, 463a, 50 U. S. C. 1275; and Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1946, 11 F. R. 7875.

WELDING ELECTRODE SPECIFICATIONS

7. As the result of the study made on the problem of structural failures in the hulls of merchant vessels by the board appointed by the Secretary of the Navy to investigate design and construction practices, certain recommendations and corrective steps were indicated in the report. Two of the steps recommended were new electrode specifications and corresponding reclassification of listed brands. Two new specifications are proposed to be added to 46 CFR, Subchapter Q—Specifications; one as a specification for electrodes (covered), welding, medium steel, for merchant vessels (46 CFR, Subpart 164.700), and the other as a specification for electrodes (covered), welding, molybdenum alloy steel for merchant vessels (46 CFR, Subpart 164.701).

8. At present there are three different sets of specifications intended to classify electrodes for ship construction purposes, which are promulgated by the American Bureau of Shipping, the U. S. Navy, and the U. S. Coast Guard. In order to streamline the approval of electrodes intended for use in the construction of merchant vessels and equipment subject to inspection by the Coast Guard, a new approval procedure has been agreed upon by the American Bureau of Shipping, the U. S. Navy, and the U. S. Coast Guard. The electrodes will be tested in a Naval Laboratory and the tests will be witnessed by a surveyor of the American Bureau of Shipping, which agency will prepare a list of approved electrodes for public circulation. The Coast Guard will make no separate listing of welding electrodes, but will accept the welding electrodes listed on this new American Bureau of Shipping's list.

9. The new specifications proposed are intended to implement this new arrangement for welding electrode approvals. The new specifications refer to the Navy specifications for all types of electrodes included therein. In addition, three types of welding electrodes are permitted and the testing of these three types will be made according to the American Welding Society—American Society for Testing Materials specifications. The listing of welding electrodes for all types of ship construction will be identical except for certain brands permitted for certain limited applications on merchant ship construction. The specifications include three principal additions to the currently effective American Welding Society-American Society for Testing Materials specifications, which are X-ray tests, humidity tests, and a standard color marking to designate the different classes of welding electrodes. The X-ray examination of the welds is intended to improve the general soundness of the welds. Electrodes capable of depositing superior weld metal under tests will obviously give superior welds under ordinary operating conditions. The humidity test is intended to cull out those welding electrodes which might deteriorate too quickly in storage. The standard color marking for different classes of welding electrodes is intended to reduce confusion because at present there is no uniform system by which different types of electrodes can be distinguished and various manufacturers have adopted distinguishing marks which have created confusion when intermingled with welding electrodes of other brands. The Navy specifications include these three principal additions which have already been widely adopted by industry. The American Bureau of Shipping's approved list of welding electrodes includes all electrodes currently approved by either the U. S. Navy or the American Bureau of Shipping. It is intended to permit all brands and types of electrodes on this list until evidence is received from laboratory work that certain electrodes do not comply with the proposed specifications.

10. It is proposed to amend 46 CFR 37.2–5, 37.2–7, 59.15, 60.12, and 76.18, regarding welding in construction of lifeboats, life rafts, etc., in order to make proper editorial references to proposed welding electrode specifications. The regulation in 56 CFR 56.20–3a, regarding the approval of welding electrodes or welding rods will be canceled.

11. The authority for regulations on welding electrode specifications is in R. S. 4405, 4417a, 4418, 4426, 4429, 4430, 4433, 4434, 4488, 4491, as amended, 49 Stat. 1544, sec. 2, 54 Stat. 1028, sec. 5 (e), 55 Stat. 244; 46 U. S. C. 367, 375, 391a, 392, 404, 407, 408, 411, 412, 463a, 481, 489, 50 U. S. C. 1275; and sec. 101, Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1946, 11 F. R. 7875.

CASUALTY AND ACCIDENT INVESTIGATIONS

12. The temporary wartime rules for casualty and accident investigations in 46 CFR 136.100 to 136.112, inclusive, were based in part on a waiver of certain requirements of 46 U. S. C. 239 (R. S. 4450). It is necessary that the regulations and procedures be revised to comply with the changes in the statutes made by Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1946 (11 F. R. 7875) and the Administrative Procedure Act (Public Law 404, 79th Congress, 60 Stat. 238). The proposed regulations will cancel the regulations in 46 CFR, Parts 136 and 137, which were suspended by the waiver of the Commandant, U. S. Coast Guard, dated August 26, 1942, 7 F. R. 6778, and will revise the regulations in 46 CFR 136.100 to 136.112, inclusive. Only the minimum changes in regulations have been made in this part to comply with the new statutory requirements, and the present regulations will be reissued in modified form as new regulations. The proposed regulations will separate insofar as possible procedural requirements from substantive requirements and will provide definite procedures for Marine Boards of Investigations which will replace the "A", "B", and "C" Boards formerly required by 46 U. S. C. 239. However, where a marine casualty or accident is not a major marine casualty only an investigating officer will perform the functions formerly made by one of the boards required by 46 U. S. C. 239. The proposed regulations also contain new regulations regarding disclosure of records, persons in service of Coast Guard, depositions, construction of rules and rules of evidence, and computation of time.

13. The authority for regulations on casualty and accident investigations is in R. S. 4450, as amended, 46 U. S. C. 239; the Administrative Procedure Act, Public Law 404, 79th Congress, 60 Stat. 238; and Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1946, 11 F. R. 7875.

SUSPENSION AND REVOCATION PROCEEDINGS

14. The rules for suspension and revocation proceedings dealing with licenses and certificates issued by the Coast Guard or its predecessors to merchant marine personnel were also contained in the temporary wartime rules for casualty and accident investigations in 46 CFR 136.100 to 136.112, inclusive. The Administrative Procedure Act (Public Law 404, 79th Congress, 60 Stat. 238), and Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1946 (11 F. R. 7875) require that the regulations and procedures be revised and modified. Only the minimum changes in the present rules have been made in this part to comply with the new statutory requirements. It is proposed to revise the requirements in 46 CFR 136.100 to 136.112, inclusive, regarding suspension and revocation proceedings, and to transfer such regulations to 46 CFR, Part 137, which will contain the rules for suspension and revocation proceedings only. These regulations will be issued as new regulations. The proposed regulations will require the use of examiners to conduct the hearings in suspension and revocation proceedings who will have the authority to make a final decision subject to an appeal to the Commandant, U. S. Coast Guard. This is in accordance with present regulation in 46 CFR 4.05–3, published in the FEDERAL REGISTER November 30, 1946 (11 F. R. 13970). The proposed regulations cover the requirements for investigating officers, preliminary investigations, hearings and responsibility of examiners. There have also been added rules regarding disclosure of records, definitions, depositions, construction of rules and rules of evidence, taking of official notice of facts by examiners, submission of briefs, proposed findings and conclusions, and disqualification of examiner.

15. The authority for rules on suspension and revocation proceedings is in R. S. 4450, as amended, 46 U. S. C. 239; Administrative Procedure Act, Public Law 404, 79th Congress, 60 Stat. 238; and Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1946, 11 F. R. 7875.

GREAT LAKES PILOT RULES

16. Upon a petition of the Lakes Carriers' Association proposed changes in the Pilot Rules for the Great Lakes will be considered. The proposed changes deal with regulations in 33 CFR, Part 322. The recommendations made are to improve the Pilot Rules for the Great Lakes and cover the following pilot rules:

(a) Defintions and risk of collision (33 CFR 322.02).

(b) Signals and rules of the road (33 CFR 322.1, 322.4 to 322.8, inclusive, 322.10, and 322.13).

(c) Distress signals (33 CFR 322.15).

17. The authority for Pilot Rules for the Great Lakes is in section 3, 28 Stat. 649, 33 U. S. C. 243, and Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1946, 11 F. R. 7875.

DANGEROUS CARGO

18. It is proposed to amend 33 CFR 6.25 entitled, "Authority to load, unload, or transport Class A explosives," by adding a new regulation requiring that the present application for a permit to load explosives submitted to the Captain of the Port shall be accompanied with a preliminary dangerous cargo stowage plan and detailed manifest of other dangerous cargo proposed to be loaded on board the vessel. The permit to load explosives will be granted after a satisfactory loading and stowage plan has been approved by the Captain of the Port. The authority for this regulation is in section 1, Title II of the Espionage Act, approved June 15, 1917, 40 Stat. 220, as amended by the act of November 15, 1941, 55 Stat. 763, 50 U. S. C. 191, 191c, and Proclamation No. 2412, dated June 27, 1940, 3 CFR Cum. Supp.

19. It is proposed to amend the present regulation in 46 CFR 146.24–15 regarding liquid chlorine in bulk by adding specific authority in 46 CFR 146.24–15 (j) for the customary operational practice of the carrier to replace relief valves whenever he deems it to be necessary for safety and to delete the requirement in 46 CFR 146.24–15 (k), regarding sea cocks of an approved design for the purpose of sinking the barge in the event of an emergency, since it is agreed that sinking the barge may be more hazardous than controlling any leaks. The authority for this regulation is in R. S. 4472, as amended, 46 U. S. C. 170, and Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1946, 11 F. R. 7875.

TERMINATION OF APPROVAL OF EQUIPMENT

20. The termination of approval of the York-Shipley heating boilers, models M–500, M–800, M–1200, M–1500, and HW–250 will be considered because these types of boilers are no longer being manufactured. In the proposed termination of approval it is intended that any of these types of boilers now in use may be continued in service so long as they are in good and serviceable condition. The authority for terminating this approval is in R. S. 4405, 4417a, 4429–33, and 4491, as amended, 49 Stat. 1544, 46 U. S. C. 367, 375, 391a, 407–411, 489, and section 101, Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1946, 11 F. R. 7875.

USE OF LIQUEFIED PETROLEUM GASES ON VESSELS OTHER THAN PASSENGER VESSELS

21. The Merchant Marine Council at a public hearing held October 22, 1946, in accordance with the announcement published in the FEDERAL REGISTER, dated September 27, 1946 (11 F. R. 11014), received comments concerning the use of liquefied petroleum gases for cooking and heating purposes when considering proposed regulations to be added to the Tank Vessel Regulations in 46 CFR, Part 34, and proposed minor amendments to regulations in 46 CFR 61.25 (g), 77.24 (g), 95.24 (g), and 114.25 (g), covering cargo vessels. Because of the rapid increase in the use of liquefied petroleum gases and proposed studies to be made by various organizations, the Merchant Marine Council decided to postpone final recommendations on the proposed amendments until further study of the subject was made and additional suggestions could be received.

22. The proposed regulations for using liquefied petroleum gases for cooking and heating purposes on vessels other than passenger vessels are based on the comments and suggestions made at the public hearing held by the Merchant Marine Council and the study made since October 22, 1946. The new regulations cover the use of liquefied petroleum gases on tank vessels and revise and amend the regulations in 46 CFR 61.25, 77.24, 95.24, and 114.25 applicable to cargo vessels. If the regulations are adopted, it is intended that they will be made effective 90 days after the date of publication of the document in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

23. The authority for regulations on use of liquefied petroleum gases on vessels other than passenger vessels is in R. S. 4405, 4417, 4417a, 4418, 4426, 4427, and 4491, as amended, 35 Stat. 428, 49 Stat. 1544, sec. 2, 54 Stat. 1028, sec. 5 (e), 55 Stat. 244; 46 U. S. C. 367, 375, 391, 391a, 392, 395, 404, 405, 463a, 489, 50 U. S. C. 1275; and Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1946, 11 F. R. 7875.

Dated: February 13, 1947.

[SEAL] MERLIN O'NEILL,
Rear Admiral, U. S. Coast Guard,
Acting Commandant.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

[47 CFR, Part 3]

[Docket No. 8050]

MULTIPLE OWNERSHIP OF BROADCAST STATIONS

ORDER CONTINUING HEARING

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 28th day of January 1947:

The Commission having scheduled oral argument in the above entitled proceeding for February 7, 1947, before the Commission en banc; and

It appearing, that public interest, convenience and necessity would be served by a continuance thereof;

It is ordered, That the oral argument in the above entitled proceeding be and it is hereby continued until February 24, 1947, at 10 o'clock a. m. at Washington, D. C.

MULTIPLE OWNERSHIP RULES[1]

PRE-HEARING CONFERENCE FOR ORAL ARGUMENT

FEBRUARY 10, 1947.

A further pre-hearing conference for the oral argument on Multiple Ownership Rules, (now scheduled for February 24, 1947) will be held on Monday, February 17, 1947, at 10:00 a. m. in Room 1146, New Post Office Building. All persons expecting to appear at the oral argument, including persons who did not attend the first pre-hearing conference, which was held on January 31, 1947, are invited to attend. The Commission's staff has prepared a tabulation of television and FM broadcast stations, existing and proposed, which have overlapping service areas and some degree of common control. A limited number of copies of this tabulation are available at the Commission to persons interested in participating in the oral argument on the Multiple Ownership Rules.

[SEAL] FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION,
T. J. SLOWIE
Secretary.

NOTICES

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

Bureau of Land Management

CALIFORNIA

CLASSIFICATION ORDER

JANUARY 30, 1947.

1. Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Secretary of the Interior (43 CFR 4.275 (a) (39), 11 F. R. 9080), I hereby classify under the small tract act of June 1, 1938 (52 Stat. 609), as amended July 14, 1945 (59 Stat. 467, 43 U. S. C. 682a), for leasing, as hereinafter indicated, the following described public lands in the Los Angeles, California, land district, embracing 676.47 acres:

SMALL TRACT CLASSIFICATION NO. 105

CALIFORNIA NO. 43

For all of the purposes mentioned in the act except camp and business site purposes.

San Bernardino Meridian

T. 1 S., R. 9 E.,
Sec. 4, lots 7, 8, 9 and 10;
Sec. 11, lots 2, 5, 6, 7 and 8;
Sec. 14, lots 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7, SE¼NW¼, E½SW¼.

2. The lands lie at the base of the Pinto Mountains approximately 2,300 feet above sea level, and are located in San Bernardino County, about a mile and a half to five miles south and southeast of Twentynine Palms. They are accessible by automobile over dirt roads or trails. An electric power line has been extended to Twentynine Palms, and telephone service is available. In addition to clothing and grocery stores, restaurants, hotels and tourist homes, two modern schools, churches, movies and other facilities are available at Twentynine Palms.

3. Water for the entire area is obtained from ground water supplies. Water has been obtained from wells throughout the area which range in depth from 30 to 275 feet. Water from developed wells is sold and delivered locally. This is a common practice in this vicinity and is often the cheapest and most desirable method of obtaining culinary water.

4. Pursuant to § 257.8 of the Code of Federal Regulations (43 CFR, Cum. Supp., Part 257, as amended by Circ. 1613, Feb. 27, 1946), a preference right to a lease is accorded to those applicants whose applications (a) were regularly filed, under the regulations issued pursuant to the act, prior to 3:12 p. m. on April 30, 1946, and (b) are for the type of site for which the land subject thereunder has been classified. As to such applications, this order shall become effective upon the date on which it is signed.

5. As to the land not covered by the applications referred to in paragraph 4, this order shall not become effective to permit the leasing of such land under the small tract act of June 1, 1938, cited above, until 10:00 a. m. on April 3, 1947. At that time such land shall, subject to valid existing rights and the provisions of existing withdrawals, become subject to application, petition, location, or selection as follows:

(a) Ninety-day period for other preference right filings. For a period of 90 days from 10:00 a. m. on April 3, 1947, to close of business on July 2, 1947, inclusive, to (1) application under the small tract act of June 1, 1938, by qualified veterans of World War II, for whose service recognition is granted by the act of September 27, 1944 (58 Stat. 747, 43 U. S. C. 279–283), subject to the requirements of applicable law, and (2) application under any applicable public land law, based on prior existing valid settlement rights and preference rights conferred by existing laws or equitable claims subject to allowance and confirmation. Applications by such veterans shall be subject to claims of the classes described in subdivision (2).

(b) Advance period for simultaneous preference-right filings. All applications by such veterans and persons claiming preference rights superior to those of such veterans filed at or after 3:12 p. m. on April 30, 1946, together with those presented at 10:00 a. m. on March 14, 1947, shall be treated as simultaneously filed.

(c) Date for nonpreference-right filings authorized by the public-land laws. Commencing at 10:00 a. m. on July 3, 1947, any of the land remaining unappropriated shall become subject to application under the small tract act by the public generally.

(d) Advance period for simultaneous nonpreference-right filings. Applications under the small tract act by the general public filed at or after 3:12 p. m. on April 30, 1946, together with those presented at 10:00 a. m. on June 13, 1947, shall be treated as simultaneously filed.

6. Veterans shall accompany their applications with certified copies of their certificates of discharge, or other satisfactory evidence of their military or naval service. Persons asserting preference rights, through settlement or otherwise, and those having equitable claims, shall accompany their applications by duly corroborated affidavits in support thereof, setting forth in detail all facts relevant to their claims.

7. All applications for the lands referred to in paragraphs 4 and 5, which shall be filed in the District Land Office at Los Angeles, California, shall be acted upon in accordance with the regulations contained in § 295.8 of Title 43 of the Code of Federal Regulations (Circ. 324, May 22, 1914, 43 L. D. 254), to the extent that such regulations are applicable. Applications under the small tract act of June 1, 1938, shall be governed by the regulations contained in Part 257 of Title 43 of the Code of Federal Regulations.

8. Lessees under the small tract act of June 1, 1938, will be required, within a reasonable time after execution of the lease, to construct upon the leased land, to the satisfaction of the Director, Bureau of Land Management, improvements which under the circumstances are presentable, substantial and appropriate for the use for which the lease is issued. Leases will be for a period of five years, at an annual rental of $5 payable yearly in advance.

9. The land will be leased in tracts of approximately 5 acres, or aliquot parts thereof, each being approximately 330 by 660 feet, or aliquot dimensions thereof. The tracts should conform in description with the rectangular system of surveys as one compact unit, the lands covered by applications referred to in paragraph 5 having the longest dimension extending in an east-west direction.

10. Preference right leases referred to in paragraph 4 will be issued for the land described in the application, irrespective of the direction of the tract, provided the tract is made to conform to the areas and dimensions specified above.

11. Where only one 5-acre tract in a 10-acre subdivision is embraced in a preference right application, however, the Acting Manager is authorized to accept applications for the remaining 5-acre tract or aliquot parts thereof extending in the same direction so as to fill out the subdivision, notwithstanding the direction of the tract may be contrary to that specified above.

12. All inquiries relating to these lands shall be addressed to the Acting Manager, District Land Office, Los Angeles 12, California.

THOS. C. HAVELL,
Acting Assistant Director.

WJZM, CLARKSVILLE, TENN.[1]

PROPOSED ASSIGNMENT OF LICENSE

The Commission hereby gives notice that on February 3, 1947 there was received an application (B-AL-580) for its consent under section 310 (b) of the Communications Act to the proposed assignment of license of Standard Broadcast Station WJZM, Clarksville, Tennessee from William Kleeman to a partnership doing business as Campbell and Sheftall composed of Elmer T. Campbell and John Parry Sheftall.

The proposal to assign the license arises out of a contract of January 14, 1947 pursuant to which Kleeman agrees to sell to Campbell and Sheftall all the physical assets, good-will, and contracts pertaining to WJZM for a total consideration of $95,000 in cash or $100,000 to be paid over a period of time as follows: $40,000 in cash and the remainder in six equal installments to be paid over a period of six years and to be evidenced by six promissory notes bearing interest at the rate of 4% per annum payable annually. Further information as to the arrangements may be found with the application and associated papers on file in the offices of the Commission.

Pursuant to § 1.321 adopted July 25, 1946 the Commission was advised at the time the application was filed (February 3, 1947) that beginning February 7, 1947, notice of the application would be inserted in a local paper of general circulation in conformity of said rule. No action will be had upon the application for a period of 60 days from February 7, 1947 within which time other persons desiring to apply for the facilities involved may do so upon the same terms and conditions as set forth in the above described contract.

STANDARD BROADCAST APPLICATION

TEMPORARY EXPEDITING PROCEDURE

FEBRUARY 7, 1947.

In the Commission's public notice of January 8, 1947, providing for the establishment of a temporary expediting procedure for standard broadcast applications the Commission declared that the formula to be followed by the Commission in determining the order in which the various channels would be considered would be announced shortly after February 7, 1947.

In general, the Commission has determined that wherever possible in processing line 2 the time that work will begin with respect to the several channels will be governed by the oldest application on file for the channels in question. Appropriate announcements will be issued to applicants from time to time as to when the informal conferences will begin with respect to the channels on which they have applications.

PIEDMONT BROADCASTING CO.

ORDER DESIGNATING APPLICATION FOR CONSOLIDATED HEARING ON STATED ISSUES

In re: Application of Piedmont Broadcasting Company, Greenville, South Carolina, for construction permit; Docket No. 8086, File No. B3-P-5307.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission, held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 6th day of February 1947;

The Commission having under consideration the above-entitled application requesting a construction permit for a new standard broadcast station to operate on 910 kc, 1 kw power, daytime only, at Greenville, South Carolina;

It is ordered, That, pursuant to section 309 (a) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the said application be, and it is hereby, designated for hearing at a time and place to be designated by subsequent order of the Commission, upon the following issues;

1. To determine the legal, technical, financial, and other qualifications of the applicant corporation, its officers, directors and stockholders to construct and operate the proposed station.

2. To determine the areas and populations which may be expected to gain or lose primary service from the operation of the proposed station and the character of other broadcast service available to those areas and populations.

3. To determine the type and character of program service proposed to be rendered and whether it would meet the requirements of the populations and areas proposed to be served.

4. To determine whether the operation of the proposed station would involve objectionable interference with station WJHL, Johnson City, Tennessee, or with any other existing broadcast stations and, if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby, and the availability of other broadcast service to such areas and populations.

5. To determine whether the operation of the proposed station would involve objectionable interference with the services proposed in the pending application of John J. Powell, tr/as Carolina Broadcasters (B3–P–5476), Anderson, South Carolina or in any other pending applications for broadcast facilities and, if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby, and the availability of other broadcast service to such areas and populations.

6. To determine whether the installation and operation of the proposed station would be in compliance with the Commission's rules and Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning Standard Broadcast Stations.

It is further ordered, That WJHL, Incorporated, licensee of Station WJHL, Johnson City, Tennessee, be, and it is hereby, made a party to this proceeding.

By the Commission.

OFFICE OF TEMPORARY CONTROLS

Civilian Production Administration

[C-477]

FUELANE CORP.

CONSENT ORDER

Fuelane Corporation of Liberty, New York, is charged by the Civilian Production Administration with violating Veterans' Housing Program Order 1 by beginning construction shortly after November 10, 1946, of a building in Windsor, Vermont, which was estimated to cost between $10,000.00 and $12,000.00, and which has an approximate square foot floor area of 6200 square feet. This building was intended to be used for storage and warehouse facilities for the distribution of liquefied petroleum gas. Fuelane Corporation had filed application for construction of the masonry and foundation work of this building with the Civilian Production Administration in Burlington, Vermont, on November 4, 1946, and this application was denied by the Civilian Production Administration on November 14, 1946. However, construction of the masonry and foundation work for the building continued until about December 13, 1946.

Fuelane Corporation admits the violation as charged but denies that it was wilful and has consented to the issuance of this order.

Wherefore, upon the agreement and consent of Fuelane Corporation, the Regional Compliance Director, and the Regional Attorney, and upon the approval of the Compliance Commissioner, It is hereby ordered, That:

(a) Neither Fuelane Corporation, its successors or assigns, nor any other person shall do any further construction on the building located about one mile North of Windsor Village on Highway 5 in Windsor Township, Vermont, including the putting up, completing, or installing fixtures or mechanical equipment in the structure unless hereafter specifically authorized in writing by the Civilian Production Administration.

(b) Fuelane Corporation shall refer to this order in any application or appeal which it may file with the Civilian Production Administration for authority to carry on construction.

(c) Nothing contained in this order shall be deemed to relieve Fuelane Corporation, its successors and assigns, from any restriction, prohibition or provision contained in any other order or regulation of the Civilian Production Administration, except insofar as the same may be inconsistent with the provisions hereof.

Issued this 17th day of February 1947.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File No. 70-1312]

STANDARD GAS AND ELECTRIC CO.

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE WHY EXTENSION SHOULD BE GRANTED

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 11th day of February 1947.

The Commission having previously, by order entered August 8, 1941, directed that Standard Gas and Electric Company (Standard Gas) divest itself of its holdings in certain subsidiaries, including Mountain States Power Company, and the time for compliance with such order having expired;

The Commission on August 22, 1946, having issued its order (Holding Company Act Release No. 6856) in the above matter permitting to become effective pursuant to Rule U-23 a declaration, as amended, filed by Standard Gas regarding the sale pursuant to Rule U-50 of the 140,614 shares of common stock of Mountain States Power Company, without par value, owned by Standard Gas, the effectiveness of which order terminated pursuant to Rule U-24 sixty days after date thereof without declarant having offered said stock for sale;

The Commission on December 12, 1946, having issued its order (Holding Company Act Release No. 7061) in the above matter permitting to become effective pursuant to Rule U-23, an amended declaration regarding the proposed sale by Standard Gas of 140,614 shares of common stock of Mountain States Power Company, without par value, owned by Standard Gas, which declaration contemplated that such sale would be consummated within 60 days from the effective date thereof, or on or prior to February 10, 1947, as required by Rule U-24;

Standard Gas having now requested that the Commission issue a supplemental order extending for a period of an additional 30 days the time within which such sale may be made pursuant to such amended declaration;

The Commission having considered said request, and being of the opinion that the declarant should show cause why such request should be granted, and that an opportunity for hearing should be afforded for that purpose;

It is hereby ordered, That a hearing shall be held at 10 a. m., e. s. t. on the 18th day of February, 1947, in the offices of the Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania, in such room as may be designated on that day by the hearing room clerk in Room 318, at which time declarant shall show cause why such extension should be granted.

It is further ordered, That Richard Townsend, or any other officer or officers of the Commission designated by it for that purpose shall preside at the hearing in such matter. The officer so designated to preside at such hearing is hereby authorized to exercise all powers granted to the Commission under section 18 (c) of said act, and to a trial examiner under the Commission's rules of practice.

It appearing appropriate that in view of the foregoing date for hearing a short extension of time should be permitted within which declarant may effectuate such sale;

It is further ordered, That an extension of time be and is hereby granted for the effectuation of such sale pursuant to said amended declaration until February 21, 1947.

It is further ordered, That jurisdiction be and hereby is reserved to enter an order further extending such time, without futher application therefor, in the event that prior to February 21, 1947, Standard Gas shall have advertised for bids for the sale of such stock.

It is further ordered, That the Secretary of the Commission shall serve notice of the aforesaid hearing by mailing a copy of this order, by registered mail, to Standard Gas and Electric Company.

By the Commission.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION TO STRIKE FROM LISTING AND REGISTRATION, AND OF OPPORTUNITY FOR HEARING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 12th day of February A. D. 1947.

The New York Curb Exchange, pursuant to section 12 (d) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and Rule X-12D2-1 (b) promulgated thereunder, has made application to strike from listing and registration the $4.00 Cumulative Preferred Stock, No Par Value, of Brown-Forman Distillers Corporation. The application alleges that (1) the listing of this security on the New York Curb Exchange had been approved by the Exchange subject to the condition of submission of evidence of satisfactory distribution of the security; (2) of the 9,844½ shares of this security issued, 7,300⅗ shares were issued to the Chairman of the Board of the issuer and 54 shares to a director of the issuer; (3) the balance of 2,489⅗ shares were issued to only 51 public stockholders; (4) the public distribution of this security is not such as would warrant the admission of this security to dealings on the New York Curb Exchange; and (5) the rules of the New York Curb Exchange with respect to the striking of a security from listing and registration have been complied with.

Upon receipt of a request, prior to March 10, 1947, from any interested person for a hearing in regard to terms to be imposed upon the delisting of this security, the Commission will determine whether to set the matter down for hearing. Such request should state briefly the nature of the interest of the person requesting the hearing and the position he proposes to take at the hearing with respect to imposition of terms or conditions. In addition, any interested person may submit his views or any additional facts bearing on this application by means of a letter addressed to the Secretary of the Securities and Exchange Commission, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. If no one requests a hearing on this matter, this application will be determined by order of the Commission on the basis of the facts stated in the application, and other information contained in the official file of the Commission pertaining to this matter.

By the Commission.

UNITED LIGHT AND POWER CO. ET AL.

ORDER RELEASING JURISDICTION OVER LEGAL FEES

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 11th day of February 1947.

In the matter of the United Light and Power Company, the United Light and Railways Company, American Light & Traction Company, Continental Gas & Electric Corporation, United American Company, and Iowa-Nebraska Light and Power Company, respondents, File No. 59-17; the United Light and Power Company and its subsidiary companies, respondents, File No. 59-11; the United Light and Power Company, applicant, File No. 54-25.

The Commission having by order dated April 5, 1943 approved the joint application (designated as Application No. 14) of The United Light and Power Company ("Power") and The United Light and Railways Company ("Railways") filed pursuant to sections 11 (b) and 11 (e) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, concerning a plan for the completion of the liquidation and dissolution of Power and providing, among other things, for the distribution by Power of all the outstanding common stock of Railways among the preferred and common stockholders of Power; the Commission having having by said order reserved jurisdiction to pass upon the reasonableness of all counsel fees pending final determination of the amounts thereof, upon consummation of the said plan as modified and upon completion of the record with respect to said fees; and the liquidation and dissolution of Power having been duly consummated;

The record having been completed by the filing of a supplement to said Application No. 14 together with other information concerning the fees of counsel for services rendered in connection with said plan and in connection with an application (designated as Application No. 14A), filed by said Power and Railways regarding a proposed interim distribution of the common stock of Railways to the preferred stockholders of Power, which application was denied by order dated

October 25, 1944; and the amount of such fees being as follows:

Davies, Richberg, Beebe, Busick & Richardson	$40,000
Sidley, Austin, Burgess & Harper (formerly Sidley, McPherson, Austin & Burgess)	35,000
Miles, Walsh, O'Brien & Morris	250
	$75,500

It appearing to the Commission that such fees are not unreasonable under the circumstances of these proceedings;

It is ordered, That the jurisdiction heretofore reserved with respect to counsel fees be, and the same hereby is, released.

By the Commission.

MIDDLE WEST UTILITIES COMPANY OF CANADA LIMITED

ORDER EXTENDING ORDER OF EXEMPTION

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 11th day of February A. D. 1947.

The Commission, by order of May 24, 1939, having granted to Middle West Utilities Company of Canada Limited and its subsidiaries, direct and indirect subsidiaries, respectively, of The Middle West Corporation, a registered holding company, temporary exemption from certain specified portions of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, pursuant to sections 3 (a) (5) and 3 (b) thereof; and

The Commission, upon application, having extended the period of such exemption by orders issued from time to time, the latest of such orders, issued on December 21, 1945, having provided that the exemption granted therein shall expire on December 31, 1946 without prejudice, however, to the right of Middle West Utilities Company of Canada Limited to apply on behalf of it and its subsidiary companies for an extension of the time during which such exemption shall be effective; and

Middle West Utilities Company of Canada Limited now having filed an application for a further extension of the time during which said order of May 24, 1939 shall be effective; and

The Commission having considered such application and the record herein, and it appearing that no substantial changes have occurred in the condition of the applicant and its subsidiaries since the issuance of said order of December 21, 1945 and that the granting of a further extension of said order of May 24, 1939 would not be detrimental to the public interest or the interest of investors or consumers:

It is ordered, That the time during which said order of exemption, issued on May 24, 1939, shall be effective, be, and the same hereby is, extended until December 31, 1947, without prejudice, however, to the right of Middle West Utilities Company of Canada Limited to apply on behalf of its and its subsidiary companies for a further extension of the time during which such order shall be effective or to the right of Middle West Utilities Company of Canada Limited to apply at any time for such enlargement of any of the provisions of such order as it may deem appropriate.

TEXAS UTILITIES CO. AND AMERICAN POWER & LIGHT CO.

NOTICE OF FILING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on the 11th day of February A. D. 1947.

Notice is hereby given that a joint application-declaration and amendments thereto have been filed with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 by American Power & Light Company ("American"), a registered holding company subsidiary of Electric Bond and Share Company, a registered holding company, and American's wholly-owned registered holding company subsidiary, Texas Utilities Company ("Texas Utilities"). Applicants-declarants deem sections 6 (a), 7, 9, 10 and 12 (f) of the act applicable to the proposed transactions.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than February 18, 1947, at 5:30 p. m., e. s. t., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the reasons for such request, the nature of his interest and the issues of fact or law raised by said joint application-declaration which he desires to controvert, or may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania. At any time after February 18, 1947, said joint application-declaration, as filed or as amended, may be granted and permitted to become effective as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act, or the Commission may exempt such transactions as provided in Rule U-20 (a) and Rule U-100 thereof.

All interested persons are referred to said joint application-declaration which is on file in the offices of this Commission for a statement of the transactions therein proposed, which are summarized as follows:

Texas Utilities proposes to amend its charter to change its presently authorized and outstanding 2,001,000 shares of common stock without nominal or par value, all of which are owned by American, to 4,000,000 shares of common stock without nominal or par value but without any change in the aggregate stated value, said 4,000,000 shares to be issued to American in exchange for its presently held shares of Texas Utilities.

Texas Utilities further proposes to amend its charter in the following respects:

(a) To increase its authorized capital stock to 40,000,000 shares without nominal or par value.

(b) To provide for preemptive rights to stockholders with respect to any offering of common stock, or security convertible into common stock, for money, other than with respect to a public offering of such shares.

(c) To authorize the Board of Directors to sell, exchange or otherwise dispose of any property not essential to the conduct of its corporate business.

(d) To authorize the corporation to sell, exchange or otherwise dispose of all or an essential portion of its property upon the vote of a majority of the Board of Directors and a majority of the aggregate number of shares outstanding and entitled to vote.

(e) To provide that statutes passed in the future affecting the rights of the company or its stockholders shall be applicable to the company upon the vote of the holders of a majority of shares of the outstanding stock.

Applicants-declarants state that the reclassification of shares held by American is proposed in order to facilitate the sale of 15% of the stock of Texas Utilities by American in accordance with a plan for the retirement of American's preferred stock pending before this Commission. The remaining amendments, it is stated, are for the purpose of providing for authorized but unissued capital stock in connection with possible future financings, and to insure appropriate flexibility in future management.

The applicants-declarants request that the order to be issued with respect to the reclassification of Texas Utilities stock, the surrender by American of its presently held shares, and the issuance of new shares of Texas Utilities stock to American conform with the requirements of the Internal Revenue Code, as amended, including section 1808 (f) and Supplement R thereof.

The joint application-declaration requests that the Commission's order granting the application and permitting the declaration herein to become effective be issued as promptly as shall be practicable and that it shall be effective forthwith.

By the Commission.

NEW ENGLAND GAS AND ELECTRIC ASSN. AND DEDHAM AND HYDE PARK GAS CO.

ORDER MODIFYING PREVIOUS ORDER

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on the 11th day of February 1947.

The Commission having, on January 29, 1947, issued its order in the above entitled matter, pursuant to the applicable provisions of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, permitting, among other things, Dedham and Hyde Park Gas Company to issue and sell to Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company $125,000 principal amount of 3½% Serial Notes, Series A, due 1961, at 102¼, such notes to be dated October 1, 1946 and mature October 1, 1961; and

Dedham and Hyde Park Gas Company having requested the Commission to enter an order permitting a proposed change in the issue and maturity dates of the above-described 3½% Serial Notes so that such notes may be dated February 1, 1947 and mature February 1, 1962; and

It appearing to the Commission that it is appropriate in the public interest and in the interests of investors and consumers to grant said request;

It is therefore ordered, That the Commission's order of January 29, 1947 entered in the above-entitled matter be, and hereby is, modified only to the extent necessary to permit Dedham and Hyde Park Gas Company to issue the above-described notes to be dated February 1, 1947 and mature February 1, 1962.

By the Commission.

KENTUCKY UTILITIES CO.

NOTICE OF FILING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 11th day of February 1947.

Notice is hereby given that Kentucky Utilities Company ("Kentucky"), a holding company and a public utility subsidiary of The Middle West Corporation, a registered holding company, has filed an application pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935. Applicant designates the third sentence of section 6 (b) of the act as applicable to the proposed transaction.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than February 20, 1947, at 5:30 p. m., e. s. t., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the reasons for such request, the nature of his interest and the issues of fact or law raised by said application which he desires to controvert, or may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania. At any time after said date said application, as filed or as amended, may be granted as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act, or the Commission may exempt such transaction as provided in Rule U-20 (a) and Rule U-100 thereof.

All interested persons are referred to said application, which is on file in the office of this Commission, for a statement of the transaction therein proposed, which is summarized below:

Kentucky proposes to issue and sell to eleven specified banks its unsecured 2½% Serial Notes in various principal amounts, aggregating $5,500,000 principal amount, said notes to be payable in equal semi-annual installments beginning May 1, 1947 with a final payment on November 1, 1956. Each of said banks has represented that its purchase of such notes will be for investment and not for resale or distribution. Expenses in connection with the proposed issuance, to be paid by Kentucky, are estimated at $3,000. The net proceeds, together with other funds as required, will be used to redeem all of Kentucky's outstanding 4½% sinking fund mortgage bonds, aggregating $5,406,000 in principal amount and maturing February 1, 1955. The redemption price will be at 102% of principal amount as provided by the terms of the said sinking fund mortgage bonds.

Kentucky states that the Public Service Commission of Kentucky and the Tennessee Railroad and Public Utility Commission have jurisdiction over the proposed issuance of notes and that copies of the orders of such commissions relating to such issuance will be filed herein by amendment.

The applicant requests that the Commission's order granting said application be issued on or before February 24, 1947 and become effective immediately upon issuance so that the proposed notes may be issued on or about February 28, 1947.

By the Commission.

PART 2322—COMPLIANCE AND INVESTIGATION BRANCH

ORGANIZATION; FUNCTIONS AND PROCEDURE

Effective February 1, 1947, Part 2322 of Title 7 issued September 11, 1946 (11 F. R. 177A-283), is hereby amended to read as follows:

SUBPART A—ORGANIZATION

Sec.
2322.1 Central Office.
2322.2 Field offices.
2322.3 Availability of information and records.

SUBPART B—FUNCTIONS AND PROCEDURES

2322.10 Compliance and investigational activities.

AUTHORITY: §§ 2322.1 to 2322.10, inclusive, issued under sec. 12, Pub. Law 404, 79th Cong., 60 Stat. 244.

SUBPART A—ORGANIZATION

§ 2322.1 Central Office—(a) General. The principal office of the Branch is at Washington, D. C., in the South Agriculture Building, and consists of the Office of the Director, Accounting Investigations Division, Cost Investigations Division, and General Investigations Division.

(b) The Director. Under the general supervision of the Administrator, the Director formulates, directs, and supervises the execution of the policies, programs, and activities of the Production and Marketing Administration assigned to the Branch.

(c) Divisions. The divisions are as follows:

(1) Accounting Investigations Division. Plans, directs, and conducts audits of books and records (i) in connection with alleged or apparent violations of War Food Orders; (ii) of contractors and other vendors, other than fiscal audits incident to the disbursement of Federal funds; and (iii) of food processors for the purpose of determining eligibility for, or fraud in connection with, payments made or to be made under subsidy programs.

(2) Cost Investigations Division. Examines books and records of Government contractors and other processors and manufacturers to obtain cost data and determine factors affecting costs and profits; conducts general analytical and interpretative surveys of manufacturers' operating and accounting data and vendors' reports; and analyzes Government contractors' statements with respect to contracts involving modification, renegotiation, and termination, and conducts cost investigations in connection therewith.

(3) General Investigations Division. With respect to the functions of the Production and Marketing Administration relating to War Food Orders, procurement, sales, subsidy, price support, school lunch, surplus property disposal, crop insurance, agricultural adjustment and conservation, and regulatory programs: Receives, analyzes, and evaluates complaints and assigns apparent violations for investigation; plans and directs compliance surveys and spot checks to determine character and extent of compliance with orders and regulations; and conducts investigations of alleged or apparent violations incident to the operation of Production and Marketing Administration programs.

§ 2322.2 Field offices. Offices are located at 261 Fifth Avenue, New York, New York; 5 South Wabash Avenue, Chicago, Illinois; 1013 Glenn Building, Atlanta, Georgia; 220 Santa Fe Building, Dallas, Texas; and 461 Market Street, San Francisco, California. Under the general direction of the Director, these field offices direct, coordinate, and conduct all compliance and investigational activities of the Branch within the respective field-office areas.

§ 2322.3 Availability of information and records. Any person desiring information or desiring to make submittals or requests with respect to the programs and functions of the Branch should address: The Director, Compliance and Investigation Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, Washington 25, D. C. The records of the Branch are available for examination subject to the restrictions set forth in the rules and designation of records issued by the Secretary (7 CFR, Part 2100).

SUBPART B—FUNCTIONS AND PROCEDURES

§ 2322.10 Compliance and investigational activities. With respect to War Food Order, procurement, sales, subsidy, price support, school lunch, crop insurance, surplus property disposal, agricultural adjustment and conservation, and regulatory programs administered by the Production and Marketing Administration, the Branch conducts investigations (including accounting investigations) of alleged or apparent violations; conducts audits of books and records of food processors and other claimants in connection with subsidy programs, and of war contractors and other vendors (other than fiscal audits incident to the disbursement of Federal funds); examines books and records of war contractors and other processors and manufacturers to obtain cost data and determine factors affecting costs and profits; conducts general analytical and interpretative surveys of manufacturers' operating and accounting data and vendors' reports; analyzes contractors' statements with respect to contracts involving modification, renegotiation, and termination, and conducts cost investigations incident thereto.

Issued this 13th day of February 1947.

TITLE 9—ANIMALS AND ANIMAL PRODUCTS

Chapter II—Production and Marketing Administration (Livestock Branch)

PART 202—RULES OF PRACTICE GOVERNING PROCEEDINGS UNDER THE PACKERS AND STOCKYARDS ACT

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

By virtue of the authority vested in the Secretary of Agriculture by the Packers and Stockyards Act, 1921 (42 Stat. 159; 7 U. S. C. § 181 et seq.), as amended, and the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 237), the rules of practice appearing in Title 9, Chapter II, Part 202, Cumulative and 1943 Supplements to the Code of Federal Regulations, are hereby amended as follows:

1. By striking § 202.2 (o) and substituting in lieu thereof the following:

(o) The term "hearing clerk" means the hearing clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C.

2. By striking § 202.2 (p) and substituting in lieu thereof the following:

(p) The term "examiner" means any examiner in the Office of Hearing Examiners, United States Department of Agriculture.

3. By striking § 202.2 (q) and substituting in lieu thereof the following:

(q) The term "examiner's report" (presiding officer's report) means the examiner's report to the Secretary, and includes the examiner's proposed (1) findings of fact and conclusions with respect to all material issues of fact, law or discretion, as well as the reasons or basis therefor, (2) order, and (3) rulings on findings, conclusions and orders submitted by the parties.

4. By amending the second and last paragraph of § 202.3 (b) to read as follows:

(b) Investigation and disposition of informal complaints. • • •

If the statements in the informal complaint and the investigation thereunder seems to warrant such action and in any case, except one of wilfulness or one in which public health, interest, or safety otherwise requires, prior to the institution of a disciplinary proceeding which may result in the suspension or revocation of a license, the Administrator, in an effort to effect an amicable or informal adjustment of the matter, shall give written notice to the person complained against of the facts or conduct concerning which complaint is made and shall afford such person an opportunity within a reasonable time fixed by the Administrator to demonstrate or achieve compliance with the applicable requirements of the act and regulations promulgated thereunder.

5. By amending § 202.8 (a) to read as follows:

§ 202.8 Examiners—(a) Assignment. No examiner shall be assigned to serve in any proceeding who (1) has any pecuniary interest in any matter or business involved in the proceeding, (2) is related within the third degree by blood or marriage to any party to the proceeding, or (3) has participated in the investigation preceding the institution of the proceeding or in the determination that it should be instituted or in the preparation of the moving paper or in the development of the evidence to be introduced therein.

6. By amending § 202.8 (c) to read as follows:

(c) Conduct. The examiner shall conduct the proceeding in a fair and impartial manner, and save to the extent required for the disposition of ex parte matters as authorized by law, he shall not consult any person or party on any fact in issue unless upon notice and opportunity for all parties to participate.

7. By amending § 202.8 (e) to read as follows:

(e) Who may act in the absence of the examiner. In case of the absence of the examiner or his inability to act, the powers and duties to be performed by him under these rules of practice in connection with a proceeding assigned to him may, without abatement of the proceeding unless otherwise directed by the Secretary, be assigned to any other examiner.

8. By amending § 202.9 to read as follows:

§ 202.9 The answer—(a) Filing and service. Within 20 days after service of the moving paper, the respondent shall file, in triplicate, with the hearing clerk, an answer, signed by the respondent or his attorney: Provided, That the Secretary may order that the hearing be held without answer or other pleading. The answer shall be served upon the complainant, and any other party of record, in the manner provided in § 202.22.

(b) Contents—Failure to file. Such answer shall (1) contain a statement of the facts which constitute the grounds of defense,and shall specifically admit, deny, or explain each of the allegations of the moving paper unless the respondent is without knowledge, in which case the answer shall so state; or (2) state that the respondent admits all of the allegations of the moving paper. The answer may contain a waiver of hearing.

Failure to file an answer to or plead specifically to any allegation of the moving paper shall constitute an admission of such allegation.

(c) Procedure upon admission of facts The admission, in the answer or by failure to file an answer, of all the material allegations of fact contained in the moving paper shall constitute a waiver of hearing. Upon such admission of facts, the examiner, without further investigation or hearing, shall prepare his report, in which he shall adopt as his proposed findings of fact the material facts alleged in the moving paper. Unless the parties have waived service of the examiner's report, it shall be served upon them in the manner provided in § 202.22. The parties shall be given an opportunity to file exceptions to the report, to file briefs in support of such exceptions, and to make oral argument thereon before the Secretary. Any request to make oral argument before the Secretary must be filed in the manner and within the time provided in § 202.19.

9. By amending § 202.16 (b) to read as follows:

§ 202.16 The examiner's report. • • •

(b) Proposed findings of fact, conclusions, and order. Within ten (10) days after receipt of notice that the transcript has been filed, each party may file with the hearing clerk proposed findings of fact, conclusions, and order, based solely on the record, and a brief in support thereof.

10. By amending § 202.16 (c) to read as follows:

(c) Examiner's report. The examiner, within a reasonable time after the termination of the period allowed for the filing of proposed findings of fact, conclusions, and orders, and briefs in support thereof, shall prepare upon the basis of the record and shall file with the hearing clerk, his report, a copy of which shall be served upon each of the parties.

11. By amending the first sentence of § 202.20 (a) to read as follows:

§ 202.20 Preparation and issuance of order—(a) Preparation of order. As soon as practicable after the receipt of the record from the hearing clerk, or, in case oral argument was had, as soon as practicable thereafter, the Secretary, upon the basis of and after due consideration of the record, shall prepare his order in the proceeding which shall include findings, conclusions, order, and rulings on motions, exceptions, statements of objections, and proposed findings, conclusions and orders submitted by the parties not theretofore ruled upon. • • •

12. By amending § 202.21 (a) (2) to read as follows:

§ 202.21 Applications for reopening hearings; for rehearings or reargument of proceedings, or of reconsideration of orders—(a) Petition requisite. • • •

(2) Petitions to reopen hearings. A petition to reopen a hearing to take further evidence may be filed at any time prior to the issuance of the final order. Every such petition shall state briefly the nature and purpose of the evidence to be adduced, shall show that such evidence is not merely cumulative, and shall set forth a good reason why such evidence was not adduced at the hearing. Every such petition shall be served by the hearing clerk on the other parties to the proceeding.

13. By amending § 202.25 (a) to be read as follows:

§ 202.25 Examiners—(a) Assignment. No examiner shall be assigned to serve in any proceeding who (1) has any pecuniary interest in any matter or business involved in the proceeding; or (2) is related within the third degree by blood or marriage to any party to the proceeding.

14. By striking the words "tentative order" wherever the same appear in §§ 202.29 (a) and 202.29 (c) (2), and substituting in lieu thereof the words "examiner's report."

15. By amending §202.33 (c) to read as follows:

§ 202.33 The examiner's report. • • •

(c) The examiner's report. Within a reasonable time after the termination of the period allowed for the filing of proposed findings of fact, conclusions, and orders, and briefs in support thereof, the examiner, with the assistance of and after consultation with such employees of the Department as may be assigned for the purpose, shall prepare, upon the basis of the record, and shall file with the hearing clerk, a report.

16. By amending § 202.35 to read as follows:

§ 202.35 Exceptions. Within 20 days after receipt of the examiner's report, the parties may file exceptions thereto. Any party who desires to take exception to any matter set out in the report shall transmit his exceptions in writing to the hearing clerk, referring to the relevant pages of the transcript, and proposing a corrected finding of fact, conclusion, or order. Within the same period of time, each party shall transmit to the hearing clerk a brief statement in writing concerning each of the objections taken to the action of the examiner at the hearing, as set out in § 202.11 of this part, upon which the party wishes to rely, referring, where relevant, to the pages of the transcript. A party, if he files exceptions, or a statement of objections, shall state in writing whether he desires to make an oral argument thereon before the Secretary; otherwise, he shall be deemed to have waived such oral argument.

17. By amending § 202.36 to read as follows:

§ 202.36 Transmittal of record and issuance of order—(a) Transmittal of record. The hearing clerk, immediately following the expiration of the time allowed for filing exceptions to the examiner's report, shall transmit to the Secretary the record of the proceeding. Such record shall include: the pleadings; motions and requests filed, and rulings thereon; the transcript of the testimony taken at the hearing, together with the exhibits filed therein; any statements filed under the shortened procedure; any documents or papers filed in connection with prehearing conferences; such proposed findings of fact, conclusions, and orders, and briefs in support thereof, as may have been filed in connection with the hearing; the examiner's report and such exceptions, statements of objections, and briefs in support thereof, as may have been filed in the proceeding.

(b) Argument before Secretary. The provisions of § 202.19 shall be applicable in rate proceedings.

(c) The final order. The Secretary thereafter will issue his final order in the proceeding, a copy of which shall be served upon each of the parties.

18. By adding the following paragraph at the end of § 202.37 (a) (4):

§ 202.37 Applications for reopening hearings; for rehearings or reargument of proceedings, or for reconsideration of orders, or for modification or vacation of orders—(a) Petition requisite. • • •

(4) Petition to modify or to vacate orders. • • •

Notice of every such petition of modification which involves an increase of rates and charges lawfully prescribed by the Secretary or new rates and charges for services not theretofore covered by order shall be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The contents of the notice shall conform to the requirements contained in the last sentence of § 202.23 (a).

19. By adding § 202.59 as follows:

§ 202.59 Amendment to rules governing reparation proceedings. Whenever the term "examiner" is used in § 202.39 to § 202.58, both inclusive (which are the rules applicable to reparation proceedings), or in any section or paragraph incorporated by reference or referred to in said sections, such term shall be deemed to mean "presiding officer" insofar as reparation proceedings are concerned.

20. By adding a new subheading and section as follows:

RULES APPLICABLE TO ALL PROCEEDINGS

§ 202.60 Hearings before Secretary. The Secretary may act in the place and stead of an examiner or presiding officer in any proceeding hereunder. When he so acts, the hearing clerk shall transmit the record to the Secretary at the expiration of the period provided for the filing of proposed findings of fact, conclusions, and orders, and the Secretary shall thereupon, after due consideration of the record, issue his final order in the proceeding: Provided, That he may issue a tentative order, in which event the parties shall be afforded an opportunity to file exceptions before the issuance of the final order.

21. By striking the word "suggested" wherever it appears in §§ 202.17 (i), 202.18, 202.33 (b), 202.33 (c), 202.52 (b), 202.52 (c), 202.53 (a), 202.54, and 202.55 (b), and substituting in lieu thereof the word "proposed."

NOTE: Unless otherwise ordered, all proceedings initiated under the Packers and Stockyards Act and pending on December 11, 1946, shall be conducted and concluded in accordance with the applicable rules of practice in effect at the time the proceedings were instituted.

(42 Stat. 159, as amended, Pub. Law 404, 79th Cong., 60 Stat. 237; 7 U. S. C. 181 et seq.)

Done at Washington, D. C., this 13th day of February 1947. Witness my hand and the seal of the Department of Agriculture.

TITLE 16—COMMERCIAL PRACTICES

Chapter I—Federal Trade Commission

[File No. 21-260]

PART 142—RADIO RECEIVING SET MANUFACTURING INDUSTRY

PROHIBITION OF SPECIFIC TYPES OF ADVERTISEMENTS OR REPRESENTATIONS

At a regular session of the Federal Trade Commission held at its office in the City of Washington, D. C., on the 14th day of February 1947.

The Federal Trade Commission today issued the following statement interpreting Rule 3 (k) (§ 142.3 (k), 16 CFR, Cum. Supp.) of the Trade Practice Rules for the Radio Receiving Set Manufacturing Industry, promulgated July 22, 1939:

§ 142.3 Specific types of advertisements or representations among those prohibited. * * *

(k) * * *

Under Rule 3 (k) of the Trade Practice Rules for the Radio Receiving Set Manufacturing Industry and in the light of the decision of the Court in Zenith Radio Corporation v. Federal Trade Commission, 7 Cir., 143 F. 2d 29, the Commission considers it improper to include rectifiers in the tube count in representations that a set contains a designated number of tubes or is of a designated tube capacity.

The Commission does not regard it as improper, where the advertisement prominently and conspicuously states the actual tube capacity of a radio set (computed without inclusion of rectifiers or other devices which do not perform the recognized and customary function of radio receiving set tubes in the detection, amplification and reception of radio signals) for such advertisement also to contain a further statement to the effect that the set in addition contains a rectifier, provided such is true and the advertisement as a whole or in any part involves no misrepresentation or deception. Illustration of such expression as descriptive of a set containing eight tubes computed in accordance with the above and a rectifier is as follows:

An Eight Tube Set: This set in addition contains a rectifier.

By direction of the Commission.

[SEAL] OTIS B. JOHNSON,
Secretary.

TITLE 17—COMMODITY AND SECURITIES EXCHANGES

Chapter I—Commodity Exchange Authority (Including Commodity Exchange Commission)

PART 140—ORGANIZATION, FUNCTIONS, AND PROCEDURE OF THE COMMODITY EXCHANGE AUTHORITY

Sec.
140.1 Central office.
140.2 Field offices.
140.3 Availability of information and records.

SUBPART B—FUNCTIONS AND PROCEDURE

140.10 Functions and procedure.

SUBPART A—ORGANIZATION

§ 140.1 Central office—(a) General. The principal office of the Commodity Exchange Authority is located at Washington, D. C., in the South Agriculture Building, and consists of the Office of the Administrator, Compliance and Trade Practice Division, License and Rules Division, Segregated Funds Division, and Trading and Reports Division.

(b) The Administrator. Under the general direction of the Secretary of Agriculture, the Administrator formulates, directs, and supervises the execution of the policies governing the activities of the Commodity Exchange Authority; administers and is responsible for the enforcement of the Commodity Exchange Act, the orders of the Commodity Exchange Commission, and the orders and regulations of the Secretary of Agriculture promulgated under the Commodity Exchange Act. The Administrator has final authority to issue calls and requests for information in connection with the administration of the Commodity Exchange Act, as provided in regulations promulgated thereunder (17 CFR, Supps., Parts 1-11).

(c) Divisions. The divisions are as follows:

(1) Compliance and Trade Practice Division. Investigates complaints and apparent violations of the Commodity Exchange Act; examines trade practices; recommends formal proceedings against violators; presents results of investigations to, and cooperates with, the Solicitor's Office of the Department of Agriculture and the Department of Justice in hearings and prosecutions; and develops evidence and presents testimony in administrative and court proceedings.

(2) License and Rules Division. Designates commodity exchanges as contract markets; registers futures commission merchants and floor brokers; and examines and reviews currently the rules of contract markets.

(3) Segregated Funds Division. Plans, directs, and conducts audits of books and records (i) of futures commission merchants to assure proper segregation of customers' margins and accruing equities; and (ii) of futures commission merchants, floor brokers, and traders to assure compliance with reporting requirements and position and trading limits; assists in investigation of violations and trade practices; and analyzes financial statements of futures commission merchants.

(4) Trading and Reports Division. Compiles, summarizes and analyzes statistical and factual material relating to day-to-day activities on contract markets; Prepares summary and statistical reports for administrative use and publications; and reviews current market information.

§ 140.3 Availability of information and records. Any person desiring information or desiring to make submittals or requests with respect to the activities of the Commodity Exchange Authority should address: The Administrator, Commodity Exchange Authority, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C. The records of the Authority are available for examination subject to the restrictions set forth in the rules and designation of records issued by the Secretary of Agriculture (7 CFR, Part 2100).

SUBPART B—FUNCTIONS AND PROCEDURE

§ 140.10 Commodity Exchange Act. (a) The basic objective of the Commodity Exchange Act (42 Stat. 998, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 1-17a) is to protect and facilitate commerce in commodities designated by the act that are the subject of transactions involving the sale thereof on boards of trade (commodity exchanges) for future delivery and known as "futures." These commodities are: wheat, cotton, rice, corn, oats, barley, rye, flaxseed, grain sorghums, millfeeds, butter, eggs, Irish potatoes, wool tops, fats and oils (including lard, tallow, cottonseed oil, peanut oil, soybean oil and all other fats and oils), cottonseed meal, cottonseed, peanuts, soybeans, and soybean meal.

(b) The functions and procedures of the Commodity Exchange Authority under this statute are designed to prevent price manipulation and corners; prevent dissemination of false and misleading crop and market information to influence prices; protect hedgers and other users of the commodity futures markets against cheating, fraud, and manipulative practices; insure the benefits of membership privileges on contract markets to cooperative associations of producers; insure trust-fund treatment of margin moneys and equities of hedgers and other traders and prevent the misuse of such funds by brokers; and provide information to the public regarding trading operations on contract markets.

(c) The Commodity Exchange Authority receives and considers applications of commodity exchanges for designation as contract markets preliminary to final decision by the Secretary. Applicants denied designation by the Secretary may appeal to the Commodity Exchange Commission (42 Stat. 1001; 7 U. S. C. 8). Inquiries concerning procedure to be followed by commodity exchanges in filing applications for designation as contract markets should be addressed to the Administrator.

(e) The Commodity Exchange Authority enforces limits on speculative transactions and commitments established by the Commodity Exchange Commission; reviews crop and market news and reports; analyzes cash-commodity transactions; cooperates with control committees of contract markets; observes floor trading; investigates alleged and apparent violations of the act; conducts special trade practice audits and surveys; investigates contract market delivery practices and procedures; audits books and records of futures commission merchants, floor brokers, and traders; analyzes futures commission merchants' financial statements; conducts analyses and appraisals of futures trading, cash-futures relationships, and price movements; and compiles and publishes reports and other informational material relating to operations on commodity exchanges.

(f) Substantive rules promulgated pursuant to the Commodity Exchange Act are set forth in Parts 1 to 11, Chapter I, Title 17 of the Code of Federal Regulations. Procedural rules are published as Part O, Chapter I, Title 17, CFR.

Issued this 13th day of February 1947, effective as of February 1, 1947.

[SEAL] CLINTON P. ANDERSON,
Secretary of Agriculture.

TITLE 20—EMPLOYEES' BENEFITS

Chapter II—Railroad Retirement Board

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

Pursuant to the general authority contained in section 10 of the act of June 24, 1937 (Sec. 10, 50 Stat. 314, 45 U. S. C. 228j), Part 203 of the Regulations of the Railroad Retirement Board under such act (20 CFR and Cum. Supp. Part 203) is completely revised and Part 209, §§ 209.00, 209.12, Part 210, § 210.2, Part 214, §§ 214.3, 214.7, Part 216, §§ 216.1, 216.3, and Part 217, § 217.2 of the regulations are amended to read as follows:

PART 203—EMPLOYEES UNDER THE ACT

Sec.
203.1 Statutory provision.
203.2 General definition of employee.
203.3 When an individual is in service of an employer.
203.4 When service is compensated.
203.5 Service outside the United States.
203.6 Age, citizenship and other factors.
203.7 Local lodge employee.

AUTHORITY: §§ 203.2 to 203.7, inclusive, (with the exceptions in parenthesis following sections affected) issued under secs. 1, 10, 50 Stat. 308, 314 as amended; 45 U. S. C. 228a, 228j.

The term "employee" means (1) any individual in the service of one or more employers for compensation, (2) any individual who is in the employment relation to one or more employers, and (3) an employee representative. The term "employee" shall include an employee of a local lodge or division defined as an employer in sub-section (a) only if he was in the service of or in the employment relation to a carrier on or after the enactment date. The term "employee representative" means any officer or official representative of a railway labor organization other than a labor organization included in the term "employer" as defined section 1 (a) who before or after the enactment date was in the service of an employer as defined in section 1 (a) and who is duly authorized and designated to represent employees in accordance with the Railway Labor Act, as amended, and any individual who is regularly assigned to or regularly employed by such officer or official representative in connection with the duties of his office.

The term "employee" shall not include any individual while such individual is engaged in the physical operations consisting of the mining of coal, the preparation of coal, the handling (other than movement by rail with standard railroad locomotives) of coal not beyond the mine tipple, or the loading of coal at the tipple.

An individual is in the service of an employer whether his service is rendered within or without the United States if (i) he is subject to the continuing authority of the employer to supervise and direct the manner of rendition of his service, or he is rendering professional or technical services and is integrated into the staff of the employer, or he is rendering, on the property used in the employer's operations, other personal services the rendition of which is integrated into the employer's operations, and (ii) he renders such service for compensation, or a method of computing the monthly compensation for such service is provided in section 3 (c). Provided, however, That an individual shall be deemed to be in the service of an employer, other than a local lodge or division or a general committee of a railway-labor-organization employer, not conducting the principal part of its business in the United States only when he is rendering service to it in the United States; and an individual shall be deemed to be in the service of such a local lodge or division only if (1) all, or substantially all, the individuals constituting its membership are employees of an employer conducting the principal part of its business in the United States; or (2) the headquarters of such local lodge or division is located in the United States; and an individual shall be deemed to be in the service of such a general committee only if (1) he is representing a local lodge or division described in clauses (1) or (2) immediately above; or (2) all, or substantially all, the individuals represented by it are employees of an employer conducting the principal part of its business in the United States; or (3) he acts in the capacity of a general chairman or an assistant general chairman of a general committee which represents individuals rendering service in the United States to an employer, but in such case if his office or headquarters is not located in the United States and the individuals represented by such general committee are employees of an employer not conducting the principal part of its business in the United States, only such proportion of the remuneration for such service shall be regarded as compensation as the proportion which the mileage in the United States under the jurisdiction of such general committee bears to the total mileage under its jurisdiction, unless such mileage formula is inapplicable in which case the Board may prescribe such other formula as it finds to be equitable, and if the application of such mileage formula, or such other formula as the Board may prescribe, would result in the compensation of the individual being less than 10 per centum of his remuneration for such service no part of such remuneration shall be regarded as compensation. Provided further, That an individual not a citizen or resident of the United States shall not be deemed to be in the service of an employer when rendering service outside the United States to an employer who is required under the laws applicable in the place where the service is rendered to employ therein, in whole or in part, citizens or residents thereof; and the laws applicable on August 29, 1935, in the place where the service is rendered shall be deemed to have been applicable there at all times prior to that date.

§ 203.2 General definition of employee. An individual shall be an employee whenever (a) he is engaged in performing compensated service for an employer or (b) he is in an employment relation to an employer, or (c) he is an employee representative, or (d) he is an officer of an employer.

§ 203.3 When an individual is performing service for an employer. The legal relationship of employer and employee is defined by the act. Thus, an individual is performing service for an employer if:

(a) He is subject to the right of an employer, directly or through another, to supervise and direct the manner in which his services are rendered; or

(b) In rendering professional or technical services he is integrated into the staff of the employer; or

(c) He is rendering personal services on the property used in the operations of the employer and the services are integrated into those operations.

These provisions are controlling irrespective of whether the service is performed on a part-time basis, and, with respect to paragraph (a) of this section, irrespective of whether the right to supervise and direct is exercised.

§ 203.4 When service is compensated. Service shall be "compensated" if it is performed for compensation, as that term is defined in Part 222 of this chapter: Provided, however, That service prior to September 1941, of a station employee whose duties consisted of or included the carrying of passengers' hand baggage and otherwise assisting passengers at passenger stations shall be considered compensated service although the individual's remuneration was, in whole or in part, in the form of tips. (For the effect of compensation of less than $3.00 per month earned after December 31, 1936, for service to a local lodge or division of a railway-labor-organization employer, see Part 222 of this chapter.) (Secs. 3, 10, 50 Stat. 311, 314 as amended by secs. 2, 209, Pub. Law 572, 79th Cong., 45 U. S. C. 228c, 228j)

§ 203.5 Service outside the United States. (a) An individual shall not be an employee by reason of rendition of service to an employer other than a local lodge or division, or a general committee of a railway-labor-organization employer, not conducting the principal part of of its business in the United States except while engaged in performing service for it in the United States.

(b) An individual shall not be an employee by reason of rendition of service to a local lodge or division, unless:

(1) All, or substantially all the individuals constituting the membership of such local lodge or division are employees of an employer conducting the principal part of its business in the United States; or

(2) The headquarters of such local lodge or dvision is located in the United States.

(c) An individual shall not be an employee by reason of rendition of service to a general committee of a railway-labor-organization employer, unless:

(1) Such individual is representing a local lodge or division all, or substantially all, of whose members are employees of an employer conducting the principal part of its business in the United States or the headquarters of such local lodge or division is located in the United States; or

(2) All or substantially all, the individuals represented by such a general committee are employees of an employer conducting the principal part of its business in the United States; or

(3) Such an individual acts in the capacity of a general chairman or an assistant general chairman of a general committee which represents individuals rendering service in the United States to an employer; Provided, however, That if the office or headquarters of such general chairman or assistant general chairman is not located within the United States he will not be an employee unless 10 per cent or more of his remuneration for service as general chairman or assistant general chairman is creditable as compensation, the creditable compensation to be computed according to the proportion which the mileage in the United States under the jurisdiction of such general committee bears to the total mileage under its jurisdiction, or according to a formula to be prescribed by the Board if the mileage formula is inapplicable.

§ 203.6 Age, citizenship and other factors. The age, citizenship or residence of an individual, or his designation as other than an "employee" shall not be controlling in determining whether or not such individual is an employee within the meaning of the act, except that an individual not a citizen or resident of the United States shall not be deemed to be in the service of an employer when rendering service outside the United States to an employer who is required by the laws of the place where the service is performed to employ, in whole or in part, citizens or residents thereof and the laws in force therein on August 29, 1935, shall be deemed to have been in force at all times prior to that date, and in no case shall the years of service include any service after the end of the calendar year in which the individual attains the age of sixty-five and after June 30, 1937. (Secs. 1, 10, 50 Stat. 308, 314 as amended, 45 U. S. C. 228a, 228j)

§ 203.7 Local lodge employee. An individual who, prior to January 1, 1937, shall have rendered service to a local lodge or division of a railway labor organization included as an employer under section 1 (a) of the act, shall be an employee with respect to such service to such local lodge or division only if he was on August 29, 1935, in the service of or in an employment relation to an employer which was a carrier. An individual who, subsequent to December 31, 1936, shall have rendered service to a local lodge or division of a railway labor organization included as an employer under section 1 (a) of the act, shall be an employee with respect to such service to such local lodge or division only with respect to such service as was preceded by service, or an employment relation, on or after August 29, 1935, to an employer which was a carrier. (For the effect of compensation less than $3.00 per month earned after December 31, 1936, for service to a local lodge or division of a railway-labor-organization employer, see Part 222 of this chapter.) (Secs. 1, 10, 50 Stat. 308, 314 as amended; 45 U. S. C. 228a, 228j)

(a) For the purposes of determining eligibility for an annuity and computing an annuity, including a minimum annuity, there shall also be included in an individual's years of service, within the limitations hereinafter provided in this section, voluntary or involuntary military service of an individual within or without the United States during any war-service period, including such military service prior to the date of enactment of this amendment: Provided, however, That such military service shall be included only subject to and in accordance with the provisions of subsection (b) of section 3, in the same manner as though military service were service rendered as an employee: Provided further, That an individual who entered military service prior to a war-service period shall not be regarded as having been in military service in a war-service period with respect to any part of the period for which he entered such military service.

(b) For the purpose of this section and section 202, as amended, an individual shall be deemed to have been in "military service" when commissioned or enrolled in the active service of the land or naval forces of the United States and until resignation or discharge therefrom; and the service of any individual in any reserve component of the land or naval forces of the United States, while serving in the land or naval forces of the United States for any period, even though less than thirty days, shall be deemed to have been active service in such force during such period.

(c) For the purpose of this section and section 202, as amended, a "war-service period" shall mean (1) any war period, or (2) with respect to any particular individual, any period during which such individual (i) having been in military service at the end of the war period, was required to continue in military service, or (ii) was required by call of the President, or by any Act of Congress or regulation, order, or proclamation pursuant thereto, to enter and continue in military service, or (3) any period after September 7, 1939, with respect to which a state of national emergency was duly declared to exist which requires a strengthening of the national defense.

(d) For the purpose of this section and section 202, as amended, a "war period" shall be deemed to have begun on whichever of the following dates is the earliest: (1) the date on which the Congress of the United States declared war; or (2) the date as of which the Congress of the United States declared that a state of war has existed; or (3) the date on which war was declared by one or more foreign states against the United States; or (4) the date on which any part of the United States or any territory under its jurisdiction was invaded or attacked by any armed force of one or more foreign states; or (5) the date on which the United States engaged in armed hostilities for the purpose of preserving the Union or of maintaining in any State of the Union a republican form of government.

(e) For the purpose of this section and section 202, as amended, a "war period" shall be deemed to have ended on the date on which hostilities ceased.

(f) Military service shall not be included in the years of service of an individual unless, prior to the beginning of his military service in a war service period and in the same calendar year in which such military service began, or in the next preceding calendar year, the individual rendered service for compensation to an employer or to a person service to which is otherwise creditable under this act, or lost time as an employee for which he received remuneration, or was serving as an employee representative.

(g) A calendar month in which an individual was in military service which may be included in the individual's years of service or service period, as the case may be, shall be counted as a month of service: Provided, however, That no calendar month shall be counted as more than one month of service.

(i) In the event military service is or has been used as the basis or as a partial basis for a pension, disability compensation, or any other gratuitous benefits payable on a periodic basis under any other act of Congress, any annuity under this act or the Railroad Retirement Act of 1935, which is based in part on such military service and is with respect to a calendar month for all or part of which such pension or other benefit is also payable, shall be reduced with respect to that month by the proportion which the number of years of service, by which such military service increases the years of service, or the service period, as the case may be, bears to the total years of service, or by the aggregate amount of such pension or other benefit with respect to that month, whichever would result in the smaller reduction.

(j) Any department or agency of the United States maintaining records of military service, at the request of the Board, shall certify to the Board, with respect to any individual, the number of months of military service which such department or agency finds the individual to have had during any period or periods with respect to which the Board's request is made, the date and manner of entry into such military service, and the conditions under which such service was continued. Any department or agency of the United States which is authorized to make awards of pensions, disability compensation, or any other gratuitous benefits or allowances payable, on a periodic basis or otherwise, under any other act of Congress on the basis of military service, at the request of the Board, shall certify to the Board, with respect to any individual, the calendar months for all or part of which any such pension, compensation, benefit, or allowance is payable to, or with respect to, the individual, the amounts of any such pension, compensation, benefit, or allowance, and the military service on which such pension, compensation, benefit, or allowance is based. Any certification made pursuant to the provisions of this subsection shall be conclusive on the Board: Provided, That if evidence inconsistent with any such certification is submitted, and the claim is in the course of adjudication or is otherwise open for such evidence, the Board shall refer such evidence to the department or agency which made the original certification and such department or agency shall make such recertification as in its judgment the evidence warrants. Such recertification, and any subsequent recertifications, shall be conclusive, made in the same manner, and subject to the same conditions as an original certification.

(k) No person shall be entitled to an annuity, or to an increase in an annuity, based on military service unless a specific claim for credit for military service is filed with the Board by the individual who rendered such military service, and in no case shall an annuity, or an increase in an annuity, based on military service begin to accrue earlier than sixty days prior to the date on which such claim for credit for military service was filed with the Board nor before October 8, 1940: Provided, That this subsection shall not be construed to prevent payment of annuities with respect to accruals, not based on military service prior to the date on which an annuity based on military service began to accrue.

(l) An individual who, before the ninety-first day after the date on which this amendment of section 4 is enacted was awarded an annuity under the Railroad Retirement Act of 1937 or the Railroad Retirement Act of 1935, but who had rendered military service which, if credited, would have resulted in an increase in his annuity, may, notwithstanding the previous award of an annuity, file with the Board an application for an increase in such annuity based on his military service. Upon the filing of such application, if the Board finds that the military service thus claimed is creditable and would result in an increase in the annuity, the Board, notwithstanding the previous award, shall recertify the annuity on an increased basis in the same manner as though the provisions making military service creditable had been in effect at the time of the original certification subject, however, to the provisions of subsection (k) of this section. If the annuity previously awarded is a joint and survivor annuity, the increased annuity shall be a joint and survivor annuity of the same type, the actuarial value of the increase to be computed as of the effective date of the increase: Provided, however, That if on the date the increase begins to accrue the individual has no spouse for whom the election of the joint and survivor annuity was made, the increase on a single life basis shall be added to the individual's annuity.

(n) In addition to the amount authorized to be appropriated in subsection (a) of section 15 of this act, there is hereby authorized to be appropriated to the Railroad Retirement Account for each fiscal year, beginning with the fiscal year ending June 30, 1941, (i) an amount sufficient to meet the additional cost of crediting military service rendered prior to January 1, 1937, and (ii) an amount found by the Board to be equal to the amount of the total additional excise and income taxes which would have been payable during the preceding fiscal year under Subchapter B of Chapter 9 of the Internal Revenue Code, as amended, with respect to the compensation, as defined in such Subchapter B, of all individuals entitled to credit under the Railroad Retirement Acts, as amended, for military service after December 31, 1936, if each of such individuals, in addition to compensation actually earned, had earned such compensation in the amount of $160 in each calendar month in which he was in such military service during such preceding fiscal year and such taxes were measured by all such compensation without limitation as to amount earned by any individual in any one calendar month. The additional cost of crediting military service rendered prior to January 1, 1937, shall be deemed to be the difference between the actuarial value of each annuity based in part on military service and the actuarial value of the annuity which would be payable to the same individual without regard to military service. In calculating these actuarial values, (1) whenever the annuity based in part on military service begins to accrue before age 60, the annuity without regard to military service shall be valued on the assumption of deferment to age 60, and whenever the annuity based in part on military service is awarded under subsection 2 (a) of section 2 (a), the annuity without regard to military service shall be valued on the assumption of deferment to age 65; and (2) all such actuarial values shall be calculated as of the date on which the annuity based on military service begins to accrue and shall not thereafter be subject to change. All such actuarial calculations shall be based on the Combined Annuity Table of Mortality and all calculations in this subsection shall take into account interest at the rate of 3 per centum per annum compounded annually. The Railroad Retirement Board, as promptly as practicable after the enactment of this amendment, and thereafter annually, shall submit to the Bureau of the Budget estimates of such military service appropriations to be made to the account, in addition to the annual estimate by the Board, in accordance with subsection (a) of section 15 of this act, of the appropriation to be made to the account to provide for the payment of annuities, pensions and death benefits not based on military service. The estimate made in any year with respect to military service rendered prior to January 1, 1937, shall be based on the cost, as determined in accordance with the above provisions, of annuities awarded or increased on the basis of such military service up to the close of the preceding fiscal year and not previously appropriated for, and shall take into account interest from the date the annuity began to accrue or was increased to the date or dates on which the amount appropriated is to be credited to the Railroad Retirement Account. In making the estimate for the appropriation for military service rendered after December 31, 1936, the Board shall take into account any excess or deficiency in the appropriation or appropriations for such service in any preceding fiscal year or years, with interest thereon, resulting from an overestimate or underestimate of the number of individuals in creditable military service or the months of military service.

(o) Section 4, as herein amended shall be effective as of October 8, 1940. No rights shall be deemed to have accrued under section 4 which would not have accrued had this act amending section 4 been enacted on October 8, 1940.

§ 209.12 War service period. (a) A war service period includes, with respect to any individual:

(1) Any period during which the individual was required by call of the President, or by any act of Congress or regulation, order, or proclamation pursuant thereto, to enter and continue in military service, and

(2) Any period of military service in a war period, providing the individual entered military service in such war period, and

(3) Any period of military service immediately following a war period, whether or not such service was entered upon voluntarily, and prior to discharge from such service or reenlistment therein, providing the individual entered military service in such war period,

(4) Any period after September 7, 1939, with respect to which a state of national emergency was duly declared to exist which requires a strengthening of the national defense.

(b) War period. A war period begins on the date on which the Congress of the United States declared war, or on the date as of which the Congress of the United States declared a state of war to have existed, or on the date on which war was decared by one or more foreign states against the United States, or on the date on which any part of the United States or any territory under its jurisdiction was invaded or attacked by any armed force of one or more foreign states, or on the date on which the United States engaged in armed hostilities for the purpose of preserving the Union or of maintaining in any State of the Union a republican form of government, whichever date is the earliest. A war period ends on the date on which hostilities shall have ceased.

(1) Spanish American War. The war period of the Spanish American War began April 21, 1898 and ended August 13, 1898.

(2) Philippine Insurrection. The war period of the Philippine Insurrection began February 4, 1899 and ended April 27, 1902.

(3) World War I. The war period of the World War began April 6, 1917 and ended November 11, 1918.

(4) World War II. The war period of World War II began December 7, 1941 and ended December 31, 1946. (Sec. 10, 50 Stat. 314 as amended; 45 U. S. C. and Sup. 228c, 228j)

PART 210—EXECUTION AND FILING OF AN APPLICATION FOR AN ANNUITY

§ 210.2 Application to be filed. (a) No individual, irrespective of his qualifications, shall receive an annuity unless he has, on or before the date of his death, either (1) filed with an office of the Board a duly executed application, upon such form as the Board may from time to time prescribe, or (2) delivered for the purpose of transmission to the Board's main office in Chicago, Illinois, such a duly executed application to any field agent of the Board specifically authorized by a Regional Director to receive custody thereof in the district where delivery is made: Provided, however, That a claim or application filed with the Social Security Board, whether before or after the adoption of this section, for a lump sum payment under section 204 (a) of Title II of the Social Security Act, as approved August 14, 1935, or for primary insurance benefits under section 202 (a) of the Social Security Act, as amended August 10, 1939, based in whole or in part on service with an employer under the Railroad Retirement Act, which service had not at the time of such filing been determined by the Board to be with an employer, shall be considered an application for an annuity duly filed with the Railroad Retirement Board.

(b) Where an individual has notified the Board in writing of his intention or desire to file an application for an annuity, but has been deterred to his detriment by action of the Board or of its employees from filing an application upon the form prescribed by the Board, such writing of the individual, if subsequently supplemented by an application duly executed upon the prescribed form, shall be considered by the Board as a proper and sufficient application within the meaning of paragraph (a) of this section: Provided, however, That:

(1) The action of the Board or of its employees in deterring the individual from filing an application on the prescribed form shall have consisted of:

(i) Failure to advise the individual properly as to the necessity for filing an application on such prescribed form; or

(ii) Failure to furnish the individual with the appropriate application form; or

(iii) Furnishing of correct information that under an existing ruling (which was subsequently reversed during the individual's lifetime) entitlement was precluded; And further provided, That:

(2) The individual, upon being correctly advised by the Board as to the necessity for filing an application on the prescribed form, or as to a changed ruling affecting his entitlement, and/or upon being supplied with such prescribed form, shall file said form with the Board during his lifetime and within three months after the date on which such correct advice was given him and/or such form was mailed to him (whichever is the later), or within such additional time as the Board may deem reasonable. (For regulations governing applications for Insurance Annuities and Lump Sums for Survivors, see Part 237 of this chapter.) (Secs. 2, 10, 50 Stat. 310, 314; 45 U. S. C. 228b, 228j)

PART 214—ANNUITY BEGINNING DATE

§ 214.3 Beginning date in month of applicant's sixtieth or sixty-fifth birthday. When an individual is not eligible for an annuity until the attainment of age sixty or sixty-five the annuity cannot begin to accrue prior to the day on which the required age is attained, except that an individual who is eligible for the annuity described in § 208.7 of this chapter in the same month in which he attains age sixty-five may have his annuity begin without reduction as of the first day of such month.

§ 214.7 Effect of service performed through or after designated beginning date—(a) By individuals whose eligibility is not based upon disability. If such an individual renders compensated service to any person, whether or not an employer, through or after the designated beginning date but prior to relinquishment of rights in accordance with Part 216 of this chapter, his annuity cannot begin to accrue earlier than the date following the last date of such compensated service. If the individual renders such compensated service after having relinquished rights in accordance with Part 216 of this chapter the beginning date of the annuity shall not be affected but no annuity shall be payable with respect to any month in which such service is performed if it is within the terms of Part 217 of this chapter.

(b) Individuals whose eligibility is based upon permanent disability for regular employment. If such an individual renders compensated service to any person, whether or not an employer, through or after the designated beginning date, such fact must be reconciled with the claim of permanent disability for any regular and gainful employment before eligibility for such a disability annuity is established. Where, however, it is shown that the individual, notwithstanding his rendition of compensated service is disabled, the following shall apply:

If all the individual's compensated service ended before the filing date of his annuity application or if the individual's compensated service continued through such filing date the annuity cannot begin to accrue earlier than the date following the last day of such compensated service. (For the effect of a return to service after accrual, see Parts 208 and 217 of this chapter.)

(c) An individual whose eligibility is based upon permanent disability for work in his "regular occupation." If an individual renders compensated service through or after the designated beginning date to any person, whether or not an employer, in his regular occupation or in any occupation for which the same occupational disability standards have been established, such fact must be reconciled with the claim of permanent disability for work in his regular occupation. Where, however, it is shown that an individual, notwithstanding his rendition of compensated service in any occupation, is permanently disabled for work in his regular occupation the following shall apply:

If all the individual's compensated service to any person, whether or not an employer, ended before the filing date of his annuity application or if the individual's compensated service to any person, whether or not an employer, continued through such filing date, the annuity cannot begin to accrue earlier than the date following the last day of compensated service to any such person. (For the effect of a return to service after accrual see Parts 208 and 217 of this chapter.) (Secs. 2, 10, 50 Stat. 310, 314, as amended; 45 U. S. C., 228b, 228j)

An annuity shall be paid only if the applicant shall have relinquished such rights as he may have to return to the service of an employer and of the person by whom he was last employed; but this requirement shall not apply to the individuals mentioned in subdivision 4 and subdivision 5 of subsection (a) prior to attaining age sixty-five.

§ 216.3 Relinquishment of rights in case of disability annuity. In the case of an individual whose eligibility for an annuity is based upon permanent disability for any regular and gainful employment or upon permanent disability for work in his regular occupation, an annuity is payable prior to age sixty-five even though he retains rights to return to service until age sixty-five, Provided, however, That such individual shall upon attainment of age sixty-five establish that he has in accordance with this part relinquished in the manner and to the extent required in the case of an age annuity any rights which he may have to return to service; otherwise payment of his annuity shall not be made for any calendar month in which he becomes or is sixty-five years of age or over until such individual so relinquishes such rights. (Secs. 2, 10, 50 Stat. 310, 314 as amended; 45 U. S. C. 228b, 228j)

PART 217—LOSS OF ANNUITY FOR ANY MONTH BY REASON OF COMPENSATED SERVICE

§ 217.2 Loss of annuity for month in which compensated service is rendered. (a) If an individual in receipt of an annuity renders compensated service he shall not be paid an annuity with respect to any month in which such service is rendered to:

(1) An employer;

(2) Any person whether or not an employer by whom he was most recently employed when his annuity begins to accrue;

(3) Any person with whom he held, at the time the annuity begins to accrue, any rights to return to service;

(4) Any person with whom he ceased service in order to have his annuity begin to accrue.

(Secs. 2, 10, 50 Stat. 310, 314 as amended; 45 U. S. C. 228b, 228j)

TITLE 21—FOOD AND DRUGS

Chapter I—Food and Drug Administration, Federal Security Agency

[Docket No. FDC-45]

PART 51—CANNED VEGETABLES: DEFINITIONS AND STANDARDS OF IDENTITY; QUALITY; AND FILL OF CONTAINER

CANNED GREEN BEANS AND CANNED WAX BEANS

In the matter of fixing and establishing definitions and standards of identity and standards of quality for canned green beans and canned wax beans.

By virtue of the authority vested in the Federal Security Administrator by the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (Secs. 401, 701, 52 Stat. 1046, 1055; 21 U. S. C. 341, 371); and upon the basis of evidence of record at the hearing held pursuant to the notice issued on April 9, 1946 (11 F. R. 3754), and upon consideration of exceptions filed to the proposed order issued by the Acting Federal Security Administrator on October 18, 1946 (11 F. R. 12584), the following order is hereby promulgated:

DEFINITIONS AND STANDARDS OF IDENTITY

Findings of fact. 1. Canned green beans is the food the principal component of which is succulent pods of the green bean plant. In preparation for canning, the pods are stemmed and may be sliced lengthwise or cut transversely. Water is added to aid in processing. Generally salt and sometimes sugar are used as seasoning ingredients. Dextrose is also suitable for this purpose. The food is sealed in a container and processed by heat to prevent spoilage.

2. Stems are cut from the pods by special machines, the proper operation of which removes the stems from substantially all such pods. These machines are somewhat less effective when the pods are small.

3. Prior to canning, the pods or transversely cut pieces of pod frequently are segregated into lots of approximately uniform diameter. This also is done by special machines. Each lot is designated as a certain "sieve size", the numbers ranging from 1 to 6 as the diameter increases.

4. Whole pods are packed either parallel to the sides of the container or without arrangement. Pods sliced lengthwise, or cut transversely into pieces, are packed without arrangement. Each type of pack gives the finished food special characteristics which are sufficiently distinct for consumers to differentiate between them and to purchase different types of pack for different purposes.

5. When whole green beans are packed parallel to the sides of the container, the pods are straight and orderly in appearance and a greater drained weight is generally attained than when they are packed without arrangement. The phrase "Whole—Vertical Pack" generally appears on the label of such packs. Pieces of pods 2¾ inches in length or longer are considered whole pods for some purposes.

6. In a special type of vertically packed whole green beans the pods are cut off at both ends to achieve substantial uniformity in length. This type of pack is known as "Asparagus Style".

7. When whole green beans are packed without arrangement the drained weight is generally less than for the "Vertical Pack" and the pods are not straight and uniform in appearance. At the present time it is customary to label this pack as "Whole."

8. Canned green beans sliced lengthwise have a characteristic appearance. This type of pack is designated on the label as "Sliced Lengthwise" or "French Style". The existing regulations also permit the use of the terms "Shoestring" and "Julienne" but these terms have fallen into disuse.

9. In another type of pack of canned green beans, the pods are cut transversely into pieces less than 2¾ inches long. The length of the cut pieces varies with different packers. The cutting is done by a special machine with knives spaced at regular intervals. The end pieces may be considerably shorter than the center cuts. Many packers remove the shorter end pieces to achieve uniformity.

10. The existing definition and standard of identity for canned green beans provides that pods cut transversely into pieces be labeled "Cut" irrespective of length. When the pieces are so short as to acquire a characteristic appearance by reason of their short length it is to the consumers' interest to be advised of this fact. Pieces less than ¾ inch in length fall in this category and the dividing line between "Cuts" and "Short Cuts" may reasonably be set at this point. For packs in which substantially all the pieces are less than ¾ inch in length a label statement "Short Cut" or "Short Cuts", or in lieu thereof the word "Cut" or "Cuts" modified by a statement of the approximate length of such pieces, furnishes consumers with this information.

11. The existing definition and standard of identity for canned green beans makes no provision for mixtures of optional forms of green bean ingredients. Differentiating between "Cuts" and "Short Cuts" makes it necessary to provide for mixtures of such optional green bean ingredients and it is reasonable to make provision for all mixtures of optional green bean ingredients. A descriptive label designation for each mixture is: "Mixture of ———", the blank being filled in with the combination of the names "Whole", "Sliced Lengthwise", "Cut" or "Cuts", and "Short Cut" or "Short Cuts", designating the optional ingredients present, and arranged in the order of predominance, if any, by weight of such ingredients. In cutting pods into pieces less than 2¾ inches but not less than ¾ inch long, a certain number of shorter end pieces are always obtained. These can be removed by special machines but such machines are not available in all canneries. When no other pieces shorter than ¾ inch are added it is reasonable to use the designation "Cut" or "Cuts" on the label.

12. In the existing definition and standard of identity for canned green beans the names "Stringless Green Beans" and "Green Stringless Beans" are recognized as synonyms for "Green Beans". Some green beans which are canned are not stringless and these terms are thus not necessarily synonymous with "Green Beans."

13. Canned wax beans is the food the principal component of which is prepared from succulent pods of the wax bean plant. In all other respects the facts set forth in findings 1 to 11, inclusive, are applicable to canned wax beans.

14. In the existing definition and standard of identity for canned wax beans the name "Stringless Wax Beans" is given as a synonym for "Wax Beans". Some wax beans which are canned are not stringless and this term is thus not necessarily synonymous with "Wax Beans".

15. The record contains no evidence of the use of citric acid or vinegars for lowering the pH of canned green or canned wax beans to aid in processing by heat, or of any present or future need for these ingredients, nor any evidence of use or present or future need for spices or vinegars for seasoning canned green or canned wax beans.

Conclusions. On the basis of the evidence of record and of the foregoing findings of fact, it is concluded that the following regulations fixing and establishing definitions and standards of identity for canned green beans and for canned wax beans will promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers.

Wherefore, it is ordered, That § 52.990 of Title 21, Code of Federal Regulations, Cum. Supp., be amended by deleting therefrom all references to canned green beans or green stringless beans or stringless green beans and canned wax beans or stringless wax beans.

It is further ordered, That there be established specific definitions and standards of identity for canned green beans and canned wax beans, as follows:

§ 51.10 Canned green beans; identity; label statement of optional ingredients. (a) Canned green beans is the food prepared from stemmed, succulent pods of the green bean plant, and water. It may be seasoned with salt, sugar, or dextrose, or any two or all of these. The pods are prepared in one or more of the following forms:

(1) Whole pods, or tranversely cut pods not less than 2¾ inches in length.

(2) Pods sliced lengthwise.

(3) Pods cut transversely into pieces less than 2¾ inches in length but not less than ¾ inch in length, with or without shorter end pieces resulting therefrom.

(4) Pieces of pods less than ¾ inch in length.

Any such form is an optional ingredient. Mixtures of two or more optional ingredients may be used. The food is sealed in a container and so processed by heat as to prevent spoilage.

(b) (1) When optional ingredient in paragraph (a) (1) of this section is used the label shall bear the word "Whole". If the pods are packed parallel to the sides of the container the word "Whole" shall be preceded or followed by the words "Vertical Pack", except that when the pods are cut at both ends and are of substantially equal lengths, the words "Asparagus Style" may be used in lieu of the words "Vertical Pack".

(2) When optional ingredient in paragraph (a) (2) of this section is used the label shall bear the words "Sliced Lengthwise" or "French Style".

(3) When optional ingredient in paragraph (a) (3) of this section is used the label shall bear the word "Cut" or "Cuts".

(4) When optional ingredient in paragraph (a) (4) of this section is used the label shall bear the words "Short Cut" or "Short Cuts" or "____ Inch Cut" or "____ Inch Cuts", the blank to be filled in with the fraction of an inch which denotes the approximate length of the pieces.

(5) When a mixture of two or more of the optional ingredients in paragraphs (a) (1) to (a) (4), inclusive, of this section is used the label shall bear the statement "Mixture of ____", the blank being filled in with the combination of the names "Whole", "Sliced Lengthwise", "Cut" or "Cuts", and "Short Cut" or "Short Cuts", designating the optional ingredients present, and arranged in the order of predominance, if any, by weight of such ingredients.

(c) Wherever the name "Green Beans" appears on the label so conspicuously as to be easily seen under customary conditions of purchase, the words and statements prescribed by paragraph (b) of this section shall immediately and conspicuously precede or follow such name, without intervening written, printed, or graphic matter, except that the varietal name of the green beans and the designation of the length of cut may so intervene.

§ 51.15 Canned wax beans; identity; label statement of optional ingredients. (a) Canned wax beans conforms to the definition and standard of identity, and is subject to the requirements for label statement of optional ingredients prescribed for canned green beans by § 51.10 (a) and (b), except that it is prepared from stemmed, succulent pods of the wax bean plant.

(b) Wherever the name "Wax Beans" appears on the label so conspicuously as to be easily seen under customary conditions of purchase, the words and statements prescribed by § 51.10 (b) shall immediately and conspicuously precede or follow such name, without intervening written, printed, or graphic matter, except that the varietal name of the wax beans and the designation of the length of cut may so intervene.

QUALITY

Findings of fact. 1. The quality of canned green and canned wax beans is judged by consumers primarily on the basis of (1) eating quality and (2) appearance.

2. The appearance of canned green and canned wax beans is marred by the presence of units having blemished areas. These areas vary widely, some being hardly noticeable, while others are of such size that the average consumer will discard the units so blemished. When the aggregate blemished area on a unit is not more than the area of a circle ⅛ inch in diameter it generally escapes the notice of both consumers and canners. Units having aggregate blemished areas larger than that are generally regarded as blemished. The presence of more than 12 blemished units per 12 ounces of drained weight so lowers the quality of these foods that their labels should bear a statement of substandard quality.

(3) The appearance of canned green and canned wax beans is marred by the presence of very short units, such as short and pieces sifted from regular cuts, unless all units are short. Except where substantially all the units are less than ¾ inch in length the presence in 12 ounces drained weight of more than 60 units which are less than ½ inch in length so lowers the quality that a statement of substandard quality should be required. This finding is not applicable when the optional bean ingredient is pods sliced lengthwise (§ 51.10 (a) (2)).

4. The appearance of canned green and canned wax beans is marred by the presence of extraneous vegetable matter. In canning an effort is made to eliminate extraneous matter, but due to accidents, and sometimes to carelessness, leaves, pieces of the vine, detached stems, etc., occasionally get into the cans of the finished food. Since the inclusion of extraneous matter is generally accidental and the amount variable, it is advisable to examine a fairly large sample of canned green or canned wax beans to determine its significance. It is reasonable to require that the label bear a statement of substandard quality when there is more than 0.6 ounce of extraneous vegetable matter per 60 ounces of drained weight.

5. The appearance and also the eating quality of canned green beans and canned wax beans is adversely affected by the presence of unstemmed units, that is, units to which remain attached all or part of the stem that connects the pod with the vine. In good canning practice an effort is made to remove stems as completely as possible, but this is done by machines which do not always effect a complete removal of the stems from all of the pods. These machines are least effective with small pods. It is impracticable to set separate limits based on different sieve sizes of green and wax beans, but a limit of 6 unstemmed units per 12 ounces drained weight is a reasonable over-all limit for all sizes. Beyond this limit the food is of substandard quality.

6. The eating quality of canned green and canned wax beans depends largely on certain characteristics of the pods. Generally, the small, immature pods are more desirable. With increasing maturity the pods become larger and the seeds more prominent. Finally the pods lose their succulence and become thin, fibrous and woody. The undesirable effects of increasing maturity, however, do not develop with strict uniformity in all varieties of green and wax beans.

7. Most varieties of green and wax beans develop large seeds as they approach maturity. Large seeds are generally mealy, have tough skins and thus make for poor eating quality. Often there are considerable numbers of seed or pieces of seed loose in the can, marring the appearance of the canned green or canned wax beans. Various methods for utilizing the percentage of seed as a measure of quality have been proposed. Each is subject to some objection. The two methods most likely to show accurately the conditions which render canned green and canned wax beans of low quality are (1) to determine the percent by weight of loose seed and pieces of seed, and (2) to determine the percent by weight of seed or pieces of seed in pods trimmed to remove portions from which seed have become separated. When the percent of seed in the trimmed pods is greater than 15 percent, or when loose seed and pieces of seed exceed 5 percent of the drained weight, the product is of substandard quality. It is impracticable to apply these tests to green or wax beans sliced lengthwise.

8. Tough strings are objectionable in canned green or canned wax beans. The relative toughness of the strings is of great importance, and in order to define a tough string a method for testing strings for toughness is necessary. A reasonably satisfactory method in use for several years provides for attaching a ½ pound weight to the string, suspending this weight by the string and classing as tough those strings which sustain the weight for 5 seconds or more. Since strings are not of equal toughness throughout their entire length, the test should be applied at the toughest portion.

In general the proportion of bean pods which have tough strings is greater the larger the sieve size of the pods, and by picking the beans frequently it is possible to keep the proportion of the larger sieve sizes low, and hence to keep the proportion of tough strings low. Present conditions make it extremely difficult in harvesting to avoid getting in the pickings a considerable proportion of number 4 and 5 sieve size pods, but it is not unreasonably difficult to keep relatively low the proportion of number 6 sieve size pods (pods $^{27}/_{64}$ inch or more in diameter). Where canned green beans or canned wax beans include pods or pieces of pods $^{27}/_{64}$ inch or more in diameter and the number of tough strings is greater than 12 per 12 ounces drained weight, they are of such low quality that it is reasonable to require the label to bear a declaration of substandard quality.

9. The amount of woody or fibrous material in the pods increases as maturity advances, lowering the eating quality of canned green and canned wax beans. A chemical method of analysis has been developed to determine the amount of this objectionable fibrous material in the pods from which the seeds have been removed. The details of the method are contained in finding 10. When the fibrous material of the deseeded pods of canned green or canned wax beans, as determined by this method, exceeds 0.15 percent of the drained weight of such pods the eating quality is so impaired that the label should bear a statement of substandard quality.

10. A practicable method for determining whether canned green or canned wax beans are of substandard quality is as follows:

(1) Distribute the contents of the container over the meshes of a circular sieve which has been previously weighed. The diameter of the sieve is 8 inches if the quantity of the contents of the container is less than 3 pounds, and 12 inches if such quantity is 3 pounds or more. The bottom of the sieve is woven wire cloth which complies with the specifications for such cloth set forth under "2380 Micron (No. 8)" in Table I of "Standard Specifications for Sieves", published March 1, 1940, in L. C. 584 of the U. S. Department of Commerce, National Bureau of Standards. Without shifting the material on the sieve, so incline the sieve as to facilitate drainage. Two minutes from the time drainage begins, weigh the sieve and the drained material. Record, in ounces, the weight so found, less the weight of the sieve, as the drained weight.

(2) Pour the drained material from the sieve into a flat tray and spread it in a layer of fairly uniform thickness. In case the material consists of the optional ingredient specified in paragraph (a) (3) or a mixture of two or more of the optional ingredients specified in paragraphs (a) (1) to (a) (4), inclusive, of § 51.10, count and record, but do not remove, all units each of which is less than ½ inch long. Divide the number of units which are less than ½ inch long by the drained weight recorded in (1) and multiply by 12 to obtain the number of such units per 12 ounces drained weight.

From the drained material select a representative sample of 3½ to 4 ounces, weigh and record its weight in ounces for use in (5). However, in case the drained material does not include pods or pieces of pods $^{27}/_{64}$ inch or more in diameter it is unnecessary either to weigh the representative sample or to separate and test the strings as directed in (5). After the representative sample has been selected, cover the material remaining to prevent evaporation and reserve for further examination under (7).

(3) From the representative sample selected in (2) segregate and reserve for (7) the extraneous vegetable matter (including any stems completely detached from pods or pieces of pods). Then segregate the loose seed and, except in the case of pods sliced lengthwise, reserve for (10) the loose seed so segregated (as here used and in subsequent paragraphs of this method, the word seed means seed and pieces of seed). Count and record as unstemmed units those pods and pieces of pods to which any portion of the connecting stem is attached. Detach stems and discard. Count and record but do not remove the blemished units. A unit is considered blemished when the aggregate blemished area exceeds the area of a circle ⅛ inch in diameter.

NOTE: In the case of pods sliced lengthwise the removal of loose seed in (3) and of the seed from the pods in (4) is only for the purpose of preparing sample for fiber determination in (5) and (6). No trimming of pods, or weighing of seed, as directed in (4) need, therefore, be done.

(4) From the pods in (3) trim off, as far as the end of the space formerly occupied by seed, any portions of pods from which seed have become separated. Remove and discard any seed from the trimmings and reserve the trimmings for (5). Weigh and record the weight of the trimmed pods. Deseed the trimmed pods and reserve the deseeded pods for (5). Collect the seed on a sieve of mesh fine enough to retain them, and so distribute them that any liquid drains away. Weigh the seed, divide by the weight of the trimmed pods and multiply by 100 to obtain percent by weight of seed in the trimmed pods.

(5) If, pursuant to (2), it is unnecessary to separate and test the strings, weigh and record the weight of the deseeded pods and proceed to (6); otherwise separate the strings from the deseeded pods segregated in (4) and promptly test as follows:

Fasten clamp, weighted to ½ pound, to one end of the string, grasp the other end with the fingers (a cloth may be used to aid in holding the string), and lift gently. Count the string as tough if it supports the ½ pound weight for at least 5 seconds. If the string breaks before 5 seconds, test such parts into which it breaks as are ½ inch or more in length and if any such part of the string supports the ½ pound weight for at least 5 seconds count the string as tough. Divide the number of tough strings by the weight of the sample recorded in (2) and multiply by 12 to obtain the number of tough strings per 12 ounces drained weight. Return both the broken and the unbroken strings, which were separated for testing, to the pods from which they were separated and add any trimmings reserved in (4). Weigh and record as the weight of deseeded pods for use in (6).

(6) Transfer the deseeded pods, strings, and trimmings weighed in (5) to the metal cup of a malted milk stirrer and crush. Wash material adhering to the crushing instrument back into cup with 200 cc of boiling water. Bring mixture to a boil and add 25 cc of 50 percent (by weight) sodium hydroxide solution. (If foaming is excessive a piece of paraffin may be added.) Boil for 5 minutes then stir for an additional 5 minutes with a malted milk stirrer capable of a no-load speed of at least 7200 r. p. m. Use a rotor with two scalloped buttons shaped as shown in the diagram in Exhibit 1. Transfer the material from the cup to a previously weighted 30-mesh monel metal screen having a diameter of about 4 inches and side walls about 1 inch high, and wash with a stream of warm water until washings are clear and free from alkali.[1] Dry the screen and fibrous material for 2 hours at 100° C., cool, weigh, and deduct weight of screen. Divide the weight of fibrous material by the weight of deseeded pods recorded in (5) and multiply by 100 to obtain the percent of fibrous material in the deseeded pods.

(7) Examine the drained material reserved in (2), counting and recording the number of blemished units for (8), and the number of unstemmed units for (9). Remove the extraneous vegetable matter (including detached stems), combine with similar matter reserved in (3), and retain for (11). Reserve the remaining drained material for (10).

(8) Add to the number of blemished units recorded in (7), the number of blemished units recorded in (3). Divide the sum by the drained weight recorded in (1) and multiply by 12 to obtain the number of blemished units per 12 ounces of drained weight.

(9) Add together the number of unstemmed units recorded in (7) and in (3). Divide the sum by the drained weight recorded in (1) and multiply by 12 to obtain the number of unstemmed units per 12 ounces of drained weight.

(10) From the drained material reserved in (7), except in the case of pods sliced lengthwise, segregate the loose seed, add to the loose seed reserved in (3), and weigh. Divide this weight by the drained weight recorded in (1) and multiply by 100 to obtain the percent of loose seed in the drained weight.

(11) If the drained weight recorded in (1) was less than 60 ounces, drain and weigh as directed in (1), the contents of additional containers until a total of not less than 60 ounces drained material is obtained. From this additional drained material segregate the extraneous vegetable matter (including detached stems) and combine it with the similar matter reserved in (7). Weigh the combined extraneous vegetable matter, divide by the total weight of drained material examined and multiply by 60 to obtain the weight of extraneous vegetable matter per 60 ounces of drained weight.

11. When canned green or canned wax beans fall below the standard of quality, a label statement which fairly and accurately informs the consumer of that fact is the general statement of substandard quality specified in § 10.2 (a) 21 CFR, Cum. Supp.

Conclusions. On the basis of the evidence of record and the foregoing findings of fact, consideration having been given to and due allowance made for the differing characteristics of the several varieties of green and wax beans, it is concluded that the promulgation of the following regulations fixing and establishing standards of quality for canned green beans and for canned wax beans will promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers.

When tested by the method prescribed in paragraph (b) of this section:

(1) In the case of cut beans (§ 51.10 (a) (3)) and mixtures of two or more of the optional ingredients specified in § 51.10 (a) (1) to (a) (4), inclusive, not more than 60 units per 12 ounces drained weight are less than ½ inch long.

(2) The trimmed pods contain not more than 15 percent by weight of seed and pieces of seed.

(3) In case there are present pods or pieces of pods $\frac{25}{64}$ inch or more in diameter, there are not more than 12 strings per 12 ounces of drained weight which will support ½ pound for 5 seconds or longer.

(4) The deseeded pods contain not more than 0.15 percent by weight of fibrous material.

(5) There are not more than 12 blemished units per 12 ounces of drained weight. A unit is considered blemished when the aggregate blemished area exceeds the area of a circle ⅛ inch in diameter.

(6) There are not more than 6 unstemmed units per 12 ounces of drained weight.

(7) The combined weight of loose seed and pieces of seed is not more than 5 percent of the drained weight. This provision does not apply in case the green bean ingredient is pods sliced lengthwise (§ 51.10 (a) (2)).

(8) The combined weight of leaves, detached stems, and other extraneous vegetable matter is not more than 0.6 ounce per 60 ounces of drained weight.

(b) Canned green beans shall be tested by the following method to determine whether they meet the requirements of paragraph (a) of this section:

(1) Distribute the contents of the container over the meshes of a circular sieve which has been previously weighed. The diameter of the sieve is 8 inches if the quantity of the contents of the container is less than 3 pounds, and 12 inches if such quantity is 3 pounds or more. The bottom of the sieve is woven wire cloth which complies with the specifications for such cloth set forth under "2380 Micron (No. 8)" in Table I of "Standard Specifications for Sieves", published March 1, 1940, in L. C. 584 of the U. S. Department of Commerce, National Bureau of Standards. Without shifting the material on the sieve, so incline the sieve as to facilitate drainage. Two minutes from the time drainage begins, weigh the sieve and the drained material. Record, in ounces, the weight so found, less the weight of the sieve, as the drained weight.

(2) Pour the drained material from the sieve into a flat tray and spread it in a layer of fairly uniform thickness. In case the material consists of the optional ingredient specified in paragraph (a) (3) or a mixture of two or more of the optional ingredients specified in paragraphs (a) (1) to (a) (4), inclusive, of § 51.10, count and record, but do not remove, all units each of which is less than ½ inch long. Divide the number of units which are less than ½ inch long by the drained weight recorded in (1) and multiply by 12 to obtain the number of such units per 12 ounces drained weight.

From the drained material select a representative sample of 3½ to 4 ounces, weigh and record its weight in ounces for use in (5). However, in case the drained material does not include pods or pieces of pods $\frac{25}{64}$ inch or more in diameter it is unnecessary either to weigh the representative sample or to separate and test the strings as directed in (5). After the representative sample has been selected, cover the material remaining to prevent evaporation and reserve for further examination under (7).

(3) From the representative sample selected in (2) segregate and reserve for (7) the extraneous vegetable matter (including any stems completely detached from pods or pieces of pods). Then segregate the loose seed and, except in the case of pods sliced lengthwise, reserve for (10) the loose seed so segregated (as here used and in subsequent paragraphs of this method, the word seed means seed and pieces of seed). Count and record as unstemmed units those pods and pieces of pods to which any portion of the connecting stem is attached. Detach stems and discard. Count and record but do not remove the blemished units. A unit is considered blemished when the aggregate blemished area exceeds the area of a circle ⅛ inch in diameter.

NOTE: In the case of pods sliced lengthwise the removal of loose seed in (3) and of the seed from the pods in (4) is only for the purpose of preparing sample for fiber determination in (5) and (6). No trimming of pods, or weighing of seed, as directed in (4) need, therefore, be done.

(4) From the pods in (3) trim off, as far as the end of the space formerly occupied by seed, any portions of pods from which seed have become separated. Remove and discard any seed from the trimmings and reserve the trimmings for (5). Weigh and record the weight of the trimmed pods. Deseed the trimmed pods and reserve the deseeded pods for (5). Collect the seed on a sieve of mesh fine enough to retain them, and so distribute them that any liquid drains away. Weigh the seed, divide by the weight of the trimmed pods and multiply by 100 to obtain percent by weight of seed in the trimmed pods.

(5) If, pursuant to (2), it is unnecessary to separate and test the strings, weight and record the weight of the deseeded pods and proceed to (6); otherwise separate the strings from the deseeded pods segregated in (4) and promptly test as follows:

Fasten clamp, weighted to ½ pound, to one end of the string, grasp the other end with the fingers (a cloth may be used to aid in holding the string), and lift gently. Count the string as tough if it supports the ½ pounds weight for at least 5 seconds. If the string breaks before 5 seconds, test such parts into which it breaks as are ½ inch or more in length and if any such part of the string supports the ½ pound weight for at least 5 seconds count the string as tough. Divide the number of tough strings by the weight of the sample recorded in (2) and multiply by 12 to obtain the number of tough strings per 12 ounces drained weight. Return both the broken and the unbroken strings, which were separated for testing, to the pods from which they were separated and add any trimmings reserved in (4). Weigh and record as the weight of deseeded pods for use in (6).

(6) Transfer the deseeded pods, strings, and trimmings weighed in (5) to the metal cup of a malted milk stirrer and crush. Wash material adhering to the crushing instrument back into cup with 200 cc of boiling water. Bring mixture to a boil and add 25 cc of 50 percent (by weight) sodium hydroxide solution. (If foaming is excessive a piece of paraffin may be added.) Boil for 5 minutes, then stir for an additional 5 minutes with a malted milk stirrer capable of a no-load speed of at least 7200 r. p. m. Use a rotor with two scalloped buttons shaped as shown in the diagram in Exhibit 1. Transfer the material from the cup to a previously weighed 30-mesh monel metal screen having a diameter of about 4 inches and side walls about 1 inch high, and wash with a stream of warm water until washings are clear and free from alkali.[2] Dry the screen and fibrous material for 2 hours at 100° C., cool, weigh, and deduct weight of screen. Divide the weight of fibrous material by the weight of deseeded pods recorded in (5) and multiply by 100 to obtain the percent of fibrous material in the deseeded pods.

(7) Examine the drained material reserved in (2), counting and recording the number of blemished units for (8), and the number of unstemmed units for (9). Remove the extraneous vegetable matter (including detached stems), combine with similar matter reserved in (3), and retain for (11). Reserve the remaining drained material for (10).

(8) Add to the number of blemished units recorded in (7), the number of blemished units recorded in (3). Divide the sum by the drained weight recorded in (1) and multiply by 12 to obtain the number of blemished units per 12 ounces of drained weight.

(9) Add together the number of unstemmed units recorded in (7) and in (3). Divide the sum by the drained weight recorded in (1) and multiply by 12 to obtain the number of unstemmed units per 12 ounces of drained weight.

(10) From the drained material reserved in (7), except in the case of pods sliced lengthwise, segregate the loose seed, add to the loose seed reserved in (3), and weigh. Divide this weight by the drained weight recorded in (1) and multiply by 100 to obtain the percent of loose seed in the drained weight.

[2] Washing may be quickly accomplished by moving screen back and forth under a slow running tap of warm water, taking care to prevent washing any fibrous material over the sides of the screen.

(11) If the drained weight recorded in (1) was less than 60 ounces drain and weigh as directed in (1) the contents of additional containers until a total of not less than 60 ounces drained material is obtained. From this additional drained material segregate the extraneous vegetable matter (including detached stems) and combine it with the similar matter reserved in (7). Weigh the combined extraneous vegetable matter, divide by the total weight of drained material examined and multiply by 60 to obtain the weight of extraneous vegetable matter per 60 ounces of drained weight.

(c) If the quality of the canned green beans falls below the standard of quality prescribed by paragraph (a) of this section the label shall bear the general statement of substandard quality specified in § 10.2 (a) of this chapter (21 CFR, Cum. Supp., 10.2 (a)), in the manner and form therein specified.

§ 51.16 Canned wax beans; quality; label statement of substandard quality. (a) The standard of quality for canned wax beans is that prescribed for canned green beans by § 51.11 (a) and (b).

(b) If the quality of canned waxed beans falls below the standard of quality prescribed by paragraph (a) of this section, the label shall bear the general statement of substandard quality specified by § 10.2 (a) of this chaper (21 CFR, Cum. Supp., 10.2 (a)), in the manner and form therein specified.

Effective date. The regulations hereby promulgated shall become effective on the ninetieth day following the date of publication of this order in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Chapter I—Office of Indian Affairs, Department of the Interior

Subchapter I—Irrigation Projects: Operation and Maintenance

PART 130—OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE CHARGES

BLACKFEET INDIAN IRRIGATION PROJECT, MONTANA

FEBRUARY 12, 1947.

On December 14, 1946, notice of intention to amend §§ 130.130 and 130.131 was published in the daily issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER (11 F. R. 14329). Interested persons were thereby given opportunity to participate in preparing the amendments by submitting data or arguments within 30 days from date of publication of the notice. No communications, written or oral, having been received within the prescribed period, the said sections are hereby amended as hereinafter set forth and are hereby promulgated:

1, 1914, May 18, 1916, and March 7, 1928 (38 Stat. 583; 39 Stat. 142; 45 Stat. 210; 25 U. S. C. 385, 387), the basic rate of assessment of operation and maintenance charges against the irrigable lands under the Blackfeet Indian irrigation project, Montana, for the calendar year 1947 and until further order, is hereby fixed at $1.25 per acre per annum for the delivery of water, on an application basis, of not to exceed 1½ acre feet per acre during each irrigation season.

§ 130.131 Excess water assessment. Additional water may be delivered in excess of 1½ acre feet per acre per annum at the rate of $0.75 per acre foot, or fraction thereof. (38 Stat. 583; 39 Stat. 142; 45 Stat. 210; 25 U. S. C. 385, 387)

[Suspension Order S-1077, Stay of Execution]

GROVER D. KING

Grover D. King, 1821 West Whittier Boulevard, Whittier, California, is appealing from the provisions of Suspension Order No. S-1077, issued January 29, 1947, and has requested a stay on the ground that irreparable harm would be done his business if the suspension order were not stayed. The Chief Compliance Commissioner has directed that the provisions of the suspension order be stayed as to the following veterans' housing enterprises, pending final determination of the appeal or until further order by the Chief Compliance Commissioner:

By King & Marter—FHA Projects Nos. 66-122-013315 and 66-122-013316, situated on Eastern Avenue, East Los Angeles, Calif.

By Grover D. King—FHA Project No. 88-122-00929, situated on Whittier Boulevard, Whittier, Calif.

In view of the foregoing: It is hereby ordered, That: The provisions of Suspension Order No. S-1077, issued January 29, 1947, are hereby stayed as to the following veterans' housing enterprises, pending final determination of the appeal or until further order by the Chief Compliance Commissioner:

By King & Marter—FHA Projects Nos. 66-122-013315 and 66-122-013316, situated on Eastern Avenue, East Los Angeles, Calif.

PART 1010—SUSPENSION ORDERS

[Suspension Order S-1079, Stay of Execution]

T. R. JOHNSON

T. R. Johnson, 235 South Dock Street, Sharon, Pennsylvania, has filed a petition for a stay from the provisions of Suspension Order No. S-1079, issued January 31, 1947 and effective February 7, 1947. The Chief Compliance Commissioner has directed that the provisions of the suspension order be stayed subject to reinstatement, pending a rehearing, or until further order by the Chief Compliance Commissioner. In view of the foregoing: It is hereby ordered, That:

The provisions of Suspension Order No. S-1079, issued January 31, 1947 and effective February 7, 1947, are hereby stayed subject to reinstatement, pending a rehearing, or until further order by the Chief Compliance Commissioner.

PART 1010—SUSPENSION ORDERS

J. J. MELLINGER

J. J. Mellinger of 119 West Ada Street, Glendora, California, as owner, on or about June 27, 1946, began and thereafter carried on the construction of a ten unit motel and residence structure at 1533 Huntington Drive, Monrovia, California, at an estimated cost of $27,500, in spite of denial of his application and supplemental application on April 29 and May 31, 1946, respectively, by the Civilian Production Administration to construct the project. The carrying on of this construction constituted a wilful violation of Veterans' Housing Program Order 1, and has diverted critical materials to uses not authorized by the Civilian Production Administration. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby ordered that:

§ 1010.1087 Suspension Order No. S-1087. (a) Neither J. J. Mellinger, his successors or assigns, nor any other person shall do further construction on the premises located at 1533 Huntington Drive, Monrovia, California, including completing, putting up, or altering of any structure located thereon, unless hereafter specifically authorized in writing by the Civilian Production Administration.

(b) J. J. Mellinger shall refer to this order in any application or appeal which he may file with the Civilian Production Administration for priorities assistance or for authorization to carry on construction.

(c) Nothing contained in this order shall be deemed to relieve J. J. Mellinger, his successors or assigns, from any restriction, prohibition or provision contained in any other order or regulation of the Civilian Production Administration, except insofar as the same may be inconsistent with the provisions hereof.

Issued this 18th day of February 1947.

PART 1010—SUSPENSION ORDERS

BROADMOOR HOTEL, INC. AND PLATT ROGERS, INC.

Broadmoor Hotel, Inc., of Colorado Springs, Colorado, is a corporation which operates a large hotel at Broadmoor near Colorado Springs, Colorado. Platt Rogers, Inc., is a corporation with its principal office in Pueblo, Colorado, and was employed by Broadmoor Hotel, Inc., as contractor. On September 30, 1946, without authorization from Civilian Production Administration, they began and thereafter carried on construction of a large garage building size 222 feet by 69 feet located on Lake Avenue near the Broadmoor Hotel at a cost of $45,000. The beginning and carrying on of such construction without authorization from the Civilian Production Administration was a grossly negligent violation of Veterans' Housing Program Order No. 1 and has diverted critical materials to uses not authorized by the Civilian Production Administration. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby ordered that:

§ 1010.1094 Suspension Order No. S-1094. (a) Neither Broadmoor Hotel, Inc., nor Platt Rogers, Inc., their successors or assigns, nor any other person, shall do any further construction on the garage building size 222 by 69 feet located on Lake Avenue opposite the Broadmoor Hotel in Broadmoor near Colorado Springs, Colorado, including the putting up, completing or altering of the structure, unless hereafter specifically authorized in writing by the Civilian Production Administration.

(b) Broadmoor Hotel, Inc., and Platt Rogers, Inc., shall refer to this order in any application or appeal which they may file with the Civilian Production Administration for authorization to carry on construction.

(c) Nothing contained in this order shall be deemed to relieve Broadmoor Hotel, Inc., or Platt Rogers, Inc., their successors or assigns, from any restriction, prohibition or provision contained in any other order or regulation of the Civilian Production Administration, except insofar as the same may be inconsistent with the provisions hereof.

PART 1010—SUSPENSION ORDERS

[Suspension Order S-1095]

JOHN A. HARNEY

John A. Harney, Ogalala, Nebraska, in September, 1946, began and thereafter carried on construction of a garage and salesroom building, size 60 x 100 feet, located on U. S. Highway No. 30 at the west edge of Ogalala, Nebraska, without authorization from the Civilian Production Administration. The estimated cost of such construction was $25,000. The beginning and carrying on of such construction was in violation of Veterans' Housing Program Order No. 1 and has diverted critical materials to uses not authorized by the Civilian Production Administration. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby ordered that:

(b) John A. Harney shall refer to this order in any application or appeal which he may file with the Civilian Production Administration for authorization to carry on construction.

(c) Nothing contained in this order shall be deemed to relieve John A. Harney, his successors or assigns, from any restriction, prohibition or provision contained in any other order or regulation of the Civilian Production Administration, except insofar as the same may be inconsistent with the provisions hereof.

PART 1010—SUSPENSION ORDERS

[Suspension Order S-1096]

SINGER SEWING MACHINE CO. AND PAUL M. NEWSTROM AND WARREN BEAMAN

Singer Sewing Machine Company is a corporation which among other things operates retail stores for the sale of its products. Newstrom-Davis & Company is a partnership composed of Paul M. Newstrom and Warren Beaman and was employed by Singer Sewing Machine Company as contractor. On August 12, 1946, they began and thereafter carried on remodeling, alterations and construction in a store building at 305 North Commercial Street, in Trinidad, Colorado, costing $4,000 without authorization from the Civilian Production Administration and in violation of Veterans' Housing Program Order No. 1. This violation has diverted scarce materials to uses not authorized by the Civilian Production Administration. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby ordered that:

§ 1010.1096 Suspension Order No. S-1096. (a) Neither Singer Sewing Machine Company, a corporation, nor Paul M. Newstrom and Warren Beaman, doing business as Newstrom-Davis & Company, their successors and assigns, nor any other person, shall do any further construction on the premises located at 305 North Commercial Street, Trinidad, Colorado, including completing the remodeling or alterations or construction therein, unless hereafter specifically authorized in writing by the Civilian Production Administration.

(b) Singer Sewing Machine Company, a corporation, and Paul M. Newstrom and Warren Beaman, doing business as Newstrom-Davis & Company, shall refer to this order in any application or appeal which they may file with the Civilian Production Administration for authorization to carry on construction.

(c) Nothing contained in this order shall be deemed to relieve Singer Sewing Machine Company, a corporation, Paul M. Newstrom and Warren Beaman, doing business as Newstrom-Davis & Company, their successors or assigns, from any restriction, prohibition, or provision contained in any other order or regulation of the Civilian Production Administration, except insofar as the same may be inconsistent with the provisions hereof.

§ 1300.201 Purposes of this regulation. It is the purpose of this regulation to prescribe and explain the procedure of the Office of Price Administration, Office of Temporary Controls, in making various kinds of determinations in connection with the establishment of maximum rents and the issuance of certificates relating to eviction.

(a) Subpart A deals with petitions for adjustment and other relief, provided for by the maximum rent regulations. An adjustment in maximum rent or any other relief can be granted only if the applicable maximum rent regulation contains specific provision for the adjustment or other relief sought.

(b) Subpart B deals with petitions for amendment. A petition for amendment may be filed by any person who is affected by a maximum rent regulation and who desires a change of general applicability in the provisions of the regulation itself. It is the appropriate document to be filed when a person does not wish to file a formal statutory protest or is not entitled to do so because he is not subject to the regulation as defined in § 1300.221 of this regulation.

(c) Subpart C deals with protests. The nature and function of protests are set forth in general in the introduction to Subpart C, preceding § 1300.221.

(d) Subpart D explains the way in which interpretations of the meaning or effect of provisions of maximum rent regulations are given by officers or employees of the Office of Price Administration, Office of Temporary Controls.

(e) Subpart E contains miscellaneous provisions, and definitions.

SUBPART A—LANDLORDS' PETITIONS; AND TENANTS' APPLICATIONS

§ 1300.202 Right to file petition. A petition for adjustment or other relief may be filed by any landlord subject to any provision of a maximum rent regulation who requests such adjustment or relief pursuant to a provision of the maximum rent regulation authorizing such action.

§ 1300.204 Joint petitions, consolidation. Two or more landlords may file a joint petition for adjustment or other relief where the grounds of the petition are common to all landlords joining therein. A joint petition shall be filed and determined in accordance with the rules governing the filing and determination of petitions filed by one landlord. A landlord's petition may include as many housing accommodations as present common questions which can be expeditiously determined in one proceeding. Whenever the rent director deems it necessary or appropriate, he may order the filing of separate petitions or he may consolidate separate petitions presenting common questions which can be determined expeditiously in one proceeding.

§ 1300.206 Investigation by the rent director. Upon the commencement of a proceeding provided for by §§ 1300.202, 1300.205, or 1300.207 of this regulation, the rent director may make such investigation of the facts, hold such conferences, and require the filing of such reports, evidence in affidavit form or other material relevant to the proceeding, as he may deem necessary or appropriate for the proper disposition of the proceeding.

§ 1300.208 Action by the rent director on petitions for adjustment or other relief. (a) Upon receipt of a petition for adjustment or other relief, and after due consideration, the rent director may either:

(1) Dismiss any petition which fails substantially to comply with the provisions of the applicable maximum rent regulation or of this regulation; or

(2) Grant or deny in whole or in part, any petition which is properly pending before him; or

(3) Notice such petition for oral hearing to be held in accordance with § 1300.216 of this regulation; or

(4) Provide an opportunity to present further evidence in affidavit form, in connection with such petition.

(b) Where the petition requests a certificate relating to eviction pursuant to section 6 (b) of the rent regulations, a copy of the landlord's petition and all supporting documents shall be served by the rent director upon the tenant of the housing accommodations concerned and the tenant shall be provided an opportunity to present objections or other written evidence prior to entry of any final order on the petition. A copy of such final order shall be served by the rent director upon the tenant.

(c) An order entered by a rent director upon a petition for adjustment or other relief, or an order entered by a rent director on his own initiative, shall be effective and binding until changed by further order and shall be final subject only to application for review or protest as provided in § 1300.209 or § 1300.214, and §§ 1300.221, and following. An order entered by a rent director may be revoked or modified at any time upon due notice to all persons subject to such order.

Tenants' and Landlords' Applications for Review of Rent Director's Action on Petitions for Certificates Relating to Eviction

Introduction. The Supreme Court of the United States has ruled in Parker v. Fleming, 67 Sup. Ct. ———, that tenants of housing accommodations are entitled to administrative and judicial review of orders granting certificates relating to eviction pursuant to section 6 (b) of the rent regulations.

The following provisions concerning tenants' and landlords' applications for review, and those in §§ 1300.221, and following, pertaining to tenants' and landlords' protests, set forth the exclusive procedures for obtaining administrative review of orders concerning certificates relating to eviction. Landlords' applications for review of orders of a rent director other than those determining a petition for a certificate relating to eviction pursuant to section 6 (b) of the rent regulations are governed by §§ 1300.214 and 1300.215 of this regulation.

§ 1300.209 Tenants' and landlords' applications for review in cases concerning certificates relating to eviction. (a) Any tenant occupying housing accommodations as to which a certificate relating to eviction has been issued by order of a rent director pursuant to section 6 (b) of the rent regulations may file with the rent director a tenant's application for review of such determination by the Regional Administrator for the region in which the defense-rental area office is located. An original and three (3) copies of such application, prepared upon a form prescribed by the Administrator, and pursuant to instructions stated on such form, shall be filed with the rent director.

(b) Any landlord whose petition for a certificate relating to eviction pursuant to section 6 (b) of the rent regulations has been dismissed or denied in whole or in part by the rent director may file an application for review of such determination by the Regional Administrator for the region in which the defense-rental area office is located. Such application shall be made on a form prescribed by the Administrator, and prepared and filed in the same manner as that provided for tenants' applications for review in paragraph (a), above.

(d) Applications for review may be filed within ninety (90) days after the date of issuance of the determination to be reviewed (or before May 21, 1947 with respect to determinations made on or prior to February 19, 1947): Provided, however, That where the tenant seeks to have the order of the rent director suspended pending review of the determination by the Regional Administrator, the tenant's application for review shall be filed within thirty (30) days after the date of issuance of the determination to be reviewed (or before March 22, 1947 with respect to determinations made on or prior to February 19, 1947). An application for review which is not filed within the applicable ninety (90) day period ordinarily will be dismissed unless special circumstances are shown therein to justify a late filing.

(e) Upon the filing of a tenant's application for review within the thirty (30) day period specified in paragraph (d), above, the order granting the certificate relating to eviction shall be deemed suspended automatically, and shall remain suspended until such suspension is terminated by the Regional Administrator as provided in this paragraph, or as provided for in paragraph (f) below. The Regional Administrator may at any time suspend the order under review where the circumstances indicate that grounds for revocation or modification of such order may be present. The Regional Administrator may also at any time prior to his determination of the tenant's application for review, or upon final disposition thereof, direct that the suspension provided for in this paragraph shall be terminated where such application is frivolous, dilatory, or not made in good faith.

(f) Where the tenant's application for review is denied in whole or in part by the Regional Administrator and the Regional Administrator has not at the time of, or prior to, such denial, terminated the suspension provided for in paragraph (e) above, the suspension shall not terminate until the expiration of thirty (30) days after entry of the order of denial of the tenant's application.

(g) Where the Regional Administrator's final order grants in whole or in part a landlord's application for review, the effectiveness of the order shall be deemed suspended automatically for a period of thirty (30) days after entry of such order.

(h) The suspension of a certificate relating to eviction or of any order granting such certificate, pursuant to this regulation, shall take effect for all purposes and notwithstanding that the waiting period prescribed in terms in the certificate has expired.

§ 1300.210 Tenant and landlord as parties in application for review proceedings. (a) Upon the filing and service of an application for review in cases concerning certificates relating to eviction, in accordance with the provisions of § 1300.209 of this regulation, both the tenant and the landlord shall be deemed parties to such proceedings.

(b) Where the application is made by the tenant, the landlord shall have a period of fifteen (15) days from date of service upon him of the tenant's application within which to present objections or other written evidence; and where the application for review is made by the landlord, the tenant shall have a similar period after service upon the tenant of such application within which to file objections and other written evidence in support of the determination to be reviewed.

§ 1300.211 Service of orders, objections and evidence upon parties. (a) Copies of all orders in the proceedings shall be served by the Regional Administrator upon both parties.

(b) An original and two (2) copies of all objections or written evidence to be presented by either party shall be filed with the Regional Administrator and should be plainly legible.

(c) All documents filed by either party after the filing of an application for review shall contain on the first page thereof the following: (1) A statement that the document being filed is either in support of or in objection to the application for review, (2) the docket number of the application for review, (3) the name and post office address of the party filing the document, and the address of the housing accommodations involved, and (4) a statement that the party is the landlord or tenant.

§ 1300.212 Action on tenants' and landlords' applications for review in cases concerning certificates relating to eviction. Upon the filing of an application for review in accordance with § 1300.209 of this regulation, and after due consideration, the Regional Administrator may affirm, revoke, or modify, in whole or in part, the determination of the rent director sought to be reviewed and may enter such order as is necessary or proper. In any case where an application for review does not conform in a substantial respect to the requirements of this regulation, the Regional Administrator may dismiss such application. An order entered by a Regional Administrator upon an application for review may be revoked or modified at any time upon due notice to the parties subject to such order and shall be subject to protest as provided in § 1300.221, and following, of this regulation.

§ 1300.213 Oral hearings. Oral hearings may be requested by either party. The granting of such requests and oral hearings shall be governed by the provisions of § 1300.216 of this regulation. Notice of oral hearing shall be served upon all parties to the proceeding.

Landlords' Applications for Review of Rent Director's Action in All Other Cases

§ 1300.214 Landlords' applications for review in cases not concerning certificates relating to eviction. (a) Any landlord whose petition for adjustment or other relief, except a petition for a certificate relating to eviction, has been dismissed or denied in whole or in part by the rent director, or any landlord subject to an order entered by the rent director on his own initiative may file with the rent director an application for review of such determination by the Regional Administrator for the region in which the defense-rental area office is located: Provided, That any landlord subject to an order entered under section 5 (d) of any maximum rent regulation or subject to an order entered by the rent director under § 1300.207 of this regulation, may either apply for review of such order as provided in this section, or may protest any provision of such order as provided in §§ 1300.221, and following, of this regulation. An application for review shall be filed in triplicate upon forms prescribed by the Administrator and pursuant to instructions stated on such forms. Upon the filing of an application for review of such determination, the rent director shall forward the record of the proceedings, with respect to which such application is filed, to the appropriate Regional Administrator.

(b) Applications for review may be filed within ninety (90) days after the date of issuance of the determination to be reviewed. An application for review which is not filed within the specified time ordinarily will be dismissed unless special circumstances are shown to justify a later filing.

§ 1300.215 Action on applications for review. Upon the filing of an application for review in accordance with § 1300.214 of this regulation, and after due consideration, the Regional Administrator may affirm, revoke, or modify, in whole or in part, the determination of the rent director sought to be reviewed and may enter such order as is necessary or proper. In any case where an application for review does not conform in a substantial respect to the requirements of this regulation, the Regional Administrator may dismiss such application. An order entered by a Regional Administrator upon an application for review shall be effective and binding until changed by further order and shall be final subject only to protest as provided in § 1300.221, and following, of this regulation. An order entered by a Regional Administrator upon an application for review may be revoked or modified at any time upon due notice to the applicant.

If the effect of the order of the rent director is to require a refund of rent to the tenant under section 4 (e), 4 (j), or 5 (b) (3) of the Rent Regulation for Housing, section 4 (b) of the Rent Regulation for Transient Hotels, Residential Hotels, Rooming Houses and Motor Courts, section 4 (e) or 5 (b) (3) of the Rent Regulation for Housing in the New York City Defense-Rental Area, section 4 (b) of the Rent Regulation for Transient Hotels, Residential Hotels, Rooming Houses and Motor Courts in the New York City Defense-Rental Area, section 4 (b), 4 (f) or 5 (b) (3) of the Rent Regulation for Housing in the Miami Defense-Rental Area, section 4 (b) of the Rent Regulation for Transient Hotels, Residential Hotels, Rooming Houses and Motor Courts in the Miami Defense-Rental Area or section 4 (e), 4 (i) or 5 (b) (3) of the Rent Regulation for Housing in the Atlantic County Defense-Rental Area, the modification or revocation of said order by the Regional Administrator as it affects the refund, shall be retroactive if a stay has been obtained pursuant to § 1300.214.

§ 1300.216 Oral hearings—(a) Requests for oral hearing. Any petitioner or applicant may request an oral hearing. Such request shall be accompanied by a showing as to why the filing of affidavits or other written evidence and briefs will not permit the fair and expeditious disposition of the petition or application. In the event that an oral hearing is ordered, notice thereof shall be served on the petitioner or applicant not less than five days prior to such hearing. The time and place of hearing shall be stated in the notice. A presiding officer will be appointed with all necessary powers to conduct the hearing. Any such oral hearing may be limited in such manner and to such extent as deemed appropriate to the expeditious determination of the proceeding.

(b) Stenographic report of oral hearing. A stenographic report of the oral hearing shall be made, a copy of which shall be available for inspection during business hours in the appropriate regional office or defense-rental area office.

SUBPART B—PETITION FOR AMENDMENT

§ 1300.217 Right to file petition. A petition for amendment may be filed at any time by any person subject to or affected by a provision of a maximum rent regulation. A petition for amendment shall propose an amendment of general applicability and shall be granted or denied on the merits of the amendment proposed. The denial of a petition for amendment is not subject to protest or judicial review under the act.

§ 1300.218 Place for filing petitions for amendment; form and contents. A petition for amendment shall be filed with the Secretary, Office of Price Administration, Office of Temporary Controls, Washington, D. C. One original and four copies of the petition and of all accompanying documents and brief shall be filed. Each copy shall be printed, typewritten, mimeographed, or prepared by a similar process and shall be plainly legible. Copies shall be double spaced, except that quotations shall be single spaced and indented. Every such petition shall be designated "Petition for Amendment" and shall contain, upon the first page thereof, the name of the defense-rental area and the number and date of issuance of the maximum rent regulation to which the petition relates, and the name and address of the petitioner. The petition shall specify the manner in which the petitioner is subject to or affected by the provision of the maximum rent regulation involved, and shall include a specific statement of the particular amendment desired and the facts which make that amendment necessary or appropriate. The petition shall be accompanied by affidavits setting forth the evidence upon which the petitioner relies in his petition.

§ 1300.219 Joint petitions for amendment. Two or more persons may file a joint petition for amendment, where the amendments proposed are identical or substantially similar. Joint petitions shall be filed and determined in accordance with the rules governing the filing and determination of petitions filed by one person. Whenever the Administrator deems it to be necessary or appropriate for the disposition of joint petitions, he may treat such joint petitions as several, and, in any event, he may require the filing of relevant material by each individual petitioner.

§ 1300.220 Action by the Administrator on petition. In the consideration of any petition for amendment, the Administrator may afford to the petitioner and to other persons likely to have information bearing upon such proposed amendment, or likely to be affected thereby, an opportunity to present evidence or argument in support of, or in opposition to, such proposed amendment. Whenever necessary or appropriate for the full and expeditious determination of common questions raised by two or more petitions for amendment, the Administrator may consolidate such petitions.

SUBPART C—PROTESTS

Introduction. Subpart C deals with protests. A protest is the means provided by Section 203 (a) of the Act for landlords to make formal objections to a maximum rent regulation or order, and for both landlords and tenants to make formal objections to individual orders involving certificates relating to eviction. Neither landlord nor tenant may file a protest in a case involving a certificate relating to eviction unless an application for review of the order pertaining to such certificate has been determined in whole or in part adversely to such party by the Regional Administrator pursuant to §§ 1300.209 to 1300.212, inclusive, of this regulation. Ordinarily, the filing of a protest is also a prerequisite to obtaining judicial review by the Emergency Court of Appeals of the validity of a rent regulation or order. The other method available to landlords, only, to obtain judicial review is the filing of a complaint in the Emergency Court of Appeals after obtaining special leave to do so in an enforcement proceeding pursuant to section 204 (c) of the act.

Subpart C also contains provisions for consideration of protests by boards of review in accordance with section 203 (c) of the act. A protestant is entitled to consideration of his objections by a board of review if he files a protest in accordance with the provisions of this regulation, making a specific request for consideration by a board of review in accordance with § 1300.235 (b) of this regulation. Where the protest involves an order concerning a certificate relating to eviction, either party to such proceeding is entitled to such consideration upon specific request therefor in accordance with § 1300.235 (b) or (c) of this regulation.

General Provisions

§ 1300.221 Right to protest. (a) Any tenant or landlord subject to an order issued under § 1300.212 of this regulation may file a protest in the manner set forth below. An order issued by a Regional Administrator under § 1300.210 of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 3 (now § 1300.215 of this regulation) upon a landlord's application for review in a case involving a certificate relating to eviction shall, for the purposes of this regulation, be deemed an order issued pursuant to § 1300.212 of this regulation.

(b) Any landlord subject to any provision of a maximum rent regulation, or of an order issued under § 1300.215 of this regulation, or of an order entered under section 5 (d) of any maximum rent regulation, or of an order entered by the rent director under § 1300.207 of this regulation, may file a protest in the manner set forth below.

(c) For the purposes of this regulation, a tenant is subject to an order issued under § 1300.212 of this regulation so long as he occupies the housing accommodations with which that order deals: Provided, however, That any tenant who has a protest pending of the nature referred to in § 1300.223 (a) of this regulation shall be deemed subject to the order protested.

(d) A landlord is subject to a provision of a maximum rent regulation or of an order only if such provision prohibits or requires action by him.

(e) Any protest filed by a tenant or a landlord not subject to the provision protested, or otherwise not in accordance with the requirements of this regulation, may be dismissed by the Administrator.

§ 1300.222 Time and place of filing protests. (a) Any protest against the provisions of a maximum rent regulation may be filed at any time after the issuance thereof.

(b) The Act provides no specific time limit for filing a protest against an order issued under § 1300.212 or § 1300.215 of this regulation, or of an order entered under section 5 (d) of any maximum rent regulation, or of an order entered by the rent director under § 1300.207 of this regulation. However, as the United States Emergency Court of Appeals has stated in its opinion in the case of R. E. Schanzer, Inc., v. Bowles, 141 F. 2d 262 (1944), if the filing of a protest is unduly delayed, the defense of laches (unreasonable delay) may be available to the Administrator. There will ordinarily be no reason why a protest against an order of the kind specified in this paragraph, affecting only an individual, cannot be filed promptly after the issuance of such order. Accordingly, if a protest is not filed within ninety (90) days after the date of issuance of such order, (or before May 21, 1947 in the case of an order issued prior to February 20, 1947 pursuant to § 1300.212 of this regulation) the Administrator ordinarily will regard the delay as unreasonable and will dismiss the protest unless special circumstances are shown to justify the delay.

(c) Protests shall be filed with the Secretary of the Office of Price Administration, Office of Temporary Controls, Washington 25, D. C. A copy of the protest shall also be filed with the appropriate Regional Administrator or rent Director as provided in § 1300.226 of this regulation.

(a) If prior to February 19, 1947, a protest was filed by a tenant in occupancy against an order granting a certificate relating to eviction, and such protest has not been dismissed, or the order dismissing the protest has been set aside, the landlord shall be made a party to the proceeding and such protest shall be determined by the Administrator on the merits in accordance with procedures consistent with those provided in this regulation for processing protests filed on or after February 19, 1947.

(b) If prior to February 19, 1947, a protest was filed by a landlord against an order denying an application for review of an order of a rent director denying in whole or part a landlord's petition for a certificate relating to eviction, and such protest has not been disposed of by final order of the Administrator, the Administrator shall cause the tenant in occupancy to be made a party to the protest proceedings and the protest shall be processed in accordance with procedures consistent with those provided in this regulation for processing protests filed on or after February 19, 1947.

§ 1300.224 Filing of tenants' protests as suspending certificate relating to eviction. (a) If a tenant files a protest against an order issued pursuant to § 1300.212 of this regulation within thirty (30) days after entry of such order, and the certificate relating to eviction has been suspended pursuant to paragraphs (f) or (g) of § 1300.209 of this regulation the certificate shall remain suspended during the protest proceedings.

(b) In cases where the § 1300.212 order against which the tenant's protest is directed was issued prior to February 19, 1947, such order shall be deemed and remain suspended during the protest proceedings if the protest is filed prior to March 22, 1947.

(c) In all cases where a tenant's protest of the nature referred to in paragraph (a) of § 1300.223 of this regulation is pending, the certificate relating to eviction shall be deemed, and remain, suspended automatically during the protest proceedings.

(d) If the tenant's protest or objections are dilatory, frivolous, or not made in good faith the Administrator may at any time terminate the suspension provided for in paragraphs (a), (b) and (c), above, and in paragraphs (a) and (b) of § 1300.252 of this regulation. The Administrator may, at any time, suspend the certificate relating to eviction or the order granting such certificate if the circumstances indicate that revocation or modification of such certificate may be warranted.

(e) The suspension of a certificate relating to eviction or of any order granting such certificate, pursuant to this regulation, shall take effect for all purposes and notwithstanding that the waiting period prescribed in terms in the certificate has expired.

§ 1300.225 Stay of landlord's obligation to refund. (a) Where the Rent Director has entered an order under § 1300.207 of this regulation, the effect of which is to require a landlord to make a refund to a tenant in accordance with the provisions of section 4 (e), 4 (j), or 5 (b) (3) of the Rent Regulation for Housing, section 4 (b) of the Rent Regulation for Transient Hotels, Residential Hotels, Rooming Houses and Motor Courts, section 4 (e) or 5 (b) (3) of the Rent Regulation for Housing in the New York City Defense-Rental Area, section 4 (b) of the Rent Regulation for Transient Hotels, Residential Hotels, Rooming Houses and Motor Courts in the New York City Defense-Rental Area, section 4 (b), 4 (f) or 5 (b) (3) of the Rent Regulation for Housing in the Miami Defense-Rental Area, section 4 (b) of the Rent Regulation for Transient Hotels, Residential Hotels, Rooming Houses and Motor Courts in the Miami Defense-Rental Area or section 4 (e), 4 (i) or 5 (b) (3) of the Rent Regulation for Housing in the Atlantic County Defense-Rental Area, the obligation to refund shall be stayed if the landlord within thirty days after the date of issuance of said order duly files a protest against said order, together with a refund transmittal memorandum directed to the Regional Budget and Finance Officer on forms prescribed by the Administrator accompanied by a certified check or money order in the amount of the refund payable to the United States Treasurer, and such additional information and documents as may be required. The money so deposited shall be distributed pursuant to the order of the Administrator.

(b) Compliance with that portion of a Regional Administrator's order which specifies the manner in which the money deposited pursuant to § 1300.214 (c) be distributed to a tenant, shall be stayed if the landlord, within thirty days after the date of issuance of said order, duly files a protest in the manner herein set forth. In such event, the money so deposited shall be distributed pursuant to the order of the Administrator.

(c) Compliance with that portion of an order, issued by the Administrator upon the determination of a protest which specifies the manner in which the money deposited pursuant to paragraph (a) herein or § 1300.214 (c) shall be distributed to a tenant, shall be stayed if the protestant, within thirty days after the date of issuance of said order files a complaint in the United States Emergency Court of Appeals in accordance with section 204 (a) of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, objecting to the provisions of the rent director's or regional administrator's order which require the refund. In such event the money so deposited shall be distributed by order of the Administrator in a manner consistent with the ultimate disposition of the proceedings.

(d) If, within thirty days after entry of a judgment or order, interlocutory or final, by the United States Emergency Court of Appeals in a proceeding described in paragraph (c) herein, a petition for a writ of certiorari is filed in the Supreme Court of the United States, the distribution of the money deposited pursuant to paragraph (a) herein or § 1300.-214 (c) shall be stayed, and the funds shall thereafter be distributed by order of the Administrator in a manner consistent with the ultimate disposition of the proceedings.

§ 1300.226 Form of protest. (a) Every protest shall be clearly designated "protest" and shall contain upon the first page thereof (1) the name of the protestant and of the defense-rental area for which the maximum rent regulation or order protested was issued, (2) a statement whether the protest is against a maximum rent regulation or order, (3) the date of issuance and the name or number of such maximum rent regulation or order, (4) a statement that a copy of the protest and all accompanying documents and briefs has been filed with the Regional Administrator or the Rent Director where such action is required by paragraph (c) or (d) of this section, and (5) where the protest is directed by a tenant or landlord to an order issued under § 1300.212 of this regulation, the full names and addresses of the landlord and tenant.

(b) One original and five copies of the protest and of all accompanying documents and briefs shall be filed with the Secretary of the Office of Price Administration, Office of Temporary Controls, Washington 25, D. C.

(c) In cases where the protest is directed against an order issued pursuant to § 1300.212 or § 1300.215 of this regulation, an additional copy of the protest, accompanying documents and briefs, shall be filed with the Regional Administrator issuing the order being protested.

(d) In cases where the protest is directed against either an order entered under section 5 (d) of any maximum rent regulation, or an order entered by the rent director under § 1300.207 of this regulation, and an application for review has not been filed, an additional copy of the protest, accompanying documents and briefs, shall be filed with the rent director issuing the order being protested.

(e) Each copy of the protest, accompanying documents and briefs, shall be printed, typewritten, mimeographed or prepared by similar process and should be plainly legible. Copies shall be double-spaced except that quotations shall be single-spaced and indented.

§ 1300.227 Assignment of docket number. Upon receipt of a protest it shall be assigned a docket number, and all further papers filed in the proceedings shall contain on the first page thereof the docket number so assigned and the information specified in § 1300.226 of this regulation.

§ 1300.228 Protest and evidential material not conforming to this regulation. In any case where a protest or evidential material does not conform, in a substantial respect, to this regulation, the Administrator may dismiss such protest, or, in his discretion, may strike such evidential material from the record of the proceedings in connection with the protest.

§ 1300.231 Amendment of protest and presentation of additional evidence. In general, all of the objections upon which a protestant intends to rely in the protest proceedings must be clearly stated in the protest when it is filed, and all of the evidence which the protestant wishes to offer in support of the protest must be filed at the same time. Exceptions to this rule are stated in §§ 1300.236 (b) and 1300.237 relating to evidence not subject to protestant's control and the submission of oral testimony. A protestant may, however, be granted permission to amend his protest so as to state additional objections or to present further evidence in connection therewith upon a showing of reasonable excuse for failure to present such objections or evidence at the time the protest was first filed. The permission will be granted only if, in the judgment of the Administrator, it will not unduly delay the completion of the proceedings on the protest.

(b) The respondent shall have a period of thirty (30) days from the date of service of the protest by the Secretary within which to present objections and written evidence, to request a hearing for the receipt of oral testimony or assistance in obtaining evidence and to submit a brief, as provided for in §§ 1300.237, 1300.236 and 1300.238 of this regulation, and to request consideration of the protest by a board of review, as provided for in § 1300.242. An original and five (5) copies of such objections, evidence, or request shall be filed in affidavit form with the Secretary of the Office of Price Administration, Office of Temporary Controls, Washington (25), D. C. Each document filed by either party after the filing of the protest shall (1) contain the docket number assigned to the protest proceedings, and (2) shall conform to the requirements of § 1300.226 of this regulation.

(c) Copies of orders issued by the Administrator during the protest proceedings shall be served upon both landlord and tenant.

§ 1300.233 Action by the Administrator on protest. (a) Within a reasonable time after the filing of any protest in accordance with this revised procedural regulation, but in no event more than thirty days after such filing, the Administrator shall:

(1) Grant or deny such protest in whole or in part;

(2) Notice such protest for hearing of oral testimony in accordance with §§ 1300.237 or 1300.241 of this regulation;

(3) Notice such protest for hearing of oral argument by a board of review in accordance with § 1300.245;

(4) Provide an opportunity to present further evidence in connection with such protest. Within a reasonable time after the presentation of such further evidence, the Administrator may notice such protest for hearing of oral testimony in accordance with subparagraph (2) of this section, notice the protest for hearing of oral argument by a board of review in accordance with subparagraph (3) of this section, include additional material in the record of the proceedings on the protest in accordance with §§ 1300.239 and 1300.240 of this regulation, or take such other action as may be appropriate to the disposition of the protest.

(b) Notice of any such action taken by the Administrator shall be served upon the protestant, and, where the protest is directed against an order issued pursuant to § 1300.212 of this regulation, upon both the protestant and the respondent.

(c) Where the Administrator has ordered a hearing on a protest or has provided an opportunity for the presentation of further evidence in connection therewith, he shall, within a reasonable time after the completion of such hearing or the presentation of such evidence, grant or deny such protest in whole or in part.

§ 1300.234 Basis for determination of protest—(a) Record of the proceedings. The factual basis upon which a protest is determined is to be found in the record of the proceedings. This record consists of the following:

(1) The designation of the defense-rental area, the rent declaration, and the maximum rent regulation involved;

(2) The protest and evidential material properly filed with the Secretary, in accordance with §§ 1300.232 and 1300.235 to 1300.237, inclusive, of this regulation;

(3) If the protest is against an order, the evidence and all documents in proceedings had in connection therewith;

(4) Materials incorporated into the record of the proceedings under §§ 1300-.239 and 1300.240 of this regulation;

(5) Oral testimony taken in accordance with §§ 1300.237 and 1300.241 of this regulation;

(6) All orders and opinions issued in the proceedings.

(b) Facts of which the Administrator has taken official notice. The above-listed documents may contain, as provided by section 203 (b) of the Act, statements of economic data and other facts of which the Administrator has taken official notice, including facts found by him as a result of reports filed and studies and investigations made pursuant to section 202 of the Act.

(c) Briefs and arguments. Briefs and oral arguments submitted or presented in accordance with this regulation are, of course, considered in the determination of a protest. They are, however, not a part of the record of the proceedings and are not included in the transcript of protest proceedings which is filed, in case of appeal, with the Emergency Court of Appeals.

Contents of Protests and Supporting Materials

§ 1300.235 Contents of protests—(a) What each protest must contain. Every protest shall set forth the following:

(1) The name and the post office address of the protestant, the manner in which the protestant is subject to the provision of the maximum rent regulation or order protested, and the location, by post office address or otherwise, of all housing accommodations involved in the protest;

(2) The name and post office address of any person filing the protest on behalf of the protestant and the name and post office address of the person to whom all communications from the Office of Price Administration, Office of Temporary Controls, relating to the protest shall be sent;

(3) A complete identification of the provision or provisions protested, citing the number of the maximum rent regulation or order, the section or sections thereof to which objection is made, and the date of issuance thereof;

(4) A clear and concise statement of all objections raised by the protestant against the provision or provisions protested, each such objection to be separately stated and numbered;

(5) A clear and concise statement of all facts alleged in support of each objection;

(6) A statement of the relief requested by the protestant, including, if the protestant requests modification of a provision of the maximum rent regulation, the specific changes which he seeks to have made in the provision;

(7) A statement signed and sworn to (or affirmed) before an officer authorized to take oaths either by the protestant personally, or, if a partnership, by a partner, or, if a corporation or association, by a duly authorized officer, that the protest and the documents filed therewith are prepared in good faith and that the facts alleged are true to the best of his knowledge, information and belief. The protestant shall specify which of the facts are alleged and known to be true and which are alleged on information and belief.

(b) Consideration by a board of review upon request by protestant. A protestant who wishes his protest considered by a board of review must specifically so request. If he also wishes to offer oral argument, he must so state, indicating the order of his preference as to (1) argument before a full board in Washington, D. C., or (2) argument before a subcommittee of the board at the nearest Regional Office or elsewhere as requested. A simple request for consideration of the protest by a board of review, without more, will be construed as a request for consideration without oral argument. § 1300.244 of this regulation sets forth the considerations which will be determinative in the decision as to where oral argument may be heard. The request for consideration by a board of review must be made either in the protest or in an amendment thereto filed within fifteen days of the date the protest is filed. Such an amendment shall be deemed filed within the fifteen day period if it is received by the Secretary, Office of Price Administration, Office of Temporary Controls, Washington, D. C., no later than the fifteenth day after the protest was filed. Further provisions with respect to proceedings before a board of review are to be found in §§ 1300.242 to 1300.250, inclusive, of this regulation.

(b) A statement by the protestant in affidavit form setting forth in detail the nature and sources of any further evidence, not subject to his control, upon which he believes he can rely in support of the facts alleged in his protest. Such statement shall be accompanied by an application for assistance by way of subpoena, interrogatories, or otherwise, in, obtaining the documentary evidence or the evidence of persons not subject to protestant's control, showing in every instance what material facts would be adduced thereby. Such application, if calling for the evidence of persons, shall specify the name and address of each person, and the facts to be proved by him, and if calling for the production of documents, shall specify them with sufficient particularity to enable them to be identified for purposes of production.

A similar application may be made by the respondent in protest proceedings involving an order issued pursuant to § 1300.212 of this regulation.

§ 1300.237 Receipt of oral testimony. (a) In most cases, evidence in protest proceedings will be received only in written form. Experience in the consideration of protests has demonstrated that this procedure is most conducive to the fair and expeditious disposition of protests. However, the protestant in any case, and the respondent in protest proceedings involving an order issued pursuant to § 1300.212 of this regulation, may request the receipt of oral testimony. Such request shall be accompanied by a showing as to why the filing of affidavits or other written evidence will not permit the fair and expeditious disposition of the protest.

(b) In the event that the Administrator orders the receipt of oral testimony, notice shall be served on the protestant, and on the respondent, if any, not less than five (5) days prior to the receipt of such testimony, which notice shall state the time and place of the hearing and the name of the presiding officer designated by the Administrator.

(c) A stenographic report of any hearing of oral testimony shall be made, a copy of which shall be available during business hours in the Office of the Secretary.

§ 1300.238 Submission of brief. The protestant may file with his protest and accompanying evidential material, and the respondent, if any, may file with his objections or written evidence, a brief in support of his objections. An original and five (5) copies of such brief shall be submitted separately, distinct from the protest and evidential material.

Material in Support of the Regulation or Order Protested

§ 1300.239 Incorporation of material into the record by the Administrator. The Administrator shall incorporate into the record of the proceedings on the protest such evidence, in the form of affidavits or otherwise, as he deems appropriate in support of the provision against which the protest is filed. When such evidence is incorporated into the record, and is not so incorporated at an oral hearing, copies thereof shall be served upon the protestant, and upon the respondent, if any, and the protestant and the respondent shall be given a reasonable opportunity to present further evidence.

§ 1300.240 Other written evidence in support of the maximum rent regulation or order. (a) Any person affected by the provisions of a maximum rent regulation, or of an order issued thereunder, may at any time after the issuance of such regulation or order submit to the Administrator a statement in support of any such provision or provisions. Such statement shall include the name and post office address of such person, the nature of his business, and the manner in which such person is affected by the maximum rent regulation or order in question, and may be accompanied by affidavits and other data in written form. Each such supporting statement shall conform to the requirements of § 1300.-236 (a) of this regulation.

(b) In the event that a protest has been, or is subsequently, filed against a provision of a maximum rent regulation or order in support of which a statement has been submitted, the Administrator may include such statement in the record of the proceedings taken in connection with such protest. If such supporting statement is incorporated into the record and is not so incorporated at an oral hearing, copies of such supporting statement shall be served upon the protestant, and the protestant shall be given a reasonable opportunity to present evidence in rebuttal thereof.

§ 1300.241 Receipt of oral testimony in support of the regulation or order. Ordinarily, material in support of the maximum rent regulation or order protested, like material in support of protests, will be received in the protest proceeding only in written form. Where, however, the Administrator is satisfied that the receipt of oral testimony is necessary to the fair and expeditious disposition of the protest, he may, on his own motion, direct such testimony to be received. In that event, the oral testimony will be taken in the manner provided in § 1300.237 of this regulation.

Boards of Review

§ 1300.242 Right to consideration by a board of review. Under section 203 (e) of the act, a protest filed after September 1, 1944, must, upon the protestant's request, be considered by a board of review before it can be denied in whole or in part. Similar consideration will be given upon request of the respondent in protest proceedings involving an order issued pursuant to § 1300.212 of this regulation.

Consideration of the record in protest proceedings by a board of review is undertaken for the purpose of reconsidering the provision or provisions of the maximum rent regulation or order protested and recommending action relative thereto to the Administrator. A board of review considers the protest upon the basis of the record which has been developed in the proceedings. Protestant, and the respondent, if any, are accorded an opportunity to present oral argument to a board upon the basis of the objections raised and the evidence in the record, and are guided by the explanatory statement of the issues in the notice of consideration by a board of review. § 1300.234 of this regulation explains the nature of the record in the proceedings. § 1300.235 (b) and (c) explain the nature of such a request and state the time within which it must be filed.

§ 1300.243 Composition of boards of review. A board of review is composed of one or more officers or employees of the Office of Price Administration, Office of Temporary Controls, designated by the Administrator to review the record of the proceedings on a particular protest and make recommendations to him as to its disposition. The number of members constituting a board will be determined in the light of the scope and complexity of the issues presented. When a board consists of more than one member, ordinarily at least one member shall be selected who has been directly responsible for the formulation or administration of the maximum rent regulation or order protested. The protestant, and the respondent in protest proceedings involving an order issued pursuant to § 1300.212 of this regulation, will be advised of the membership of a board considering the protest and, if the board consists of more than one member, of the member selected to preside, in the notice of consideration by a board provided for in § 1300.245. When necessitated by incapacity of a member or other good cause, the Administrator may make substitutions in the membership of the board as originally constituted.

§ 1300.245 Notice of consideration by board of review. Before denial in whole or in part of any protest as to which consideration by a board of review has been requested in accordance with § 1300.235 (b) or (c) of this regulation, which request has not subsequently been waived, notice of consideration by a board of review will be sent by registered mail to the protestant, and to the respondent in protest proceedings involving an order issued pursuant to § 1300.212 of this regulation. Sending of the notice marks a close of the evidential record in the proceedings. The notice will indicate the issues thought to be determinative and may serve as a guide in planning oral argument. The notice of consideration shall contain, or be accompanied by, the following items, as nearly as the circumstances permit:

(a) Information identifying the protest, including the maximum rent regulation or order being protested and the docket number;

(b) A list of the documents comprising the record of the proceeding;

(c) A brief statement of the issues involved;

(d) A statement of the time (which shall not be less than seven days from the date of the mailing of the notice) and place where the board of review or a subcommittee thereof will hear oral argument;

(e) A list of persons comprising the board of review which is thereby appointed to consider the protest, with their official titles and a designation of the presiding member if the board of review is composed of more than one person.

§ 1300.246 Waiver of right to consideration in whole or part in protest proceedings not concerning certificates relating to eviction. A protestant who has properly requested consideration by a board of review in accordance with § 1300.235 (b) may, if he so desires, waive his right to consideration by a board. A protestant who has requested both consideration by and oral argument before a board of review, or subcommittee thereof, may waive his right to oral argument only, or he may waive both oral argument and consideration by a board. Such waiver shall be in writing and shall constitute a part of the record of proceedings on the protest. Failure of a protestant to appear at a hearing of oral argument, which he has not waived in accordance with the foregoing, at the time and place specified in the notice of consideration shall, unless a reasonable excuse is shown, also constitute waiver of his right to consideration by a board. Unexcused failure to appear at a hearing of oral argument shall be noted on the record of proceedings. A waiver by less than all of a group of joint protestants shall not affect the rights of a protestant who has made no waiver.

§ 1300.248 Hearing of oral argument. (a) Argument before a board of review shall ordinarily be limited to one hour except for good cause shown. Where the magnitude of the issues involved warrants more extended discussion or where the protestants, or respondents, in a protest proceeding involving an order issued pursuant to § 1300.212 of this regulation, are numerous, the board may extend or limit the time of each in its discretion. A board may exclude specific argument deemed to be irrelevant to the objections set forth in the protest or unsupported by any evidence in the record. Hearings of argument will be open to the public. Where argument is to be heard by a board of review consisting of more than one member, a majority of such board shall constitute a quorum for the purpose of hearing argument. Presentation of oral argument may be accompanied by submission of a brief.

(b) A stenographic report of all hearings of oral argument by boards of review or subcommittees thereof shall be taken. The report will be transcribed at the direction of the board if a transcription is desired to facilitate consideration of the protest. The report will ordinarily be transcribed if the argument is heard by a subcommittee of a board. If the report is transcribed a copy shall be available in the Office of the Secretary, Office of Price Administration, Office of Temporary Controls, Washington, D. C. Any protestant, or respondent, who wishes a copy of the report may obtain it by requesting the reporter at the hearing to make a copy for him and paying the cost thereof.

§ 1300.249 Action by boards of review at conclusion of their consideration of a protest. Within a reasonable time after the hearing of oral argument or after the closing of the record, if such argument has been waived, a board of review shall submit its recommendations in writing to the Administrator as to the disposition of the protest. The recommendations of a majority of the members of a board shall constitute the recommendations of the board, but the disagreement of any member with the recommendations shall be expressly noted. The protestant, and the respondent, if any, will be advised of the recommendations of the board in an appendix to the Administrator's opinion disposing of the protest or closing the docket. Copies of these documents, containing the board's recommendations, will be sent to the protestant and such respondent by registered mail. A board of review shall have authority to recommend to the Administrator that the protest be granted or denied in whole or in part. If it is the opinion of the board that the record in the proceedings should be expanded, it may refer the record of the proceedings to the Administrator in order that the Administrator may consider permitting the amendment of the protest or the receipt of additional evidence. Records will, however, be reopened only in very exceptional circumstances and where the requirements of § 1300.231 can be met.

§ 1300.250 Action by Administrator after receipt of board of review's recommendations. After receipt of a board of review's recommendations as to the disposition of the protest, the Administrator shall, within a reasonable time, grant or deny the protest in whole or in part.

§ 1300.251 Opinion denying protest in whole or in part. In the event that the Administrator denies any protest in whole or in part, the protestant, and the respondent, if any, shall be informed of any economic data or other facts of which he takes official notice, the grounds upon which such decision is based, and (if the protest has been considered by a board of review) the recommendations of a board of review and, if any recommendation of such a board has been rejected, the reason for rejection. Any order entered in such protest proceedings shall be effective from the date of its issuance unless otherwise provided in such order, or in this regulation.

§ 1300.252 Suspensions and stays. (a) If, in protest proceedings concerning an order issued pursuant to § 1300.212 of this regulation, the certificate relating to eviction is in suspension pursuant to § 1300.224 of this regulation, and the final order of the Administrator denies the tenant's protest in whole or in part, or if the final order of the Administrator grants the landlord's protest in whole or in part, the certificate shall be deemed suspended for a further period of thirty (30) days from the date of receipt of the final order by the tenant. If the tenant files a complaint against such order in the United States Emergency Court of Appeals in accordance with section 204 (a) of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, the certificate shall be deemed suspended until entry of the final judgment of that Court and for a period of thirty (30) days thereafter. If within that period the tenant files a petition for certiorari to review such judgment in the Supreme Court of the United States, the certificate shall be deemed suspended until ultimate disposition of the proceeding. Where, pursuant to a judgment of that Court or of the Emergency Court of Appeals the proceeding is remanded to the Administrator, the certificate shall remain suspended during the further proceedings before the Administrator.

(b) Where, upon complaint filed by the landlord in the Emergency Court of Appeals pursuant to section 204 (a) of the Statute against an order involving a certificate relating to eviction, the determination complained of is set aside in whole or in part, or the proceedings remanded to the Administrator, the certificate shall be deemed suspended in the same manner provided for in paragraph (a) of this section as if the tenant had been the complainant.

(c) If the effect of the order of the rent director or regional administrator is to require a refund of rent to the tenant under section 4 (c), 4 (j), or 5 (b) (3) of the Rent Regulation for Housing, section 4 (b) of the Rent Regulation for Transient Hotels, Residential Hotels, Rooming Houses and Motor Courts, section 4 (c) or 5 (b) (3) of the Rent Regulation for Housing in the New York City Defense-Rental Area, section 4 (b) of the Rent Regulation for Transient Hotels, Rooming Houses and Motor Courts in the New York City Defense-Rental Area, section 4 (b), 4 (f) or 5 (b) (3) of the Rent Regulation for Housing in the Miami Defense-Rental Area, section 4 (b) of the Rent Regulation for Transient Hotels, Residential Hotels, Rooming Houses and Motor Courts in the Miami Defense-Rental Area or section 4 (c), 4 (i) or 5 (b) (3) of the Rent Regulation for Housing in the Atlantic County Defense-Rental Area, the modification or revocation of said order by the Administrator as it affects the refund shall be retroactive if a stay has been obtained pursuant to § 1300.225 of this regulation.

§ 1300.253 Treatment of protest as petition for amendment or for adjustment or other relief. Any protest filed against a provision of a maximum rent regulation may, in the discretion of the Administrator, be treated not only as a protest but also as a petition for amendment of the regulation protested, or as a petition for adjustment or other relief pursuant thereto, when the facts produced in connection with the protest justify such treatment.

SUBPART D—INTERPRETATIONS

§ 1300.254 Interpretations. An interpretation given by the Administrator or an officer of the Office of Price Administration, Office of Temporary Controls, with respect to any provision of the Act or any maximum rent regulation or order thereunder, will be regarded as official only if such interpretation was requested and issued in accordance with §§ 1300.255 to 1300.257, inclusive, of this regulation. Action taken in reliance upon and in conformity with an official interpretation and prior to any revocation or modification thereof or to any superseding thereof by regulation, order or amendment, shall constitute action in good faith pursuant to the provision of the Act, or of the regulation or order to which such official interpretation relates. An official interpretation shall be applicable only with respect to the particular person to whom, and to the particular factual situation with respect to which, it is given unless issued as an interpretation of general applicability.

§ 1300.255 Requests for interpretations: Form and contents. Any person desiring an official interpretation of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, or of any maximum rent regulation or order thereunder, shall make a request in writing for such interpretation. Such request shall set forth in full the factual situation out of which the interpretative question arises and shall, so far as practicable, state the names and post office addresses of the persons and the location of the housing accommodations involved. If the inquirer has previously requested an interpretation on the same or substantially the same facts, his requests shall so indicate and shall state the official or office to whom his previous request was addressed. No interpretation shall be requested or given with respect to any hypothetical situation or in response to any hypothetical question.

§ 1300.257 Revocation or modification of interpretations. Any official interpretation, whether of general applicability or otherwise, may be revoked or modified by a publicly announced statement by any official authorized to give interpretations of general applicability or by a statement or notice by the Administrator, commissioner or general counsel published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. An official interpretation addressed to a particular person may also be revoked or modified at any time by a statement in writing mailed to such person and signed by the commissioner, general counsel or any associate or assistant general counsel. An official interpretation addressed to a particular person by a regional attorney, a regional rent attorney, or a chief rent attorney for a defense-rental area office may also be revoked or modified at any time by a statement in writing mailed to such person and signed by the attorney who issued it or by his successor.

SUBPART E—MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS AND DEFINITIONS

§ 1300.259 Contemptuous conduct. Contemptuous conduct at any hearing shall be ground for exclusion from the hearing.

§ 1300.261 Subpoenas. Subpoenas may require the production of documents or the attendance of witnesses at any designated place. Service of a subpoena upon a person named therein shall be made by delivering a copy thereof to such person or leaving a copy at his regular place of business or abode and by tendering to him the fees and mileage specified in section 202 (f) of the Act. When the subpoena is issued at the instance of the Administrator, fees and mileage need not be tendered. Any person 18 years of age or over may serve a subpoena. The person making the service shall make an affidavit thereof describing the manner in which service is made, and return such affidavit on or with the original subpoena forthwith to the Secretary. In case of failure to make service, the reasons for the failure should be stated on the original subpoena.

§ 1300.263 Service of papers. Notices, orders and other process and papers may be served personally or by leaving a copy thereof at the residence or principal office or place of business of the person to be served, or by mail, or by telegraph. When service is made personally or by leaving a copy at the residence or principal office or place of business, the verified return of the person serving or leaving the copy shall be proof of service. When service is by registered mail or telegraph the return post office receipt or telegraph receipt shall be proof of service. When service is by unregistered mail, an affidavit that the document has been mailed shall be proof of service. In any proceeding under § 1300.207 or in any proceeding to revoke or modify an order, any notice, order or other process or paper directed to the person named as landlord on the registration statement filed pursuant to section 7 of the applicable maximum rent regulation at the mailing address given thereon, or, where a notice of change of identity has been filed pursuant to said section 7, to the person named as landlord and at the address given in the notice of change in identity most recently theretofore filed, shall constitute notice to the person who is then the landlord.

§ 1300.264 Action by representative. Any action which by this regulation is required of, or permitted to be taken by a landlord or, in cases concerning certificates relating to eviction, by a tenant, may, unless otherwise expressly stated, be taken on his behalf by any person whom the landlord or the tenant has authorized to represent him. Such authority shall be given by written power of attorney where the action is in connection with an application for review, a petition for amendment, or a protest. In such cases the power of attorney, signed by the landlord, or by the tenant, as the case may be, shall be filed at the time action on his behalf is taken.

§ 1300.265 Secretary; office hours. The Office of the Secretary, Office of Price Administration, Office of Temporary Controls, Washington, D. C., shall be open on week days, except Saturdays, from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. and shall be closed on Saturdays. Any person desiring to file any papers, or to inspect any documents filed with such office at any time other than the regular office hours stated, may file a written application with the Secretary, requesting permission therefor.

§ 1300.266 Confidential information, inspection of documents filed with Secretary. Protests and all papers filed by protestants and respondents in connection therewith are public records, open to inspection in the Office of the Secretary upon such reasonable conditions as the Secretary may prescribe. Except as provided above, confidential information filed with the Office of Price Administration, Office of Temporary Controls, will not be disclosed, unless the Administrator determines the withholding thereof to be contrary to the interests of the national defense and security.

(a) "Act" means the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended by the Stabilization Act of 1942 (Pub. Laws 421 and 729, 77th Cong., 2d Sess.), the Stabilization Extension Act of 1944 (Pub. Law 383, 78th Cong., 2d Sess.), the Stabilization Extension Act of 1945 (Pub. Law 108, 79th Cong., 1st Sess.) and the Price Control Extension Act of 1946 (Pub. Law 548, 79th Cong., 2d Sess.).

(b) "Administrator" means The Temporary Controls Administrator or such person or persons as he may appoint or designate to carry out any of the duties delegated to him.

(c) "FEDERAL REGISTER" means the publication provided for by the Act of July 26, 1935 (49 Stat. 500), as amended.

(d) "Maximum rent regulation" means any regulation establishing a maximum rent.

(e) "Maximum rent" means the maximum rent established by any maximum rent regulation or order for the use of housing accommodations within any defense-rental area.

(f) "Date of issuance," with respect to a maximum rent regulation, means the date on which such maximum rent regulation is filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

(g) "Person" includes an individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons, or legal successor or representative of any of the foregoing, and includes the United States or any agency thereof, or any other government, or any of its political subdivisions, or any agency of any of the foregoing.

(h) "Protestant" means a person subject to any provision of a maximum rent regulation or order who files a protest in accordance with section 203 (a) of the Act.

(i) "Landlord" includues an owner, lessor, sublessor, assignee or other person receiving or entitled to receive rent for the use or occupancy of any housing accommodations, or an agent of any of the foregoing.

(j) "Tenant" includes a subtenant, lessee, sublessee, or other person entitled to the possession or to the use or occupancy of any housing accommodations.

(k) "Housing accommodations" means any building, structure, or part thereof, or land appurtenant thereto, or any other real or personal property rented or offered for rent for living or dwelling purposes, together with all privileges, services, furnishing, furniture, equipment, facilities and improvements connected with the use or occupancy of such property.

(l) "Defense-rental area" means the District of Columbia and any area designated by the Administrator as an area where defense activities have resulted or threaten to result in an increase in the rents for housing accommodations inconsistent with the purposes of the Act.

(m) "Rent director" means the person designated by the Administrator as director of any defense-rental area or such person or persons as may be designated to carry out any of the duties delegated to the rent director by the Administrator.

(n) "Regional Administrator" means the person designated by the Administrator as administrator of any regional office established by the Office of Price Administration, Office of Temporary Controls, or such person or persons as may be designated to carry out any of the duties delegated to the Regional Administrator by the Administrator.

§ 1300.269 Amendment of this regulation. Any provision of this regulation may be amended or revoked by the Administrator at any time. Such amendment or revocation shall be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER and shall take effect upon the date of its publication, unless otherwise specified therein.

This revised procedural regulation, as amended, shall become effective February 19, 1947.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Issued this 17th day of February 1947.

PHILIP B. FLEMING,
Temporary Controls Administrator.

TITLE 49—TRANSPORTATION AND RAILROADS

Chapter I—Interstate Commerce Commission

PART 95—CAR SERVICE

[S. O. 684]

NEW YORK HARBOR LIGHTERAGE RESTRICTIONS

At a session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Division 3, held at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 12th day of February A. D. 1947.

It appearing, that the movement of import and export freight through the Port of New York is overtaxing the lighterage facilities and causing a shortage of lighterage equipment in that port, and that certain steamship companies are delaying lighters at shipside and under other conditions thereby aggravating the shortage of lighterage equipment; in the opinion of the Commission an emergency requiring immediate action exists in the lighterage limits of the Port of New York, it is ordered, that:

§ 95.684 New York Harbor lighterage restrictions—(a) Definitions. (1) The term "common carrier" as used herein means a common carrier by railroad subject to Part I of the Interstate Commerce Act.

(2) The term "lighterage" as used herein means a service performed by a common carrier by the use of a special type of equipment to ferry or float freight from points on shore to vessels within the lighterage limits of the Port of New York.

(b) Notice required for lighterage service. No common carrier, or its lighterage agent, operating in the Port of New York, shall accept an order for lighterage delivery of freight (except perishable) to a steamship within the lighterage limits of the Port of New York when such order requires or requests lighterage delivery before the expiration of 48 hours from the hour of receipt of such order in the railroad's lighterage office.

(c) (1) Appointment of agent to restrict lighterage. G. C. Randall, 30 Vesey Street, New York (7), New York, is hereby designated and appointed as Agent of the Interstate Commerce Commission and vested with authority to restrict lighterage service within the lighterage limits of the Port of New York in accordance with the following directions:

(2) Directions to agent. The agent is hereby directed to prohibit by order any common carrier operating in the Port of New York from performing any further lighterage delivery on orders previously accepted and from accepting any further orders for delivery of freight in lighterage service to a specific steamship when such steamship as of 7:00 a. m., on any week day has held five (5) or more loaded or partially loaded lighterage vessels longer than forty-eight (48) hours (Sundays and holidays excluded) for two (2) consecutive days (Sundays and holidays excluded), providing such equipment was placed on the date and time specified in the lighterage order. When such equipment is placed in advance of a specified time, time will be computed from the date specified in the lighterage order.

(3) Agent's orders to be vacated. Any order issued by the agent in compliance with directions of subparagraph (2) hereof shall be cancelled by the agent as of 7:00 a. m., of any day, the number of loaded or partially loaded railroad lighterage boats held over 48 hours has been reduced below 5 for the specific vessel involved.

(4) Copies of orders to be furnished. Copies of all orders and vacations of orders issued by the said agent shall be mailed daily to the Director of the Bureau of Service, Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington (25) D. C.

(d) Effective date. This order shall become effective at 7:00 a. m., February 17, 1947.

(e) Expiration date. This order shall expire at 7:00 a. m., April 17, 1947, unless otherwise modified, changed, suspended, or annulled by order of this Commission.

It is further ordered, that a copy of this order and direction be served upon the association of American Railroads, Car Service Division, as agent of the railroads subscribing to the car service and per diem agreement under the terms of that agreement; and that notice of this order be given to the general public by depositing a copy in the office of the Secretary of the Commission at Washington, D. C., and by filing it with the Director, Division of the Federal Register.

(40 Stat. 101, Sec. 402, 41 Stat. 476, sec. 4, 54 Stat. 901; 49 U. S. C. 1 (10) (17))

By the Commission, Division 3.

[SEAL] W. P. BARTEL,
Secretary.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

Bureau of Land Management

[Misc. 1894014]

NEVADA

ORDER PROVIDING FOR THE OPENING OF PUBLIC LANDS

FEBRUARY 11, 1947.

Departmental Order approved May 31, 1946, revoked Departmental Orders of April 21, 1923, and December 11, 1941, insofar as they withdrew in the first form prescribed by section 3 of the Reclamation Act of June 17, 1902 (32 Stat. 388), the lands hereinafter described within the Colorado River Storage Project, Nevada, and provided that such revocation shall not affect the withdrawal of any other lands by said orders or affect any other order withdrawing or reserving the lands described.

At 10:00 a. m. on April 15, 1947, the lands shall, subject to valid existing rights and the provisions of existing withdrawals, become subject to application, petition, location, or selection as follows:

(a) Ninety-day period for preference-right filings. For a period of 90 days from April 16, 1947, to July 14, 1947, inclusive, the public lands affected by this order shall be subject to (1) application under the homestead or the desert land laws, or the small tract act of June 1, 1938 (52 Stat. 609, 43 U. S. C. sec. 682a), as amended, by qualified veterans of World War II, for whose service recognition is granted by the act of September 27, 1944 (58 Stat. 747, 43 U. S. C. secs. 279–283), subject to the requirements of applicable law, and (2) application under any applicable public-land law, based on prior existing valid settlement rights and preference rights conferred by existing laws or equitable claims subject to allowance and confirmation. Applications by such veterans shall be subject to claims of the classes described in subdivision (2).

(b) Twenty-day advance period for simultaneous preference-right filings. For a period of 20 days from March 27, 1947, to April 15, 1947, inclusive, such veterans and persons claiming preference rights superior to those of such veterans, may present their applications, and all such applications, together with those presented at 10:00 a. m. on shall be treated as simultaneously filed.

(c) Date for non-preference right filings authorized by the public-land laws. Commencing at 10:00 a. m. on July 15, 1947, any of the lands remaining unappropriated shall become subject to such application, petition, location, or selection by the public generally as may be authorized by the public-land laws.

(d) Twenty-day advance period for simultaneous nonpreference right filings. Applications by the general public may be presented during the 20-day period from June 25, 1947, to July 14, 1947, inclusive, and all such applications, together with those presented at 10:00 a. m. on July 14, 1947, shall be treated as simultaneously filed.

Veterans shall accompany their applications with certified copies of their certificates of discharge, or other satisfactory evidence of their military or naval service. Persons asserting preference rights, through settlement or otherwise, and those having equitable claims, shall accompany their applications by duly corroborated affidavits in support thereof, setting forth in detail all facts relevant to their claims.

Applications for these lands, which shall be filed in the District Land Office at Carson City, Nevada, shall be acted upon in accordance with the regulations contained in § 295.8 of Title 43 of the Code of Federal Regulations (Circular No. 324, May 22, 1914, 43 L. D. 254), and Part 296 of that title, to the extent that such regulations are applicable. Applications under the homestead laws shall be governed by the regulations contained in Parts 166 to 170, inclusive, of Title 43 of the Code of Federal Regulations and applications under the desert land laws and the small tract act of June 1, 1938, shall be governed by the regulations contained in Parts 232 and 257, respectively, of that title.

Inquiries concerning these lands shall be addressed to the District Land Office at Carson City, Nevada.

The lands affected by this order are described as follows:

MOUNT DIABLO MERIDIAN

T. 22 S., R. 62 E.,
Sec. 1, lots 1 to 4, inclusive, S½N½, N½SW¼, SE¼SW¼, and SE¼;
Secs. 2, 3, and 4;
Sec. 9, NW¼SE¼;
Secs. 21 to 28, inclusive, and 33 to 36, inclusive.
T. 21 S., R. 63 E.,
Sec. 31.
T. 22 S., R. 63 E.,
Secs. 5 to 8, inclusive, and 17 to 20, inclusive;
Sec. 21, W½.

The areas described aggregate 16,262.84 acres. Part of the lands are patented, and portions are withdrawn from all forms of appropriation by Executive Order No. 8927 of October 29, 1941.

The lands are of desert character, broken and hilly in topography. The soils are sandy and gravely, with considerable amounts of rocks.

FRED W. JOHNSON,
Acting Director.

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION

[Docket No. G-604]

CITIES SERVICE GAS CO.

ORDER FIXING DATE OF HEARING

FEBRUARY 13, 1947.

Upon consideration of the application filed December 16, 1946, in Docket No. G-604 by Cities Service Gas Company, a Delaware corporation with its principal place of business in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, authorizing the construction and operation of a positive meter setting at a point on Applicant's 4-inch pipeline in the Southwest quarter (SW¼) of Section 3, Township 26 North, Range 13 East, Washington County, Oklahoma, for the sale of natural gas to D. M. Tyler for resale, and authorizing the construction and operation of a positive meter setting at a mutually convenient point to Applicant and Suburban Gas Company on Applicant's four-inch pipeline in the Northwest Quarter (NW¼) of Section 33, Township 27 North, Range 13 East, Washington County, Oklahoma, for the sale of natural gas to Suburban Gas Company for resale.

It appearing to the Commission that:

(a) The construction and operation of the aforesaid described facilities by Applicant are for the purpose of transporting natural gas to the aforesaid named purchasers.

(b) This proceeding is a proper one for disposition under the provisions of Rule 32 (b) (18 C. F. R. 1.32 (b)) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (effective September 11, 1946), applicant having requested that its application be heard under the shortened procedure provided by the aforesaid rule for non-contested hearings, and no request to be heard, protest or petition having been filed subsequent to the giving of due notice of the filing of the application, including publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER on January 11, 1947, Volume 12, page 202.

The Commission therefore orders that:

(A) Pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (effective September 11, 1946), a hearing be held on the 28th day of February 1947, at 9:30 a. m. (e. s. t.) in the hearing room of the Federal Power Commission, 1800 Pennsylvania Avenue, N. W., Washington, D. C., concerning the matters of fact and law asserted in the application filed in the above entitled proceeding: Provided, however, That if no request to be heard, or protest or petition to intervene, raising in the judgment of the Commission an issue of substance, has been filed or allowed prior to the date hereinbefore set for hearing, the Commission may, after a non-contested hearing, forthwith dispose of the proceeding by order upon consideration of the application and the evidence filed therewith and incorporated in the record of the proceeding, together with such additional evidence as may be available or as the Commission may require to be filed and incorporated in the record for its consideration.

(B) Interested State commissions may participate as provided by Rules 8 and 37 (f) (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37 (f)) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (effective September 11, 1946).

Date of issuance: February 13, 1947.

PUBLICKER INDUSTRIES INC.

FINDINGS AND ORDER EXTENDING UNLISTED TRADING PRIVILEGES

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 13th day of February A. D. 1947.

In the matter of application by the Philadelphia Stock Exchange for unlisted trading privileges in Publicker Industries Inc., Common Stock, $5.00 Par Value, File No. 7-931.

The Philadelphia Stock Exchange has made application to the Commission pursuant to section 12 (f) (2) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and Rule X-12F-1 for permission to extend unlisted trading privileges to the $5.00 Par Value Common Stock of Publicker Industries Inc.

A public hearing has been held after appropriate notice.

The Commission, being duly advised, finds:

(1) That this security is listed and registered on the New York Stock Exchange; that out of a total of 2,048,800 shares outstanding, members of the Philadelphia Stock Exchange and trust companies in the vicinity of that Exchange held 24,638 shares of this security on September 30, 1946 for 569 different shareholders, and that in the vicinity of this Exchange there were 3,210 transactions involving 232,641 shares from October 1, 1945 until September 30, 1946;

(2) That sufficient public distribution of, and sufficient public trading activity in, this security exist in the vicinity of the applicant exchange to render the extension of unlisted trading privileges thereto appropriate in the public interest and for the protection of investors; and

(3) That the extension of unlisted trading privileges on applicant exchange to this security is otherwise appropriate in the public interest and for the protection of investors.

Accordingly, it is ordered, Pursuant to section 12 (f) (2) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, that the application of the Philadelphia Stock Exchange for permission to extend unlisted trading privileges to the $5.00 Par Value Common Stock of Publicker Industries Inc. be, and the same is, hereby granted.

By the Commission.

ENGINEERS PUBLIC SERVICE CO. ET AL.

ORDER AMENDING SUPPLEMENTAL FINDINGS AND OPINION AND ORDER OF JANUARY 8, 1947

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 11th day of February A. D. 1947.

In the Matter of Engineers Public Service Company, File No. 54-132; El Paso Electric Company, File No. 70-1149; Gulf States Utilities Company, File No. 70-1150; Virginia Electric and Power Company, File No. 70-1419.

The Commission on December 4, 1946, having issued findings and opinion with respect to the section 11 (e) plan filed by Engineers Public Service Company ("Engineers"), and having on January 8, 1947, issued supplemental findings and opinion and order approving said plan as amended;

The Commission having found in said supplemental findings and opinion that the plan as amended meets the applicable standards of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 and that, if in the course of securing court approval and enforcement of said plan it should appear that protracted litigation might ensue over the question of the amount payable to the preferred stockholders, and thereby impede expeditious enforcement of the plan and compliance with the act, it would be in conformity with said act and the Commission's findings and opinion to separate the contested issue from the uncontested issues and consummate the uncontested portion of the plan and that ample latitude exists in the plan and in the powers of the enforcement court to approve the plan with an appropriate escrow arrangement which will achieve that result; and

Engineers having subsequently indicated that, in the event such an escrow is established, it has been advised by tax counsel that the present order approving the amended plan may not contain adequate provisions and recitals to satisfy the requirements for tax exemption in Supplement R and sections 371 and 1808 (f) of the Internal Revenue Code, and Engineers having requested that such provisions and recitals be made and incorporated into our order; and

The Commission finding that such provisions and recitals are appropriate; It is ordered, That:

1. The portion of the supplemental findings and opinion of January 8, 1947, appearing as the second full paragraph at page 6 of Holding Company Act Release No. 7119, is amended to read as follows:

> We do not agree that any such amendment is necessary at this time. There is considerable question whether the eventuality on which the contention is based will occur at all. Should the plan be approved by the District Court, it is conjectural whether further appeals will be undertaken in view of the delay involved and the consequent substantial expense to the company which expense would, of course, ultimately be borne by the common stockholders. We believe that prompt payment of the full amount which we have found due the preferred will most expeditiously accomplish compliance with the Act. However, should the objecting stockholders continue their objections and indicate an intention to appeal any order of approval by the District Court, it is clearly desirable, in order to avoid the possibility of unnecessary delay in carrying out the uncontested portion of the plan until the controversy with respect to the additional payments is determined, that some arrangement should be made to separate the uncontested from the contested issues. In such event, to achieve expeditious compliance with the Act and fairness to the persons affected, it would be appropriate for Engineers to make prompt payment of $100 per share and accrued dividends to the preferred in order to stop the accrual of further dividends, and to set up an escrow arrangement, along the lines suggested in our previous Opinion, to protect the interests of the various groups and to enable the company to go forward with the uncontested portion of the plan. As indicated in our previous Opinion, such an escrow would have to be large enough to assure payment not only of the amount in issue but of an additional amount to provide the preferred "for the period of the escrow a return on the amount in escrow which is measured by the return which would have been received by it if the stock remained outstanding." This can be accomplished through the establishment of an escrow in cash of $4,000,000 as suggested in our former Opinion, and through such incidental changes in the program for carrying out the plan which such escrow entails.[9] Establishment of such an escrow and the incidental changes which such an escrow arrangement would require, would be fair and equitable to the persons affected by the plan and would be necessary and appropriate to effectuate the provisions of Section 11 (b).
> Accordingly, if it appears during the course of the enforcement proceeding that it is likely that some holder or holders of Engineers common stock will contest the right of the preferred stockholders to receive in respect of their stock any amount in excess of $100 per share and accrued dividends, and Engineers indicates that it, therefore, desires to follow the alternative method of effectuating the plan through the use of an escrow, with such incidental changes which an escrow involves, such alternative shall be deemed the method approved by the Commission for effectuating the plan. We do not believe that it would be necessary to return the case to the Commission in order to set up such an escrow or to make the incidental changes which the establishment of the escrow involves. Such escrow and such incidental changes would be established in accordance with our order herein, under Court supervision, and our counsel before the Court are authorized to present to the Court the Commission's views concerning whether the form of escrow and the incidental changes conform to the standards set forth herein, in our former Opinion and in our Order.
> We conclude that it is unnecessary to amend the plan further at this time since it is at least questionable whether an escrow will be needed at all and since the matter can be raised and dealt with in Court, if and when the need arises.[9a] However, in view of the possibility that the alternative escrow procedure may be followed in effectuating the plan, our order approving the plan shall be phrased in the alternative and contain the necessary provisions and recitals to satisfy the requirements of the Internal Revenue Code in the event that an escrow is established.

[9] As stated in our former Opinion under the heading, "Escrow Provision" (Holding Company Act Release No. 7041, at p. 36), the escrow, if established, should provide for the deposit by Engineers with the Escrow Agent of $4,000,000 in cash for the purpose of (1) providing for payment to the preferred stockholders of an amount equal to the redemption premiums on the shares of their respective series, or such lesser amount as shall finally be determined to be payable to them, with interest thereon for the period of delay at rates determined in respect of each series of preferred stock on the yield basis stated in our former Opinion and (2) providing for the payment of fees and expenses incurred or to be incurred under the plan, which fees and expenses are subject to the approval of the Commission. Briefly stated, the principal incidental changes in the program resulting from the establishing of an escrow are that the preferred stockholders who exchange their shares of preferred stock for Gulf States common stock will be given credit on such exchange to the extent of $100 per share plus accrued dividends and the deposit for the preferred stockholders who do not so exchange will be $100 per share and accrued dividends, with provision, in both such cases, for the payment in cash of additional amounts equal to the redemption premiums on the shares of their respective series, or such lesser amount, as shall finally be determined to be payable to them, with interest thereon as aforesaid."

[9a] We do not understand that the plan would permit the proposed deposit in trust of the full amount to relieve Engineers of any further responsibilities to the preferred if the payment to the preferred of the amounts deposited were the subject of a stay. Any such provision would obviously be unfair unless there were assurance that the preferred would receive adequate compensation for any delay in payment to them.

2. Our order of January 8, 1947, approving the amended plan is amended to read as follows:

(a) The sixth full paragraph of said order is amended to read:

> The Commission having found that the amended plan of reorganization is necessary to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) and is fair and equitable to the persons affected thereby, and the Commission having further found that said declarations, as amended, should be permitted to become effective, and the Commission having further found that, if there appears to be a likelihood of litigation beyond the District Court with regard to the right of the preferred stockholders of Engineers to receive in respect of their stock any amount in excess of $100 per share and accrued dividends, it is advisable, in order to avoid possibility of delay in the carrying out of the whole plan until such controversy is determined, to provide for escrowing such additional amount, plus appropriate compensation for the delay in payment of any additional amount found to be due and payable, to await the outcome of any such litigation and to make the incidental changes in the program for carrying out the amended plan which such an escrow entails, and that in such circumstances such escrow and changes in the program are necessary and appropriate to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) and are fair and equitable to the persons affected thereby;

(b) The said order is amended by substituting a semicolon for the period at the end of the subparagraph numbered VIII appearing at the end of said order and adding the following:

> Provided, however, That if counsel for Engineers, in the course of the enforcement proceeding and at any time before the approval of the amended plan by the United States District Court, shall state to the District Court that Engineers has determined that it appears likely that some holder or holders of Engineers' common stock will litigate beyond the District Court the payment to the Engineers preferred stockholders of any amount in addition to $100 per share and accrued dividends and that Engineers accordingly desires to follow the alternative method of effectuating the plan through the use of an escrow, then counsel for the Commission shall present to said District Court a form of proposed decree or order of said Court, setting forth a proposed escrow agreement and the incidental changes in the program which the establishment of the escrow involves, and in such event (a) all references in this amended order to the amended plan shall be deemed to be to the amended plan as affected by the establishment of such escrow and the making of such incidental program changes, (b) the references to warrants in subparagraphs I through IV above shall be deemed to be to warrants providing for assigning to the Engineers $5 preferred stock, $5.50 preferred stock and $6 preferred stock, a value of $100 per share plus accrued dividends to the expiration date of the warrant and providing that any holder of Engineers preferred stock who surrenders his stock in exchange for Gulf States common stock will, in respect of such surrendered shares, have the right to receive the same amount which holders of such preferred stock not so surrendering their stock will receive in addition to $100 per share plus accrued dividends if any such amount is finally determined to be payable, and (c) subparagraphs II and IV above shall be deemed to read as follows:

II. Pursuant to the provisions of the above mentioned warrants, Engineers will transfer and deliver Gulf States common stock to those persons who exercise said warrants before the expiration date thereof, and upon such exercise the holders of said warrants will either (1) pay Engineers $11.50 for each share of Gulf States common stock so acquired, or (2) deliver to Engineers in exchange for said Gulf States common stock whole shares of Engineers preferred stock on the basis of equivalent values, assigning $11.50 per share for each share of Gulf States common stock, and $100 plus accrued dividends to the expiration date of the warrant for each share of Engineers preferred stock; Provided, That, on the basis of the relative values above stated, the value of the whole shares of Engineers preferred stock to be exchanged under the warrants will not exceed the value of the shares of Gulf States common stock which the warrant holder is entitled to and intends to acquire, and to the extent that the value of such shares of Engineers preferred stock exchanged for Gulf States common stock under said warrants is less than the value of such shares of Gulf States common stock to which the warrant holder is entitled and intends to acquire, the difference will be paid by the warrant holder to Engineers in cash. Any holder of Engineers preferred stock who surrenders his stock in exchange for Gulf States common stock will, in respect of such surrendered shares, have the right to receive the same amount which holders of such preferred stock not so surrendering their stock will receive in addition to $100 per share plus accrued dividends if any such amount is finally determined to be payable.

IV. After completion of the disposition of the Gulf States common stock, Engineers will

(a) Deposit in trust, for the benefit of Engineers preferred stockholders who have not surrendered their preferred stock in exchange for Gulf States common stock, with a solvent bank or trust company an amount equal to $100 per share plus accrued dividends to the date of such deposit, in respect of each such share; and

(b) Deposit with a solvent bank or trust company in escrow the sum of $4,000,000 in cash, pursuant to the provisions of an escrow agreement which provides, among other things,

(i) For payment to holders of preferred stock of Engineers, in addition to the $100 per share and accrued dividends to be allowed on exchange for Gulf States common stock or to be deposited in trust as above provided in respect of shares not so exchanged, of $5 per share in respect of each share of $5 preferred stock and $10 per share in respect of each share of $5.50 preferred stock and $6 preferred stock, plus in each case an amount equal to simple interest on the amount so paid at a rate per annum equal to 4.76% in the case of $5 preferred stock, 5% in the case of $5.50 preferred stock and 5.45% in the case of $6 preferred stock from the date of said escrow agreement to the date of such payment, upon delivery to the escrow agent of an opinion of independent counsel to the effect (1) that the District Court of the United States for the District of Delaware in Civil Action No. 995 has entered a decree or order approving the amended plan, including the payment to holders of Engineers preferred stock of the amount, above specified, equal to the respective redemption premiums on their shares with interest as aforesaid and directing its enforcement, (2) that no holder of Engineers common stock has made timely appeal from such decree or order, or in the alternative, that a holder or holders of Engineers common stock has made such timely appeal but that the appellate court or courts have approved said decree or order approving the amended plan entered by said District Court as aforesaid, and (3) that such decree or order has become final as against the holders of Engineers common stock and is no longer subject to appeal by them;

(ii) For payment to the Engineers preferred stockholders of the amounts specified in said final order and, upon delivery to the escrow agent of a certified copy of an order of the Commission or an order or decree of the United States District Court or any appellate court directing or permitting the distribution to the holders of preferred stock of some part of the amount deposited in escrow, but less than the amounts specified in subdivision (i) above, together with an opinion of independent counsel that such order or decree has become final and is not subject to appeal;

(iii) For payment of certain fees, compensation, remuneration and expenses pursuant to order of the Commission and for repayment to Engineers of amounts not payable to preferred stockholders or for fees, compensation, remuneration or expenses.

Such amounts will be deposited in cancellation of all of the Engineers preferred stock. The holders of Engineers preferred stock who have not surrendered the same in exchange for Gulf States common stock will surrender such stock to the trustee above mentioned against payment of the amounts deposited in trust in accordance with subdivision (a) above in respect of their shares, and all holders of Engineers preferred stock will receive so much of the said $4,000,000 as may be determined to be payable to them in accordance with said escrow agreement.

By the Commission.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA WATER CO. AND AMERICAN STATES UTILITIES CORP.

NOTICE OF FILING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 13th day of February A. D. 1947.

Notice is hereby given that an application and declaration has been filed with this Commission, pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, by American States Utilities Corporation ("American States"), a registered holding company, and its subsidiary, Southern California Water Company ("Southern"). Sections 6 (a), 7, 9 (a), and 12 (e) of the act and Rules U-50, U-62 and U-100 have been designated as being applicable to the proposed transactions.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than February 24, 1947, at 5:30 p. m., e. s. t., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the reasons for such request, the nature of his interest and the issues of fact or law raised by said application and declaration which he desires to controvert, or may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania. At any time after February 24, 1947, said application and declaration as filed or as amended, may be granted and permitted to become effective as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act, or the Commission may exempt such transactions as provided in Rule U-20 (a) and Rule U-100 thereof.

All interested persons are referred to said application and declaration which is on file in the offices of this Commission for a statement of the transactions therein proposed, which are summarized as follows:

Southern, by appropriate corporate action, proposes to amend its Articles of Incorporation (pursuant to a stipulation filed in a proceeding before this Commission regarding an issuance and sale of preferred stock (File No. 70-1282)) to provide for certain restrictions on common stock dividends unless certain minimum ratios of common stock equity to total capitalization are maintained.

Southern further states that it is informed by its counsel that to impose such restrictions may effect such a change in the presently existing terms of its common stock as would constitute an issuance of new securities in exchange, share for share, for the outstanding common shares. It, therefore, requests the Commission to permit the issuance by Southern and the acquisition by American States of 61,932 shares of Southern's common stock in exchange, share for share, for an equal number of presently outstanding common shares, all of which are owned by American States.

By the Commission.

TITLE 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter IX—Production and Marketing Administration (Marketing Agreements and Orders)

PART 900—GENERAL REGULATIONS UNDER THE AGRICULTURAL MARKETING AGREEMENT ACT OF 1937

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

By virtue of the authority vested in the Secretary of Agriculture by Public Act No. 10, 73d Congress, as amended and as reenacted and amended by the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 237), the rules of practice and procedure, as amended (7 CFR Supps., 900.1 et seq., 11 F. R. 7737), issued under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, are hereby further amended as follows:

1. Delete paragraph (d) from § 900.2 Definitions and insert in lieu thereof the following:

(d) The term "examiner" means any examiner in the Office of Hearing Examiners, United States Department of Agriculture.

2. Delete from § 900.2 (l) the words "Office of the Solicitor,"

3. Amend § 900.2 (m) to read as follows:

(m) The term "presiding officer" means the examiner conducting a proceeding under the act.

4. Amend the last sentence of paragraph (a) of § 900.3 Proposals to read as follows: "If the investigation and consideration lead the Assistant Administrator to conclude that the proposed marketing agreement or marketing order will not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act, or that for other proper reasons a hearing should not be held on the proposal, he shall deny the application, and promptly notify the applicant of such denial, which notice shall be accompanied by a brief statement of the grounds for the denial."

5. Amend the second sentence of § 900.4 (a) to read as follows:

§ 900.4 Institution of proceeding—(a) Filing and contents of the notice of hearing. • • • The notice of hearing shall contain a reference to the authority under which the marketing agreement or marketing order is proposed; shall define the scope of the hearing as specifically as may be practicable; shall contain either the terms or substance of the proposed marketing agreement or marketing order or a description of the subjects and issues involved and shall state the industry, area, and class of persons to be regulated, the time and place of such hearing, and the place where copies of such proposed marketing agreement or marketing order may be obtained or examined.

6. Amend § 900.6 (a) to read as follows:

§ 900.6 Presiding officers—(a) Assignment. No presiding officer who has any pecuniary interest in the outcome of a proceeding shall serve as presiding officer in such proceeding.

7. Delete from § 900.6 (b) the words "assigned to him by the Solicitor,".

8. Amend § 900.6 (c) to read as follows:

(c) Who may act in absence of presiding officer. In case of the absence of the presiding officer or his inability to act, the powers and duties to be performed by him under this part in connection with a proceeding may, without abatement of the proceeding unless otherwise ordered by the Secretary, be assigned to any other presiding officer.

9. Add a new paragraph at the end of § 900.6 to read as follows:

(d) Disqualification of presiding officer. The presiding officer may at any time withdraw as presiding officer in a proceeding if he deems himself to be disqualified. Upon the filing by an interested person in good faith of a timely and sufficient affidavit of personal bias or disqualification of a presiding officer, the Secretary shall determine the matter as a part of the record and decision in the proceeding, after making such investigation or holding such hearings, or both, as he may deem appropriate in the circumstances.

10. Amend § 900.7 to read as follows:

§ 900.7 Motions and requests—(a) General. All motions and requests shall be filed with the hearing clerk, except that those made during the course of the hearing may be filed with the presiding officer or may be stated orally and made a part of the transcript.

Except as provided in § 900.15 (b) such motions and requests shall be addressed to, and ruled on by, the presiding officer if made prior to his certification of the transcript pursuant to § 900.10 or by the Secretary if made thereafter.

(b) Certification to Secretary. The presiding officer may in his discretion submit or certify to the Secretary for decision any motion, request, objection, or other question addressed to the presiding officer.

11. Amend the third sentence of § 900.8 (d) (1) to read as follows:

§ 900.8 Conduct of the hearing. • • • (d) Evidence—(1) In general. • • • Cross-examination shall be permitted to the extent required for a full and true disclosure of the facts.

12. Delete § 900.8 (d) (3) and renumber § 900.8 (d) (4), (5), (6) and (7) as § 900.8 (d) (3), (4), (5) and (6), respectively.

13. Delete from § 900.8 (d) (4) (heretofore § 900.8 (d) (5)) the parenthetical words "(including affidavits)."

14. Amend § 900.8 (d) (5) (heretofore § 900.8 (d) (6) to read as follows:

(5) Official notice. Official notice may be taken of such matters as are judicially noticed by the courts of the United States and of any other matter of technical, scientific or commercial fact of established character: Provided, That interested persons shall be given adequate notice, at the hearing or subsequent thereto, of matters so noticed and shall be given adequate opportunity to show that such facts are inaccurate or are erroneously noticed.

15. Amend § 900.9 (b) to read as follows:

§ 900.9 Oral and written arguments. • • •

(b) Briefs, proposed findings and conclusions. The presiding officer shall announce at the hearing a reasonable period of time within which interested persons may file with the hearing clerk proposed findings and conclusions, and written arguments or briefs, based upon the evidence received at the hearing, citing, where practicable, the page or pages of the transcript of the testimony where such evidence appears. Factual material other than that adduced at the hearing or subject to official notice shall not be alluded to therein, and, in any case, shall not be considered in the formulation of the marketing agreement or marketing order. If the person filing a brief desires the Secretary to consider any objection made by such person to a ruling of the presiding officer, as hereinbefore provided in § 900.8 (d), he shall include in the brief a concise statement concerning each such objection, referring where practicable, to the pertinent pages of the transcript.

16. Amend the heading and the first sentence of § 900.10 to read as follows:

§ 900.10 Certification of the transcript. The presiding officer shall notify the hearing clerk of the close of a hearing as soon as possible thereafter and of the time for filing written arguments, briefs, proposed findings and proposed conclusions, and shall furnish the hearing clerk with such other information as may be necessary.

17. Amend § 900.12 to read as follows:

§ 900.12 Assistant Administrator's recommended decision—(a) Preparation. As soon as practicable following the termination of the period allowed for the filing of written arguments or briefs and proposed findings and conclusions the Assistant Administrator shall file with the hearing clerk a recommended decision.

(b) Contents. The Assistant Administrator's recommended decision shall include: (1) A preliminary statement containing a description of the history of the proceedings, a brief explanation of the material issues of fact, law, or discretion presented on the record, and proposed findings and conclusions with respect to such issues as well as the reasons or basis therefor: (2) A ruling upon each proposed finding or conclusion submitted by interested persons, and (3) An appropriate proposed marketing agreement or marketing order effectuating his recommendations.

(c) Exceptions to recommended decision. Immediately following the filing of his recommended decision the Assistant Administrator shall give notice thereof, and opportunity to file exceptions thereto, to all interested persons in the same manner as provided in § 900.4 (relating to the giving of notice of the hearing). Within a period of time specified in such notice (to be fixed by the Assistant Administrator, but not to exceed 20 days) after the filing of the recommended decision with the hearing clerk, any interested person may then file with the hearing clerk exceptions to the Assistant Administrator's proposed marketing agreement or marketing order, or both, as the case may be, and a brief in support of such exceptions. Such exceptions shall be in writing, shall refer, where practicable, to the related pages of the transcript and may suggest appropriate changes in the proposed marketing agreement or marketing order.

(d) Omission of recommended decision. The procedure provided in this section may be omitted only if the Secretary finds on the basis of the record that due and timely execution of his functions imperatively and unavoidably requires such omission.

18. Amend § 900.13 to read as follows:

§ 900.13 Submission to Secretary. Upon the expiration of the period allowed for filing exceptions or upon request of the Secretary, the hearing clerk shall transmit to the Secretary the record of the proceeding. Such record shall include: all motions and requests filed with the hearing clerk and rulings thereon; the certified transcript; any proposed findings or conclusions or written arguments or briefs that may have been filed; the Assistant Administrator's recommended decision, if any, and such exceptions as may have been filed.

19. Add a new § 900.13a to read as follows:

§ 900.13a Decision by Secretary, (a) After due consideration of the record, the Secretary shall render a decision.

(b) Such decision shall become a part of the record and shall include (1) a statement of his findings and conclusions, as well as the reasons or basis therefor, upon all the material issues of fact, law or discretion presented on the record, (2) a ruling upon each proposed finding and proposed conclusion not previously ruled upon in the record, (3) a ruling upon each exception filed by interested persons and (4) either (i) a denial of the proposal to issue a marketing agreement or marketing order or (ii) a marketing agreement and, if the findings upon the record so warrant, a marketing order, the provisions of which shall be set forth directly or by reference, regulating the handling of the commodity or product in the same manner and to the same extent as such marketing agreement, which order shall be complete except for its effective date and any determinations to be made under § 900.14 (b) or § 900.14 (c): Provided, That such marketing order shall not be executed, issued, or made effective until and unless the Secretary determines that the requirements of § 900.14 (b) or § 900.14 (c) have been met.

20. Amend § 900.14 to read as follows:

§ 900.14 Execution of marketing agreement and issuance of marketing order—(a) Execution of marketing agreement. If the Secretary has approved a marketing agreement, as provided in § 900.13a, the Assistant Administrator shall cause copies thereof to be distributed for execution by the handlers eligible to become parties thereto. If and when such number of the handlers as the Secretary shall deem to be sufficient shall have executed the marketing agreement, the Secretary shall execute the same, and notice of its effective date shall be mailed by the hearing clerk to each person signatory thereto. A marketing agreement shall be effective and binding upon any party thereto even though such party may not have received the notice provided for in this paragraph, or the hearing clerk may have failed to mail such notice.

(b) Issuance of marketing order with marketing agreement. Whenever, as provided in paragraph (a) of this section, the Secretary executes a marketing agreement, and handlers also have executed the same as provided in section 8c (8) of the act, he shall, if he finds that it will tend to effectuate the purposes of the act, issue and make effective the marketing order, if any, which was filed as a part of his decision pursuant to § 900.13a: Provided, That the issuance of such order shall have been approved or favored by producers as required by section 8c (8) of the act.

(c) Issuance of marketing order without marketing agreement. If, despite the refusal or failure of handlers to sign the marketing agreement, as provided in section 8c (8) of the act, the Secretary, with the approval of the President, makes the determinations required under section 8c (9) of the act, the Secretary shall issue and make effective the marketing order, if any, which was filed as a part of his decision pursuant to § 900.13a.

(d) Effective date of marketing order. No marketing order shall become effective less than 30 days after its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, unless the Secretary, upon good cause found and published with the order, fixes an earlier effective date therefor: Provided, That no marketing order shall become effective as to any person sought to be charged thereunder before either (1) it has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register, or (2) such person has received actual notice of the issuance and terms of the marketing order.

(e) Notice of issuance. After issuance of a marketing order, such order shall be filed with the hearing clerk, and notice thereof, together with notice of the effective date, shall be given in the same manner as hereinbefore provided in § 900.4 (relating to the giving of notice of hearing).

21. Amend § 900.15 (b) to read as follows:

§ 900.15 Filing; extensions of time; effective date of filing; and computation of time. • • •

(b) Extensions of time. The time for the filing of any document or paper required or authorized by the foregoing provisions of this subpart to be filed may be extended by the presiding officer (before the record is certified by the presiding officer) or by the Assistant Administrator (after the record is so certified by the presiding officer but before it is transmitted to the Secretary), or by the Secretary (after the record is transmitted to the Secretary) upon request filed, and if, in the judgment of the presiding officer, Assistant Administrator, or the Secretary, as the case may be, there is good reason for the extension. All rulings made pursuant to this paragraph shall be filed with the hearing clerk.

22. Add a new § 900.18 to read as follows:

§ 900.18 Hearing before Secretary. The Secretary may act in the place and stead of a presiding officer in any proceeding hereunder. When he so acts the hearing clerk shall transmit the record to the Secretary at the expiration of the period provided for the filing of proposed findings of fact, conclusions and orders, and the Secretary shall thereupon, after due consideration of the record, issue his final decision in the proceeding: Provided, That he may issue a tentative decision in which event the parties shall be afforded an opportunity to file exceptions before the issuance of the final decision.

23. Delete § 900.51 (d) and insert the following in lieu thereof:

(d) The term "examiner" means any examiner in the Office of Hearing Examiners, United States Department of Agriculture.

24. Delete from § 900.51 (m) the words "Office of the Solicitor,".

25. Amend § 900.51 (n) to read as follows:

(n) The term "presiding officer" means the examiner conducting a proceeding under the act.

26. Amend § 900.51 (o) to read as follows:

(o) The term "presiding officer's report" means the presiding officer's report to the Secretary and includes the presiding officer's proposed (1) findings of fact and conclusions with respect to all material issues of fact, law or discretion, as well as the reasons or basis therefor, (2) order and (3) rulings on findings, conclusions and orders submitted by the parties.

27. Add a new paragraph at the end of § 900.51 to read as follows:

(p) The term "petition" includes an amended petition.

28. Amend § 900.52 (c) to read as follows:

§ 900.52 Institution of proceeding. • • •

(c) Application to dismiss petition—(1) Filing, contents, and responses thereto. If the Assistant Administrator is of the opinion that the petition, or any portion thereof, does not substantially comply, in form or content, with the act or with the requirements of paragraph (b) of this section, or is not filed in good faith, or is filed for purposes of delay, he may, within 30 days after the filing of the petition, file with the hearing clerk an application to dismiss the petition, or any portion thereof, on one or more of the grounds stated in this paragraph. Such application shall specify the grounds of objection to the petition and if based, in whole or in part, on allegations of fact not appearing on the face of the petition, shall be accompanied by appropriate affidavits or documentary evidence substantiating such allegations of fact. The application may be accompanied by a memorandum of law. Upon receipt of such application, the hearing clerk shall cause a copy thereof to be served upon the petitioner, together with a notice stating that all papers to be submitted in opposition to such application, including any memorandum of law, must be filed by the petitioner with the hearing clerk not later than 20 days after the service of such notice upon the petitioner. Upon the expiration of the time specified in such notice, or upon receipt of such papers from the petitioner, the hearing clerk shall transmit all papers which have been filed in connection with the application to the Secretary for his consideration.

(2) Decision by Secretary. The Secretary, after due consideration, shall render a decision upon the application, stating the reasons for his action. Such decision shall be in the form of an order and shall be filed with the hearing clerk who shall cause a copy thereof to be served upon the petitioner and a copy thereof to be transmitted to the Assistant Administrator. Any such order of the Secretary shall be a final order: Provided, That within 20 days following the service upon the petitioner of a copy of an order of the Secretary dismissing the petition, or any portion thereof, on the ground that it does not substantially comply in form and content with the act or with paragraph (b) of this section, the petitioner shall be permitted to file an amended petition.

(3) Referral to presiding officer. The Secretary may, in his discretion, refer any application made under this section to the presiding officer for preliminary consideration and report, and, in a proper case, for the taking of evidence: Provided, That the provisions of §§ 900.60 to 900.65, inclusive, shall be applicable to the reception of such evidence, if any; the form, content, and filing of such report; the allowance of exceptions thereto; and transmittal of the record to the Secretary.

(4) Oral argument. Unless a written application for oral argument is filed by a party with the hearing clerk not later than the time fixed for filing papers in opposition to the application, it shall be considered that the party does not desire oral argument. The granting of a request to make oral argument shall rest in the discretion of the Secretary or the presiding officer, as the case may be.

29. Add a new § 900.52a to read as follows:

§ 900.52a Answer to petition—(a) Time of filing. Within 30 days after the filing of the petition, the Assistant Administrator shall file an answer thereto: Provided, That if an application to dismiss the petition, in whole or in part, is made pursuant to § 900.52 (c), the answer shall be filed within 15 days after the filing of an order of the Secretary denying the application or granting the application with respect to only a portion of the petition. The answer shall be filed with the hearing clerk who shall cause a copy thereof to be served promptly upon the petitioner.

(b) Contents. The answer shall specify which of the material allegations of fact or of law in the petition are controverted and which are not controverted. The answer also may contain affirmative allegations of fact constituting separate defenses and statements of objections to the sufficiency of the whole or any part of the petition.

30. Add a new § 900.52b to read as follows:

§ 900.52b Amended pleadings. At any time before the close of the hearing the petition or answer may be amended, but the hearing shall, at the request of the adverse party, be adjourned or recessed for such reasonable time as the presiding officer may determine to be necessary to protect the interests of the parties. Amendments subsequent to the first amendment or subsequent to the filing of an answer may be made only with leave of the presiding officer or with the written consent of the adverse party.

31. Amend § 900.55 to read as follows:

§ 900.55 Presiding officers—(a) Assignment. No presiding officer who has any pecuniary interest in the outcome of the proceeding, or who has participated in any investigation preceding the institution of the proceding, shall serve as presiding officer in such proceeding.

(b) Conduct. The presiding officer shall conduct the proceeding in a fair and impartial manner and shall not discuss ex parte the merits of the proceeding with any person who is or who has been connected in any manner with the proceeding in an advocative or investigative capacity.

(c) Powers of presiding officers. Subject to review by the Secretary, as provided elsewhere in this subpart, the presiding officer shall have power to:

(1) Rule upon motions and requests;

(2) Adjourn the hearing from time to time, and change the time and place of hearing;

(3) Administer oaths and affirmations and take affidavits;

(4) Issue subpenas, under the facsimile signature of the Secretary, requiring the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of books, records, contracts, papers, and other documentary evidence;

(5) Examine witnesses and receive evidence;

(6) Take or order, under the facsimile signature of the Secretary, the taking of depositions;

(7) Admit or exclude evidence;

(8) Hear oral argument on facts or law;

(9) Consolidate hearings upon two or more petitions pertaining to the same order;

(10) Do all acts and take all measures necessary for the maintenance of order at the hearing and the efficient conduct of the proceeding.

(d) Who may act in absence of presiding officer. In case of the absence of the presiding officer or his inability to act, the powers and duties to be performed by him under these rules of practice in connection with a proceeding may, without abatement of the proceeding unless otherwise ordered by the Secretary, be assigned to any other presiding officer.

(e) Disqualification of presiding officer. The presiding officer may at any time withdraw as presiding officer in a proceeding if he deems himself to be disqualified. Upon the filing by an interested person in good faith of a timely and sufficient affidavit of personal bias or disqualification of a presiding officer, the Secretary shall determine the matter as a part of the record and decision in the proceeding, after making such investigation or holding such hearings, or both, as he may deem appropriate in the circumstances.

32. Delete from § 900.56 Consolidated hearings the words "the Solicitor or"

33. Delete from paragraph (a) Time and place of § 900.60 Oral hearings before presiding officer, the words "The Solicitor or the presiding officer" and insert, in lieu thereof, the words "The presiding officer."

34. Amend the first sentence of § 900.61 (a) to read as follows:

§ 900.61 Depositions—(a) Procedure in lieu of deposition. Before any party may have testimony taken by deposition, said party shall, if practicable, submit to the other party an affidavit which shall set forth the facts to which the witness would testify, if the deposition should be taken. • • •

35. Delete from paragraph (b) Suggested findings of fact, conclusions and orders of § 900.64 The presiding officer's report and § 900.65 Transmittal of record, the word "suggested" wherever it appears and insert, in lieu thereof, the word "proposed."

36. Amend § 900.64 (c) to read as follows:

(c) Presiding officer's report. The presiding officer, within a reasonable time after the termination of the period allowed for the filing of proposed findings of fact, conclusions, and orders, and briefs in support thereof, shall prepare, upon the basis of the record, and shall file with the hearing clerk, his report, a copy of which (together with notification of the date fixed by the presiding officer for the filing of exceptions thereto) shall be served by the hearing clerk upon each of the parties.

37. Amend paragraph (b) Service; proof of service of § 900.69 Filing; service; extensions of time; effective date of filing and computation of time by deleting the proviso therein and by deleting from the final sentence the words "or post office receipt."

38. Amend § 900.69 (c) to read as follows:

(c) Extensions of time. The time for the filing of any documents or papers required or authorized in this subpart to be filed may be extended upon (1) a written stipulation between the parties, or (2) upon the request of a party, by the presiding officer before the transmittal of the record to the Secretary, or by the Secretary at any other time if, in the judgment of the Secretary or the presiding officer, as the case may be, there is good reason for the extension.

39. Add a new § 900.70, reading as follows:

§ 900.70 Applications for interim relief—(a) Filing the application. A person who has filed a petition pursuant to § 900.52 may by separate application filed with the hearing clerk apply to the Secretary for an order postponing the effective date of, or suspending the application of, the marketing order or any provision thereof, or any obligation imposed in connection therewith, pending final determination of the proceeding.

(b) Contents of the application. The application shall contain a statement of the facts upon which the relief is requested, including any facts showing irreparable injury. The application must be signed and sworn to by the petitioner and any facts alleged therein which are not within his personal knowledge shall be supported by affidavits of a person or persons having personal knowledge of such facts or by proper documentary evidence thereof.

(c) Answer to application. Immediately upon receipt of the application, the hearing clerk shall transmit a copy thereof, together with all supporting papers, to the Assistant Administrator, who shall, within 20 days, or such other time fixed by the Secretary, after the filing of the application file an answer thereto with the hearing clerk.

(d) Contents of answer. The answer shall contain a statement of the objections, if any, of the Assistant Administrator to the application for interim relief, and may be supported by affidavits and documentary evidence.

(e) Transmittal to Secretary. Upon receiving the answer of the Assistant Administrator or upon the expiration of the time for filing the answer, the hearing clerk shall transmit to the Secretary for his decision all papers filed in connection with the application.

(f) Hearing and oral argument. The Secretary may, in his discretion, permit oral argument or the taking of testimony in connection with such application. However, unless written request therefor is filed with the hearing clerk prior to the transmittal of the papers to the Secretary, the parties shall be deemed to have waived oral argument and the taking of testimony.

(g) Decision by Secretary. The Secretary may grant or deny the application. Any action taken by the Secretary shall be in the form of an order filed with the hearing clerk and shall contain a brief statement of the reasons for the action taken. The hearing clerk shall cause copies of the order to be served upon the parties.

40. Add a new § 900.71 to read as follows:

§ 900.71 Hearing before Secretary. The Secretary may act in the place and stead of a presiding officer in any proceeding hereunder. When he so acts the hearing clerk shall transmit the record to the Secretary at the expiration of the period provided for the filing of proposed findings of fact, conclusions and orders, and the Secretary shall thereupon, after due consideration of the record, issue his final order in the proceeding: Provided, That he may issue a tentative order in which event the parties shall be afforded an opportunity to file exceptions before the issuance of the final order.

41. Delete from paragraph (k) of § 900.101 Definitions, the words "Office of the Solicitor."

NOTE: Unless otherwise ordered all proceedings initiated under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601, et seq.) and pending on December 11, 1946, shall be conducted and concluded in accordance with the applicable rules of practice in effect at the time the proceedings were instituted.

Chapter XI—Production and Marketing Administration (War Food Distribution Orders)

PART 1596—FOOD IMPORTS

STATEMENT OF POLICY RE ISSUANCE OF IMPORT AUTHORIZATIONS UNDER WAR FOOD ORDER NO. 63 FOR COPRA AND COCONUT OIL

Pursuant to the authority vested in me under the provisions of War Food Order No. 63, as amended (12 F. R. 459) and in order to assure equitable distribution of available supplies of imported copra and coconut oil, it is hereby declared to be the policy of the United States Department of Agriculture to issue or deny the issuance of import authorizations for copra and coconut oil from the Philippines and the Netherlands Indies under said War Food Order No. 63 as provided herein.

§ 1596.5 Statement of policy re issuance of import authorizations for copra and coconut oil from the Philippines and the Netherlands Indies under War Food Order No. 63—(a) Conditions of issuance. A permit for the importation, for domestic consumption, of not more than 10,000 tons of copra from the Philippines and the Netherlands Indies will be granted, upon application, to any oil seed crusher who crushed copra prior to the publication of this section. A permit for the importation, for domestic consumption, of coconut oil from the Philippines and Netherlands Indies, in a quantity specified by the applicant for the permit, will be granted to any importer who imported coconut oil prior to publication of this section, upon his application and the submission of evidence satisfactory to the Administrator of War Food Order No. 63, that the importer can obtain the specified quantity of such coconut oil in the Philippines and the Netherlands Indies.

After a permit has been issued under this section to any person for the importation of copra or coconut oil for domestic consumption and the commodity to be imported under this section has been purchased abroad, such person may obtain a new permit for further importations of copra or coconut oil from the Philippines and the Netherlands Indies upon the submission of evidence satisfactory to the Administrator of War Food Order No. 63, that the commodity covered by the preceding permit has been purchased abroad.

Permits for the trans-shipment of copra and coconut oil from the Philippines and the Netherlands Indies in bond through the United States to specified foreign destinations will be granted to any person upon the submission of evidence satisfactory to the Administrator of War Food Order No. 63 that the quantity of such copra and coconut oil is within the limits of the allocations made by the International Emergency Food Council for the country of destination.

(b) Procedure. Applications for import permits under this section for copra and coconut oil may be made by properly executing and filing with the Administrator of War Food Order No. 63, Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., Form WFO 63–2, obtainable from said Order Administrator.

(c) Petition for relief from hardship. Any person (including, but not limited to, any person who does not have a history of previous crushing of copra or previous importation of coconut oil) who considers that the policy and procedure set forth in this section work an exceptional or unreasonable hardship on him may file a petition for relief with the Administrator of War Food Order No. 63, Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C. Petitions shall be in writing and shall set forth all pertinent facts and the nature of the relief sought. The Order Administrator may take any lawful action with reference to such petitions which is consistent with the authority delegated to him by the Administrator of the Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture. If the petitioner is dissatisfied with the action taken by the Order Administrator, he may, by request addressed to the Order Administrator, obtain a review of such action by the Administrator of the Production and Marketing Administration. After said review, the Administrator of said Administration may take such lawful action as he deems appropriate, which action shall be final.

(d) Effective date. The policy and procedure set forth in this section shall be effective during the first three months of 1947. (Sec. 2 (a), 54 Stat. 676, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Supp. 1152 (a); E. O. 9280, Dec. 5, 1942, 3 CFR Cum. Supp., E. O. 9579, June 29, 1945, 3 CFR, 1945 Supp.)

Issued this 14th day of February 1947.

F. R. BURKE,
Acting Assistant Administrator for the Administrator.

TITLE 8—ALIENS AND NATIONALITY

Chapter I—Immigration and Naturalization Service, Department of Justice

PART 110—PRIMARY INSPECTION AND DETENTION

DESIGNATION OF BAUDETTE MUNICIPAL AIRPORT, BAUDETTE, MINNESOTA, AS A TEMPORARY AIRPORT OF ENTRY FOR ALIENS

Section 110.3 Designated ports of entry by aircraft, Chapter I, Title 8, Code of Federal Regulations is hereby amended by inserting "Baudette, Minn., Baudette Municipal Airport" between "Akron, Ohio, Municipal Airport" and "Bellingham, Wash., Bellingham Airport" in the list in § 110.3 (b) of temporary airports of entry for aliens.

Notice of the proposed designation of the Baudette Municipal Airport as a temporary airport of entry for aliens was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER dated December 13, 1946 (11 F. R. 14284, 14291), pursuant to section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (Pub. Law 404, 79th Cong.; 60 Stat. 238). The designation shall be considered as having become effective on January 1, 1947, the delayed effective date requirements of section 4 (c) of the Administrative Procedure Act being dispensed with for the reasons that (1) the public convenience will be served by making the immigration facilities available at once; (2) no representations in opposition to the designation have been received; and (3) the designation for customs purposes has been made effective on January 1, 1947 (12 F. R. 381). The designation of this airport is based on a determination that a sufficient need exists to justify such designation and the designation is made for the purpose of providing for convenient compliance with immigration requirements.

TITLE 22—FOREIGN RELATIONS

Chapter I—Department of State

Subchapter C—The Foreign Service

[Foreign Service Reg. S-28]

PART 101—DIRECTION AND ORGANIZATION OF FOREIGN SERVICE

PART 102—PERSONNEL ADMINISTRATION

PART 104—ADMINISTRATION

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

1. Under authority contained in R. S. 161 (5 U. S. C. 22), and pursuant to section 302 of the Foreign Service Act of 1946 (60 Stat. 1001), the Foreign Service Regulations comprising Part 102 of Title 22 of the Code of Federal Regulations are amended by adding the following sections:

§ 102.661 Class-to-class promotion of staff officers and employees. A staff officer or employee may be promoted to a vacant position in a higher class at the same or at a higher rate of salary in accordance with the conditions specified below:

(a) Service. No staff officer or employee may be promoted unless he has served six months in the class from which promotion is to be made. Ordinarily promotions are made only to the next higher class. However, an employee may be promoted to any class for which he possesses the requisite qualifications.

(b) Efficiency. No staff officer or employee may be promoted unless his services meet the standards required for the efficient conduct of the work of the Foreign Service.

(c) Qualifications. No staff officer or employee may be promoted unless he has demonstrated that he possesses the qualifications stipulated in the standards for promotion issued by the Director General of the Foreign Service. Promotions to positions for which qualification standards have not been established may be effected if the officer or employee is otherwise qualified, on the basis of his work experience, training, and demonstrated capacity for performing the duties and responsibilities of the position in question.

(d) Advance approval required for promotions. Until such time as progress in the implementation of the Foreign Service Act permits a greater degree of decentralization of administration, all class-to-class promotions of staff officers and employees will continue to require advance approval of the Department of State.

(e) Recommendations for class promotion. A recommendation for class promotion shall be accompanied by a memorandum containing a description of the duties of the position to which promotion is being made and a statement of the pertinent qualifications of the person nominated for the promotion.

(f) Effective date of class promotion. A class promotion shall become effective on the first day of the pay period next following the date of its approval by the Department. (Sec. 641, Foreign Service Act of 1946)

§ 102.669 In-class promotion of staff officers and employees. In-class promotions of staff officers and employees shall be allowed subject to the conditions specified below:

(a) Periodic in-class promotion. The salary of a staff officer or employee who is paid on a per annum basis and whose salary is not at the highest rate in his class shall be increased to the next higher rate within his class at the beginning of the pay period following completion of 12 months of service since the date of appointment to the class or since the date of the last salary increase, provided he has a current efficiency rating of "Good" or better. The adjustments in salary rates made under authority of section 1105 of the Foreign Service Act of 1946 (60 Stat. 1034) or under the authority of the Federal Employees Pay Act of 1946 (60 Stat. 216) shall not be considered salary increases for the purposes of this section.

(b) Procedure in effecting in-class promotion. The Department will prepare a copy of Form FS–349 on each officer or employee at the time he becomes eligible for an in-class promotion and submit it to the principal officer before the effective date of such promotion. The promotion will be made on the effective date indicated on Form FS–349 if the services of the officer or employee meet the standards required for the efficient conduct of the work of the Foreign Service. If, in the opinion of the principal officer, the services of the officer or employee do not meet the established standards, he will return Form FS–349, with an appropriate explanation, to the Department.

§ 102.674 Credit for military service and Merchant Marine service toward class and in-class promotions. A staff officer or employee who has left his position to enter the armed forces or the Merchant Marine, and who has returned to his position after a separation under honorable conditions from active duty in the armed forces or satisfactory service in the Merchant Marine shall receive credit for such service toward in-class promotions and promotions from class to class.

2. The following sections of the Foreign Service Regulations contained in Title 22 of the Code of Federal Regulations are hereby superseded:

Part 101—§§ 101.8, 101.9, 101.11–101.13;
Part 104—§ 104.10.

(R. S. 161, sec. 302, Pub. Law 724, 79th Cong., 60 Stat. 1001; 5 U. S. C. 22)

This regulation is effective as of November 13, 1946.

For the Secretary of State.

[SEAL] JOHN E. PEURIFOY,
Deputy Assistant Secretary For Administration.

PART 1010—SUSPENSION ORDERS

[Suspension Order S–1088]

WRIGHT & COMPANY, INC.

Wright and Company, Inc., a corporation, of St. Louis, Missouri, in September, 1946, began construction of a commercial building at 6121 Delmar Boulevard in St. Louis, Missouri, without authorization from the Civilian Production Administration at an estimated cost of about $13,500. Due to structural changes in the building, the estimated cost thereof exceeded $15,000. On October 8, 1946, the Civilian Production Administration denied authorization on Form CPA–4423 to construct said building at an estimated cost of $25,000. In spite of said denial, Wright and Company, Inc., continued the construction of said building. The beginning and carrying on of such construction was in violation of Veterans' Housing Program Order No. 1 and has diverted critical materials to uses not authorized by the Civilian Production Administration. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby ordered that:

§ 1010.1088 Suspension Order No. S–1088. (a) Neither Wright and Company, Inc., its successors or assigns, nor any other person shall do any further construction on the building located at 6121 Delmar Boulevard, St. Louis, Missouri, including completing or altering the structure, unless hereafter authorized in writing by the Civilian Production Administration.

(b) Wright and Company, Inc., shall refer to this order in any application or appeal which it may file with the Civilian Production Administration for authorization to carry on construction.

(c) Nothing contained in this order shall be deemed to relieve Wright and Company, Inc., its successors or assigns, from any restriction, prohibition or provision contained in any other order or regulation of the Civilian Production Administration, except insofar as the same may be inconsistent with the provisions hereof.

Issued this 19th day of February 1947.

PART 1010—SUSPENSION ORDERS

[Suspension Order No. S–1099]

SUPERIOR BOAT & MILL CO.

S. W. Drake is an individual doing business as Superior Boat and Mill Company at 3900 North Broadway, St. Louis, Missouri. On November 6, 1946, without authorization from the Civilian Production Administration, he began the construction of a building to be used for manufacturing purposes at 4837 North Broadway, St. Louis, Missouri, which was estimated to cost in excess of $6,000. The size of the building was 40 feet by 100 feet and the cost thereof was in excess of the small job allowance of $1,000 for buildings having less than 10,000 square feet floor area. This construction was in violation of Veterans' Housing Program Order No. 1 and has diverted scarce materials to uses not authorized by the Civilian Production Administration. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby ordered that:

§ 1010.1099 Suspension Order No. S–1099. (a) Neither S. W. Drake, doing business as Superior Boat and Mill Company, his or its successors or assigns, nor any other person, shall do any further construction on the premises located at 4837 North Broadway, St. Louis, Missouri, including putting up, completing or altering the structure, unless hereafter authorized in writing by the Civilian Production Administration.

(b) S. W. Drake shall refer to this order in any application or appeal he may file with the Civilian Production Administration relating to the above premises.

(c) Nothing contained in this order shall be deemed to relieve S. W. Drake, doing business as Superior Boat and Mill Company, or otherwise, his or its successors or assigns, from any restriction, prohibition or provision contained in any other order or regulation of the Civilian Production Administration, except insofar as the same may be inconsistent with the provisions hereof.

TITLE 43—PUBLIC LANDS: INTERIOR

Subtitle A—Office of the Secretary of the Interior

[Order 2297]

PART 4—DELEGATIONS OF AUTHORITY

FUNCTIONS RELATING TO SURPLUS REAL PROPERTY

Order No. 2268 (11 F. R. 13267) is revoked and § 4.278 is amended, effective immediately, to read as follows:

§ 4.278 Functions relating to surplus real property. In accordance with the Surplus Property Act of October 3, 1944 (58 Stat. 765, 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 1611), as amended, with regulations issued thereunder by the War Assets Administrator, the Bureau of Land Management is authorized and directed to act as the Department's disposal agency with respect to surplus real property in the continental United States, and in the territories and island possessions of the United States. The Director of the Bureau of Land Management may exercise the following powers and authority within the limits specified in the paragraph below as to any surplus real property including surplus personal property to be used or disposed of with surplus real property which has been assigned to the bureau for disposition under the said act and regulations: to execute deeds, conveyances, leases, permits, contracts, and other documents necessary or appropriate in the course of the administration and disposition of such property. The authority herein conferred shall apply to transfers without consideration made in accordance with the applicable provisions of the act and regulations including the provisions requiring approval of such transfers by the War Assets Administrator; to execute certificates of compliance in accordance with the priority provisions of the act and regulations; to delegate any of the powers described above to any employee of the Bureau of Land Management subject to any rules which the Secretary may prescribe. The Director shall keep the Secretary currently advised of any redelegation of power.

The authority delegated herein is subject to the following limitations: before the execution of any deed for property in a territory or island possession of the United States, the proposal for conveyance of the property shall be submitted to the Director, Division of Territories and Island Possessions for his endorsement. The powers and authority delegated herein shall not extend to the execution of any deed or conveyance for which a consideration of $100,000 or more is to be paid unless the conveyance is based upon a priority claim.

PART 50—ORGANIZATION AND PROCEDURE

SUBPART A—ORGANIZATION

Section 50.1 (11 F. R. 177A-194) is amended, effective immediately, to read as follows:

§ 50.1 Purpose. The Bureau of Land Management administers the federal laws relating to the public domain, which comprises at this time approximately three-quarters of a billion acres in the continental United States and its territories and island possessions. As the manager of the public domain, the Bureau administers the mining, mineral leasing and homestead laws, supervises the federal range, conducts surveys, classifies lands as to proper uses, and in general is responsible for matters involving the public lands. The basic objectives of the Bureau are the conservation, proper utilization and disposal of the natural resources of the public domain. It also has jurisdiction over minerals in certain acquired lands. In addition, the Bureau acts as a disposal agency for surplus real property in the United States and in its territories and island possessions assigned to it by the War Assets Administration. DELEGATION OF AUTHORITY

CROSS REFERENCE: For authorization of the Bureau of Land Management to act as the Department's disposal agency with respect to surplus real property in the continental United States, and in the Territories and Island Possessions of the United States, and of the Director of the Bureau of Land Management to exercise certain powers and authority, see § 4.278 of this title, supra.

Chapter I—Interstate Commerce Commission

[Docket No. 3666]

PARTS 71-85—TRANSPORTATION OF EXPLOSIVES AND OTHER DANGEROUS ARTICLES

HANDLING CARS

At a session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Division 3, held at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 12th of February A. D. 1947.

It appearing, that pursuant to section 233 of the Transportation of Exposives Act approved March 4, 1921 (41 Stat. 1445), and Part II of the Interstate Commerce Act, the Commission has formulated and published certain regulations for transportation of explosives and other dangerous articles;

It further appearing, that by notice dated November 22, 1946, these proposals were circulated among all parties of record, specifying the changes proposed for our approval;

It further appearing, that in said notice it was stated that it is desired that comments concerning the merits or deficiencies of this proposal be submitted to the Commission in writing within 30 days from the date of the notice; otherwise the Commission may proceed to investigate and determine the matters involved, or may suspend action pending formal hearing;

It further appearing, that amendments to section 589 to the aforesaid regulations as set forth in provisions made part hereof are necessary;

It is ordered, That the aforesaid regulations for transportation of explosives and other dangerous articles be, and are hereby, amended as follows:

PART 4—REGULATIONS APPLYING PARTICULARLY TO CARRIERS BY RAIL FREIGHT (CFR 80)

Superseding and amending all of sec. 589 (Handling cars), orders of Aug. 16, 1940, Feb. 26, 1942, Oct. 28, 1942, and April 13, 1943, to read as follows:

589 HANDLING CARS

Definitions

As used in this section, the term:

(1) "Person" means any individual, partnership, corporation, association, joint stock company, business trust or other organized group of persons, or any trustee, receiver, assignee, or personal representative, and includes any department or agency of the United States, any State, the District of Columbia, or any other political, governmental or legal entity;

(2) "Railroad" means any person engaged in transportation as a common carrier by rail and includes its agents or employees;

(3) "Engine" means any locomotive, propelled by any form of energy, used by a railroad;

(4) "Freight car" means any vehicle used for the transportation of property by rail;

(5) "Passenger car" means any vehicle used for the transportation of passengers by rail;

(6) "Combination car" means any vehicle used for the transportation of both property and passengers by rail;

(7) "Occupied caboose" means any vehicle used by railroad employees, caretakers, or others authorized to ride therein;

(8) "Freight train" means one or more engines coupled with one or more freight cars and with or without an occupied caboose;

(9) "Passenger train" means one or more engines coupled with one or more passenger cars carrying passengers;

(10) "Mixed train" means one or more engines coupled with freight and passenger cars;

(11) "Placarded car" shall be construed to embrace also any car which under these regulations is required to be placarded.

Placards on Cars

(a) (1) A car requiring car certificates and "Explosives", "Dangerous", or "Poison Gas" placards under the provisions of these regulations shall not be transported unless such freight car is at all times placarded and certificated as required by these regulations.

(a) (2) At points where trains stop for inspection of equipment, changes of engines, cabooses, or crews, cars placarded "Explosives" and adjacent cars shall be inspected; such cars shall continue in movement only when inspection shows them to be in condition for safe transportation.

Switching Cars Containing Explosives or Poison Gas

(b) (1) A car placarded "Explosives" or placarded "Poison Gas" shall not be cut off while in motion. No car moving under its own momentum shall be allowed to strike any car placarded "Explosives", or placarded "Poison Gas". No freight car placarded "Explosives" or placarded "Poison Gas" shall be coupled into with more force than is necessary to complete the coupling.

(b) (2) When transporting a car placarded "Explosives" in terminals, yards, side tracks, or sidings, such cars shall be separated from the engine by at least one non-placarded car.

(b) (3) Closed cars placarded "Explosives" shall have doors closed before they are moved.

Switching of Cars Containing Dangerous Articles

(c) (1) In switching operations where use of hand brakes is not necessary, a placarded loaded tank car, or a draft which includes a placarded loaded tank car shall not be cut off until the preceding car or cars clear the ladder track and the draft containing the placarded loaded tank car, or a placarded loaded tank car shall in turn clear the ladder before another car is allowed to follow.

(c) (2) In switching operations where hand brakes are used, it shall be determined by trial that a car placarded "Dangerous" or that a car occupied by a rider in a draft containing a car placarded "Dangerous" has its hand brakes in proper working condition before it is cut off.

Placement of Freight Cars Containing Explosives, in Yards, on Sidings, or Sidetracks

(d) (1) Cars placarded "Explosives" shall be so placed that they will be safe from all danger of fire. Freight cars placarded "Explosives" shall not be placed under bridges or overhead highway crossings, nor in or alongside of passenger sheds or stations.

Notice to Crews of Cars Containing Explosives in Train

(e) (1) At all terminals or other places where trains are made up, the railroad shall execute a consecutively numbered notice showing the location in the freight train of every car placarded "Explosives". A copy of such notice shall be delivered to the train and engine crew and a copy thereof showing delivery to the train and engine crew shall be kept on file by the railroad at each point where such notice is given. At points other than terminals where train or engine crews are changed, the notice shall be transferred from crew to crew.

Position in Train of Cars Containing Explosives

(f) (1) In a train either at rest or during transportation thereof, a car placarded "Explosives" shall, when the length of the train permits, be not nearer than the sixteenth car from the engine or occupied caboose; and shall, when the length of the train will not permit them to be so placed, be as near as possible to the middle of the train.

(f) (2) In a freight train or mixed train either at rest or during transportation thereof, a car placarded "Explosives" or a placarded loaded tank car shall not be next to:

1. Occupied passenger car.
2. Occupied combination car.
3. Engine.
4. Car placarded "Poison Gas".
5. Wooden under-frame car.
6. Loaded flat car.
7. Open-top car when any of the lading extends or protrudes above or beyond the ends or sides thereof.
8. Car equipped with automatic refrigeration of the gas-burning type.
9. Car containing lighted heaters, stoves, or lanterns.
10. Car loaded with live animals or fowl, occupied by an attendant.
11. Car placarded "Dangerous".

Position in Train of Loaded Placarded Tank Cars

(g) (1) In a train either at rest or during transportation thereof, a placarded loaded tank car shall not, when the length of the train permits, be nearer than the sixth car from the engine or occupied caboose, but in no instance nearer than the second car in such train unless the entire train consists of such cars.

Position in Train of Cars Placarded "Poison Gas" or Containing Poison Liquids Class A

(h) (1) In a train either at rest or during transportation, a car placarded "Poison Gas" or containing poison liquid Class A shall not be next to other freight cars placarded "Explosives" or cars placarded "Dangerous".

Position in Train of Cars Placarded "Explosives" and "Poison Gas" or Containing Poison Liquids When Occupied by Cars Carrying Gas Handling Crews

(i) (1) A car placarded "Poison Gas" or containing poison liquids Class A in drums, tanks or bombs, or a car placarded both "Explosives" and "Poison Gas" shall at all times be next to and ahead of the car occupied by gas handling crews, when accompanying such car.

Cars Containing Explosives or Poison Gas and Tank Cars Placarded "Dangerous" in Passenger or Mixed Trains

(j) (1) Cars containing explosives, Class A, poison gases or liquids, Class A, and tank cars requiring "Dangerous" placards shall not be transported in a passenger train. Such cars may be transported in mixed trains, but only between points between which freight train service is not operated.

(j) (2) Cars containing explosives, Class A, poison gases or liquids, Class A, and tank cars placarded "Dangerous" shall not be transported next to occupied cabooses or cars carrying passengers in mixed trains.

(j) (3) When a car containing explosives, Class B, or dangerous articles other than explosives requiring labels (not including Class A poison gases or liquids) is moved in a mixed train and such car is not occupied by an employee of the carrier, placards must be applied to the car as required by these regulations.

It is further ordered, That this order shall become effective on May 15, 1947, and shall remain in full force and effect until further order of the Commission;

And it is further ordered, That a copy of this order shall be served upon all parties of record herein; and notice shall be given to the general public by depositing a copy in the office of the Secretary of the Commission at Washington, D. C., and by filing it with the Director, Division of the Federal Register. (41 Stat. 1445, 49 Stat. 546, 52 Stat. 1237, 54 Stat. 921, 56 Stat. 176, 18 U. S. C. 383, 49 U. S. C. and Sup. 304)

By the Commission, Division 3.

[SEAL] W. P. BARTEL,
Secretary.

PART 95—CAR SERVICE

NEW YORK HARBOR LIGHTERAGE RESTRICTIONS

At a session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Division 3, held at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 12th day of February A. D. 1947.

It appearing, that the movement of import and export freight through the Port of New York is overtaxing the lighterage facilities and causing a shortage of lighterage equipment in that Port, and that certain steamship companies are delaying lighterage vessels at shipside and under other conditions thereby aggravating the shortage of such equipment; in the opinion of the Commission an emergency requiring immediate action exists in the lighterage limits of the Port of New York, it is ordered, that:

§ 95.684 New York harbor lighterage restrictions—(a) Definitions. (1) The term "common carrier" as used in this section means a common carrier by railroad subject to Part I of the Interstate Commerce Act.

(2) The term "lighterage" as used in this section means a service performed by a common carrier by the use of a special type of equipment to ferry or float freight from points on shore to vessels within the lighterage limits of the Port of New York.

(b) Notice required for lighterage service. No common carrier, or its lighterage agent, operating in the Port of New York, shall accord lighterage delivery of freight (except perishable) to a steamship within the lighterage limits of the Port of New York when the lighterage order requires or requests lighterage delivery before the expiration of forty-eight (48) hours from the hour of receipt of such order in the railroad's lighterage office.

(c) (1) Appointment of agent to restrict lighterage. G. C. Randall, 30 Vesey Street, New York (7), New York, is hereby designated and appointed as agent of the Interstate Commerce Commission and vested with authority to restrict lighterage service within the lighterage limits of the Port of New York in accordance with the following directions:

(2) Directions to agent. The agent is hereby directed to prohibit by order any common carrier operating in the Port of New York from performing any further lighterage delivery on orders previously accepted and from accepting any further orders for delivery of freight in lighterage service to a specific steamship when such steamship as of 7:00 a. m., on any week day has held five (5) or more loaded or partially loaded lighterage vessels longer than forty-eight (48) hours (Sundays and holidays excluded) for two (2) consecutive days (Sundays and holidays excluded), providing such equipment was placed on or after the date and time specified in the lighterage order. When such equipment is placed in advance of a specified time, time will be computed from the date specified in the lighterage order.

(3) Agent's orders to be vacated. Any order issued by the agent in compliance with directions of subparagraph (2) of this paragraph shall be cancelled by the agent as of 7:00 a. m., of any day, the number of loaded or partially loaded railroad lighterage vessels held over forty-eight (48) hours has been reduced below five (5) for the specific steamship.

(4) Copies of orders to be furnished. Copies of all orders and vacations of orders issued by the said agent shall be mailed daily to the Director of the Bureau of Service, Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington (25) D. C.

(d) Effective date. This section shall become effective at 7:00 a. m., February 17, 1947.

(e) Expiration date. This section shall expire at 7:00 a. m., April 17, 1947, unless otherwise modified, changed, suspended, or annulled by order of this Commission.

It is further ordered, that a copy of this order and direction be served upon the Association of American Railroads, Car Service Division, as agent of the railroads subscribing to the car service and per diem agreement under the terms of that agreement; and that notice of this order be given to the general public by depositing a copy in the office of the Secretary of the Commission at Washington, D. C., and by filing it with the Director, Division of the Federal Register.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Production and Marketing Administration

[7 CFR, Part 904]

HANDLING OF MILK IN THE GREATER BOSTON, MASS., MARKETING AREA

NOTICE OF REPORT AND OPPORTUNITY TO FILE WRITTEN EXCEPTIONS WITH RESPECT TO A PROPOSED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND TO A PROPOSED AMENDMENT

Pursuant to the rules of practice and procedure governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR, Cum. Supp., 900.1 et seq., 10 F. R. 11791), notice is hereby given of the filing with the hearing clerk of this report of the Assistant Administrator, Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture with respect to a marketing agreement and proposed amendments to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Greater Boston, Massachusetts, marketing area, to be made effective pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 1940 ed. 601 et seq.). Interested parties may file exceptions to this report with the Hearing Clerk, Room 0306, South Building, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., not later than the close of business on the 20th day after publication of this report in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Exceptions should be filed in quadruplicate.

The proceeding was initiated by the Production and Marketing Administration as a result of requests received from cooperative associations of producers and from handlers of milk in the Boston milk shed.

A public hearing was held at St. Johnsbury, Vermont, on February 1 and 2, 1946, and continued at Boston, Massachusetts, on February 4–9, February 15–16, and March 11–13, 1946.

Several proposals for amendments were discussed at the hearing and recommendations have been made with respect to each of these proposals except those pertaining to service payments to cooperative associations and a time limit on market administrator's audits. This report contains conclusions and recommendations with respect to the service payments to cooperative associations. It is concluded from the study of the record that a time limit on market administrator's audits should not be adopted until a more complete study of its implications can be made and presented at a hearing.

The order includes a plan for payments to all qualified cooperative associations of 1.5 cents per hundredweight on all milk subject to the provisions of Order No. 4 which is marketed by them on behalf of their members. There is provided an additional payment of 5 cents per hundredweight on milk which is received from producers by operating cooperatives and which is sold as Class I milk to proprietary handlers, with certain limitations.

A group of large proprietary handlers proposed that this plan of payments to cooperative associations be reconsidered in its entirety, with a reexamination of the basis for the payments, the need for such payments, and their effectiveness in encouraging sound cooperatives. They maintained that: (1) Basic market supply and demand conditions are the reverse of those in 1940 and 1941 when payments were started, (2) cooperative handlers are not serving the market in the manner that they promised in 1940, (3) special payments to cooperatives are encouraging duplication of plants and excess capacity rather than efficiency, (4) payments to cooperatives represent a competitive advantage for cooperatives, (5) Federal tax exemptions are more than sufficient to encourage the growth of cooperatives, (6) cooperative handlers are now financially able to operate without the payments.

The proprietary handlers argued that at present there is intense competition for milk from producers, with no possibility in the immediate future of any producers being without a market. Market statistics were quoted to show that proprietary handlers, as well as cooperative handlers, provide a reservoir of milk supply for the market and have to have standby facilities for handling Class II milk on a seasonal basis.

There was evidence submitted by both proprietary handlers and cooperatives showing that Class I milk supplied to proprietary handlers by cooperative handlers is charged to handlers at the Class I price plus operating and administrative costs for handling, transportation, and selling. The handlers contended that cooperatives were not entitled to compensation from the market pool for maintaining standby facilities and a reservoir of milk for sale to proprietary handlers in the short season, since proprietary handlers perform the same service without compensation from the pool and the cooperatives collect for the cost of this service from the handlers to whom they sell the milk.

The evidence in the record indicates that the operating cooperatives in the market have not in recent years been obliged to exercise with such vigor their activities in selling milk and maintaining producer bargaining power. Notably the present day cooperative has not been burdened with the difficulties arising from surplus milk production. The cooperative associations have enjoyed the superior bargaining position of a seller of a short commodity. This economic condition has removed the necessity for certain cooperative expenditures.

The operating cooperatives did not defend the present payments of 5 cents per hundredweight on Class I sales to proprietary handlers. One group proposed that there be substituted for the present plan of payments to operating cooperatives a new plan providing for a payment to each qualified operating cooperative at the rate of 2.5 cents per hundredweight of milk received from producers, except that in the case of an operating cooperative maintaining certain city facilities for distributors and selling its Class I milk exclusively to distributors, the rate should be 3.5 cents per hundredweight of milk received from producers. Another operating cooperative proposed the 2.5 cent rate be paid on all milk of operating cooperatives which met certain standards.

The group of operating cooperatives stated that the new plan was designed to make the rates and basis of payment conform with current and prospective marketing conditions and problems.

From all of the evidence submitted at the hearing and arguments contained in briefs which were subsequently filed, it is concluded that the present plan for payments to operating cooperatives should be revised substantially. The present payments of 5 cents per hundredweight to operating cooperatives on Class I milk sold to proprietary handlers should be eliminated. This portion of the payments was attacked sharply by proprietary handlers and even by one large operating cooperative. This basis for making payments was not recommended by any person. Any payments made to an operating cooperative should be on the basis of a specified rate per hundredweight on milk received from producers by such cooperative.

One large bargaining association in the milk shed rested its case on the premise that the only purpose for which payments to cooperatives from the market pool can be justified is to distribute equitably among producers the cost of services performed by the cooperatives for the benefit of all producers in the market. This association maintained that by its very nature a bargaining association which is worthy of recognition or of qualification to receive payments from the pool, must benefit all producers in carrying out its purposes. Such an association enables producers collectively and intelligently to market their product. In its bargaining activities, the association operates to improve marketing conditions to members and nonmembers alike. It seeks to insure the highest possible rates to all producers. Under a market-wide pool the only way in which a bargaining association can obtain a higher rate to its members for their milk is through efforts to maintain the blended price to all producers at a higher level.

Each of the three bargaining associations in the Boston milk shed which are presently qualified to receive payments from the pool submitted evidence to show that in the present and past hearings they had prepared and presented evidence which furnished an adequate basis for constructive amendments to the order. The operating cooperatives maintained that they provided substantially the same services as those provided by bargaining cooperatives and that, furthermore, they offered another service in the maintenance of plant facilities.

One large operating cooperative and one large bargaining cooperative stressed the fact that individual cooperatives perform varying degrees of service for the market in the bargaining and in the operating field. The record indicates some of the differences but does not establish clearly a basis for differentiating between cooperative associations which would be eligible for the higher or lower rates. The bargaining association which proposed the varying schedule suggested that all rates be kept low if the differences could not be established. These two cooperative associations proposed that rates ranging from ¾ cent to 1½ cents per hundredweight be established for bargaining activities. In view of the lack of basis for establishing such a schedule at this time and the range of only ¾ cent which was suggested, it is concluded that the rate to be paid all cooperative associations for bargaining services should be one cent per hundredweight.

The operating cooperatives maintained that they do assist to a somewhat greater extent than the bargaining associations in the maintenance of producer bargaining power in milk marketing and they showed that the cost of such services was more than bargaining services alone. The maintenance of such producer bargaining power is in the interest of all producers and does benefit all producers. It is recommended that the plan of payments be changed so that the rate to each qualified operating cooperative will be 2 cents per hundredweight on milk received from producers by the cooperative, and so that the rate to each qualified bargaining association will be one cent per hundredweight on milk received from its members by handlers other than the qualified operating cooperatives.

Payment to a bargaining association should be on the basis of a specified rate per hundredweight on milk received from its members by handlers other than qualified operating cooperatives. This change in the basis of computing the payments will afford a more equitable distribution of the payments among cooperatives.

There was conflicting testimony in the hearing record as to the desirability of specifically restricting the purposes for which cooperatives could use the money received in the form of these payments from the pool. The present provisions in this section of the order require each qualified cooperative to make reports to the market administrator, as required by him, with respect to the use of these payments and with respect to the performance of any service or function which is set forth for them as a basis for such payment. It is concluded that this requirement is sufficient for this purpose.

One bargaining association proposed the elimination of the requirement that the payment rate from the pool to a bargaining association must be matched by payments to the association by its members. This requirement is not necessary. An association could not meet the standards necessary for qualification if it did not have an income from the milk of its members equal to at least one cent per hundredweight on such milk. Accordingly, this requirement should be eliminated from this section.

It was proposed also that the requirement that a claim must be filed each month by each association be eliminated and that there should be substituted therefor a provision that the market administrator shall make payments to qualified associations based upon handlers' reports, subject to verification of the receipts and other items on which the amount of such payment is based. This policy would result in the same final payments to associations with less administrative effort on the part of both associations and the market administrator. Handlers' reports are adequate for the purpose of determining the amount of payments under the proposed provisions. Accordingly, the propcsal should be adopted.

With the claim procedure in effect it has been necessary to delay complete settlement of original payments to cooperatives for a given delivery period to the end of the second month after the delivery period, and to retain temporarily in reserve more funds than would be necessary with the claim provision eliminated. With the elimination of the claim procedure it is practical to provide that the regular monthly payments to qualified cooperative associations be made on or before the twenty-fifth day after the end of the delivery period to which they apply, at the same time and in the same manner in which handlers' payments from the pool for the same delivery period are made. A provision to this effect should be added to this section of the order and the reserve for such payments should be reduced accordingly.

The Dairy Branch proposed an amendment which would provide clearly that the obligation on the part of a handler to make authorized member deductions for a cooperative association should apply to those producers whose deliveries are the basis for payments to the association from the pool under this section. This proposal is related to the problems raised because of membership in two bargaining associations by the same producer. The handler's obligation to make payments to the association should be restricted to those producers whose milk is the basis alsc for payments from the pool to the association.

A number of minor changes in the provisions and wording of the section were proposed principally by the market administrator. Such changes, largely for clarification, and none of which materially change the current application of the order or the operations thereunder, should be adopted.

The following proposed amendments to the order, as amended, are recommended as the detailed means by which these conclusions may be carried out. The proposed marketing agreement is not included in this report because the proposals applicable to it would be the same as those contained in the order, as amended, and as proposed here to be further amended.

Proposed Amendments

1. In § 904.9 (b), delete subparagraphs (5) and (6), and substitute therefor the following and insert a new subparagraph (7):

(5) Subtract the total amount of cooperative payments required by § 904.11 (b);

(6) Divide by the total quantity of milk for which a value is determined pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph;

(7) Subtract not less than four cents nor more than five cents for the purpose of retaining a cash balance in connection with the payments set forth in § 904.10 (b) (2). This result shall be known as the basic blended price for milk containing 3.7 percent butterfat.

2. Delete § 904.11 and substitute therefor the following:

§ 904.11 Payments to cooperative associations—(a) Application and qualification for cooperative payments. Any cooperative association of producers duly organized under the laws of any State may apply to the Secretary for a determination that it is qualified to receive cooperative payments in accordance with the provisions of this section. Upon notice of the filing of such an application, the market administrator shall set aside for each delivery period, from the funds provided by handlers' payments to the market administrator pursuant to § 904.10, such amount as he estimates is ample to make payment to the applicant, and hold it in reserve until the Secretary has ruled upon the application. Each association shall be entitled to receive such payments from the effective date of its qualification, if the Secretary determines that it meets all of the following requirements.

(1) It conforms to the requirements relating to character of organization, voting, dividend payments, and dealing in products of nonmembers, which are set forth in the Capper-Volstead Act and in the State laws under which the association is organized.

(2) It operates as a responsible producer-controlled marketing association exercising full authority in the sale of the milk of its members.

(3) It systematically checks the weights and tests of milk which its members deliver to plants not operated by the association.

(4) It guarantees payment to its members for milk delivered to plants not operated by the association.

(5) It maintains, either individually or together with other qualified associations, a competent staff for dealing with marketing problems and for providing information to its members.

(6) It constantly maintains close working relationships with its members.

(7) It collaborates with similiar associations in activities incident to the maintenance and strengthening of collective bargaining by producers and the operation of a plan of uniform pricing of milk to handlers.

(8) It is in compliance with all applicable provisions of this order.

(b) Cooperative payments. On or before the twenty-fifth day after the end of each delivery period, each qualified association shall be entitled to receive a cooperative payment from the funds provided by handlers' payments to the market administrator pursuant to § 904.10. The payment shall be made under the conditions and at the rates specified in this paragraph, and shall be subject to verification of the receipts and other items upon which such payment is based.

(1) Each qualified association shall be entitled to payment at the rate of one cent per hundredweight on the milk which its producer members deliver to the plant of a handler other than a qualified association; except on milk delivered by a producer who is also a member of another qualified association, and on milk delivered to a handler who fails to make applicable payments pursuant to § 904.10 (b) (2) and § 904.12 within 10 days after the end of the month in which he is required to do so.

(2) Each qualified association shall be entitled to payment at the rate of two cents per hundredweight on milk received from producers at a plant operated by that association.

(c) Reports relating to cooperative payments. Each qualified association shall, upon request by the market administrator, make reports to him with respect to its use of cooperative payments and its performance in meeting the requirements set forth as the basis for such payments, and shall file with him a copy of its balance sheet and operating statement at the close of each fiscal year.

(d) Suspension of cooperative payments. Whenever there is reason to believe that an association is no longer meeting the qualification requirements, the market administrator shall, upon request by the Secretary, suspend cooperative payments to it, and shall give the association written notice of the suspension. Such suspended payments shall be held in reserve until the Secretary has, after notice and opportunity for a hearing, ruled upon the performance of the association.

(e) Deductions from payments to members. (1) Each association which is entitled to receive cooperative payments on milk which its producer members deliver to a handler other than a qualified association may file a claim with the handler for amounts to be deducted from the handler's payments to such members. The claim shall contain a list of the producers, an agreement to indemnify the handler in the making of the deductions, and a certification that that association has an unterminated membership contract with each producer, authorizing the claimed deduction.

(2) In making payments to his producers for milk received during the delivery period, each handler shall make deductions in accordance with the association's claim, and shall pay the amount deducted to the association within 25 days after the end of the delivery period.

This report filed at Washington, D. C., this 14th day of February 1947.

F. R. BURKE,
Acting Assistant Administrator.

SEVEN-EIGHTHS PERCENT TREASURY CERTIFICATES OF INDEBTEDNESS OF SERIES C–1948

OFFERING OF CERTIFICATES

FEBRUARY 17, 1947.

I. Offering of certificates. 1. The Secretary of the Treasury, pursuant to the authority of the Second Liberty Bond Act, as amended, invites subscriptions, at par, from the people of the United States, for certificates of indebtedness of the United States, designated ⅞ percent Treasury Certificates of Indebtedness of Series C–1948, in exchange for Treasury Certificates of Indebtedness of Series C–1947, maturing March 1, 1947. Approximately $1,000,000,000 of the maturing certificates will be retired on cash redemption.

II. Description of certificates. 1. The certificates will be dated March 1, 1947, and will bear interest from that date at the rate of ⅞ percent per annum, payable with the principal at maturity on March 1, 1948. They will not be subject to call for redemption prior to maturity.

2. The income derived from the certificates shall be subject to all Federal taxes, now or hereafter imposed. The certificates shall be subject to estate, inheritance, gift or other excise taxes, whether Federal or State, but shall be exempt from all taxation now or hereafter imposed on the principal or interest thereof by any State, or any of the possessions of the United States, or by any local taxing authority.

3. The certificates will be acceptable to secure deposits of public moneys. They will not be acceptable in payment of taxes.

4. Bearer certificates will be issued in denominations of $1,000, $5,000, $10,000, $100,000 and $1,000,000. The certificates will not be issued in registered form.

5. The certificates will be subject to the general regulations of the Treasury Department, now or hereafter prescribed, governing United States certificates.

III. Subscription and allotment. 1. Subscriptions will be received at the Federal Reserve Banks and Branches and at the Treasury Department, Washington. Banking institutions generally may submit subscriptions for account of customers, but only the Federal Reserve Banks and the Treasury Department are authorized to act as official agencies.

2. The Secretary of the Treasury reserves the right to reject any subscription, in whole or in part, to allot less than the amount of certificates applied for, and to close the books as to any or all subscriptions at any time without notice; and any action he may take in these respects shall be final. Subject to these reservations, subscriptions for amounts up to and including $25,000 will be allotted in full, and subscriptions for amounts over $25,000 will be allotted to all holders on an equal percentage basis, but not less than $25,000 on any one subscription. The basis of the allotment will be publicly announced, and allotment notices will be sent out promptly upon allotment.

IV. Payment. 1. Payment at par for certificates allotted hereunder must be made on or before March 1, 1947, or on later allotment, and may be made only in Treasury Certificates of Indebtedness of Series C–1947, maturing March 1, 1947, which will be accepted at par, and should accompany the subscription.

V. General provisions. 1. As fiscal agents of the United States, Federal Reserve Banks are authorized and requested to receive subscriptions, to make allotments on the basis and up to the amounts indicated by the Secretary of the Treasury to the Federal Reserve Banks of the respective Districts, to issue allotment notices, to receive payment for certificates allotted, to make delivery of certificates on full-paid subscriptions allotted, and they may issue interim receipts pending delivery of the definitive certificates.

2. The Secretary of the Treasury may at any time, or from time to time, prescribe supplemental or amendatory rules and regulations governing the offering, which will be communicated promptly to the Federal Reserve Banks.

LOUISIANA BROADCASTING CO. ET AL.

ORDER DESIGNATING APPLICATION FOR CONSOLIDATED HEARING ON STATED ISSUES

In re: Applications of Roy Hofheinz and W. N. Hooper, d/b as Louisiana Broadcasting Company, New Orleans, La., Docket No. 7162, File No. BP-4260; Bayou Broadcasting Company, Incorporated, Baton Rouge, Louisiana, Docket No. 7991, File No. BP-5453; Patroon Broadcasting Company, Inc., Albany, New York, Docket No. 7992, File No. BP-4611; Texhoma Broadcasting Company, Durant, Oklahoma, Docket No. 7993, File No. BP-5112; East-West Broadcasting Company, Fort Worth, Texas, Docket No. 7994, File No. BP-4524; Western Waves, Inc., Seattle, Washington, Docket No. 7995, File No. BP-5060; for construction permits and petition of Josh Higgins Broadcasting Company (KXEL) Waterloo, Iowa, for continuation of exclusive nighttime assignment on 1540 kc to Station KXEL, Docket No. 7996.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 6th day of February 1947;

The Commission having under consideration a petition filed by the applicant Patroon Broadcasting Company, on January 13, 1947, requesting that its above-entitled application for construction permit for a new standard broadcast station at Albany, New York, to operate on the frequency 1540 kc, with 10 kw power, unlimited time, employing a directional antenna, be reconsidered and granted without a hearing and an opposition thereto filed by Josh Higgins Broadcasting Company (KXEL); and

It appearing, that the application of Patroon Broadcasting Company and the remaining foregoing matters involve common issues concerning the use of the frequency 1540 kc. for nighttime operation in the United States and the manner in which allocation of stations on that frequency would best serve the public interest and contribute to an equitable distribution of facilities in accordance with the provisions of section 307 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended; and

It further appearing, that a grant of the petitioner's application without a hearing as requested may prejudice the rights and interests of the remaining parties in the above-consolidated hearing as well as prevent the Commission from making a proper determination of the allocation problem involved;

It is ordered, That the said petition of Patroon Broadcasting Company, Inc., requesting reconsideration and grant of its application without a hearing be, and it is hereby, denied.

By the Commission.

ORDER SCHEDULING HEARING

In re: Application of San Fernando Valley Broadcasting Company, San Fernando, California, Docket No. 7749, File No. BP-4657; Kenneth O. Tinkham, San Fernando, California, Docket No. 8082, File No. BP-5600; for construction permits.

It appearing, that on January 30, 1947 the Commission designated the above-entitled applications for a consolidated hearing; and that no date has as yet been set for the hearing; and

It further appearing, that public interest, convenience and necessity would be served by scheduling the above-entitled proceeding for Monday, February 24, 1947, at San Fernando, California;

It is ordered, This 7th day of February 1947, that the consolidated hearing in the above-entitled proceeding be, and it is hereby, scheduled for 10:00 o'clock a. m. Monday, February 24, 1947, at San Fernando, California.

PURITAN BROADCASTING SERVICE, INC.

ORDER DESIGNATING APPLICATION FOR CONSOLIDATED HEARING ON STATED ISSUES

In re: Application of Puritan Broadcast Service, Inc., Lynn, Massachusetts, for construction permit; Docket No. 7802, File No. BP-5117.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission, held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 30th day of January 1947;

The Commission having under consideration the above-entitled application requesting a construction permit for a new standard broadcast station at Lynn, Massachusetts, to operate on 1360 kc, with 250 w power, daytime only;

It is ordered, That, pursuant to section 309 (a) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the said application of Puritan Broadcast Service, Inc. be, and it is hereby, designated for hearing, § 1.857 of the Commission's rules and regulations not being applicable, at a time and place to be designated by subsequent order of the Commission, upon the following issues:

1. To determine the legal, technical, financial, and other qualifications of the applicant corporation, its officers, directors and stockholders to construct and operate the proposed station.

2. To determine the areas and populations which may be expected to gain or lose primary service from the operation of the proposed station and the character of other broadcast service available to those areas and populations.

3. To determine the type and character of program service proposed to be rendered and whether it would meet the requirements of the populations and areas proposed to be served.

4. To determine whether the operation of the proposed station would involve objectionable interference with stations WFEA, Manchester, New Hampshire and WDRC, Hartford, Connecticut or with any other existing broadcast stations and, if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby, and the availability of other broadcast service to such areas and populations.

5. To determine whether the operation of the proposed station would involve objectionable interference with the services proposed in the pending application of Bristol Broadcasting Company, Inc. (WOCB) (BP-4588) West Yarmouth, Massachusetts, or in any other pending applications for broadcast facilities and, if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby, and the availability of other broadcast service to such areas and populations.

6. To determine whether the installation and operation of the proposed station would be in compliance with the Commission's rules and Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning Standard Broadcast Stations, especially in respect to the assignment of Class IV stations to regional channels.

By the Commission.

GALVESTON BROADCASTING CO. (KGBC) ET AL.

ORDER DESIGNATING APPLICATION FOR CONSOLIDATED HEARING ON STATED ISSUES

In re: Applications of James W. Bradner, Jr. tr/as The Galveston Broadcasting Company (KGBC), Galveston, Texas, Docket No. 8090, File No. BP-5663; Roy Hofheinz and W. N. Hooper d/b as Louisiana Broadcasting Company, New Orleans, Louisiana, Docket No. 7162, File No. BP-4260; Bayou Broadcasting Company, Incorporated, Baton Rouge, Louisiana, Docket No. 7991, File No. BP-5453; Patroon Broadcasting Company, Inc., Albany, New York, Docket No. 7992, File No. BP-4611; Texhoma Broadcasting Company, Durant, Oklahoma, Docket No. 7993, File No. BP-5112; East-West Broadcasting Company, Fort Worth, Texas, Docket No. 7994, File No. BP-4524; Western Waves, Inc., Seattle, Washington, Docket No. 7995, File No. BP-5060; for construction permits and petition of Josh Higgins Broadcasting Company (KXEL), Waterloo, Iowa, for continuation of exclusive nighttime assignment on 1540 kc. to station KXEL, Docket No. 7996.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 6th day of February 1947;

The Commission having under consideration a petition, filed on January 28, 1947, by James W. Bradner, Jr., tr/as The Galveston Broadcasting Company (permittee of Station KGBC) requesting (1) that his above-entitled application (File No. BP-5663) for a construction permit to change the operating assignment of Station KGBC, at Galveston, Texas, from 1540 kc with 1 kw power, daytime only, to 1540 kc with power of 1 kw days, 250 w nights, unlimited time, and to install a directional antenna for use at night, be designated for hearing in the above-consolidated proceeding, and (2) that the hearing date thereof be postponed for 30 days; and

It appearing, that the Commission on December 5, 1946, ordered the above-entitled applications, all requesting the frequency 1540 kc, unlimited time, as follows: Louisiana Broadcasting Company, with 50 kw power, using directional antenna, at New Orleans, Louisiana; Bayou Broadcasting Company, Inc., with 250 w power, at Baton Rouge, Louisiana; Patroon Broadcasting Company, Inc., with 10 kw power, using directional antenna, at Albany, New York; Texhoma Broadcasting Company, with 250 w power, at Durant, Oklahoma; East-West Broadcasting Company, with 10 kw power, at Fort Worth, Texas; and Western Waves, Inc., with 50 kw power, using directional antenna, at Seattle, Washington and the above-entitled petition of Josh Higgins Broadcasting Company (KXEL), to be heard in a consolidated proceeding; and that the said hearing is currently set for February 17, 1947, at Washington, D. C.; and

It further appearing, that petitioner's application involves common issues, with the foregoing matters, concerning the use of the frequency 1540 kc for nighttime operation in the United States and the manner in which allocation of stations on that frequency would best serve the public interest and contribute to an equitable distribution of facilities in accordance with the provisions of section 307 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended;

It is ordered, That the said petition of James W. Bradner, Jr., tr/as The Galveston Broadcasting Company, insofar as it requests consolidation of its application (File No. BP-5663), be, and it is hereby, granted, and that, pursuant to section 309 (a) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the said application of James W. Bradner, Jr., tr/as The Galveston Broadcasting Company, be, and it is hereby, designated for hearing in the above consolidated hearing, currently scheduled for February 17, 1947, upon the following issues.

1. To determine the technical, financial and other qualifications of the applicant to construct and operate Station KGBC as proposed.

2. To determine the areas and populations which may be expected to gain or lose primary service from the operation of Station KGBC as proposed and the character of other broadcast service available to those areas and populations.

3. To determine the type and character of the program service proposed to be rendered and whether it would meet the requirements of the populations and areas proposed to be served.

4. To determine whether the operation of station KGBC as proposed would involve objectionable interference with any existing broadcast station, including the present interference free service area of Station KXEL, and, if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby, and the availability of other broadcast service to such areas and populations; or would involve objectionable interference with broadcast service authorized in a foreign country pursuant to the provisions of International Agreements to which the United States is a party.

5. To determine whether the operation of Station KGBC as proposed would involve objectionable interference with the services proposed in any or all of the other applications in this consolidated proceeding or in any other pending applications for broadcast facilities, and, if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby, and the availability of other broadcast service to such areas and populations.

6. To determine whether the installation and operation of Station GKBC as proposed would be in compliance with the Commission's rules and Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning Standard Broadcast Stations.

7. To determine what allocation of stations on the frequency 1540 kc would best serve the public interest and best contribute to an equitable distribution of facilities in accordance with section 307 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and § 3.25 (e) of the Commission's rules.

8. To determine which, if any, of the applications in this consolidated proceeding should be granted.

It is further ordered, That the order of the Commission dated December 5, 1946, designating the above matters for hearing in a consolidated proceeding be, and is hereby, amended to include the application of James W. Bradner, Jr. tr/as The Galveston Broadcasting Company (KGBC)

By the Commission.

FRANK E. DUHME AND FLORIDA WEST COAST BROADCASTING CO.

ORDER DESIGNATING APPLICATION FOR CONSOLIDATED HEARING ON STATED ISSUES

In re: Applications of Frank E. Duhme, St. Petersburg, Florida, Docket No. 8103, File No. BP-5677; Worth H. Kramer, tr/as Florida West Coast Broadcasting Company, Tampa, Florida, Docket No. 7768, File No. BP-4780; for construction permits.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission, held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 6th day of February 1947;

The Commission having under consideration the above-entitled application of Frank E. Duhme, requesting a permit to construct a new standard broadcast station to operate on 1300 kc, with 1 kw power, unlimited time, using a directional antenna at night, at St. Petersburg, Florida, and also having under consideration a petition by said applicant requesting that his said application be designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding with the other application named above; and

It appearing, that the commission, on August 7, 1946, designated for hearing the application of Worth H. Kramer, tr/as Florida West Coast Broadcasting Company (File No. BP-4780, Docket No. 7768), requesting a permit to construct a new standard broadcast station to operate on 1300 kc, with 1 kw power, daytime only, at Tampa, Florida, said hearing being presently scheduled for February 20, 1947 at Washington, D. C.; and

It further appearing, that said application of Frank E. Duhme was received by the Commission on January 31, 1947;

It is ordered, That said petition of Frank E. Duhme be, and it is hereby, granted, and that pursuant to section 309 (a) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the said application of Frank E. Duhme be, and it is hereby, designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding, to which § 1.857 of the Commission's rules and regulations shall not be applicable, with the said application of Worth H. Kramer, tr/as Florida West Coast Broadcasting Company, on February 20, 1947, at Washington, D. C., upon the following issues:

1. To determine the legal, technical, financial, and other qualifications of the applicant to construct and operate the proposed station.

2. To determine the areas and populations which may be expected to gain primary service from the operation of the proposed station and the character of other broadcast service available to those areas and populations.

3. To determine the type and character of program service proposed to be rendered and whether it would meet the requirements of the populations and areas proposed to be served.

4. To determine whether the operation of the proposed station would involve objectionable interference with any existing broadcast stations and, if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby, and the availability of other broadcast service to such areas and populations.

5. To determine whether the operation of the proposed station would involve objectionable interference with the services proposed in the pending application of Worth H. Kramer, tr/as Florida West Coast Broadcasting Company (File No. BP-4780, Docket No. 7768), or in any other pending applications for broadcast facilities and, if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby, and the availability of other broadcast service to such areas and populations.

6. To determine whether the installation and operation of the proposed station would be in compliance with the Commission's rules and Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning Standard Broadcast Stations.

7. To determine on a comparative basis which, if either, of the applications in this consolidated proceeding should be granted.

It is further ordered, That the order of August 7, 1946, designating for hearing said application of Worth H. Kramer, tr/as Florida West Coast Broadcasting Company, be, and it is hereby, amended to include the said application of Frank E. Duhme, to change issue No. 1 of said order to read as issue No. 1 stated above, and to add as issue No. 6 of said order issue No. 7 stated above.

By the Commission.

EVERGREEN BROADCASTING CORP. (LICENSEE OF STANDARD BROADCAST STATION KEVR), SEATTLE, WASH.[1]

PROPOSED ASSIGNMENT OF LICENSE

The Commission hereby gives notice that on February 5, 1947 there was filed with it an application (BAL-584) for its consent under section 310 (b) of the Communications Act to the proposed assignment of license of Evergreen Broadcasting Corporation (licensee of Standard Broadcast Station KEVR), Seattle, Washington from said Evergreen Broadcasting Corporation to Western Waves, Inc. The arrangements for assignment of license of the above station are based upon a contract dated January 24, 1947 under the terms of which Evergreen Broadcasting Corporation agrees to sell to Western Waves, Inc. the entire station assets and properties of KEVR for a total consideration of $190,000 payable as follows: $10,000 upon the execution of the contract; $100,000 within 10 days after KEVR's license has been assigned to Western Waves, Inc.; $30,000 within 6 months after the KEVR assignment has been approved by the Commission, and $50,000 together with accrued interest at 4% on the unpaid balance within one year after the approval of the assignment by the Commission. The purchase price includes payments that will be made on that part of KEVR's equipment on which unpaid balances are due. Both Evergreen Broadcasting Corporation and A. W. Talbot, owner of the entire issued stock of the corporation, have guaranteed the title that will be conveyed. Further details as to the arrangements between the parties and concerning the application may be determined from an inspection of the papers which are on file at the offices of the Commission in Washington, D. C.

On July 25, 1946 the Commission adopted Rule 1.388 (known as § 1.321 effective September 11, 1946) which sets out the procedure to be followed in such cases including the requirement for public notice concerning the filing of the application. Pursuant thereto the Commission was advised by applicants by letter dated February 5, 1947 that starting on February 6, 1947 notice of the filing of the application would be inserted in a local newspaper of general circulation in Seattle, Washington in conformity with the above rule.

In accordance with the procedure set out in said rule no action will be had upon the application for a period of 60 days from February 6, 1947 within which time other persons desiring to apply for the facilities may do so upon the same terms and conditions as set forth in the above described contract.

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION

[Docket No. G-856]

KANSAS-NEBRASKA NATURAL GAS CO., INC.

ORDER FIXING DATE FOR HEARING AND CONSOLIDATING PROCEEDINGS FOR PURPOSE OF HEARING

FEBRUARY 13, 1947.

Upon consideration of the application of Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Company, Inc., filed pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended;

It appears to the Commission that:

(a) Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Company, Inc. ("Applicant"), a Kansas corporation engaged in the transportation and sale of natural gas in the States of Kansas and Nebraska filed on February 7, 1947, an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity for authority to acquire, maintain and operate the following facilities, to-wit:

(i) A certain gas pipe line consisting of approximately 29,502 feet of 16-inch and 692 feet of 12¾-inch pipe, extending from a point in the Northeast Quarter of Section 5, Township 25 South, Range 35 West; thence southwesterly to a point approximately in the center of Section 22, Township 25 South, Range 36 West; all in Kearny County, Kansas;

(ii) Together with an 8-inch meter run in the northeast corner of said Section 5; a tract of one acre in the northeast corner of said Section 5, and certain improvements thereon.

(b) The above facilities are to be acquired as of May 13, 1946 and are now owned by Kansas Natural Gas, Inc.

(c) Applicant proposes to pay $75,256.82 for the above facilities from current funds and will assume as of and from and after May 13, 1946, all obligations of Kansas Natural Gas, Inc. with respect to and connected with the aforesaid facilities; that no increase in total revenues is expected to accrue from the acquisition; and that total fixed charges and operating expenses will be increased.

(d) The proposed acquisition is related to and should be consolidated for hearing with the proceedings now set for hearing to wit: Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Company, Inc., Docket No. G-806; The Fin-Ker Oil and Gas Production Company, Docket No. G-352; The Tri-County Gas Company, Docket No. G-325; and Kansas Natural Gas, Inc., Docket No. G-494.

The Commission orders that:

(A) Pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing be held on the 4th day of March 1947 at 10:00 a. m. in Room 204, Main Postoffice Building, Wichita, Kansas.

(B) The hearings in proceedings, Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Company, Inc., Docket No. G-856; Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Company, Inc., Docket No. G-806; The Fin-Ker Oil and Gas Production Company, Docket No. G-352; The Tri-County Gas Company, Docket No. G-325; and Kansas Natural Gas, Inc., Docket No. G-494 now set for hearing at the same time and place to wit: the 4th of March at 10:00 a. m. in Room 204, Main Postoffice Building, Wichita, Kansas, be and the same hereby are consolidated for hearing.

(C) Interested State Commissions may participate as provided by rule (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37 (b)) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure.

Date of issuance: February 17, 1947.

[Docket No. G-858]

OHIO FUEL GAS CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

FEBRUARY 13, 1947.

Notice is hereby given that on February 4, 1947, The Ohio Fuel Gas Company, an Ohio corporation with its principal place of business at Columbus, Ohio, filed with the Federal Power Commission an application, pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, for: (1) A certificate of public convenience and necessity for authority to construct and operate about 90 miles of 20-inch O. D.

gas transmission pipe line located in Lawrence, Gallia, Jackson, Vinton, Hocking and Fairfield Counties, Ohio, extending from near the Village of Burlington, Ohio, about two miles to South Point Compressor Station and from there about 88 miles to Crawford Compressor Station, substantially paralleling and replacing an existing 18-inch pipe line, designated by the company as Line R–300, between South Point and Lick compressor stations and replacing several smaller lines between Lick and Crawford compressor stations; additions to South Point Compressor Station in Fayette Township, Lawrence County, Ohio, consisting of two 600-horsepower gas engine compressor units and modifications and additions to auxillary equipment, for the transportation and sale of natural gas; and (2) permission and approval permitting the abandonment upon completion of the above-described facilities of the existing line, designated by the company as Line R–300, of approximately 41 miles between South Point and Lick compressor stations, about 150 miles of various sizes lines ranging from four inches to 18 inches between Lick and Crawford compressor stations and Lick Compressor Station.

Applicant states that it is anticipated that about 63 miles of the required 20-inch transmission pipe line can be secured during 1947, and that the delivery schedule will be such as to permit initiation of pipe line construction in June 1947 and completion by December 15, 1947. The remaining 27 miles of pipe line, together with the additions to the South Point Compressor Station, will be completed in 1948. The existing pipe line facilities between South Point and Crawford compressor stations and Lick Compressor Station can be withdrawn from service upon completion of the new 20-inch line in 1948, but physical removal from the ground will probably not be completed until the spring of 1949.

Applicant further states that the facilities herein proposed are necessary for the rendition of adequate and continued service to applicant's present markets and customers; that they are not for the protection or benefit of any particular markets or group of customers; and neither is it contemplated that additional markets will be served. The total capital cost of the facilities to be constructed is estimated at $3,655,620, to be financed by Columbia Gas and Electric Corporation.

Any interested State commission is requested to notify the Federal Power Commission whether the application shall be considered under the cooperative provisions of Rule 37 of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure and, if so, to advise the Federal Power Commission as to the nature of its interest in the matter and further to specify whether it desires a conference, the creation of a board, or a concurrent hearing as defined in said rule and the reasons for such request.

The application of The Ohio Fuel Gas Company is on file with the Commission and is open to public inspection. Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to the application shall file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., not later than fifteen days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER a petition to intervene or protest. Such petition or protest shall conform to the requirements of the rules of practice and procedure (effective September 11, 1946) and shall set out clearly and concisely the facts from which the nature of the petitioner or protestant's alleged right or interest can be determined. Petitions for intervention shall state fully and completely the grounds of the proposed intervention and the contentions of the petitioner in the proceeding, so as to advise the parties and the Commission as to the issues of fact or law to be raised or controverted, by admitting, denying, or explaining specifically and in detail, each material allegation of fact or law asserted with respect to the application.

[Docket No. G-857]

UNITED FUEL GAS CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

FEBRUARY 13, 1947.

Notice is hereby given that on February 3, 1947, United Fuel Gas Company, a West Virginia corporation with its principal place of business at Charleston, West Virginia, a subsidiary of Columbia Gas and Electric Corporation, filed with the Federal Power Commission an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity, pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, for authority to construct and operate the following facilities, to wit:

(a) 10 miles of 20-inch O. D. gas transmission pipe line, extending from a tap on the Tennessee Gas and Transmission Company pipe line, near Ceredo, West Virginia, northwest to the Ohio River;

(b) A multiple river crossing across the Ohio River, terminating near Burlington, Ohio, to connect with a pipe line to be constructed by The Ohio Fuel Gas Company, an affiliate, extending from near Burlington, Ohio, to Ohio Fuel's South Point Compressor Station, a distance of approximately two miles; and

(c) A measuring station and office on the south bank of the Ohio River near Ceredo, West Virginia.

Applicant states that the above facilities to be constructed will increase the capacity of its transmission facilities to permit the delivery of an additional 51,000 Mcf of natural gas per day to The Ohio Fuel Gas Company. The estimated total over-all capital cost of the proposed facilities is $743,000, to be financed by Columbia Gas & Electric Corporation.

Any interested State commission is requested to notify the Federal Power Commission whether the application shall be considered under the cooperative provisions of Rule 37 of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure and, if so, to advise the Federal Power Commission as to the nature of its interest in the matter, and, further, to specify whether it desires a conference, the creation of a board, or a concurrent hearing as defined in said rule, and the reasons for such request.

The application of United Fuel Gas Company is on file with the Commission and is open to public inspection. Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to the application shall file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., not later than fifteen days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, a petition to intervene or protest. Such petition or protest shall conform to the requirements of the rules of practice and procedure (effective September 11, 1946) and shall set out clearly and concisely the facts from which the nature of the petitioner or protestant's alleged right or interest can be determined. Petitions for intervention shall state fully and completely the grounds of the proposed intervention and the contentions of the petitioner in the proceeding, so as to advise the parties and the Commission as to the issues of fact or law to be raised or controverted, by admitting, denying, or explaining specifically and in detail, each material allegation of fact or law asserted with respect to the application.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

FLORIDA POWER & LIGHT CO. AND AMERICAN POWER & LIGHT CO.

NOTICE OF FILING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on the 13th day of February A. D. 1947.

Notice is hereby given that a joint declaration and amendment thereto have been filed with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, by American Power & Light Company ("American"), a registered holding company subsidiary of Electric Bond and Share Company, also a registered holding company, and American's electric utility subsidiary, Florida Power & Light Company ("Florida"). Declarants designate sections 6 (a) (2), 7 and 12 (c) of the act as applicable to the proposed transactions.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than February 24, 1947, at 5:30 p. m., e. s. t., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the reasons for such request, the nature of his interest and the issues of fact or law raised by said declaration which he desires to controvert, or may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania. At any time after February 24, 1947 said declaration, as filed or as amended, may be granted and permitted to become effective as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act, or the Commission may exempt such transactions as provided in Rule U-20 (a) and Rule U-100 thereof.

All interested persons are referred to said declaration, as amended, which is on file in the offices of this Commission for a statement of the transactions therein proposed which are summarized as follows:

Florida proposes to amend its charter in the following respects: (a) to change its presently outstanding 2,500,000 shares of common stock without nominal or par value, all of which are owned by American, to 2,000,000 shares of common stock without nominal or par value, but without any change in the aggregate stated value, said 2,000,000 shares to be issued to American in exchange for its presently held shares of Florida; (b) to increase its authorized capital stock to 20,000,000 shares without nominal or par value; (c) to provide for preemptive rights to stockholders with respect to any offering of common stock, or security convertible into common stock, for money, other than with respect to a public offering of such shares; (d) to provide that the consideration received by the company from the issuance and sale of any additional shares of common stock without par value, shall be entered in the capital stock account; (e) to provide for cumulative voting for the holders of shares of common stock; (f) to delete all references to preferred stock in the present charter; (g) to increase the number of directors from 5 to 9; (h) to provide that certificates of stock of the corporation may be signed by certain designated officers.

Declarants request that the Commission's order permitting the declaration herein as amended to become effective be issued as promptly as may be practicable and that it shall be effective forthwith.

By the Commission.

NORTH AMERICAN CO.

NOTICE REGARDING FILING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 12th day of February 1947.

Notice is hereby given that a declaration has been filed with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("Act") by The North American Company. Declarant designates section 12 (d) of the act and Rules U-43 and U-44 promulgated under the act as applicable to the proposed transaction.

Notice is further given that any interested person may not later than February 19, 1947, at 5:30 p. m., e. s. t., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter stating the reasons for such request and the nature of his interest, or may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. At any time thereafter said declaration as filed or as amended may be granted as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated pursuant to said act Any such request should be addressed: Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania.

All interested persons are referred to said declaration which is on file in the office of the said Commission for a statement of the transactions therein proposed which are summarized below:

The North American Company proposes to pay on April 1, 1947, a dividend to its holders of common stock of record on March 3, 1947. Such dividend will be payable in the common stock of Pacific Gas and Electric Company having a par value of $25 per share, owned by The North American Company, at the rate of one share of common stock of Pacific Gas and Electric Company on each 100 shares of the common stock of The North American Company outstanding. No certificates will be issued for fractions of shares of stock of Pacific Gas and Electric Company, but, in lieu thereof, cash will be paid at the rate of forty-two cents for each 1/100 of a share of stock of Pacific Gas and Electric Company, this rate being based on the approximate market price of $42 per share as of February 7, 1947, the date on which the proposed dividend was declared. The North American Company estimates that the payment of the above-mentioned dividends will involve the distribution of not more than 75,000 shares of the 210,798 shares of common stock of Pacific Gas and Electric Company owned by it and use of not more than $560,000 of cash, and that the payment of such dividend will result in a charge of approximately $2,900,000 to earned surplus.

The North American Company has requested that the Commission enter an order permitting said declaration to become effective on or before February 21, 1947.

By the Commission.

NATIONAL GAS & ELECTRIC CORP.

NOTICE OF FILING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on the 14th day of February A. D. 1947.

Notice is hereby given that a declaration has been filed with this Commission, pursuant to section 7 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, by National Gas & Electric Corporation, a registered holding company.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than February 26, 1947, at 5:30 p. m., e. s. t., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the reasons for such request, the nature of his interest and the issues of fact or law raised by said declaration which he desires to controvert, or may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania. At any time after February 26, 1947, said declaration as filed or as amended, may be permitted to become effective as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act, or the Commission may exempt such transactions as provided in Rule U-20 (a) and Rule U-100 thereof.

All interested persons are referred to said declaration which is on file in the offices of this Commission for a statement of the transactions therein proposed, which are summarized as follows:

On August 8, 1946, this Commission entered its Findings, Opinion and Order (File No. 70-1317) wherein it approved, among other things, the issuance and sale by National Gas & Electric Corporation of its six month Notes in the aggregate principal amount of $2,100,000 at an interest rate of 1¾% per annum, pursuant to a loan agreement, to Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Company of Chicago, Girard Trust Company of Philadelphia and The Continental Bank and Trust Company of New York. Such loan agreement provided that the Notes might be renewed for an additional six month period at the same interest rate (1¾%) upon payment by National Gas & Electric Corporation of a fee of ¼ of one per cent of the principal amount so renewed.

National Gas & Electric Corporation proposes to renew the above mentioned Notes, pursuant to the loan agreement, for an additional six month period, beginning February 20, 1947, at the interest rate of 1¾% per annum upon payment of a fee of ¼ of one per cent of the principal amount so renewed. The company states that the aggregate principal amount of such notes proposed to be renewed is $1,100,000.

Section 7 of the act has been designated as being applicable to the proposed transaction and the company requests that the Commission's order permitting the declaration to become effective be issued at the earliest date possible and that it becomes effective upon its issuance.

By the Commission.

TITLE 7—AGRICULTURE

Subtitle A—Office of the Secretary of Agriculture

PART 9—PRICE SUPPORT OF AGRICULTURAL COMMODITIES

CHICKENS AND TURKEYS

Public announcement has heretofore been made (7 F. R. 9986, 9 F. R. 4837, 11 F. R. 2651), pursuant to the provisions of section 4 (a) of the act approved July 1, 1941 (55 Stat. 498) as amended by the act of October 2, 1942 (56 Stat. 768), and the act of February 28, 1944 (58 Stat. 105), that it was necessary to encourage the expansion of the production of certain agricultural commodities, including turkeys. The Secretary of Agriculture in accordance with such act, hereby announces a change in the aforesaid announcements with respect to turkeys by limiting the period of each year in which purchases will be made, and the following statement of the commodities and level of price support is hereby substituted for the provision in the announcements heretofore made:

§ 9.3 Chickens and turkeys. Chickens (excluding chickens weighing less than 3½ pounds live weight and all broilers) and turkeys (with purchases of turkeys of the 1947 crop limited to the period October 1947 through January 1948 and purchases of the 1948 crop limited to the period October 1948 through December 1948): 90 percent of the parity price, but in no event less than specified prices to be announced from time to time. (Sec. 4 (a), 55 Stat. 498, as amended, 15 U. S. C. Sup. 713a-8)

Done at Washington, D. C. this 17th day of February 1947.

AUTHORITY, AND DESIGNATION OF ORDER OF PRECEDENCE, OF DEPUTY INTERMEDIATE CREDIT COMMISSIONER, ASSISTANT INTERMEDIATE CREDIT COMMISSIONER, AND ASSISTANT DEPUTY INTERMEDIATE CREDIT COMMISSIONER TO ACT AS INTERMEDIATE CREDIT COMMISSIONER IN ABSENCE OF LATTER

Section 3.31 (9 F. R. 191) of Title 6, Code of Federal Regulations, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 3.31 Authority, and designation of order of precedence, of Deputy Intermediate Credit Commissioner, Assistant Intermediate Credit Commissioner, and Assistant Deputy Intermediate Credit Commissioner to act as Intermediate Credit Commissioner in the absence of the latter. Arthur C. Sullivan, Deputy Intermediate Credit Commissioner, is hereby authorized to execute and perform all functions, powers, authority, and duties pertaining to the office of Intermediate Credit Commissioner in the event that the Intermediate Credit Commissioner is unavailable to act by reason of absence from the central office of the Farm Credit Administration or for any other cause.

Martin H. Uelsmann, Assistant Intermediate Credit Commissioner, is hereby authorized to execute and perform all functions, powers, authority, and duties pertaining to the office of Intermediate Credit Commissioner in the event that the Intermediate Credit Commissioner and Deputy Intermediate Credit Commissioner Arthur C. Sullivan are unavailable to act by reason of absence from the central office of the Farm Credit Administration or for any other cause.

Franklin D. Van Sant, Assistant Deputy Intermediate Credit Commissioner, is respect to which there has been failure to comply with the terms.

(f) Any account or renewal thereof arising from the loan operations of the Farmers Home Administration (or predecessor agency) of Farm Credit Administration (1) becomes finally due on or after July 1, 1939, and (2) has not been finally settled by such creditor agency within a period of two years thereof, and, at the expiration of such two-year period, (i) the debtor is not a client of and does not have a current loan from such creditor agency (except for collection purposes), and (ii) such creditor agency considers a request for set-off in such case to be in the interest of its program.

(g) The United States or a corporation all the stock of which is owned by the United States has secured a judgment against the debtor which remains unsatisfied.

(h) A person is indebted to the Regional Agricultural Credit Corporation of Washington, D. C., on a limited liability advance made in furtherance of food production, and has failed to pay to the corporation, pursuant to written agreement, the amount paid or allowed to him as payments from funds appropriated by section 32 of Public Law No. 320, 74th Congress, under the 1943 Agricultural Conservation Program: Provided, however, That any such set-off shall be limited to the amount paid or allowed as aforesaid.

§ 718.2 Conditions of set-offs. The following provisos shall apply in making set-offs, except that only paragraph (c) of this section shall apply to the case designated in § 718.1 (d) and paragraph (e) of this section shall not apply to the case designated in § 718.1 (h):

(a) Request for set-off shall be on Form AAA-402, "Request for Set-Off against Payments under Programs Administered by the Field Service Branch," and all the information required by such form must be included. Section II, "Certification," must be signed by an authorized representative of the department, establishment, or independent agency of the Government requesting the set-off. Requests for set-offs by agencies of the Government not within the Department of Agriculture coming within paragraph (g) of § 718.1 shall be submitted on Form AAA-396, "Request and Certification to the Field Service Branch for Allowance of Set-Off Pursuant to Classification (g) of the Order Governing Set-offs Revised by the Secretary of Agriculture August 18, 1939." Form AAA-396 may also be used by bureaus within the Department to file requests for set-offs coming within paragraph (g) of § 718.1.

(b) The amount of the indebtedness shall be stated separately as (1) principal and (2) interest (where applicable) computed to the date indicated on the request. If the creditor agency desires that additional interest be computed on the principal, a factor (daily or monthly) shall be furnished for computing such interest. The amount to be set off shall not exceed the principal sum(s) owed by the debtor and the interest charges computed (in accordance with the procedure governing the program under which the indebtedness arose) to the date of preparation of the application for payment against which the set-off is to be made.

(c) Whenever a set-off is to be effected by means of a direct settlement, the amount of the indebtedness, insofar as this order is concerned, shall be reduced at the time the voucher is transmitted to the Claims Division of the General Accounting Office by the amount of payment administratively certified subject to deduction.

(d) In no case shall a payment be withheld for the purpose of making a set-off subsequent to the initial administrative certification for payment of the voucher.

(e) In no case shall any department, independent agency, bureau, or administration, other than the Field Service Branch of the Production and Marketing Administration, or corporation all the stock of which is owned by the United States, communicate with any officer or employee of any County Agricultural Conservation Association, or other association, or committee of producers, with a view to securing the set-off, or with a view to the withholding of any check issued pursuant to any of the above-cited acts which may be in, or come into, his or their hands awaiting delivery to the payee: Provided, however, That with respect to cases coming within paragraph (g) of § 718.1 inquiry may be made at the office of the County Agricultural Conservation Association as to whether the judgment-debtor has filed with respect to a particular crop year an intention to participate in one or more of the programs administered by the Field Service Branch.

(f) Forms AAA-396 and AAA-402 executed by bureaus, administrations, or corporations within the Department of Agriculture, shall be filed with the applicable State offices of the Production and Marketing Administration. Forms AAA-396 and AAA-402 executed by agencies of the Government not within the Department of Agriculture shall be filed with the Director of the Field Service Branch, or, with the prior approval of the Director, may be filed with the applicable State office.

§ 718.3 Priority of set-offs. Irrespective of the time of recordation on the register of indebtedness in the office of the county agricultural conservation association, any claim to the right of set-off made by the Department of Agriculture shall have priority over any claim to such right made by any other department, independent agency, or establishment of the Government, and claims within the Department of Agriculture shall be satisfied in the following order of priority, namely: Field Service Branch, Sugar Branch, Commodity Credit Corporation, Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, Farmers Home Administration, and Farm Credit Administration.

§ 718.4 Manner of notice. The head of any department, independent agency, or establishment of the Government, including any administration or bureau of the Department of Agriculture, desiring that set-offs be made in any cases coming within the terms of this part, shall give written notice to that effect to the Director of the Field Service Branch in order that the necessary procedure may be established and approved by him. The Director of the Field Service Branch is hereby authorized to revise such existing forms and to issue such new forms and procedures as may be required from time to time for the proper administration of this part.

§ 718.5 Effect of this part. This part supersedes the Revised Order Governing Set-Offs entered by the Secretary of Agriculture May 8, 1937 (as revised October 20, 1943).

Done at Washington, D. C., this 17th day of February 1947.

718.1 Cases in which set-offs applicable.
718.2 Condition of set-offs.
718.3 Priority of set-offs.
718.4 Manner of notice.
718.5 Effect of this part.

AUTHORITY: §§ 718.1 to 718.5, inclusive, issued under 49 Stat. 1116, 1148, 50 Stat. 762, 909, 52 Stat. 45, 65, 70, 819, 60 Stat. 237; 16 U. S. C. 590g–590q, 7 U. S. C. and Sup. 1131 1137, 1303, 1372 (c), 1401–1407.

§ 718.1 Cases in which set-offs applicable. Subject to the provisos contained in § 718.2, set-offs shall be made, but limited to, the following cases, except that the chief of any creditor agency within the Department of Agriculture, or his authorized representative, may waive or subordinate the right of the creditor agency to a set-off of all or a part of the indebtedness if he deems such action in the interests of the program administered by such agency:

(a) The debtor has committed a fraud against the United States, or there is evidence establishing material misrepresentation of fact, in securing a loan from the United States, without which fraudulent act or material misrepresentation the loan would not have been made or would have otherwise been made in a smaller amount.

(b) A person is indebted to the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation for any unpaid premium payable to it under the terms of a crop insurance contract or on account of his having received an indemnity payment in excess of that finally determined to be due.

(c) A person who is indebted to the Farmers Home Administration has failed to use the borrowed funds for the purposes specified in the written loan document, or has, in bad faith, disposed of property covered by a mortgage, deed of trust, or lien instrument given to secure the loan.

(d) A person is indebted to the Field Service Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, or to any other agency of the Department of Agriculture by reason of any payments certified on vouchers or on sight-drafts by the Production and Marketing Administration State Offices or by the County Agricultural Conservation Associations.

(e) A person is indebted to the Commodity Credit Corporation in connection with a loan or purchase agreement with Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended (7 U. S. C. 1301, 1372 (c), 1401–1407); by the Price Adjustment Act of 1938, Title V of Public Law 122, 75th Congress, 52 Stat. 819, and by subsequent statutes authorizing payments to farmers. Its purpose is to state the conditions under which certain debts of persons owing to the Government of the United States on account of the indebtedness due and unpaid to any department, establishment, or independent agency of the Government, any corporation all the stock of which is owned by the United States, or any bureau, administration, or corporation in the Department of Agriculture, will be set off against any payments which may be payable to such persons under any of said statutes, consistent with protecting the interests of the United States and effectuating the purposes of said statutes.

hereby authorized to execute and perform all functions, powers, authority, and duties pertaining to the office of the Intermediate Credit Commissioner in the event that the Intermediate Credit Commissioner, Deputy Intermediate Credit Commissioner Arthur C. Sullivan, and Assistant Intermediate Credit Commissioner Martin H. Uelsmann are unavailable to act by reason of absence from the central office of the Farm Credit Administration or for any other cause.

Chapter I—Post Office Department

PART 22—TREATMENT OF MAIL MATTER RECEIVED FROM FOREIGN COUNTRIES INVOLVING THE CUSTOMS REVENUE

JOINT REGULATIONS ADOPTED BY SECRETARY OF TREASURY AND POSTMASTER GENERAL GOVERNING TREATMENT OF MAIL MATTER RECEIVED FROM FOREIGN COUNTRIES INVOLVING CUSTOMS REVENUE

In § 22.16 Postmasters to collect duty and forward same to customs officer (39 CFR, 10 F. R. 748, 11 F. R. 849) make the following changes:

Amend paragraph (d) to read as follows:

(d) Customs officers issuing mail entries shall review their records of such entries weekly and promptly request postmasters on form 3439 to account for entries not returned within 30 days after the date of issuance thereof accompanied by the duty or proper evidence of exemption from duty. Should the postmaster fail to make proper accounting within a reasonable time, the facts shall be reported to the Chief Inspector, Post Office Department, Washington, D. C., for investigation, unless the accountable sum involved is $10 or less and the report of the postmaster or other circumstances indicate to the collector that an investigation by the chief inspector is not warranted. In the case of delinquencies arising at ports of entry other than headquarters ports, the report to the chief inspector shall be made through the headquarters port. The chief inspector shall promptly advise the collector of customs of the result of the investigation.

TITLE 42—PUBLIC HEALTH

Chapter I—Public Health Service, Federal Security Agency

PART 14—ALLOWANCES TO FILIPINO TRAINEES

Sec.
14.1 Definitions.
14.2 Allowances.
14.3 Additional provisions.

AUTHORITY: §§ 14.1 to 14.3, inclusive, issued under secs. 305, 311 (c) and (d), 60 Stat. 136, 139; 50 U. S. C., App. Sup. 1785, 1791.

§ 14.1 Definitions. As used in this part, terms shall have the following meanings:

(a) Program. The program carried on by and under the supervision of the Surgeon General of the Public Health Service (hereinafter referred to as the Service) for the training of Filipinos in public health methods and administration pursuant to the provisions of sections 305 and 311 (c) and (d) of the Philippine Rehabilitation Act of 1946.

(b) Trainee. A person receiving training or instruction under the program.

(c) Baggage. Public property, or private property to be used exclusively for official business, and wearing apparel needed by a trainee while engaged in travel or in receiving training, together with the necessary containers.

(d) Excess baggage. Baggage in excess of the weight or of a size greater than that carried free by persons engaged in transportation.

§ 14.2 Allowances. A trainee shall receive allowances with respect to the following:

(a) Transportation. First-class accommodations on steamship, airplane, railway, or other means of conveyance, from his home in the Philippines to the first place at which he is to study or receive training, and from such place, or other place to which he has been authorized to go, to his home; and reimbursement for necessary taxi fares.

(b) Per diem in lieu of subsistence. (1) Per diem of $7.00, in lieu of subsistence and all incidental expenses, including gratuitous fees, et cetera, while traveling to and from the United States (except for the period spent on sea-going vessels); while on authorized or emergency stop-overs; and while in a travel status within the United States, which status shall terminate on the day a trainee arrives at the first place where he is to study or receive training and shall recommence on the day he leaves that place, or other place to which he has been authorized to go, to return to his home.

(2) Per diem of $3.50, unless another rate not to exceed $7.00 is authorized, in lieu of subsistence and all incidental expenses including gratuitous fees, and the cost of steamer chairs, rugs and cushions, et cetera, while traveling on sea-going vessels outside the continental limits of the United States.

(c) Baggage charges. Reimbursement, upon presentation of receipts, or shipping charges for baggage, as follows:

(1) If travel is performed by air, for excess baggage not to exceed 50 pounds in weight, when shipped as excess baggage or by air express.

(2) If travel is performed by means other than air, for a total of 250 pounds in weight, including all baggage carried free.

(d) Additional allowance. An allowance of $25 for the first month or fraction thereof while engaged in traveling from his home to the United States, commencing on the day of departure, in addition to all other allowances.

(e) Books and equipment. Not to exceed $100 for books, equipment and related incidental expenses.

(f) Tuition. Actual tuition costs and related fees. Payment of such costs and fees shall be made by the Service directly to the institution or facility concerned upon presentation of an itemized voucher countersigned by the trainee.

(g) Clothing. Not to exceed $200 for winter clothing not normally worn by a trainee but necessary to enable him to participate in the program, upon prior individual authorization.

(h) Travel. For travel from one place of study or training to another, or for travel in furtherance of study or training, lowest first-class transportation available on a common carrier; or reimbursement for expenses not exceeding the minimum cost of such transportation; and, in either event, reimbursement for necessary taxi fares.

(i) Maintenance. An amount to be fixed individually for each trainee, but not to exceed $180 per month, beginning with the day upon which a trainee arrives at his first place of study or training, and not to exceed twelve months of study or training. The allowance authorized by this paragraph shall be payable in semimonthly installments.

§ 14.3 Additional provisions. The foregoing provisions shall be subject to the following:

(a) Computation of fractional days. In computing per diem, allowances, and other payments which may become payable to a trainee, fractional days shall be counted as full days, the status at the end of the calendar day determining the status for the whole day.

(b) Emergency or additional authorization. Any emergency or additional payment deemed necessary under the program, if allowable under existing law, may be authorized whether or not specifically provided for in this part.

(c) Cancellation. If, in the judgment of the Surgeon General or his authorized representative, a trainee has not maintained a satisfactory record of performance, or has otherwise become unfit to receive training or instruction, his training or instruction shall be terminated and he shall not thereafter receive any further allowances under paragraphs (e), (f), (g), (h), or (i) of § 14.2.

Effective date. The provisions of this part shall become effective upon the date of their publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

[SEAL] THOMAS PARRAN,
Surgeon General.

Approved: February 18, 1947.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

FEDERAL SECURITY AGENCY

Food and Drug Administration

[21 CFR, Part 19]

[Docket No. FDC-46]

STANDARDS OF IDENTITY FOR CHEESES, PROCESSED CHEESES, CHEESE FOODS, CHEESE SPREADS, AND RELATED FOODS

NOTICE OF HEARING

In the matter of proposals to amend the definitions and standards of identity for cheddar cheese, washed curd cheese, and colby cheese and to establish definitions and standards of identity for other cheeses, processed cheeses, cheese foods, cheese spreads, and related foods.

Notice is hereby given that the Administrator of the Federal Security Agency on his own initiative, in accordance with the provisions of sections 401 and 701 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (52 Stat. 1046, 1055; 21 U. S. C. 341, 371) will hold a public hearing commencing at 10 o'clock in the morning of April 8, 1947 in Room 5541 Social Security Building, Independence Avenue between Third and Fourth Streets Southwest, Washington, D. C., for the purpose of receiving evidence upon the basis of which regulations may be promulgated amending the definitions and standards of identity for cheddar cheese, washed curd cheese, and colby cheese, and establishing reasonable definitions and standards of identity for cheddar cheese for manufacturing, washed curd cheese for manufacturing, colby cheese for manufacturing, granular cheese, granular cheese for manufacturing, swiss cheese, swiss cheese for manufacturing, brick cheese, brick cheese for manufacturing, muenster cheese, edam cheese, gouda cheese, blue mold cheese, camembert cheese, limburger cheese, monterey cheese, high moisture jack cheese, provolone cheese, parmesan cheese, monte cheese, modena cheese, romano cheese, asiago fresh cheese, asiago medium cheese, asiago old cheese, gorgonzola cheese, cook cheese, hard cheese, semi-soft cheese, soft ripened cheese, noekkelost cheese, pasteurized process cheese, pasteurized process cheese with fruits, vegetables, and meats, pasteurized process pimento cheese, pasteurized process cheese foods, pasteurized process cheese foods with fruits, vegetables, and meats, pasteurized process cheese spreads, pasteurized process cheese spreads with fruits, vegetables, and meats, cold pack cheese, cold pack cheese foods, cold pack cheese foods with fruits, vegetables, and meats, and other related foods if the evidence so indicates.

Edward E. Turkel is hereby designated presiding officer to conduct the hearing, in the place of the Administrator, with full authority to administer oaths and affirmations and to do all other things appropriate to the conduct of the hearing. The presiding officer is required to certify the entire record of the proceedings to the Administrator for initial decision.

The hearing will be conducted in accordance with the rules of practice provided therefor.

At the hearing evidence will be restricted to testimony and exhibits that are relevant and material to the issues contained in the proposals.

Proposed regulations, embodying in part suggestions of members of the affected industry, are set forth below. These proposals are subject to adoption, rejection, amendment, and modification, in whole or in part, as the evidence of record adduced at the hearing may require.

Proposed amendments to the definitions and standards of identity of cheddar cheese, cheese; washed curd cheese, soaked curd cheese; colby cheese: For convenience a definition and standard of identity for each of these foods which includes the proposed amendments follows. The proposed changes are set forth in brackets.

§ 19.500 Cheddar cheese, cheese; identity. (a) Cheddar cheese, cheese, is the food prepared from milk by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, [or by another procedure: Provided, The chemical and physical properties of the finished cheese are the same as when the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section is used]. It contains not more than 39 percent of moisture, and its solids contain not less than 50 percent of milk fat, as determined by the methods prescribed in paragraph (c) of this section.

(b) Milk, which may be pasteurized and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria, present in such milk or added thereto. [Purified calcium chloride may be added in a quantity of not more than 0.02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of such milk.] Harmless artificial coloring may be added. Sufficient rennet is added to set the milk to a semi-solid mass. The mass is so cut, stirred, and heated with continued stirring, as to promote [and regulate] the separation of whey and curd. The whey is drained off and the curd is matted into a cohesive mass. The mass is cut into slabs which are so piled and handled as to promote the drainage of whey and the development of acidity. The slabs are then cut into pieces, which may be rinsed by sprinkling or pouring water over them, with free and continuous drainage; but the duration of such rinsing is so limited that only the whey on the surface of such pieces is removed. The curd is salted, stirred, further drained, and pressed into forms. [A harmless enzyme preparation, containing one or more of the following enzymes, may be added at any time during the above described process: Amylase, catalase, erepsin, lipase, papain, pepsin, sucrase, trypsin, lactase, bromelin, zymase, chymotrypsin. The solids content of the enzyme preparation added does not exceed 0.1 percent of the weight of the milk used.]

[In case the milk used is not pasteurized, the curd made therefrom after being pressed into forms is held in storage at a temperature of not less than 35° F. for not less than ____ days. The pressed curd may be coated with paraffin or other similar material, but such paraffin or other similar material is not colored red or green.]

(d) For the purposes of this section:

(1) The word "milk" means cows' milk.

(2) Such milk may be adjusted by the separation of part of the fat therefrom or the addition thereto of cream or skim milk, [concentrated skim milk and/or non-fat dry milk solids.

(3) Milk shall be deemed to have been pasteurized if it has been held at a time and temperature of not less than 143° F. for a period of not less than 30 minutes, or at a time and temperature equivalent thereto in phosphatase destruction. Cheddar cheese shall be deemed not to have been made from pasteurized milk if 0.25 gm portion shows a phenol equivalent of more than ____ micrograms when tested by the method of Sanders and Sager as published in "Journal of Dairy Science," November 1946 Vol. XXIX No. 11, pages 737–749.]

§ 19.505 Washed curd cheese, soaked curd cheese; identity. (a) Washed curd cheese, soaked curd cheese, is the food prepared from milk by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, [or by another procedure: Provided, The chemical and physical properties of the finished cheese are the same as when the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section is used]. It contains not more than 42 percent of moisture, and its solids contain not less than 50 percent of milk fat, as determined by the methods prescribed in paragraph (c) of § 19.500.

(b) Milk, which may be pasteurized, and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid producing bacteria, present in such milk or added thereto. [Purified calcium chloride may be added in a quantity of not more than 0.02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of such milk.] Harmless artificial coloring may be added. Sufficient rennet is added to set the milk to a semi-solid mass. The mass is so cut, stirred, and heated with continued stirring, as to promote [and regulate] the separation of whey and curd. The whey is drained off and the curd is matted into a cohesive mass. The mass is cut into slabs which are so piled and handled as to promote the drainage of whey and the development of acidity. The slabs are then cut into pieces, which may be rinsed by sprinkling or pouring water over them, with free and continuous drainage; but the duration of such rinsing is so limited that only the whey on the surface of such pieces is removed. The curd is salted, stirred, further drained, and pressed into forms. [A harmless enzyme preparation, containing one or more of the following enzymes, may be added at any time during the above described process: amylase, catalase, erepsin, lipase, papain, pepsin, sucrase, trypsin, lactase, bromelin, zymase, chymotrypsin. The solids content of the enzyme preparation added does not exceed 0.1 percent of the weight of the milk used.]

[In case the milk used is not pasteurized, the curd made therefrom after being pressed into forms is held in storage at a temperature of not less than 35° F. for not less than ____ days. The pressed curd may be coated with paraffin or other similar material, but such paraffin or other similar material is not colored red or green.]

(d) For the purposes of this section:

(1) The word "milk" means cows' milk.

(2) Such milk may be adjusted by the separation of part of the fat therefrom or the addition thereto of cream or skim milk, [concentrated skim milk and/or non-fat dry milk solids.

(3) Milk shall be deemed to have been pasteurized if it has been held at a time and temperature of not less than 143° F. for a period of not less than 30 minutes, or at a time and temperature equivalent thereto in phosphatase destruction. Cheddar cheese shall be deemed not to have been made from pasteurized milk if 0.25 gm portion shows a phenol equivalent of more than ____ micrograms when tested by the method of Sanders and Sager published in "Journal of Dairy Science," November 1946 Vol. XXIX No. 11 pages 737–749.]

§ 19.510 Colby Cheese; Identity. (a) Colby cheese is the food prepared from milk by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, [or by another procedure: Provided, The chemical and physical properties of the finished cheese are the same as when the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section is used]. It contains not more than 42 percent of moisture, and its solids contain not less than 50 percent of milk fat, as determined by the methods prescribed in paragraph (c) of § 19.500.

(b) Milk, which may be pasteurized and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria, present in such milk or added thereto. [Purified calcium chloride may be added in a quantity of not more than .02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of such milk.] Harmless artificial coloring may be added. Sufficient rennet is added to set the milk to a semi-solid mass. The mass is so cut, stirred and heated with continued stirring, as to promote [and regulate] the separation of whey and curd. A part of the whey is drained off and the curd is cooled by adding water, the stirring being continued so as to prevent the pieces of curd from matting. The curd is drained, salted, stirred, further drained, and pressed into forms.

In case the milk used is not pasteurized, the curd made therefrom after being pressed into forms is held in storage at a temperature of not less than 35° F. for not less than ____ days. The pressed curd may be coated with paraffin or other similar material but such paraffin or other similar material is not colored red or green.]

(c) For the purposes of this section:

(1) The word "milk" means cows' milk.

(2) Such milk may be adjusted by the separation of part of the fat therefrom or the addition thereto of cream or skim milk, [concentrated skim milk and/or non-fat dry milk solids.

Suggested definitions and standards for other cheeses for which standards have not herctofore been adopted, follow:

§ 19.502 Cheddar cheese for manufacturing; identity. (a) Cheddar cheese for manufacturing is the food prepared by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, or by another procedure: Provided, The chemical and physical properties of the finished cheese are the same as when the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section is used. It contains not more than 39 percent of moisture and its solids contain not less than 50 percent of milk fat as determined by the methods prescribed in paragraph (c) of § 19.500.

(b) Milk, which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria, present in such milk or added thereto. Purified calcium chloride may be added in a quantity of not more than 0.02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of such milk. Harmless artificial coloring may be added. Sufficient rennet is added to set the milk to a semi-solid mass. The mass is so cut, stirred, and heated with continued stirring, as to promote and regulate the separation of whey and curd. The whey is drained off and the curd is matted into a cohesive mass. The mass is cut into slabs which are so piled and handled as to promote the drainage of whey and the development of acidity. The slabs are then cut into pieces, which may be rinsed by sprinkling or pouring water over them, with free and continuous drainage; but the duration of such rinsing is so limited that only the whey on the surface of such pieces is removed. The curd is salted, stirred, further drained, and pressed into forms. A harmless enzyme preparation, containing one or more of the following enzymes, may be added at any time during the above described process: Amylase, catalase, erepsin, lipase, papain, pepsin, sucrase, trypsin, lactase, bromelin, zymase, chymotrypsin. The solids content of the enzyme preparation added does not exceed 0.1 percent of the weight of the milk used. The cheese is coated with green colored paraffin.

(c) For the purposes of this section:

(1) The word "milk" means cows' milk.

(2) Such milk may be adjusted by the separation of part of the fat therefrom or the addition thereto of cream or skim milk, concentrated skim milk and/or non-fat dry milk solids.

§ 19.507 Washed curd cheese for manufacturing; identity. (a) Washed curd cheese for manufacturing is the food prepared from milk by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, or by another procedure: Provided, The chemical and physical properties of the finished cheese are the same as when the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section is used. It contains not more than 42 percent of moisture, and its solids contain not less than 50 percent of milk fat, as determined by the methods prescribed in paragraph (c) of § 19.500.

(b) Milk, which may be warmed is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria, present in such milk or added thereto. Purified calcium chloride may be added in a quantity of not more than 0.02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of such milk. Harmless artificial coloring may be added. Sufficient rennet is added to set the milk to a semi-solid mass. The mass is so cut, stirred, and heated with continued stirring, as to promote and regulate the separation of whey and curd. The whey is drained off and the curd is matted into a cohesive mass. The mass is cut into slabs which are so piled and handled as to promote the drainage of whey and the development of acidity. The slabs are then cut into pieces, cooled in water, and soaked therein until the whey is partly extracted and water is absorbed. The curd is drained, salted, stirred, and pressed into forms.

A harmless enzyme preparation, containing one or more of the following enzymes, may be added at any time during the above described process: Amylase, catalase, erepsin, lipase, papain, pepsin, sucrase, trypsin, lactase, bromelin, zymase, chymotrypsin. The solids content of the enzyme preparation added does not exceed 0.1 percent of the weight of the milk used. The cheese is coated with green colored paraffin.

(c) For the purposes of this section:

(1) The word "milk" means cows' milk.

(2) Such milk may be adjusted by the separation of part of the fat therefrom or the addition thereto of cream or skim milk, concentrated skim milk and/or non-fat dry milk solids.

§ 19.512 Colby cheese for manufacturing; identity. (a) Colby cheese for manufacturing is the food prepared from milk by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, or by another procedure provided the chemical and physical properties of the finished cheese are the same as when the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section is used. It contains not more than 40 percent of moisture, and its solids contain not less than 50 percent of milk fat, as determined by the methods prescribed in paragraph (c) of § 19.500.

(b) Milk, which may be warmed is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria, present in such milk or added thereto. Purified calcium chloride may be added in a quantity of not more than 0.02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of such milk. Harmless artificial coloring may be added. Sufficient rennet is added to set the milk to a semi-solid mass. The mass is so cut, stirred, and heated with continued stirring, as to promote and regulate the separation of whey and curd. The curd is then cooled by adding water, the stirring being continued so as to prevent the pieces of curd from matting. The curd is drained, salted, stirred, further drained, and pressed into forms.

A harmless enzyme preparation, containing one or more of the following enzymes, may be added at any time during the above described process: amylase, catalase, erepsin, lipase, papain, pepsin, sucrase, trypsin, lactase, bromelin, zymase, chymotrypsin. The solids content of the enzyme preparation added does not exceed 0.1 percent of the weight of the milk used. The cheese is coated with green colored paraffin.

(c) For the purposes of this section:

(1) The word "milk" means cows' milk.

(2) Such milk may be adjusted by the separation of part of the fat therefrom or the addition thereto of cream or skim milk, concentrated skim milk and/or non-fat dry milk solids.

§ 19.535 Granular cheese, stirred curd cheese; identity. (a) Granular cheese, stirred curd cheese, is the food prepared from milk by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, or by another procedure: Provided, The chemical and physical properties of the finished cheese are the same as when the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section is used. It contains not more than 39 percent of moisture and its solids contain not less than 50 percent of milk fat, as determined by the methods prescribed in paragraph (c) of § 19.500.

(b) Milk, which may be pasteurized and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria, present in such milk or added thereto. Purified calcium chloride may be added in a quantity of not more than 0.02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of such milk. Harmless artificial coloring may be added. Sufficient rennet is added to set the milk to a semi-solid mass. The mass is so cut, stirred, and heated with continued stirring, as to promote and regulate the separation of whey and curd. A part of the whey is drained off. The curd is then alternately stirred and drained to prevent matting and to remove whey from curd. The curd is then salted, stirred, drained, and pressed into forms. A harmless enzyme preparation containing one or more of the following enzymes may be added at any time during the above described process: Amylase, catalase, erepsin, lipase, papain, pepsin, sucrase, trypsin, lactase, bromelin, zymase, chymotrypsin. The solids content of the enzyme preparation added does not exceed 0.1 percent of the weight of the milk used. In case the milk used is not pasteurized the curd made therefrom after being pressed into forms is held in storage at a temperature of not less than 35° F. for not less than _____ days. The pressed curd may be coated with paraffin or other similar material, but such paraffin or other similar material is not colored red or green.

(c) For the purposes of this section:

(1) The word "milk" means cows' milk.

(2) Such milk may be adjusted by separation of part of the fat therefrom or the addition thereto of cream or skim milk, concentrated skim milk and/or non-fat dry milk solids.

(3) Milk shall be deemed to have been pasteurized if it has been held at a time and temperature of not less than 143° F. for a period of not less than 30 minutes, or at a time and temperature equivalent thereto in phosphatase destruction. Granular cheese shall be deemed not to have been made from pasteurized milk if 0.25 gm portion shows a phenol equivalent of more than ____ micrograms when tested by the method of Sanders and Sager, as published in "Journal of Dairy Science," November 1946, Vol. XXIX No. 11 pages 737–749.

§ 19.537 Granular cheese for manufacturing, stirred curd cheese for manufacturing; identity. (a) Granular cheese for manufacturing, stirred curd cheese for manufacturing is the food prepared from milk by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, or by another procedure: Provided, The chemical and physical properties of the finished cheese are the same as when the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section is used. It contains not more than 39 percent of moisture and its solids contain not less than 50 percent of milk fat, as determined by the methods prescribed in paragraph (c) of § 19.500.

(b) Milk, which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria, present in such milk or added thereto. Purified calcium chloride may be added in a quantity of not more than 0.02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of such milk. Harmless artificial coloring may be added. Sufficient rennet is added to set the milk to a semi-solid mass. The mass is so cut, stirred, and heated with continued stirring, as to promote and regulate the separation of whey and curd. A part of the whey is drained off. The curd is then alternately stirred and drained to prevent matting and to remove whey from curd. The curd is then salted, stirred, drained, and pressed into forms. A harmless enzyme preparation containing one or more of the following enzymes may be added at any time during the above described process: Amylase, catalase, erepsin, lipase, papain, pepsin, sucrase, trypsin, lactase, bromelin, zymase, chymotrypsin. The solids content of the enzyme preparation added does not exceed 0.1 percent of the weight of the milk used. The cheese is coated with green colored paraffin.

(c) For the purposes of this section:

(1) The word "milk" means cows' milk.

(2) Such milk may be adjusted by the separation of part of the fat therefrom or the addition thereto of cream or skim milk, concentrated skim milk and/or non-fat dry milk solids.

§ 19.540 Swiss cheese, gruyere cheese; identity. (a) Swiss cheese, gruyere cheese, is the food prepared from milk by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, or by another procedure: Provided, The chemical and physical properties of the finished cheese are the same as when the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section is used. It is characterized by a mild somewhat sweetish flavor, and has holes or "eyes" developed throughout the entire cheese. It contains not more than 43 percent moisture and its solids contain not less than 45 percent milk fat, as determined by the methods prescribed in paragraph (c) of § 19.500.

(b) Milk, which may be pasteurized and which may be clarified, and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria present in such milk or added thereto. Harmless propionic-acid-producing bacteria may be added. Purified calcium chloride may be added in a quantity of not more than 0.02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of such milk. Sufficient rennet is added to set the milk to a semi-solid mass. After coagulation the mass is divided into smaller portions and so handled by stirring, heating, dilution with water or salt brine, or salting, as to promote and regulate the separation of whey and curd. The curd is transferred to hoops or forms and pressed until the desired shape and firmness are obtained. The cheese is then salted by immersing the cheese in brine from 2 to 4 days, followed by the addition of salt to the surface of the cheese during the curing period (or by other salting methods giving same results). The cheese is held at a temperature of about 50° to 60° F. until it is not less than 10 days old, after which it is held at a higher temperature of about 75° F. until it is at least 30 days old, during which time the so-called "eyes" form. It is then held at a lower temperature for further aging, or until the cheese is at least 60 days old. Salt may be added to the cheese at any time.

When pasteurized milk is used, a harmless enzyme preparation, containing one or more of the following enzymes, may be added at any time during the above described process: Amylase, catalase, erepsin, lipase, papain, pepsin, sucrase, trypsin, lactase, bromelin, zymase, chymotrypsin. The solids content of the enzyme preparation added does not exceed 0.1 percent of the weight of the milk used.

(c) For the purposes of this section:

(1) The word "milk" means cows' milk.

(2) Such milk may be adjusted by the separation of part of the fat therefrom or the addition thereto of cream or skim milk, concentrated skim milk and/or non-fat dry milk solids.

§ 19.542 Swiss cheese for manufacturing, gruyere cheese for manufacturing; identity. (a) Swiss cheese for manufacturing, gruyere cheese for manufacturing, conforms to the definition and standard of identity for swiss cheese prescribed by § 19.540, except that, either the holes known as "eyes" have not developed throughout the entire cheese, or it has been held for 42 days but not for 60 days at a temperature of not less than 35° F., or differs in both these ways.

It is coated with a green colored paraffin.

§ 19.545 Brick cheese; identity. (a) Brick cheese is the food prepared by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, or by another procedure: Provided, The chemical and physical properties of the finished cheese are the same as when the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section is used. Brick cheese is made in rectangular or loaf form and each cheese weighs not less than 4 nor more than 6 pounds. It contains not more than 43 percent of moisture and its solids contain not less than 50 percent of milk fat, as determined by the methods described in paragraph (c) of § 19.500.

(b) Milk, which may be pasteurized and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria present in such milk or added thereto. Purified calcium chloride may be added in a quantity of not more than 0.02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of such milk. Sufficient rennet is added to set the milk to a semi-solid mass. After coagulation the mass is divided into smaller portions and so handled by stirring, heating, dilution with water or salt brine, or salting as to promote and regulate the separation of whey and curd. When the desired curd is produced it is transferred to forms permitting drainage of the whey. During drainage the curd may be pressed and turned. After drainage the curd is removed from the forms and is usually salted, although salt may be applied at any time in the making or curing process. It is then cured under suitable conditions until ready for marketing.

A harmless enzyme preparation, containing one or more of the following enzymes may be added at any time during the above described process: Amylase, catalase, erepsin, lipase, papain, pepsin, sucrase, trypsin, lactase, bromelin, zymase, chymotrypsin. The solids content of the enzyme preparation added may not exceed 0.1 percent of the weight of the milk used.

In case the milk used is not pasteurized, the curd made therefrom after being shaped into forms is held in storage at a temperature of not less than 35° F. for not less than _____ days. The shaped curd may be coated with paraffin or other similar material, but such paraffin or other similar material is not colored red or green.

(c) For the purposes of this section:

(1) The word "milk" means cows' milk.

(2) Such milk may be adjusted by the separation of part of the fat therefrom or the addition thereto of cream or skim milk, concentrated skim milk and/or non-fat dry milk solids.

(3) Milk shall be deemed to have been pasteurized if it has been held at a time and temperature of not less than 143° F. for a period of not less than 30 minutes, or at a time and temperature equivalent thereto in phosphatase destruction. Brick cheese shall be deemed to have been made from pasteurized milk if 0.25 gm shows a phenol equivalent of more than _____ micrograms when tested by the method of Sanders and Sager published in "Journal of Dairy Science," November 1946 Vol. XXIX No. 11 pages 737–749.

§ 19.547 Brick cheese for manufacturing; identity. Brick cheese for manufacturing conforms to the definition and standard of identity prescribed for Brick Cheese by § 19.545 except that pasteurized milk is not used, and it is colored with green colored paraffin.

§ 19.550 Muenster cheese; identity. (a) Muenster cheese is the food prepared from milk by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, or by another procedure: Provided, The chemical and physical properties of the finished cheese are the same as when the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section is used. Muenster cheese is made in cylindrical form and weighs not less than 4 nor more than 6 pounds. It contains not more than 44 percent of moisture and its solids contain not less than 50 percent of milk fat, as determined by the methods prescribed in paragraph (b) of § 19.500.

(b) Milk, which may be pasteurized and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid producing bacteria, present in such milk or added thereto. Purified calcium chloride may be added in a quantity of not more than 0.02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of such milk. Harmless artificial coloring may be added. Sufficient rennet is added to set the milk to a semi-solid mass. After coagulation the mass is divided into smaller portions and so handled by stirring, heating, dilution with water or salt brine, or salting as to promote and regulate the separation of whey and curd. When the desired curd is produced, it is transferred to forms permitting drainage of the whey. During drainage the curd may be pressed and turned. After drainage the curd is removed from the forms and is usually salted, although salt may be applied at any time in the making or curing process. It is then cured under suitable conditions until ready for marketing.

A harmless enzyme preparation, containing one or more of the following enzymes may be added at any time during the above described process: Amylase, catalase, erepsin, lipase, papain, pepsin, sucrase, trypsin, lactase, bromelin, zymase, chymotrypsin. The solids content of the enzyme preparation added does not exceed 0.1 percent of the weight of the milk used.

In case the milk used is not pasteurized, the curd made therefrom after being shaped into forms is held in storage at a temperature of not less than 35° F. for not less than ____ days.

The shaped curd may be coated with paraffin or other similar material, but such paraffin or other similar material is not colored red or green.

(c) For the purposes of this section:

(1) The word "milk" means cows' milk.

(2) Such milk may be adjusted by the separation of part of the fat therefrom or the addition thereto of cream or skim milk, concentrated skim milk and/or non-fat dry milk solids.

(3) Milk shall be deemed to have been pasteurized if it has been held at a time and temperature of not less than 143° F. for a period of not less than 30 minutes, or at a time and temperature equivalent thereto in phosphatase destruction. Muenster cheese shall be deemed not to have been made from pasteurized milk if 0.25 gm shows a phenol equivalent of more than ____ micrograms when tested by the method of Sanders and Sager as published in "Journal of Dairy Science," November 1946, Vol. XXIX No. 11 pages 737–749.

§ 19.555 Edam cheese; identity. (a) Edam cheese is the food prepared from milk by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, or by another procedure: Provided, The chemical and physical properties of the finished cheese are the same as when the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section is used. It contains not more than 45 percent moisture and its solids contain not less than 40 percent milk fat as determined by the methods prescribed in paragraph (c) of § 19.500. Edam cheese is made in ball or loaf shape in sizes not to exceed 10 pounds. The surface is colored red.

(b) Milk, which may be pasteurized and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria present in such milk or added thereto. Harmless artificial coloring may be added. Purified calcium chloride may be added in a quantity of not more than 0.02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of such milk. Sufficient rennet is added to set the milk to a semi-solid mass. After coagulation the mass is divided into smaller portions and so handled by stirring, heating, dilution with water or salt brine, or salting, as to promote and regulate the separation of whey and curd. When the desired curd is produced it is transferred to forms permitting drainage of the whey. During drainage the curd may be pressed and turned. After drainage the curd is removed from the forms and is usually salted, although salt may be applied at any time in the making or curing process. It is then cured under suitable conditions until ready for marketing.

A harmless enzyme preparation, containing one or more of the following enzymes, may be added at any time during the above described process: Amylase, catalase, erepsin, lipase, papain, pepsin, sucrase, trypsin, lactase, bromelin, zymase, chymotrypsin. The solids content of the enzyme preparation added does not exceed 0.10 percent of the weight of the milk used.

In case the milk used is not pasteurized, the curd made therefrom after being shaped into forms is held in storage at a temperature of not less than 35° F. for not less than _____ days.

(c) For the purposes of this section:

(1) The word "milk" means cows' milk.

(2) Such milk may be adjusted by the separation of part of the fat therefrom or the addition thereto of cream or skim milk, concentrated skim milk and/or non-fat dry milk solids.

(3) Milk shall be deemed to have been pasteurized if it has been held at a time and temperature of not less than 143° F. for a period of not less than 30 minutes, or at a time and temperature equivalent thereto in phosphatase destruction. Edam cheese shall be deemed not to have been made from pasteurized milk if a 0.25 gm portion shows a phenol equivalent of more than _____ micrograms when tested by the method of Sanders and Sager, as published in "Journal of Dairy Science," November 1946, Vol. XXIX, No. 11, pages 737–749.

§ 19.560 Gouda cheese; identity. (a) Gouda cheese is the food prepared from milk by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, or by another procedure: Provided, The chemical and physical properties of the finished cheese are the same as when the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section is used. It contains not more than 45 percent of moisture and its solids contain not less than 40 percent of milk fat as determined by the methods prescribed in paragraph (c) of § 19.500. Gouda cheese is made in ellipsoid shape, in sizes not exceeding 5 pounds in weight. The surface is colored red.

(b) Milk, which may be pasteurized and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria present in such milk or added thereto. Harmless artificial coloring may be added. Purified calcium chloride may be added in a quantity of not more than 0.02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of such milk. Sufficient rennet is added to set the milk to a semi-solid mass. After coagulation the mass is divided into smaller portions and so handled by stirring, heating, diluting with water or salt brine, or salting, as to promote and regulate the separation of whey and curd. When the desired curd is produced it is transferred to forms permitting drainage of the whey. During drainage the curd is removed from the forms and is usually salted, although salt may be applied at any time in the making or curing process. It is then cured under suitable conditions until ready for marketing.

A harmless enzyme preparation, containing one or more of the following enzymes, may be added at any time during the above described process: Amylase, catalase, erepsin, lipase, papain, pepsin, sucrase, trypsin, lactase, bromelin, zymase, chymotrypsin. The solids content of the enzyme preparation added does not exceed 0.1 percent of the weight of the milk used.

In case the milk used is not pasteurized, the curd made therefrom, after being shaped into forms, is held in storage at a temperature of not less than 35° F. for not less than __ days.

(c) For the purposes of this section:

(1) The word "milk" means cows' milk.

(2) Such milk may be adjusted by the separation of part of the fat therefrom or the addition thereto of cream or skim milk, concentrated skim milk and/or non-fat dry milk solids.

(3) Milk shall be deemed to have been pasteurized if it has been held at a time and temperature of not less than 143° F. for a period of not less than 30 minutes, or at a time and temperature equivalent thereto in phosphatase destruction. Gouda cheese shall be deemed not to have been made from pasteurized milk if a 0.25 gm portion shows a phenol equivalent of more than __ micrograms when tested by the method of Sanders and Sager as published in "Journal of Dairy Science," November 1946, Vol. XXIX, No. 11, pages 737–749.

§ 19.565 Blue mold cheese, blue cheese; identity. (a) Blue mold cheese, blue cheese, is the food prepared from milk by the process set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, or by another procedure: Provided, The chemical and physical properties of the finished cheese are the same as when the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section is used. It is characterized by visible blue green mold distributed throughout the cheese body. It contains not more than 45 percent moisture and its solids contain not less than 50 percent milk fat, as determined by the methods prescribed in paragraph (c) of § 19.500.

(b) The milk used in the manufacture of blue mold cheese may be pasteurized and may be homogenized, or the fat may be separated and homogenized and then recombined, but in case the milk used is sheeps' milk or goats' milk, or a mixture of these, or a mixture of one or both these with cows' milk, it is pasteurized. Purified calcium chloride may be added in a quantity of not more than 0.02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of the milk. The fat may be bleached by the use of benzoyl peroxide, or a mixture of one part of benzoyl peroxide by weight and not more than six parts of potassium alum or calcium sulphate and magnesium carbonate. In no case does the amount of benzoyl peroxide exceed 0.002 percent of the weight of milk used. The milk is then subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria present in such milk or added thereto. Sufficient rennet is added to set the milk to a semi-solid mass. After the curd has reached the desired degree of firmness, it is divided into smaller portions. The curd may remain in the whey until the proper condition is reached, after which the curd is removed from the whey and placed in forms. At some time during the manufacturing process, a culture of the penicillium group mold is added. The cheese is salted either by the use of dry salt and/or brine. The cheese is then perforated and cured until ready for sale.

A harmless enzyme preparation, containing one or more of the following enzymes, may be added at any time during the above described process: Amylase, catalase, erepsin, lipase, papain, pepsin, sucrase, trypsin, lactase, bromelin, zymase, chymotrypsin. The solids content of the enzyme preparation added does not exceed 0.1 percent of the weight of the milk used.

In case the milk used consists entirely of cows' milk and is not pasteurized, the curd therefrom, after being shaped into forms, is held in storage at a temperature of not less than 35° F. for not less than _____ days.

(c) For the purposes of this section:

(1) The word "milk" means cows', goats' or ewes' milk, or any mixture of them.

(2) Such milk may be adjusted by the separation of part of the fat therefrom or the addition thereto of cream or skim milk, concentrated skim milk and/or nonfat dry milk solids.

(3) Milk shall be deemed to have been pasteurized if it has been held at a time and temperature of not less than 143° F. for a period of not less than 30 minutes, or at a time and temperature equivalent thereto in phosphatase destruction. Blue mold cheese shall be deemed not to have been made from pasteurized milk if 0.25 gm shows a phenol equivalent of more than _____ micrograms when tested by the method of Sanders and Sager, as published in "Journal of Dairy Science," November 1946. Vol. XXIX, No. 11, pages 737–749.

§ 19.570 Camembert cheese; identity. (a) Camembert cheese is a soft cheese with a characteristic rind formed by the growth of typical white mold, with or without harmless ripening organisms, which produces a characteristic flavor. Camembert cheese is prepared from milk by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, or by another procedure: Provided, The chemical and physical properties of the finished cheese are the same as when the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, is used. Its solids contain not less than 50 percent of milk fat, as determined by the method prescribed in paragraph (c) of § 19.500.

(b) Milk, which is pasteurized and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria present in such milk or added thereto. Harmless artificial coloring may be added. Purified calcium chloride may be added in a quantity of not more than .02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of such milk. Sufficient rennet is added to set the milk to a semi-solid mass. After coagulation the mass is divided into smaller portions and so handled by stirring, heating, dilution with water or salt brine, or salting, as to promote the separation of whey and curd. When the desired curd is produced it is transferred to forms permitting drainage of the whey. After drainage the curd is removed from the forms and is usually salted, although salt may be added at any time in the making or curing process. At some time in the process mold spores of a typical white penicillium are added. The cheese is held under suitable conditions for the spores to germinate and for the mold to develop upon the surface of the cheese. Curing progresses from the outer surface toward the center of the cheese. When this has advanced to a desirable point the cheese is packaged in suitable materials.

A harmless enzyme preparation, containing one or more of the following enzymes, may be added at any time during the above described process: Amylase, catalase, erepsin, lipase, papain, pepsin, sucrase, trypsin, lactase, bromelin, zymase, chymotrypsin. The solids content of this enzyme preparation added does not exceed 0.1 percent of the weight of the milk used.

In case the milk used is not pasteurized, the curd made therefrom, after being shaped into forms, is held in storage at a temperature of not less than 35° F. for a period of not less than ____ days.

(c) For the purposes of this section:

(1) The word "milk" means cows' milk.

(2) Such milk may be adjusted by the separation of part of the fat therefrom or the addition thereto of cream or skim milk, concentrated skim milk and/or non-fat dry milk solids.

(3) Milk shall be deemed to have been pasteurized if it has been held at a time and temperature of not less than 143° F. for a period of not less than 30 minutes, or at a time and temperature equivalent thereto in phosphatase destruction. Limburger cheese shall be deemed not to have been made from pasteurized milk if a 0.25 gm portion shows a phenol equivalent of more than ____ micrograms when tested by the method of Sanders and Sager as published in "Journal of Dairy Science," November 1946 Vol. XXIX No. 11 pages 737–749.

§ 19.575 Limburger cheese; identity. (a) Limburger cheese is a surface ripened, semi-soft cheese with a strong characteristic odor and taste, prepared by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, or by another procedure: Provided, The chemical and physical properties of the finished cheese are the same as when the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section is used. It contains not more than 50 percent of moisture and its solids contain not less than 50 percent of milk fat as determined by the methods prescribed in paragraph (c) of § 19.500.

(b) Milk, which may be pasteurized and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria, present in such milk or added thereto. Purified calcium chloride may be added in a quantity of not more than 0.02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of such milk. Sufficient rennet is added to set the milk to a semi-solid mass. After coagulation, the mass is divided into smaller portions and so handled by stirring, heating, dilution with water or salt brine, or salting as to promote the separation of whey and curd. When the desired curd is produced it is transferred to forms permitting drainage of the whey. After drainage the curd is removed from the forms and is usually salted, although salt may be applied at any other time in the making or curing process. The cheese is then cured under suitable conditions to promote the development of the characteristic biological curing agents upon the surface.

A harmless enzyme preparation containing one or more of the following enzymes may be added at any time during the above described process: Amylase, catalase, erepsin, lipase, papain, pepsin, sucrase, trypsin, lactase, bromelin, zymase, chymotrypsin. The solids content of the enzyme preparation added does not exceed 0.1 percent of the weight of the milk used.

In case the milk used is not pasteurized, the curd made therefrom, after being shaped into forms, is held in storage at a temperature of not less than 35° F. for a period of not less than ____ days.

(c) For the purposes of this section:

(1) The word "milk" means cows' milk.

(2) Such milk may be adjusted by the separation of part of the fat therefrom or the addition thereto of cream or skim milk, concentrated skim milk and/or non-fat dry milk solids.

grams when tested by the method of Sanders and Sager as published in ____ "Journal of Dairy Science," November 1946 Vol. XXIX No. 11, pages 737–749.

§ 19.580 Monterey cheese; identity. (a) Monterey cheeese is the food prepared from milk by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, or by another procedure: Provided, The chemical and physical properties of the finished cheese are the same as when the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section is used. It contains not more than 44 percent moisture and its solids contain not less than 50 percent fat, as determined by the methods prescribed in paragraph (c) of § 19.500.

(b) Milk, which may be pasteurized and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria present in such milk or added thereto. Purified calcium chloride may be added in a quantity of not more than 0.02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of such milk. Sufficient rennet is added to set the milk to a semi-solid mass. The mass is divided into smaller portions and so handled by stirring, heating, diluting with water or salt brine, or salting, as to promote and regulate the separation of whey and curd. The curd is then placed in muslin or sheeting cloths and formed into a ball, and pressed. The cloths are removed the following day and the cheese is placed on trucks or racks and turned frequently to prevent checking and to form a rind. The cheese may then be paraffined with clear or colored paraffin, but the color is not red or green, or it may be dipped in vegetable oil. Rice flour may then be sprinkled on the surface.

A harmless enzyme preparation, containing one or more of the following enzymes, may be added at any time during the above described process: Amylase, catalase, erepsin, lipase, papain, pepsin, sucrase, trypsin, lactase, bromelin, zymase, chymotrypsin. The solids content of the enzyme preparation added does not exceed 0.1 percent of the weight of the milk used.

In case the milk used is not pasteurized, the curd made therefrom, after being shaped into forms, is held in storage at a temperature of not less than 35° F. for not less than ____ days.

(c) For the purposes of this section:

(1) The word "milk" means cows' milk.

(2) Such milk may be adjusted by the separation of part of the fat therefrom or the addition thereto of cream or skim milk, concentrated skim milk and/or non-fat dry milk solids.

(3) Milk shall be deemed to have been pasteurized if it has been held at a time and temperature of not less than 143° F. for a period of not less than 30 minutes, or at a time and temperature equivalent thereto in phosphatase destruction. Monterey cheese shall be deemed not to have been made from pasteurized milk if a 0.25 gm portion shows a phenol equivalent of more than ______ micrograms when tested by the method of Sanders and Sager, as published in "Journal of Dairy Science," November 1946, Vol. XXIX No. 11, pages 737–749.

§ 19.585 High moisture jack cheese; identity. (a) High moisture jack cheese is the food prepared from milk by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, or by another procedure: Provided, The chemical and physical properties of the finished cheese are the same as when the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section is used. It contains more than 44 percent but not more than 50 percent moisture and its solids contain not less than 50 percent milk fat, as determined by the methods prescribed in paragraph (c) of § 19.500.

(b) Milk, which may be pasteurized and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria present in such milk or added thereto. Purified calcium chloride may be added in a quantity of not more than 0.02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of such milk. Sufficient rennet is added to set the milk to a semi-solid mass. The mass is divided into smaller portions and so handled by stirring, heating, diluting with water or salt brine, or salting, as to promote and regulate the separation of whey and curd. The curd is then placed in muslin or sheeting cloths and formed into a ball, and pressed. The cloths are removed the following day and the cheese is placed on trucks or racks and turned frequently to prevent checking and to form a rind. The cheese may then be paraffined with clear or colored paraffin, but the color is not red or green, or may be dipped in vegetable oil. Rice flour may then be sprinkled on the surface.

A harmless enzyme preparation, containing one or more of the following enzymes, may be added at any time during the above described process: Amylase, catalase, erepsin, lipase, papain, pepsin, sucrase, trypsin, lactase, bromelin, zymase, chymotrypsin. The solids content of the enzyme preparation added does not exceed 0.1 percent of the weight of the milk used.

In case the milk used is not pasteurized, the curd made therefrom, after being shaped into forms, is held in storage at a temperature of not less than 35° F. for not less than __ days.

(c) For the purposes of this section:

(1) The word "milk" means cows' milk.

(2) Such milk may be adjusted by the separation of part of the fat therefrom or the addition thereto of cream or skim milk, concentrated skim milk and/or non-fat dry milk solids.

(3) Milk shall be deemed to have been pasteurized if it has been held at a time and temperature of not less than 143° F. for a period of not less than 30 minutes, or at a time and temperature equivalent thereto in phosphatase destruction. High moisture jack cheese shall be deemed not to have been made from pastuerized milk if a 0.25 gm portion shows a phenol equivalent of more than ____ micrograms when tested by the method of Sanders and Sager, as published in "Journal of Dairy Science," November 1946, Vol. XXIX No. 11, pages 737–749.

§ 19.590 Provolone cheese, pasta filata cheese; identity. (a) Provolone Cheese, pasta filata cheese, is the food prepared from milk by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, or by another procedure: Provided, The chemical and physical properties of the finished cheese are the same as when the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section is used. It is characterized by a stringy curd texture. It contains not more than 45 percent of moisture and its solids contain not less than 45 percent of milk fat, as determined by the methods prescribed in paragraph (c) of § 19.500.

(b) Milk, which may be pasteurized and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria present in such milk or added thereto. Purified calcium chloride may be added in a quantity of not more than 0.02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of such milk. Rennet paste or an extract of rennet paste is added in sufficient quantity to set the milk to a semi-solid mass. The mass is cut, stirred and heated so as to promote lactic-acid-development and to regulate the separation of the whey from the curd. The mass is heated and the whey is drained from the curd. To attain the proper degree of elasticity, the curd is then cut, matted in the vat or kettle, milled, immersed in hot water, kneaded, stretched and pulled, until it is smooth and free from lumps and brittleness, cut to size, and molded into characteristic forms and shapes. During the molding operation the mass is kept sufficiently warm to cause proper sealing of the surface. Thereafter the cheese is immersed in cold water for firming. It is then salted in brine, and may be encased in ropes or twine, and is dried. The cheese may be subjected to the action of natural hardwood smoke until a smoked flavor is developed. It is cured until at least 60 days old. At some time prior to 60 days from the date of manufacture, each cheese is paraffined by dipping all surfaces in liquified paraffin. The paraffin is not colored red or green.

(c) For the purposes of this section:

(1) The word "milk" means cows' milk.

(2) Such milk may be adjusted by the separation of part of the fat therefrom or the addition thereto of cream or skim milk, concentrated skim milk and or non-fat dry milk solids.

and Sager, as published in the "Journal of Dairy Science," November 1946 Vol. XXIX No. 11 pages 737–749.

§ 19.595 Parmesan cheese, reggiano cheese; identity. (a) Parmesan cheese, reggiano cheese, is the food prepared from milk by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, or by another procedure: Provided, The chemical and physical properties of the finished cheese are the same as when the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section is used. The cheese is characterized by a granular texture, a mellow nutty flavor, and a rind which is hard, resistant, and brittle. It grates readily. It contains not more than 32 percent of moisture and its solids contain not less than _____ percent of milk fat, as determined by the methods prescribed in paragraph (c) of § 19.500.

(b) Milk, which may be pasteurized and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria present in such milk or added thereto. Purified calcium chloride may be added in a quantity of not more than 0.02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of such milk. Harmless artificial coloring may be added. Rennet is added in sufficient quantity to set the milk to a semi-solid mass. The mass is cut and heated while being stirred. The cutting of the curd during the stirring and heating process is continued until the particles are no larger than wheat kernels. The final cooking temperature is approximately 125° F. The curd is allowed to precipitate to the bottom of the kettle or vat, then removed, drained for a short time, and then packed in hoops and pressed. About 3 days after pressing, the cheese is brine salted for a period of at least one day for each two pounds of cheese in the loaf, or dry salted for a period of at least three days for each two pounds of cheese in the loaf. After salting, the cheese is held on shelves in a cool ventilated room until at least 14 months old. During this period the cheese is frequently turned, buffed and rubbed with vegetable oil. The rind of the cheese may be coated or artificially colored, but is not colored red or green.

(c) For the purposes of this section:

(1) The word "milk" means cows' milk.

(2) Such milk may be adjusted by the separation of part of the fat therefrom or the addition thereto of cream or skim milk, concentrated skim milk and/or non-fat dry milk solids.

§ 19.600 Monte cheese; identity. (a) Monte cheese is the food prepared from milk by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, or by another procedure: Provided, The chemical and physical properties of the finished cheese are the same as when the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section is used. The cheese is characterized by a grainy texture, a moderately sharp flavor, and a rind which is hard, resistant and brittle. It grates readily. It contains not more than 32 percent of moisture and its solids contain not less than 24 percent of milk fat, as determined by the methods prescribed in paragraph (c) of § 19.500.

(b) Milk, which may be pasteurized and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria present in such milk or added thereto. Purified calcium chloride may be added, in a quantity of not more than 0.02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of such milk. Harmless artificial coloring may be added. Rennet paste or extract of rennet paste is added in sufficient quantity to set the milk to a semi-solid mass. The mass is cut and heated while being stirred. The cutting of the curd while stirring and heating is continued until the particles are no larger than wheat kernels. The final cooking temperature is approximately 125° F. The cut curd is allowed to settle to the bottom of the kettle or vat, then removed, drained for a short time, and then packed in hoops and pressed. About 3 days after pressing, the cheese is brine salted for a period of at least one day for each two pounds of cheese in the loaf, or dry salted for a period of at least three days for each two pounds of cheese in the loaf. After salting, the cheese is held on shelves in a cool ventilated room until at least 8 months old. During this period the cheese is frequently turned, buffed, and rubbed with vegetable oil.

(c) For the purposes of this section:

(1) The word "milk" means cows' milk.

(2) Such milk may be adjusted by the separation of part of the fat therefrom or the addition thereto of cream or skim milk, concentrated skim milk and/or non-fat dry milk solids.

§ 19.605 Modena cheese; identity. Modena Cheese conforms to the definition and standard of identity prescribed for Monte Cheese by § 19.600 except that rennet is used, the fat content of its solids is not less than 20 percent and it is cured for not less than 12 months.

§ 19.610 Romano cheese; identity. (a) Romano cheese is the food prepared from milk by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, or by another procedure: Provided, The chemical and physical properties of the finished cheese are the same as when the method set forth in paragraph (b) of this section is used. The cheese is characterized by a granular texture, piquant flavor, and a hard, resistant and brittle rind. It grates readily. It contains not more than 34 percent moisture and its solids contain not less than 38 percent milk fat as determined by the methods prescribed in paragraph (c) of § 19.500.

(b) Milk, which may be pasteurized and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria present in such milk or added thereto. Purified calcium chloride may be added in a quantity of not more than 0.02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of such milk. Rennet paste or an extract of rennet paste is added in sufficient quantity to set the milk to a semi-solid mass. The mass is cut and heated while being stirred. The cutting of the curd during the stirring and heating process is continued until the particles are no larger than corn kernels. The final cooking temperature is approximately 120° F. The curd is allowed to settle to the bottom of the kettle or vat and is then removed from the kettle, drained for a short time, and then packed in cloth lined hoops or in forms and pressed. It is then salted by immersing in brine for about 24 hours. The cheese is then removed to a dry room where it is held for 2 or 3 days until the surface is dry. The cheese is then rubbed with salt, washed at intervals of from 3 to 6 days. During this time the cheese may be perforated with needles. The loaves are then washed, dried, and held on shelves for periods of at least 5 months for 5 to 7 pound loaves; 8 months for 7 to 12 pounds loaves; 10 months for loaves weighing over 12 pounds. During this curing period the cheese is regularly turned, scraped, and may be rubbed with vegetable oil. Prior to shipping, the cheese may be coated, but such coating is not colored red or green.

(c) For the purposes of this section:

(1) The word "milk" means cows' milk, ewes' milk, goats' milk, or any mixture thereof.

(2) Such milk may be adjusted by the separation of part of the fat therefrom or the addition thereto of cream or skim milk, concentrated skim milk and/or non-fat dry milk solids.

§ 19.615 Asiago fresh cheese; identity. (a) Asiago fresh cheese is the food prepared from milk by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, or by another procedure: Provided, The chemical and physical properties of the finished cheese are the same as when the method set forth in paragraph (b) of this section is used. It contains not more than 39 percent moisture and its solids contain not less than 50 percent milk fat, as determined by the methods prescribed in paragraph (c) of § 19.500.

(b) Milk, which may be pasteurized and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria present in such milk or added thereto. Purified calcium chloride may be added in a quantity of not more than 0.02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of such milk. Rennet is added in sufficient quantity to set the milk to a semi-solid mass. The mass is cut, stirred and heated so as to promote lactic-acid development and to permit separation of the whey from the curd. The mass is heated, after which the curd is drained from the whey. When the curd is sufficiently firm, it is removed from the kettle or vat, drained for a short time and then packed in hoops for pressing. After pressing, the cheese is salted in brine and moved to a cool well-ventilated room where it is held on shelves until at least 60 days old. The surface of the cheese during this curing period is occasionally rubbed with vegetable oil.

A harmless enzyme preparation, containing one or more of the following enzymes, may be added at any time during the above described process: Amylase, catalase, erepsin, lipase, papain, pepsin, sucrase, trypsin, lactase, bromelin, zymase, chymotrypsin. The solids content of the enzyme preparation added does not exceed 0.1 percent of the weight of the milk used.

(c) For the purposes of this section:

(1) The word "milk" means cows' milk.

(2) Such milk may be adjusted by the separation of part of the fat therefrom or the addition thereto of cream or skim milk, concentrated skim milk and/or non-fat dry milk solids.

(3) Milk shall be deemed to have been pasteurized if it has been held at a time and temperature of not less than 143° F. for a period of not less than 30 minutes, or at a time and temperature equivalent thereto in phosphatase destruction. Asiago fresh cheese shall be deemed not to have been made from pasteurized milk if a 0.25 gm portion shows a phenol equivalent of more than ------ micrograms when tested by the method of Sanders and Sager, as published in "Journal of Dairy Science," November 1946 Vol. XXIX No. 11 pages 737–749.

§ 19.620 Asiago medium cheese; identity. Asiago medium cheese conforms to the definition and standard of identity for Asiago fresh cheese prescribed by § 19.615 except that it contains not more than 35 percent moisture and its solids contain not less than 45 percent milk fat and it is cured not less than six months.

§ 19.625 Asiago old cheese; identity. Asiago old cheese conforms to the definition and standard of identity for Asiago fresh cheese prescribed by § 19.615 except that it contains not more than 32 percent moisture, its solids contain not less than 42 percent milk fat, and it is cured for not less than one year.

§ 19.630 Gorgonzola cheese; identity. (a) Gorgonzola cheese is the food prepared from milk by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, or by another procedure, providing, the chemical and physical properties of the finished cheese are the same as when the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section is used. It contains not more than 42 percent moisture and its solids contain not less than 50 percent milk fat, as determined by the methods prescribed in paragraph (c) of § 19.500.

(b) The milk is pasteurized. It may be homogenized, or the fat of such milk may be separated and homogenized and then recombined. Purified calcium chloride may be added in a quantity of not more than 0.02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of the milk. The fat may be bleached by the use of benzoyl peroxide, or a mixture of one part of benzoyl peroxide by weight and not more than 6 parts of potassium alum or calcium sulfate and magnesium carbonate. In no case does the amount of benzoyl peroxide exceed 0.002 percent of the weight of milk used. The milk is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria present in such milk or added thereto. Sufficient rennet is added to set the milk to a semi-solid mass. After the curd has reached the desired degree of firmness it is divided into smaller portions. These remain in whey until proper condition is reached. They are then removed from whey and placed in forms. At some time during this procedure a culture of penicillium glaucum is added. The cheese is salted either by use of dry salt and/or brine. The cheese is then perforated and cured until ready for sale.

(c) For the purposes of this section:

(1) The word "milk" means cows', goats' or ewes' milk, or any mixture of them.

(2) Such milk may be adjusted by the separation of part of the fat therefrom or the addition thereto of cream or skim milk, concentrated skim milk and/or non-fat dry milk solids.

(3) Milk shall be deemed to have been pasteurized if it has been held at a time and temperature of not less than 143° F. for a period of not less than 30 minutes or at a time and temperature equivalent thereto in phosphatase destruction. Gorgonzola cheese shall be deemed not to have been made from pasteurized milk if a 0.25 gm portion shows a phenol equivalent of more than -- micrograms when tested by the method of Sanders and Sager, as published in "Journal of Dairy Science," November 1946 Vol. XXIX No. 11 pages 737–749.

§ 19.635 Cook cheese, koch kaese; identity. (a) Cook cheese, koch kaese is the food prepared from skim milk by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, or by another procedure: Provided, The chemical and physical properties of the finished cheese are the same as when the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section is used. It contains not more than 80 percent moisture, and its solids contain not less than ---- percent of milk fat, as determined by the methods prescribed in paragraph (c) of § 19.500.

(b) Skim milk, which may be pasteurized and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria, present in such milk or added thereto. Purified calcium chloride may be added in a quantity of not more than 0.02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of such milk. Sufficient rennet may be added to aid in setting the milk to a semi-solid mass. The mass is cut, stirred and heated with continued stirring so as to separate the curd. The whey is drained from the curd and the curd cured in trays for two to three days, depending on the temperature. It is then heated in a kettle to a temperature of not less than 180° F. until the hot curd drops from a ladle with a consistency like honey. The cheese is run into packages and cooled. Milk fat, salt or caraway seed or a mixture thereof may be added.

(c) For the purposes of this section:

(1) The word "milk" means cow's milk.

(2) Such milk may be adjusted by the separation of part of the fat therefrom or the addition thereto of cream or skim milk, concentrated skim milk and/or non-fat dry milk solids.

(3) A 0.25 gm portion of cook cheese shows a phenol equivalent of not more than ---- micrograms when tested by the method of Sanders and Sager, as published in "Journal of Dairy Science," November 1946, Vol. XXIX, No. 11, pages 737–749.

§ 19.650 Hard cheese; identity. (a) The cheeses for which definitions and standards of identity are prescribed by this section are hard cheeses for which specifically applicable definitions and standards of identity are not prescribed by another section of the regulations of this part. They are made from milk by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, and contain not more than 39 percent of moisture, and their solids contain not less than 50 percent of milk fat, as determined by the methods prescribed in paragraph (c) of § 19.500.

(b) Milk, which may be pasteurized and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria present in such milk or added thereto. Purified calcium chloride may be added in a quantity of not more than 0.02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of the milk. Harmless coloring may be added. The milk is set into a semi-solid mass by the addition of sufficient rennet or by other means. After coagulation the mass is divided into small portions and so handled as to promote and regulate the separation of the curd from the whey. The whey is drained to a greater or less extent, from the curd, and the curd is collected and shaped. It may be salted, and may be placed in forms, and may be pressed. It is cured until ready for marketing. At any time during manufacture a harmless enzyme preparation containing one or more of the following enzymes may be added: Amylase, catalase, erepsin, lipase, papain, pepsin, sucrase, trypsin, lactase, bromelin, zymase, chymotrypsin. The solids content of the enzyme preparation added does not exceed 0.1 percent of the weight of the milk used.

In case the milk used is not pasteurized, the curd made therefrom is held in storage at a temperature of not less than 35° F. for not less than ----- days. The shaped curd may be coated with paraffin or other similar material but such coating is not colored red or green.

(c) For the purposes of this section:

(1) The word "milk" means cows' milk.

(2) Such milk may be adjusted by the separation of part of the fat therefrom or the addition thereto of cream or skim milk, concentrated skim milk, and/or non-fat dry milk solids.

(3) Milk shall be deemed to have been pasteurized if it has been held at a time and temperature of not less than 143° F. for a period of not less than 30 minutes, or at a time and temperature equivalent thereto in phosphatase destruction. A hard cheese shall be deemed not to have been made from pasteurized milk if a 0.25 gm portion shows a phenol equivalent of more than --- micrograms, when tested by the method of Sanders and Sager, as published in "Journal of Dairy Science," November 1946 Vol. XXIX No. 11 pages 737–749.

(d) The name of each hard cheese for which a definition and standard of identity is prescribed by this section is "Hard Cheese" preceded or followed by (1) the specific common or usual name of such hard cheese, if such name has become generally recognized therefor; or (2) if no such name has become so recognized, an arbitrary or fanciful name which is not false or misleading in any particular.

§ 19.655 Semi-soft cheese; identity. (a) The semi-soft cheeses for which definitions and standards of identity are prescribed by this section are semi-soft cheeses for which specifically applicable definitions and standards of identity are not prescribed by another section of the regulations of this part. They are made from milk by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section and contain more than 39 percent but not more than 50 percent of moisture, and their solids contain not less than 50 percent of milk fat, as determined by methods prescribed by paragraph (c) of § 19.500.

(b) Milk is pasteurized and is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria present in such milk or added thereto. Purified calcium chloride may be added in a quantity of not more than 0.02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of the milk. Harmless coloring may be added. The milk is set into a semi-solid mass by the addition of sufficient rennet or by other means. After coagulation the mass is divided into small portions and so handled as to promote and regulate the separation of the curd from the whey. The whey is drained, to a greater or less extent, from the curd, and the curd is collected and shaped. It may be salted, and may be placed in forms, and may be pressed. It is cured until ready for marketing. At any time during manufacture a harmless enzyme preparation containing one or more of the following enzymes may be added: Amylase, catalase, erepsin, lipase, papain, pepsin, sucrase, trypsin, lactase, bromelin, zymase, chymotrypsin. The solids content of the enzyme preparation added does not exceed 0.1 percent of the weight of the milk used.

In case the milk used is not pasteurized, the curd made therefrom is held in storage at a temperature of not less than 143° F. for not less than ---- days. The shaped curd may be coated with paraffin or other similar material but such coating is not colored red or green.

(c) For the purposes of this section:

(1) The word "milk" means cows' milk.

(2) Such milk may be adjusted by the separation of part of the fat therefrom or the addition thereto of cream or skim milk, concentrated skim milk, and/or non-fat dry milk solids.

(3) Milk shall be deemed to have been pasteurized if it has been held at a time and temperature of not less than 143° F. for a period of not less than 30 minutes, or at a time and temperature equivalent thereto in phosphatase destruction. A semi-soft cheese shall be deemed not to have been made from pasteurized milk if a 0.25 gm portion shows a phenol equivalent of more than ---- micrograms, when tested by the method of Sanders and Sager, as published in "Journal of Dairy Science," November 1946, Vol XXIX No. 11, pages 737–749.

(d) The name of each semi-soft cheese for which a definition and standard of identity is prescribed by this section is "Semi-Soft Cheese" preceded or followed by (1) the specific common or usual name of such semi-soft cheese, if such name has become generally recognized therefor; or (2) if no such name has become so recognized, an arbitrary or fanciful name which is not false or misleading in any particular.

§ 19.660 Soft ripened cheese; identity. (a) The soft ripened cheeses for which definitions and standards of identity are prescribed by this section are soft ripened cheeses for which specifically applicable definitions are not prescribed by another section of the regulations of this part. They are made from milk by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, and their solids contain not less than 50 percent of milk fat, as determined by the method prescribed in paragraph (c) of § 19.500.

(b) Milk is pasteurized and is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria present in such milk or added thereto. Purified calcium chloride may be added in a quantity of not more than 0.02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of the milk. Harmless coloring may be added. The milk is set into a semi-solid mass by the addition of sufficient rennet or by other means. The mass is divided into small portions and so handled as to promote and regulate the separation of the curd from the whey. The whey is drained, to a greater or less extent, from the curd, and the curd is collected and shaped. It may be salted, and may be placed in forms, and may be pressed. Soft ripened cheese is cured under suitable conditions for the development of biological curing agents upon the surface which aid in bringing about a progressive curing or softening of the curd from the outside surface of the cheese toward the center. At any time during manufacture a harmless enzyme preparation containing one or more of the following enzymes may be added: Amylase, catalase, erepsin, lipase, papain, pepsin, sucrase, trypsin, lactase, bromelin, zymase, chymotrypsin. The solids content of the enzyme preparation added does not exceed 0.1 percent of the weight of the milk used.

(c) For the purposes of this section:

(1) The word "milk" means cows' milk.

(2) Such milk may be adjusted by the separation of part of the fat therefrom or the addition thereto of cream or skim milk, concentrated skim milk, and/or non-fat dry milk solids.

(3) Milk shall be deemed to have been pasteurized if it has been held at a time and temperature of not less than 143° F. for a period of not less than 30 minutes, or at a time and temperature equivalent thereto in phosphatase destruction. A soft ripened cheese shall be deemed not to have been made from pasteurized milk if a 0.25 gm portion shows a phenol equivalent of more than -- micrograms, when tested by the method of Sanders and Sager, as published in "Journal of Dairy Science," November 1946, Vol. XXIX, No. 11 pages 737–749.

(d) The name of each soft-ripened cheese for which a definition and standard of identity is prescribed by this section is "Soft Ripened Cheese" preceded or followed by (1) the specific common or usual name of such soft ripened cheese, if such name has become generally recognized therefor; or (2) if no such name has become so recognized, an arbitrary or fanciful name which is not false or misleading in any particular.

§ 19.665 Noekkelost cheese, kuminost cheese; identity. (a) Noekkelost cheese, kuminost cheese is the food prepared from milk by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, or by another procedure: Provided, The chemical and physical properties of the finished cheese are the same as when the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section is used. It contains not more than 45 percent of moisture and its solids contain not less than 20 percent of milk fat, as determined by the methods prescribed in paragraph (c) of § 19.500. It is made in loaf shape and each cheese weighs more than 5 and less than 7 pounds. It may be coated with paraffin or other similar material but such paraffin or other similar material is not colored red or green.

(b) Milk, which may be pasteurized and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria present in such milk or added thereto. Harmless artificial coloring may be added. Purified calcium chloride may be added in a quantity of not more than 0.02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of such milk. Sufficient rennet is added to set the milk to a semi-solid mass. After coagulation the mass is divided into smaller portions and so handled by stirring, heating, diluting with water or salt brine, or salting, as to promote and regulate the separation of whey and curd. When the desired curd is produced it is transferred to forms permitting drainage of the whey. During drainage the curd is removed from the forms and is usually salted, although salt may be applied at any time in the making or curing process. It is then cured under suitable conditions until ready for marketing. At some time during the manufacturing process there is added not less than 1½ ounces of spices per one hundred pounds of cheese. The spices added are two or more of the following in any combination: Caraway, clove, cumin.

A harmless enzyme preparation, containing one or more of the following enzymes, may be added at any time during the above described process: Amylase, catalase, erepsin, lipase, papain, pepsin, sucrase, trypsin, lactase, bromelin, zymase, chymotrypsin. The solids content of the enzyme preparation added does not exceed 0.1 percent of the weight of the milk used.

In the case the milk used is not pasteurized, the curd made therefrom, after being shaped in forms, is held in storage at a temperature of not less than 35° F. for not less than ____ days.

(c) For the purposes of this section:

(1) The word "milk" means cows' milk.

(2) Such milk may be adjusted by the separation of part of the fat therefrom or the addition thereto of cream or skim milk, concentrated skim milk and/or non-fat dry milk solids.

(3) Milk shall be deemed to have been pasteurized if it has been held at a time and temperature of not less than 143° F. for a period of not less than 30 minutes, or at a time and temperature equivalent thereto in phosphatase destruction. Noekkelost cheese shall be deemed not to have been made from pasteurized milk if a 0.25 gm portion shows a phenol equivalent of more than ____ micrograms, when tested by the method of Sanders and Sager, as published in "Journal of Dairy Science," November 1946 Vol. XXIX No. 11 pages 737–749.

§ 19.750 Pasteurized process cheese; identity; label statement of optional ingredients. (a) Pasteurized process cheese is a food prepared by comminuting and mixing one or more individual cheeses of the same or two or more varieties, except cream cheese and neufchatel cheese, into a homogeneous, plastic mass with the aid of heat, and with or without the addition of water, salt, and harmless coloring. For the purposes of this section cheddar cheese for manufacturing, washed curd cheese for manufacturing, and colby cheese for manufacturing, swiss cheese for manufacturing, and granular cheese for manufacturing, shall be regarded as cheddar cheese, washed curd cheese, colby cheese, and swiss cheese, and granular cheese, respectively.

One or a mixture of two or more of the following named emulsifying agents, subparagraphs (1) to (8) inclusive, may be used but the total weight thereof is not more than 3 percent of the total weight of the finished pasteurized process cheese:

(1) Disodium or dipotassium phosphate.
(2) Sodium metaphosphate.
(3) Sodium or potassium citrate.
(4) Sodium tartrate.
(5) Rochelle salt.
(6) Trisodium phosphate.
(7) Sodium pyrophosphate, acid.
(8) Tetrasodium pyrophosphate.

One or a mixture of two or more of the following named acids, (9) to (13) inclusive, may be used in such quantity that the pH of the finished cheese is not less than 4.5:

(9) Lactic acid.
(10) Citric acid.
(11) Acetic acid.
(12) Hydroxy acetic acid.
(13) Phosphoric acid.

Sweet cream may be used in such quantity that the weight of the fat therefrom is less than 5% of the weight of the finished pasteurized process cheese.

During mixing all ingredients are heated for not less than ------ minutes at not less than ------° F.

Pasteurized process cheese may be smoked, or it may contain substances prepared by condensing or precipitating wood smoke. It may contain spices or flavorings other than any which singly or in combination with other ingredients simulate the flavor of a cheese or aged cheese of any variety.

(b) When tested for phosphatase by the method of Sanders and Sager ("Journal of Dairy Science," November 1946, Vol. XXIX, No. 11, pages 737–749), the phenol equivalent of 0.25 gm of pasteurized process cheese is less than 5 micrograms.

(c) Unless a definition and standard of identity specifically applicable to a pasteurized process cheese is prescribed by another paragraph of this section or another section of the regulations in this part:

(1) The moisture content of a pasteurized process cheese made from a single variety of cheese is not more than 1 percent greater than the maximum moisture content prescribed by the definition and standard of identity, if any there be, for such variety of cheese in such regulations, but, in case of washed curd cheese or colby cheese is not more than 40 percent, and in no case is more than 43 percent, except that the moisture content of pasteurized process Swiss cheese (Gruyere cheese) is not more than ____ percent, and the moisture content of pasteurized process Limburger cheese is not more than 51 percent; the fat content of its solids is not less than the minimum so prescribed for such variety of cheese but in no case is less than 47 percent, except that the fat content of the solids of Swiss cheese (Gruyere cheese) is not less than _____ percent.

(2) The moisture content of a pasteurized process cheese made from two or more varieties of cheese is not more than 1 percent greater than the arithmetical average of the maximum moisture contents so prescribed for such varieties of cheeses, but in case of mixtures of washed curd cheese and colby cheese or mixtures of cheddar cheese with one or both of these the moisture content is not more than 40 percent and in no case is the moisture content of a pasteurized process cheese made from a mixture of two or more cheeses more than 43 percent; its fat content, on a dry basis, is not less than the arithmetical average of the minimum fat contents so prescribed but in no case is less than 47 percent. If it is made from two varieties of cheese the weight of each is not less than 25 percent of the total weight of both and if from three or more varieties the weight of each is not less than 15 percent of the total weight of all; except that the weight of limburger cheese or blue cheese may be not less than 10 percent of such total weight where two varieties are used and not less than 5 percent where more than two varieties are used.

(d) Moisture and fat are determined by the methods prescribed in § 19.500 (c).

(e) (1) If it is made from a single variety of cheese its name is "Pasteurized Process ------ Cheese", the blank being filled in with the name of such variety of cheese.

(2) If it is made from two or more varieties of cheese its name is "Pasteurized Process ------ and ------ Cheese", the blanks being filled in with the names of such varieties of cheese in order of predominance by weight.

(3) Where the cheese ingredients of a pasteurized process cheese is cheddar cheese, washed curd cheese, colby cheese, or granular cheese, or any mixture of these, and its moisture content is not more than 40 percent and the fat content of its solids not less than 50 percent, it may be called "Pasteurized Process American Cheese".

(f) (1) If it is smoked the word "smoked" precedes or follows the name of the pasteurized process cheese.

(2) If it contains an optional ingredient prepared by condensing or precipitating wood smoke its label shall bear the words "Contains ------", the blank being filled with the common name of such ingredient.

(3) If it contains spice the label shall bear the word "Spiced" or "Spice Added" or "With Added Spice", or in lieu of the word "Spice" the common name of the spice.

(4) If it contains flavoring the label shall bear the words "Flavoring (or "Artificial Flavoring", if such be used) Added" or "With Added Flavoring" (or "Artificial Flavoring", if such be used) or in lieu of the term "Flavoring" or "Artificial Flavoring" the common name of the flavoring or artificial flavoring.

(5) Wherever the name of the food appears on the label of the pasteurized process cheese so conspicuously as to be easily seen under customary conditions of purchase, the words and statements herein specified showing the optional ingredients used shall immediately and conspicuously precede or follow such name, without intervening written, printed, or graphic matter.

§ 19.755 Pasteurized process cheese with fruits, vegetables and meats; identity; label statement of optional ingredients. (a) A pasteurized process cheese with fruits, vegetables, and meats is a food which conforms to the definition and standard of identity and is subject to the requirements for label statement of optional ingredients prescribed for pasteurized process cheeses by § 19.750, except that it contains one or any mixture of the following ingredients:

(1) Any properly prepared cooked, canned or dried fruit,

(2) Any properly prepared cooked, canned or dried vegetable.

(3) Any properly prepared cooked or canned meat.

(Evidence will be taken as to need for special requirements as to the use of fruits, vegetables and meats) and its moisture content may be 1 percent more, and the fat content of its solids 1 percent less, than the limits for moisture and fat prescribed for the corresponding pasteurized process cheese without fruits, vegetables, and meats.

(b) (1) The name of a pasteurized process cheese made with fruits, vegetables, and meats is "Pasteurized Process ------- Cheese With -------", the first blank being filled in with the name or names of varieties of cheese in order of predominance by weight and the second blank with the common name or names of any fruits, vegetables, or meats used in order of predominance by weight.

(2) For the purposes of this section cheddar cheese for manufacturing, washed curd cheese for manufacturing, colby cheese for manufacturing, Swiss cheese for manufacturing, and granular cheese for manufacturing shall be regarded as cheddar cheese, washed curd cheese, colby cheese, and Swiss cheese, and granular cheese, respectively.

(3) Where the cheese ingredient is cheddar cheese, washed curd cheese, colby cheese, or granular cheese or any mixture of these, and the moisture content is not more than 41 percent and fat content of solids not less than 49 percent, the food may be called "Pasteurized Process American Cheese With ------", the blank being filled in with the name or names of any fruits, vegetables, and meats used.

§ 19.760 Pasteurized process pimento cheese, pasteurized process pimiento cheese; identity. Pasteurized process pimento cheese, pasteurized process pimiento cheese conforms to the definition and standard of identity and is subject to label requirements for optional ingredients for pasteurized process cheese with fruits, vegetables, and meats, except that the name specified is "Pasteurized Process Pimento Cheese" or "Pasteurized Process Pimiento Cheese" the cheese ingredient is cheddar cheese, cheddar cheese for manufacturing, washed curd cheese, washed curd cheese for manufacturing, colby cheese, colby cheese for manufacturing, granular cheese, granular cheese for manufacturing, or any combination of these; the moisture content is not more than 41 percent and the fat content of its solids is not less than 49 percent; the only fruit, vegetable or meat ingredient is pimentos or pimientos, and the finished food contains not less than 0.2 percent of the solids of such pimentos or pimientos.

§ 19.765 Pasteurized process cheese foods; identity. (a) A pasteurized process cheese food is a food prepared by comminuting and mixing with the aid of heat one of the optional cheese ingredients specified in paragraph (b) of this section with one or more of the optional dairy foods specified in paragraph (c) of this section into a homogeneous, plastic mass with or without water, salt, and coloring. The cheese ingredient constitutes not less than 51 percent by weight of the finished food. One or two or more of the optional emulsifying substances listed in paragraph (d) of this section may be used in such quantity that the total weight of emulsifying substances does not exceed 3 percent of the weight of the finished food. One or a mixture of two or more of the acids listed in paragraph (e) of this section may be used to adjust the pH to not less than 4.5. One or a mixture of two or more of the sweetening agents listed in paragraph (f) of this section may be used for seasoning. A pasteurized process cheese food may be smoked or it may contain an ingredient prepared by condensing or precipitating wood smoke. It may contain spice or flavoring other than any which singly or in combination with other ingredients simulate the flavor of a cheese or aged cheese of any variety.

(b) The cheese ingredient referred to in paragraph (a) of this section is:

(1) One or more cheeses of the same variety,

(2) A mixture of two or more cheeses of different varieties, but if two varieties are used the weight of each is not less than 25 percent of the total weight of both and if three or more varieties are used, the weight of each is not less than 15 percent of the total weight of all; except that the weight of limburger cheese or blue cheese may be not less than 10 percent of the total weight of cheeses where two varieties are used and not less than 5 percent where more than two varieties are used.

(c) The optional dairy foods referred to in paragraph (a) of this section are cream, milk, skim milk, or whey, or any of these foods from which part of water has been removed.

(d) The emulsifying substance referred to in paragraph (a) of this section is:

(1) Disodium or dipotassium phosphate.
(2) Sodium metaphosphate.
(3) Sodium or potassium citrate.
(4) Sodium tartrate.
(5) Rochelle salt.
(6) Trisodium phosphate.
(7) Sodium pyrophosphate, acid.
(8) Tetra sodium pyrophosphate.

(e) The acids referred to in paragraph (a) are:

(1) Lactic acid.
(2) Citric acid.
(3) Acetic acid.
(4) Hydroxy acetic acid.
(5) Phosphoric acid.

(f) The sweetening agents referred to in paragraph (a) of this section are:

(1) Dextrose.
(2) Sucrose.
(3) Maltose.
(4) Corn sirup solids.
(5) Lactose.
(6) Hydrolyzed lactose.

(g) During mixing all ingredients are heated for not less than ------ minutes at a temperature of not less than ------° F. When tested for phosphatase by the method of Sanders and Sager ("Journal of Dairy Science," November 1946, Vol. XXIX, No. 11, pages 737–749), the phenol equivalent of 0.25 gm of pasteurized process cheese food is less than ------ micrograms.

(h) A pasteurized process cheese food contains not more than 44 percent moisture and not less than 23 percent milk fat, as determined by methods prescribed in paragraph (c) of § 19.500.

(i) The common names of the optional ingredients specified in paragraphs (b), (c), (d), (e), and (f) of this section shall appear on the label when used. When spice, flavoring, artificial flavoring, coloring, or artificial coloring is used, the label shall bear a statement of that fact or in lieu thereof the names of such ingredients. If a pasteurized process cheese food is smoked the name is preceded or followed by the word "Smoked." If an optional ingredient prepared by condensing or precipitating wood smoke is used, the label shall bear the common name of such ingredient.

(j) Evidence will be taken as to whether shape or form of pasteurized processed cheese foods shall be restricted.

(k) Whenever the name of the food appears on the label of a pasteurized process cheese food so conspicuously as to be easily seen under customary conditions of purchase, the words and statements herein specified showing the optional ingredients used shall immediately and conspicuously precede or follow such name, without intervening written, printed, or graphic matter.

§ 19.770 Pasteurized process cheese foods with fruits, vegetables, and meats; identity; label statement of optional ingredients. (a) A pasteurized process cheese food with fruits, vegetables, and meats is a food which conforms to the definition and standard of identity and is subject to requirements for label statements of optional ingredients prescribed for pasteurized process cheese foods by § 19.765, except that it contains one or any mixture of the following ingredients.

(1) Any properly prepared cooked, canned, or dried fruit,

(2) Any properly prepared cooked, canned, or dried vegetable,

(3) Any properly prepared cooked or canned meat.

(Evidence will be taken as to need for special requirements on the use of any fruits, vegetables, and meats) and its moisture content is not more than 45 percent and its milk fat content not less than 22 percent.

(b) The name of a pasteurized process cheese food with fruits, vegetables, or meats, is "Pasteurized Process Cheese Food With ------", the blank being filled in with the name of fruits, vegetables, and meats used.

§ 19.775 Pasteurized process cheese spreads; identity; label statement of optional ingredients. (a) A pasteurized process cheese spread is a food which conforms to the definition and standard of identity and is subject to the requirements for label statement of optional ingredients prescribed for Pasteurized Process Cheese Foods by § 19.765, except that it contains more than 44 percent but not more than 65 percent of moisture and its fat content is not less than 20 percent; and it may contain one or a mixture of two or more of the water-retaining substances named in paragraph (b) of this section in a quantity not to exceed 0.8 percent of the weight of the finished food; and when one or more of such water-retaining substances is used, the common name or names shall appear on label along with names of optional ingredients stated on label in conformity with requirements of § 19.765.

(b) The water-retaining ingredients referred to in paragraph (a) of this section are:

(1) Carob bean gum.
(2) Gum karaya.
(3) Gum tragacanth.
(4) Gelatin
(5) Carboxymethyl cellulose.
(6) Algin.
(7) Guar gum.
(8) Carrageenin.
(9) Oat gum.

§ 19.780 Pasteurized process cheese spreads with fruits, vegetables, and meats; identity; label statement of optional ingredients. (a) A pasteurized process cheese spread with fruits, vegetables, and meats is a food which conforms to the definition and standard of identity and is subject to requirements for label statement of optional ingredients prescribed for pasteurized process cheese spreads by § 19.775, except that it contains one or any mixture of the following:

(1) Any properly prepared cooked, canned or dried fruit,

(2) Any properly prepared cooked, canned or dried vegetable,

(3) Any properly prepared cooked or canned meat; and

(b) The name of a pasteurized process cheese spread with fruits, vegetables, and meats is "Pasteurized Process Cheese Spread with ------", the blank being filled in with the name of the fruits, vegetables, and meats used.

§ 19.785 Cold pack cheese, club cheese, comminuted cheese; identity; label statement of optional ingredients. (a) Cold pack cheese, club cheese, comminuted cheese, is the food prepared by comminuting and mixing without the aid of heat one or more cheeses of the same or two or more varieties, except cream cheese, neufchatel cheese, cottage cheese, and creamed cottage cheese, into a homogeneous mass with or without water, salt and coloring. The cheeses used were made from pasteurized milk or were held for not less than ------ days at a temperature of not less than ----° F. If made from two varieties of cheese the weight of each is not less than 25 percent of the total weight of both; if made from three or more varieties the weight of each is not less than 15 percent of the total weight of all; except that the weight of limburger cheese or blue cheese may be not less than 10 percent of such total weight where two varieties of cheese are used and not less than 5 percent where more than two varieties are used. Cold pack cheese may be smoked, or it may contain as an optional ingredient a substance prepared by condensing or precipitating wood smoke.

(b) (1) The moisture content of a cold pack cheese made from a single variety of cheese is not more than the maximum moisture content prescribed for such variety by a definition and standard of identity in this part, if any there be; if there is no applicable definition and standard of identity or if such standard contains no provision as to maximum moisture content, no water is used in the preparation of the cold pack cheese. The fat content of its solids is not less than the minimum fat so prescribed for such variety of cheese.

(2) The moisture content of a cold pack cheese made from two or more varieties of cheese is not more than the arithmetical average of the maximum moisture contents prescribed for such varieties by definitions and standards of identity in this part, if any there be, but in no case is more than 42 percent; and the fat content of its solids is not less than the arithmetical average of the fat contents so prescribed but in no case less than 48 percent.

(3) Moisture and fat are determined by the methods prescribed therefor in § 19.500 (c).

(c) (1) The name of a cold pack cheese is "Cold Pack ------ Cheese", or "------ Club Cheese", or "Comminuted ------ Cheese", the blank being filled in with the name or names of cheeses used in order of predominance by weight if any.

(2) If a cold pack cheese is smoked the word "Smoked" precedes or follows the prescribed name.

If an optional ingredient prepared by condensing or precipitating wood smoke is used, the label shall bear the words "Contains ------", the blank being filled in with the name of the substance used.

§ 19.790 Cold pack cheese foods; identity; label statement of optional ingredients. A cold pack cheese food conforms to the definition and standard of identity and is subject to requirements for label statements of optional ingredients prescribed for Pasteurized Process Cheese Foods by § 19.765, except that cheddar cheese for manufacturing, washed curd cheese for manufacturing, colby cheese for manufacturing, and granular cheese for manufacturing are not used; and heat is not used in its preparation.

§ 19.795 Cold pack cheese foods with fruits, vegetables, and meats; identity; label statement of optional ingredients. (a) A cold pack cheese food with fruits, vegetables, and meats conforms to the definition and standard of identity and is subject to requirements for label statement of optional ingredients prescribed for pasteurized process cheese foods with fruits, vegetables, and meats by § 19.770, except that cheddar cheese for manufacturing, washed curd cheese for manufacturing, and colby cheese for manufacturing, and granular cheese for manufacturing are not used and heat is not used in mixing.

(b) The name of a cold pack cheese food with fruits, vegetables, and meats, is "Cold Pack Cheese Food With ------", the blank being filled in with the name or names of fruits, vegetables, and meats used.

NOTICES

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

Office of Alien Property

[Vesting Order 8187]

KARL REICHERT

In re: Estate of Karl Reichert, deceased. File D-28-10706; E. T. sec. 15064.

Under the authority of the Trading with the Enemy Act, as amended, Executive Order 9193, as amended, and Executive Order 9788, and pursuant to law, after investigation, it is hereby found:

1. That Elsa Benz and Mrs. Lina Tegtmeier, whose last known address is Germany, are residents of Germany and nationals of a designated enemy country (Germany);

2. That all right, title, interest and claim of any kind or character whatsoever of the persons named in subparagraph 1 hereof in and to the Estate of Karl Reichert, deceased, is property payable or deliverable to, or claimed by, the aforesaid nationals of a designated enemy country (Germany);

3. That such property is in the process of administration by Karl Reichert, Jr., Denison, Iowa, as Administrator w. w. a., acting under the judicial supervision of the District Court of the State of Iowa, Crawford County; and it is hereby determined:

4. That to the extent that the persons named in subparagraph 1 hereof are not within a designated enemy country, the national interest of the United States requires that such persons be treated as nationals of a designated enemy country (Germany).

All determinations and all action required by law, including appropriate consultation and certification, having been made and taken, and, it being deemed necessary in the national interest,

There is hereby vested in the Attorney General of the United States the property described above, to be held, used, administered, liquidated, sold or otherwise dealt with in the interest of and for the benefit of the United States.

FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION

AR-EX COSMETICS, INC., AND JULIUS B. KAHN

ORDER APPOINTING TRIAL EXAMINER AND FIXING TIME AND PLACE FOR TAKING TESTIMONY

At a regular session of the Federal Trade Commission, held at its office in the City of Washington, D. C., on the 17th day of February A. D. 1947.

In the matter of Ar-Ex Cosmetics, Inc., a corporation, and Julius B. Kahn, individually and as an officer of said corporation.

This matter being at issue and ready for the taking of testimony and the receipt of evidence, and pursuant to authority vested in the Federal Trade Commission,

It is ordered, That W. W. Sheppard, a trial examiner of this Commission, be and he hereby is designated and appointed to take testimony and receive evidence in this proceeding and to perform all other duties authorized by law;

It is further ordered, That the taking of testimony and the receipt of evidence begin on Wednesday, April 2, 1947, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day (central standard time), in Room 1123, New Post Office Building, Chicago, Illinois.

Upon completion of the taking of testimony and the receipt of evidence in support of the allegations of the complaint, the trial examiner is directed to proceed immediately to take testimony and receive evidence on behalf of the respondents. The trial examiner will then close the taking of testimony and evidence and, after all intervening procedure as required by law, will close the case and make and serve on the parties at issue a recommended decision which shall include recommended findings and conclusions, as well as the reasons or basis therefor, upon all the material issues of fact, law, or discretion presented on the record, and an appropriate recommended order; all of which shall become a part of the record in said proceeding.

By the Commission.

[No. 29677]

MINIMUM RATES ON RAIL TRAFFIC BETWEEN NORTH AND SOUTH

At a session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Division 2, held at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 11th day of February A. D. 1947.

The Commission having under consideration the matter of tariff minimum rates on all interterritorial class-rate traffic between the North and the South, both carload and less carload, applicable to the transportation by railroad and partly by railroad and partly by water, in interstate or foreign commerce, of various commodities, and the reasonableness and otherwise lawfulness of such minimum rates, including the propriety of the border points selected to govern their application:

It is ordered, That the Commission, upon its own motion, enter upon an investigation into and concerning the reasonableness and otherwise lawfulness of such tariff minimum rates on interterritorial class-rate traffic between the North and the South, both carload and less carload, which have been established by the carriers, or have been prescribed or approved by the Commission, or result from decisions of the Commission, with a view to determining whether such tariff minimum rates, or any of them, are in violation of any provision of the Interstate Commerce Act, and of making such findings and entering such order or orders as may be warranted;

It is further ordered, That all common carriers by railroad and by water operating within official classification territory and southern classification territory or between those territories, subject to the Interstate Commerce Act, be, and they are hereby, made respondents to this proceeding;

It is further ordered, That a copy of this order be served upon each of the respondents to this proceeding and that notice of this proceeding be given to the public by posting a copy of this order in the office of the Secretary of the Commission at Washington, D. C.;

And it is further ordered, That this proceeding be assigned for hearing at such time and place as the Commission may hereafter direct.

By the Commission, Division 2.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File Nos. 54-137, 59-58, 70-1178]

MIDLAND UTILITIES CO. ET AL.

SUPPLEMENTAL ORDER APPROVING AMENDED PLAN

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 14th day of February 1947.

In the matters of Midland Utilities Company, File No. 54-137; Indiana Service Corporation, File No. 59-58; American Gas and Electric Company, File No. 70-1178.

Midland Utilities Company, a registered holding company, having filed an application and amendments thereto pursuant to section 11 (e) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 and other applicable sections of the act for approval of an amended plan of corporate simplification of its subsidiary, Indiana Service Corporation, such plan providing, in general, for the recapitalization of Indiana Service Corporation, resulting in a new issue of common stock and the sale of that common stock to American Gas and Electric Company, an unaffiliated registered holding company, the proceeds of such sale to be allocated among certain classes of existing securities of Indiana Service which are to be cancelled; and

The Commission by order dated December 18, 1946 having approved said amended plan and granted and permitted to become effective applications and declarations with respect to the related transactions; and

Indiana Service Corporation having requested the Commission to enter an order supplemental to its order dated December 18, 1946, conforming to the pertinent provisions and requirements of section 1808 (f) of the Internal Revenue Code and containing the recitals, specifications, itemizations and orders required of said section 1808 (f);

It is found, recited and ordered, That, pursuant to and in exercise of the power and authority vested in the Commission by section 11 (b) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, (1) all the steps and transactions involved in the consummation of the amended plan, as amended, and particularly those specified and itemized in subdivisions (i) to (iii), both inclusive, of section (2) below, are necessary and appropriate to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, and are hereby authorized, approved and directed; (2) the securities which are ordered to be issued, transferred and exchanged under and in accordance with the amended plan, as amended, are specified and itemized as follows:

(i) The issuance and transfer of 200,000 shares of new common stock without par value and having a stated value of $20.00 per share, in accordance with the terms and provisions contained in the amended plan, as amended;

(ii) The cancellation, retirement and replacement by the said 200,000 shares of new common stock of the following outstanding securities of Indiana Service Corporation, all in accordance with the amended plan, as amended, to-wit:

(a) $2,739,000 principal amount of demand notes, together with all interest accrued thereon, which, under the amended plan, as amended, is to be cancelled in part by the payment of, and in an amount equal to, the entire portion of the purchase price allocable to Midland Utilities Company and without consideration as to the balance;

(b) 13,706 shares of 7% cumulative preferred stock of the par value of $100.00 per share, together with all dividends accumulated thereon;

(c) 16,622 shares of 6% cumulative preferred stock of the par value of $100.00 per share, together with all dividends accumulated thereon;

(iii) The cancellation and retirement of the 738,000 shares of presently outstanding common stock of Indiana Service Corporation without par value and having a stated value of $10.00 per share, with no new securities to be issued in lieu thereof, all in accordance with the amended plan, as amended; and (3) such issuance, transfer and exchange shall be made in obedience to, and in accordance with, this supplemental order and the order of this Commission, dated December 18, 1946, in the above-entitled matters.

It is further ordered, That this order is supplemental to and a part of the said order of this Commission issued herein under date of December 18, 1946, and that they shall stand as and be a part of the same order.

By the Commission.

NATIONAL POWER AND LIGHT CO. ET AL.

NOTICE OF FILING OF PLAN AND ORDER FOR HEARING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on the 14th day of February A. D. 1947.

In the matter of National Power & Light Company, Lehigh Valley Transit Company, Lehigh Valley Transportation Company, Easton Transit Company, Easton & South Bethlehem Transportation Company, File No. 54-51, (Application No. 10, Part B).

The Commission having on August 23, 1941 entered an order pursuant to section 11 (b) (2) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 requiring that the existence of National Power & Light Company ("National"), a registered holding company subsidiary of Electric Bond and Share Company ("Bond and Share"), also a registered holding company, be terminated and that said company be dissolved and requiring further that National proceed with due diligence to submit to the Commission a plan or plans for its prompt dissolution pursuant to section 11 (b) (2) of the act; and

National having filed an application for approval of a "Plan Dated as of May 7, 1942 for Compliance with section 11 (b) (2) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935", which plan and amendments thereto outlined a program for the dissolution of National and proposed, among other things, such revisions and adjustments in accounts and capital structure of Lehigh Valley Transit Company ("Transit"), "as may be deemed necessary"; and

The Commission having on November 9, 1942 entered an order pursuant to section 11 (c) of the act requiring National, among other things, to amend its aforementioned plan of May 7, 1942 to set forth the extent and manner in which it is proposed that Transit (a) restate its plant, surplus, capital and other accounts so as to segregate, dispose of or eliminate write-ups and intangibles in such plant account; (b) set up adequate reserves for depreciation of plant and property; (c) make such other accounting adjustments as may be deemed necessary to meet the requirements of the act and (d) revise and simplify its capital structure and take such other steps as may be deemed necessary to effectuate a fair and equitable redistribution of voting power among its security holders.

Notice is hereby given that National, its subsidiary, Transit, and Transit's wholly owned operating subsidiaries, Lehigh Valley Transportation Company ("Lehigh"), Easton Transit Company ("Easton"), and Easton & South Bethlehem Transportation Company ("Bethlehem"), have filed pursuant to section 11 (e) of the act a joint application designated herein as Application No. 10, Part B. All interested persons are referred to said documents which are on file in the offices of this Commission for a statement of the transactions therein proposed which may be summarized as follows:

1. Transit will retire all of its $4,915,000 principal amount of outstanding Refunding and Improvement Mortgage 5% Bonds due 1960, and redeemable prior thereto at 110, at not in excess of the principal amount thereof plus accrued interest thereon, through the use of Treasury cash, the proceeds from the proposed sale of its holdings of Pennsylvania Power & Light Company 4½% Preferred Stock, as described in paragraph 4 below, and the proceeds from the prior sale of the Allentown generating station and related properties to Pennsylvania Power & Light Company.

2. Transit has issued and outstanding 98,491 shares (exclusive of 1103 shares reacquired and held in treasury) of 5% Preferred Stock of the par value of $50 per share. 98,350 shares of such stock are held by National and 141 shares are held by the public. Accumulated and unpaid dividends on this stock, as of September 30, 1946, amounted to $78.71 per share, aggregating $7,752,211 of which $7,741,094 is applicable to shares held by National, and $11,117 to shares held by the public. Transit proposes to discharge all claims with respect to the preferred stock and arrearages thereon, and to retire such stock by (a) exchanging the 98,350 shares of such stock held by National for 545,610 shares of new common stock of a par value of $4 per share; and (b) paying the holders of the publicly held preferred stock cash in the amount of $90 per share.

3. Transit has outstanding 58,709 shares (exclusive of 1,238 shares reacquired and held in treasury) of common stock of the par value of $50 per share. 58,255 shares of such stock are owned by National, and 454 shares are owned by the public. National will surrender to Transit for cancellation its shares of the latter's common stock. The owners of the publicly held common stock of Transit will receive in exchange therefor Transit's new common stock on a share for share basis.

4. Transit will sell at the best price obtainable therefor its holding of 13,769 shares of Pennsylvania Power & Light Company 4½% Preferred Stock, the proceeds from such sale to be used in the retirement of Transit's outstanding bonds as described in paragraph 1 above.

5. Lehigh, Easton and Bethlehem will be merged with Transit, such mergers to be effected in whole or in part prior to consummation of the plan or to be left in whole or in part to be done after consummation of the plan.

6. Transit proposes to restate its property account to eliminate therefrom approximately $7,260,000 which is stated to be the excess of the carrying value of Transit's property over its estimated historical cost. Transit will create a "Reserve for Proposed Railway Abandonments and Possible Loss on Investments" in the amount of approximately $3 800,000. In making the foregoing adjustments Transit will utilize its earned surplus and capital surplus created by the transactions described in paragraphs 2 and 3 above.

7. National proposes to distribute to its common stockholders the 545,610 shares of new common stock of Transit to be issued under the plan.

The Commission is requested in the event it approves the plan to apply to an appropriate District Court of the United States for an order of enforcement.

The plan states that its consummation is subject to receipt of a closing agreement or ruling as to the tax consequences to National and Transit, which agreement or ruling shall be satisfactory to National and Transit. National and Transit request that the order approving the plan recite that the relevant transactions of the plan are necessary or appropriate to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) of the act, within the meaning and requirements of the Internal Revenue Code, as amended including section 1808 (f) and Supplement R thereof.

The Commission being required by the provisions of section 11 (e) of the act, before approving any plan thereunder to find after notice and opportunity for hearing that the plan, as submitted, or as modified, is necessary to effectuate the provisions of subsection (b) of section 11 of the act, and is fair and equitable to the persons affected thereby, and it appearing appropriate to the Commission that a hearing be held upon the amended plan to afford all interested persons an opportunity to be heard with respect thereto;

It is ordered, That a hearing under the applicable provisions of the act and the rules thereunder be held on March 3, 1947, at 10:00 a. m., e. s. t., at the offices of the Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania. On such date the hearing room clerk in Room 318 will advise as to the room in which such hearing will be held. All persons desiring to be heard or otherwise wishing to participate in the proceedings shall notify the Commission in the manner prescribed by Rule XVII of the rules of practice on or before March 3, 1947.

It is further ordered, That William W. Swift or any officer or officers of the Commission designated by it for that purpose shall preside at the hearing in such matter. The officer so designated to preside at the hearing is hereby authorized to exercise all powers granted to the Commission under section 18 (c) of the act and to a hearing officer under the Commission's rules of practice.

The Public Utilities Division of the Commission having advised the Commission that it has made a preliminary examination of the plan and that, upon the basis thereof, the following matters and questions are presented for consideration without prejudice to its specifying additional matters or questions upon further examination:

(1) Whether the plan, as submitted or as hereafter modified, is necessary to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) (2) of the act, and constitutes an appropriate step in compliance with the order of this Commission dated August 23, 1941 thereunder.

(2) Whether the proposed retirement of the bonds of Transit at a price not in excess of the principal amount thereof is fair and equitable to the holders of such bonds.

(3) Whether the proposed payment of $90 per share to the holders of Transit's publicly held preferred stock in full satisfaction of their claims is fair and equitable to the holders of such stock.

(4) Whether the issuance of new common stock as proposed in the plan is fair and equitable to the holders of the present common stock of Transit.

(5) Whether the proposed acquisitions and security issuances meet the applicable standards of the act, particularly sections 7, 10 and 12 thereof.

(6) Whether the accounting adjustments proposed to be made by Transit are appropriate, and whether any other accounting adjustments should be made in connection with the proposed transactions.

(7) Whether the plan, as filed, or as modified, makes appropriate provision for the payment of expenses, fees and remuneration in connection with the reorganization, in what amounts such expenses, fees and remuneration should be paid, and the fair and equitable allocation thereof.

(8) Generally, whether the proposed transactions are in all respects in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers, and consistent with all applicable requirements of the act and the rules thereunder, and, if not, what modification should be required to be made therein and what terms and conditions should be imposed to satisfy the applicable statutory standards.

It is further ordered, That at said hearing evidence shall be adduced with respect to the foregoing matters and questions.

It is further ordered, That notice of this hearing be given to Electric Bond and Share Company, National, Transit, Lehigh, Easton and Bethlehem, the Public Utility Commission of the State of Pennsylvania, the Interstate Commerce Commission, and the Lehigh Valley Trust Company as trustee under Transit's Refunding and Improvement Mortgage, by registered mail, and to all other persons by publication of this notice and order in the FEDERAL REGISTER and by a general release of the Commission distributed to the press and mailed to the mailing list for releases issued under the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935.

It is further ordered, That Transit shall give notice of this hearing to all its security holders (insofar as the identity of such security holders is known or available to it) by mailing to each of said persons a copy of this notice and order for hearing at his last known address at least ten days prior to date of said hearing.

By the Commission.

AMERICAN WATER WORKS AND ELECTRIC CO., INC., ET AL.

ORDER APPROVING MODIFIED PLANS

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its offices in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 17th day of February 1947.

In the matters of American Water Works and Electric Company, Inc., American Water Works Company, Inc. (formerly American Communities Company), Community Water Service Company, Ohio Cities Water Corporation, West Penn Railways Company, The West Penn Electric Company, File No. 54-142; American Water Works and Electric Company, Inc., and Subsidiary Companies, File No. 59-84.

American Water Works and Electric Company, Incorporated (American), a registered holding company, having filed with the Commission plans under section 11 (e) of the act proposing, among other things, (i) that substantially all of the water works business of American's holding company system be segregated from the electric, gas, transportation and other businesses conducted by such system through the placing of the ownership of the system's security interests in such water works business in a separate water works holding company system, (ii) that the corporate structure of this water works holding company system be simplified through the elimination of two intermediate water works holding companies, and (iii) that, upon the completion of such segregation, American be dissolved and liquidated; and American having made application for approval of such plans under section 11 (e), in which application certain of American's subsidiary companies, namely American Water Works Company, Inc. (Waterworks Holding Company), Community Water Service Company (Community), Ohio Cities Water Corporation (Ohio Cities), West Penn Railways Company (Railways), and The West Penn Electric Company (West Penn Electric) have joined as parties; and

The Commission having instituted a proceeding under sections 11 (b) (1) and 11 (b) (2) of the act directed to American and its subsidiary companies, and such proceeding having been consolidated with the foregoing proceeding pursuant to section 11 (e); and

The Commission having issued its notice of filing and notice of and order for hearing in said consolidated proceedings, notice of such hearing having been duly given to all interested persons, public hearings having been held and all such persons having been given an opportunity to be heard with respect to all matters pertaining to said proceedings, briefs having been filed, and the Commission having issued on December 23, 1946 its findings and opinion (Holding Company Act Release No. 7091) finding that certain modifications should be made in such plans as filed and that, if so modified, such plans would be fair and equitable and would be approved and allowing a period of 30 days for the filing of appropriate amendments thereto; and

American having filed, on January 22, 1947, modified plans, dated January 21, 1947; notice of the filing thereof having been given to all interested parties; and the Commission having this day issued its supplemental findings and opinion with respect to said plans as amended; and

American having requested that the order of the Commission approving such modified plans conform to the requirements of, and contain the recitals, specification and itemization required by, Supplement R and section 1808 (f) of the Federal Internal Revenue Code and section 270-c (10) of the Tax Law of the State of New York;

I. It is hereby ordered and recited, Pursuant to section 11 (e) of the act, that the plans, dated and filed herein by American on February 21, 1946, as modified on January 21, 1947, including Plan I, parts 1 and 2, and Plan II, and all steps and transactions involved in the consummation thereof, including all issues, transfers, sales, exchanges, conversions, expenditures, payments, loans, investments, contributions, assumptions, deposits, acquisitions, receipts, purchases, distributions, deliveries, retirements, cancellations and offerings, be and they hereby are found to be necessary or appropriate to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 and necessary or appropriate to the simplification of the American holding company system and in all respects fair and equitable to the persons affected thereby. Accordingly, the modified plans are approved, subject to the terms and conditions set forth in section V of this order.

II. It is further ordered, Without prejudice to the generality of the provisions of section I of this order, that the following transactions set forth in part 1 of Plan I are approved and authorized by the Commission, subject to the terms and conditions set forth in section V of this order:

(1) The sale, transfer and delivery by Railways to American of the 53 shares of Common Stock of American owned by Railways and the purchase thereof by American for the sum of $1,219 in cash;

(2) The transfer and delivery by American to Waterworks Holding Company, as a contribution to the capital or paid-in surplus of said Company, of the 5,000 shares of Preferred Stock and $175,000 principal amount of open-account indebtedness of Waterworks Holding Company owned by American; and the receipt and retirement of such indebtedness and shares of Preferred Stock and corresponding reduction of its capital by Waterworks Holding Company;

(3) The amendment by Waterworks Holding Company of its charter so as to provide for an authorized capital stock consisting of 5,000,000 shares of Common Stock of the par value of $5 each; the conversion of the 6,000 shares of Common Stock, without par value, of Waterworks Holding Company, owned by American, into the same number of shares of Common Stock of the par value of $5 each; and the transfer and delivery to Waterworks Holding Company of certificates for such shares without par value and the issue and delivery to American of certificates for such shares of the par value of $5 each in connection therewith;

(4) The payment by Waterworks Holding Company of its bank loan of $160,000;

(5) The issue by Waterworks Holding Company of $15,000,000 principal amount of its Ten-Year 3% Collateral Trust Bonds and the sale and delivery thereof to John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company for a consideration equal to the principal amount of such bonds, together with interest accrued thereon to the delivery date;

(6) The sale, transfer and delivery by American to Waterworks Holding Company of the stocks and securities of and long-term advances to the waterworks companies specified in Exhibit A to this order and of the 4,471 shares of $7 Cumulative First Preferred Stock of Community, now owned by American; and the payment by Waterworks Holding Company of the consideration therefor specified in step 6 of said part 1, which consideration is to consist of cash (in an amount determined as provided in said step 6) and the assumption of the liabilities of American (exclusive of income tax liabilities) related to the assets so transferred (including the guaranty by American of the payment of the principal of and interest on the $726,000 principal amount of First Mortgage 5½% Gold Bonds, Series A, of Monongahela Valley Water Company) and may include the issue, sale and delivery by Waterworks Holding Company to American of Subscription Warrants described in said step 6 to purchase to total of 2,343,105 shares of Common Stock of Waterworks Holding Company;

(7) The distribution, transfer and delivery by American to the holders of record of shares of its Common Stock, without the surrender by such stockholders of the shares of such Common Stock held by them, of any Subscription Warrants issued by Waterworks Holding Company as provided in paragraph (6) above; the receipt, upon such distribution, by such stockholders of such Subscription Warrants entitling them to purchase one share of Common Stock of Waterworks Holding Company for each share of Common Stock of American held by them, respectively; the exercise of such Subscription Warrants by such stockholders by the purchase of shares of Common Stock of Waterworks Holding Company; and the sale, transfer and delivery of Subscription Warrants of foreign stockholders as specified in step 7 of said part 1 for the account of such stockholders;

(8) The offering by Waterworks Holding Company to the holders of the 12,369 outstanding shares of $7 Cumulative First Preferred Stock of Community owned by others than Waterworks Holding Company of the privilege of exchanging their shares for shares of Common Stock of Waterworks Holding Company having a market value, as defined in the plans, at the time of Exchange equal to the sum of $180 per share of Community Preferred Stock, plus $7 per share of such Preferred Stock per annum from October 31, 1945 to the final date for making such exchanges and minus the amount per share of any dividends paid on such Preferred Stock during such period; the offering by Waterworks Holding Company to the holders of the 228,055 outstanding shares of Common Stock of Community owned by others than Waterworks Holding Company of the privilege of exchanging their shares for shares of Common Stock of Waterworks Holding Company at the rate of 1/20th of one share of common stock of Waterworks Holding Company for each share of Common Stock of Community; and the exchange by such public holders of such Preferred and Common Stock of Community of their stock for shares of Common Stock (and/or scrip certificates therefor) of Waterworks Holding Company and the transfer and delivery of their certificates to Waterworks Holding Company for the purpose of effecting such exchanges;

(9) The offering by Waterworks Holding Company to the holders of the 2,257 outstanding shares of $6 Cumulative Preferred Stock, Series A, of Ohio Cities owned by others than Community of the privilege of exchanging their shares for shares of Common Stock of Waterworks Holding Company having a market value, as defined in the plans, at the time of exchange equal to the sum of $159 per share of Ohio Cities Preferred Stock, plus $6 per share of such Preferred Stock per annum from October 31, 1945, to the final date for making such exchanges and minus the amount per share of any dividends paid on such Preferred Stock during such period; and the exchange by such public holders of such Preferred Stock of Ohio Cities of their stock for shares of Common Stock (and/or scrip certificates therefor) of Waterworks Holding Company, and the transfer and delivery of their certificates to Waterworks Holding Company for the purpose of effecting such exchanges;

(10) The issue by Waterworks Holding Company and the delivery to the persons entitled thereto of shares of its Common Stock (and scrip certificates therefor of the character described in step 8 of part 1 in settlement of fractional share interests) upon exercise of the Subscription Warrants specified in paragraph (6) above, upon exchange for shares of $7 Cumulative First Preferred Stock and Common Stock of Community and $6 Cumulative Preferred Stock, Series A, of Ohio Cities as specified in paragraphs (8) and (9) above, upon sale to underwriters pursuant to competitive bidding as provided in step 10 of said part 1, and with respect to scrip certificates as provided in step 8 of said part 1; and

(11) The loan by Waterworks Holding Company to Community of the sum of $2,600,000 in cash and the issue and delivery by Community to Waterworks Holding Company of its demand promissory notes bearing interest at the rate of 3% per annum to evidence such loan; and the application by Community of such funds to the payment in full of its outstanding promissory note in like amount.

III. It is further ordered, Without prejudice to the generality of the provisions of section I of this order, that the following transactions set forth in part 2 of plan I are approved and authorized by the Commission, subject to the terms and conditions set forth in section V of this order:

(1) The issue, sale and delivery by Waterworks Holding Company to Community and the acquisition thereof by Community, at the initial public offering price of shares of such stock issued to underwriters under step 10 of part 1, of such number of shares of Common Stock of Waterworks Holding Company (and scrip certificates therefor) as may be required for distribution by Community to its public Common Stockholders pursuant to paragraph (2) below; the loan by Waterworks Holding Company to Community of cash in an amount sufficient, together with other available funds of Community, to provide for the cash payments to public Preferred stockholders of Community pursuant to paragraph (2) below; and the issue and delivery by Community to Waterworks Holding Company of its demand promissory note bearing interest at the rate of 3% per annum to evidence such loan;

(2) The dissolution and liquidation of Community; the investment by Community as a contribution to the capital or as paid-in surplus of its subsidiary companies, prior to such dissolution, of all open-account indebtedness owing by such companies to Community; and, pursuant to such liquidation, (i) the distribution to the holders of the $7 Cumulative First Preferred Stock of Community (other than Waterworks Holding Company), of cash in an amount equal to $180 per share of such Preferred Stock, plus $7 per share of such Preferred Stock per annum from October 31, 1945 to the final date for making exchanges of such Preferred Stock pursuant to paragraph (8) of section II of this order and minus the amount per share of any dividends paid on such Preferred Stock after October 31, 1945, and (ii) the distribution to the holders of the Common Stock of Community (other than Waterworks Holding Company) of shares of Common Stock (and/or scrip certificates therefor) of Waterworks Holding Company at the rate of 1/20th of 1 share of Common Stock of Waterworks Holding Company for each share of Common Stock of Community together with any dividends paid on such shares of Common Stock of Waterworks Holding Company subsequent to the initial date for making exchanges of Common Stock of Community pursuant to paragraph (8) of section II of this order and prior to the liquidation of Community; the assumption by Waterworks Holding Company of any remaining obligations and liabilities of Community; the transfer and delivery by Waterworks Holding Company and the acquisition by Community of all indebtedness and stock of Community held by Waterworks Holding Company and the transfer and delivery by Community, in exchange therefor, and the acquisition by Waterworks Holding Company of all remaining assets of Community. The assets of Community so to be acquired by Waterworks Holding Company will consist of the stocks of subsidiary companies of Community specified in Exhibit B to this order. Such distribution to the public Preferred and Common stockholders of Community shall be in full satisfaction of all rights of such stockholders and, upon such dissolution, such public Preferred and Common stockholders shall cease to have any rights or interests in Community or its assets or any rights or interests whatsoever except the right to receive such distributions with respect to the shares of stock of Community held by them;

(3) The loan by Community to Ohio Cities of cash in an amount sufficient, together with other available funds of Ohio Cities, to provide for the cash payments to public Preferred stockholders of Ohio Cities pursuant to paragraph (4) below; and the issue and delivery by Ohio Cities to Community of its demand promissory notes bearing interest at the rate of 3% per annum to evidence such loans;

(4) The dissolution and liquidation of Ohio Cities, and, pursuant to such liquidation, the distribution to the holders of the $6 Cumulative Preferred Stock, Series A, of Ohio Cities (other than Community) of cash in an amount equal to $159 per share of such Preferred Stock, plus $6 per share of such Preferred Stock per annum from October 31, 1945 to the final date for making exchanges of such Preferred Stock pursuant to paragraph (9) of section II of this order and minus the amount per share of any dividends paid on such Preferred Stock after October 31, 1945; the assumption by Community of any remaining obligations and liabilities of Ohio Cities; the transfer and delivery by Community and the acquisition by Ohio Cities of all indebtedness and shares of stock of Ohio Cities held by Community and the transfer and delivery by Ohio Cities, in exchange therefor, and the acquisition by Community of all remaining assets of Ohio Cities. The assets of Ohio Cities so to be acquired by Community will consist of the stocks of subsidiary companies of Ohio Cities specified in Exhibit C to this order. Such distribution to the public Preferred stockholders of Ohio Cities shall be in full satisfaction of all rights of such stockholders and, upon such dissolution, such public Preferred stockholders of Ohio Cities shall cease to have any rights or interests in Ohio Cities or its assets or any rights or interests whatsoever except the right to receive such distribution with respect to the shares of stock of Ohio Cities held by them.

IV. It is further ordered, Without prejudice to the generality of the provisions of section I of this order, that the following transactions set forth in plan II are approved and authorized by the Commission, subject to the terms and conditions set forth in section V of this order:

(1) The dissolution of American and the liquidation of its affairs in accordance with paragraphs (2) through (6) below;

(2) The payment and retirement by American, at their principal amounts and accrued interest, of its notes to banks outstanding in the aggregate principal amount of $10,000,000;

(3) The retirement by American of all of its $6 Series, First Preferred Stock, of which 199,868 shares are outstanding with the public, and, pursuant to such retirement, the distribution to the holders of such Preferred Stock, in cancellation of such stock, of the amount which they are entitled to receive upon the liquidation of American pursuant to plan II, as finally determined by an order of the Commission or a decision of a court having jurisdiction, which distribution is to be effected as follows:

(a) If the amount to which the preferred stockholders are so entitled shall have been finally so determined by the Commission or a court prior to the date fixed for the distribution, American will distribute, on such distribution date, to the preferred stockholders, in cash, the full amount to which they are entitled as so determined; or

(b) If the amount to which the Preferred stockholders are so entitled shall not have been finally so determined by the Commission or a court prior to the date fixed for the distribution, American will distribute, on such distribution date, to the preferred stockholders (i) an amount in cash equal to $100 per share, plus accrued and unpaid dividends thereon to such distribution date, and (ii) a certificate evidencing the obligation of American to pay in cash to such preferred stockholders, or their assigns, such additional amount, if any, as it may later be finally so determined that the preferred stockholders are entitled to receive; and, if certificates are to be so distributed, the issue thereof by American and the deposit by American in escrow with a bank or trust company, as security for the payment of the amounts, if any, which may become payable upon such certificates and of expenses in connection with such escrow and payment, cash or demand non-interest bearing promissory notes of West Penn Electric in the aggregate principal amount of $2,200,000. The making of such delivery to and deposit with such bank or trust company shall be in full cancellation and satisfaction of the Preferred Stock and, upon the making thereof, all rights of the preferred stockholders as such shall terminate except the right to receive from such bank or trust company the cash and certificates, if any, so delivered and deposited with respect to the shares of Preferred Stock held by them, and from and after such distribution date dividends as such as the Preferred stock shall cease to accrue. The amendment by American of plan II so as to provide for such method of retirement of its $6 Series, First Preferred Stock and the approval of the plan, as so amended, by the Commission shall be without prejudice to the right of American by appropriate proceedings to contest any order of the Commission or decision of a court which shall determine that such preferred stockholders are entitled, upon the liquidation of American, to receive an amount in excess of $100 per share plus accrued and unpaid dividends thereon;

(4) The sale, transfer and delivery by American of all of the 6,000 shares of Common Stock of Waterworks Holding Company owned by American.

(5) The lending by American to West Penn Electric, upon West Penn Electric's promissory notes, but without interest, of such amount of cash held by American as its Board of Directors shall determine from time to time to be in excess of the amounts required to effectuate the liquidation of American, including the retirement of the debt and Preferred Stock of American as provided in paragraphs (2) and (3) above; the investment, transfer and delivery by American, prior to its final liquidation, as a contribution to the capital or as paid-in surplus of West Penn Electric, and the acquisition thereof by West Penn Electric, of any cash then held by American (including its right in any escrow fund provided under paragraph (3) above) together with all indebtedness of West Penn Electric owed by it to American and all shares of stock of West Penn Electric (other than Common Stock) then held by American; and the assumption by West Penn Electric of all remaining liabilities of American up to the amount of the capital contribution so made; and

(6) The distribution by American, in completion of its liquidation, after effecting the transactions set forth in paragraphs (2) through (5) above and after the liabilities of American have been determined and liquidated or otherwise provided for, to the holders of its Common Stock and in exchange therefor of all shares of Common Stock of West Penn Electric then held by American.

V. It is further ordered That the foregoing approvals and authorizations are subject to the following terms and conditions:

(1) That the authority hereby conferred shall be subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24.

(2) That the proposed issuance and sale of common stock by Waterworks Holding Company shall not be consummated until the results of the competitive bidding have been made a matter of record in this proceeding and a further order shall have been entered by this Commission in the light of the record so completed, which order shall contain such further terms and conditions, if any, as may then be deemed appropriate, jurisdiction being reserved for the imposition thereof;

(3) That jurisdiction is generally reserved to the Commission to entertain such further proceedings, to make such supplemental findings, and to take such further action as it may deem appropriate in connection with said plans, as modified, the transactions incident thereto and the consummation thereof, and to take such further action as it may deem necessary or appropriate to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) of the act; and that jurisdiction is specifically reserved to consider and determine the following matters;

(a) The reasonableness and appropriate allocation of all fees, expenses, and other remunerations incurred or to be incurred in connection with said plans, as modified, and the transactions incident thereto;

(b) The terms and provisions of any application or declaration that may be filed by American concerned with a proposal to eliminate from plan I the issuance by Waterworks Holding Company of transferable subscription warrants;

(c) The terms and provisions of the proposed sale by American, pursuant to plan II, of 6,000 shares of common stock of Waterworks Holding Company;

(d) The terms and provisions of any and all promissory notes to be issued by any of the subsidiaries of American in connection with the carrying out of plans I and II;

(e) The material and methods that may be used in connection with any solicitations of the public holders of the capital stocks of Community or the preferred stock of Ohio Cities in connection with plan I;

(f) The terms and provisions of any escrow agreement that may be entered into in the effectuation of plan II;

(g) The terms and provisions of any distribution to the common stockholders of American of the common stock of West Penn Electric (or any successor company to West Penn Electric);

(4) That the transactions provided in sections II and III of this order shall be effected within the period of four months following the date on which this order, or any order of a court enforcing the plans, becomes final in accordance with law, and the transactions provided in section IV of this order shall be effected within the period of six months following such date, which periods may be extended by supplemental order or orders of the Commission upon appropriate application by American, except that the transactions specified in paragraphs (5) and (6) of section IV of this order may be effected at such later date or dates as may be required in order to permit the liabilities of American to be determined and liquidated or otherwise provided for prior to effecting such transactions;

It is further ordered, That this order shall not be operative to authorize the consummation of any of the transactions proposed in the modified plans until an appropriate United States District Court shall, upon application thereto, enter an order enforcing such modified plans.

By the Commission.

HOME GAS CO. ET AL.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

FEBRUARY 17, 1947.

In the matter of Home Gas Company, The Manufacturers Light and Heat Company, Cumberland and Alleghany Gas Company and Natural Gas Company of West Virginia. Docket No. G-853.

Notice is hereby given that on January 27, 1947, Home Gas Company (Home), a New York corporation, authorized to do business in the States of New York and Pennsylvania; The Manufacturers Light and Heat Company (Manufacturers), a Pennsylvania corporation, authorized to do business in the States of Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia; Cumberland and Alleghany Gas Company (Cumberland), a West Virginia corporation, authorized to do business in the States of West Virginia and Maryland; and Natural Gas Company of West Virginia (Natural Gas Company), a West Virginia corporation, authorized to do business in the States of West Virginia, Ohio and Pennsylvania, all hereinafter sometimes referred to as Applicants, and all having a principal place of business at Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, filed an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, to authorize Applicants to construct, acquire, retire, replace, sell and operate certain natural gas facilities subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission.

The facilities proposed to be constructed, acquired, retired, replaced, sold and operated by each of the Applicants are described as follows:

By Home Gas Company

Job. No.

1. Construct approximately five miles of 14-inch O. D. gas transmission line beginning at a point on the existing pipe lines of Home in Deer Park Town, Orange County, New York, near the town of Port Jervis, and extending southwestward to the New York bank of the Delaware River;
2. Construct a portion of the Delaware River crossing in Orange County, New York, by installing therein one 10-inch and one 12-inch pipe line from the north bank of the river to a point in midstream defined as the New York-Pennsylvania state boundary;

By The Manufacturers Light and Heat Company

Job No.

3. Construct the balance of said Delaware River crossing in Pike County, Pennsylvania, by installing therein one 10-inch and one 12-inch line from the mid-point of said stream, where Home's construction ends, to the south bank of said river in Westfall Township, Pike County, Pennsylvania; also install one 10-inch and one 12-inch gas line across the Lehigh River in Northampton County, Pennsylvania, and the Schuylkill River in Montgomery and Chester Counties, Pennsylvania;
4. Construct approximately 125 miles of 14-inch O. D. gas transmission line commencing at the south bank of the Delaware River in Westfall Township, Pike County, Pennsylvania, and extending southwestward to a point on the Washington Farm east of Coatesville, West Bradford Township, Chester County, Pennsylvania, at which point it will form a junction with Manufacturers' existing two 8-inch lines No. 138 and an existing 20-inch line No. 1278;
5. Install a gas measuring station, with the necessary structure, on the south side of the Delaware River in Westfall Township, Pike County, Pennsylvania;
6. Install three 118 horsepower rotary compressors near the community of Millway, Warwick Township, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania;
7. Construct 3.2 miles of 20-inch O. D. gas transmission line in North Fayette Township, Alleghany County, Pennsylvania, from a point of connection with Line No. 1 on the Sam Walker Farm in a westerly direction to connect with 16-inch line No. 1360 on the Moore Farm;
8. Install four 130-horsepower compressors at the Hickory Mixing Station in Mount Pleasant Township, Washington County, Pennsylvania;
9. Install compressors totaling 900 horsepower at the proposed Brinker Compressor Station on the Haag Farm in Fairfield Township, Columbiana County, Ohio;
10. Install storage measuring station at the proposed Brinker Compressor Station;
11. Install an inter-company measuring station at the proposed Brinker Compressor Station;
12. Replace the present 500-pound working pressure pipe, valves and fittings in Brinker Storage Field in Fairfield and Elk Run Townships, Columbiana County, Ohio, with 1,000-pound working pressure material;
13. Dismantle and retire from operation the 360-horsepower compressor station at the existing Brinker Compressor Station in Salem Township, Columbiana County, Ohio;
14. Dismantle the storage measuring station at the existing Brinker Compressor Station;
15. Dismantle the inter-company measuring station at the existing Brinker Compressor Station;
16. Retire all pipe, valves and fittings in the Brinker Storage Field;
17. Purchase 10.5 miles of 8-inch transmission line No. 6023 in Fairfield and Unity Townships, Columbiana County, Ohio, from the Natural Gas Company of West Virginia;
18. Install an inter-company measuring station for the community of New Waterford, Columbiana County, Ohio, at the junction between the New Waterford 2-inch line in Unity Township, Columbiana County, Ohio, and the 8-inch line No. 6023;

Job No.

19. Construct 1,400 feet of 12-inch transmission line in West Finley Township, Washington County, Pennsylvania, and Sandhill District, Marshall County, West Virginia, between Manufacturers' Majorsville Compressor Station and the United Fuel Gas Company's 16-inch line known as the Cedarville line;
20. Purchase the northerly 7,300 feet of the Cedarville 16-inch gas transmission line located in Sandhill District, Marshall County, West Virginia, from the United Fuel Gas Company;
21. Install two additional 600 horsepower and one additional 300 horsepower compressors at the Majorsville Compressor Station in West Finley Township, Washington County, Pennsylvania, and install two 500 pound working pressure cylinders on an existing engine at that location;
22. Install a 1,000 pound working pressure storage measuring station at the Majorsville Compressor Station;
23. Replace with 1,000 pound working pressure equipment, all pipe, valves and fittings, with the exception of well lines, in the Majorsville Storage Field in West Finley Township, Washington County and Richhill Township, Greene County, Pennsylvania, and Sandhill and Webster Districts, Marshall County, West Virginia, as the existing equipment is only suitable for a maximum 500 pound working pressure;
24. Dismantle the existing 500 pound working pressure storage measuring station at the Majorsville Compressor Station;
25. Retire all pipe, valves and fittings, except well lines, in Majorsville Storage Field;
26. Dismantle a portion of the main compressor station building at Majorsville;
27. Dismantle a portion of gas piping, coolers and cylinders at Majorsville Compressor Station;
28. Install two 100 horsepower compressors at the Cross Creek Compressor Station, Jefferson Township, Washington County, Pennsylvania;
29. Dismantle one 30 horsepower gas engine-driven compressor at the Cross Creek Compressor Station for transfer to the Majorsville Compressor Station;
30. Install a regulator and inter-company measuring station, with necessary structure, in Southampton Township, Somerset County, Pennsylvania, north of Mount Savage, Maryland;

By Cumberland and Alleghany Gas Company

31. Construct 2.2 miles of 6-inch gas transmission line between the Pennsylvania-Maryland State line and the community of Mount Savage, Allegany County, Maryland;

By Natural Gas Company of West Virginia

32. Install five 125 horsepower rotary compressors at the proposed Minerva Compressor Station in Paris Township, Stark County, Ohio, and three 125 horsepower rotary compressors at the proposed Sebring Compressor Station in Butler Township, Columbiana County, Ohio, both of which stations will be located between the Canton and Bolivar gas fields in Stark and Tuscarawas Counties, Ohio, and the Brinker Compressor Station;
33. Sell 10.5 miles of 8-inch line No. 6023 to Manufacturers, which line is located in Fairfield and Unity Townships, Columbiana County, Ohio, and extends from the Ohio-Pennsylvania State line in a westerly direction to the Brinker Storage Field.

Applicants state that the facilities involved in Jobs 1–5, inclusive, will enable Manufacturers to deliver gas to Home at the eastern portion of the latter's pipeline system, increasing the total quantity of gas delivered to Home by an estimated 10,000 Mcf per day in 1948 and 30,000 Mcf per day in 1951; that the additional gas to be delivered to Home will come from Atlantic Seaboard Corporation; that the facilities involved in Job 6 will enable Manufacturers to pump 10,500 Mcf of gas per day at a delivery pressure of 200 pounds at Coatesville, Pennsylvania, in 1948, for redelivery to Home at Port Jervis, New York; and following 1948, the facilities will be used to increase the pressure of the gas Manufacturers proposes to send westward from Coatesville; that the facilities proposed in Job 7 will connect a 20-inch pipe line of Manufacturers with its 16-inch pipe line near Groveton, Pennsylvania, and will allow Manufacturers to serve United Natural Gas Company with Big Inch gas, and will enable Manufacturers to operate its 20-inch pipe line (No. 1,570) from the West Virginia State line to Ellwood City, Pennsylvania, as a high pressure line, required to help meet increased demands in the Beaver Valley area, pending the installation of 22 miles of 20-inch pipe line authorized in Docket No. G-737; that the facilities proposed in Job 8 will increase the pressure in Manufacturers' 12-inch pipe line No. 135 to allow more coke oven gas to be pumped from Manufacturers' Neville Island Compressor Station into Manufacturers' general transmission system at the Hickory Mixing Station; that the facilities proposed in Jobs 9-16, inclusive, are necessary to increase the storage capacity of the Brinker Storage field from 1,160,000 Mcf, as of February 1, 1947, to 6,095,000 Mcf as of February 1, 1951; that the daily deliverability of this storage field is expected to increase from 3,300 Mcf, as of February 1, 1947, to 7,700 Mcf, as of February 1, 1948, and to 24,200 Mcf, as of February 1, 1951; the Brinker Compressor Station is proposed to be relocated two miles east of the present station because the water supply at the present location is not sufficient to supply the proposed larger station; that the purchase of the pipe line in Job 17 is proposed to enable Manufacturers to transport natural gas to Brinker Storage field from its Elwood City Compressor Station, and from the storage field to the Beaver Valley area, and that the line is no longer of any value to the seller, Natural Gas Company, (Natural Gas Company seeks permission to make this sale in Job 33), due to depleting supplies of local gas; that because of the sale of the facilities in Job 17, Manufacturers will sell to Natural Gas Company the gas requirements to serve New Waterford, Ohio, requiring the construction of the proposed facilities in Job 18; that the proposed facilities in Job 19-27, inclusive, are necessary to increase the storage capacity of the Majorsville Storage Field from 5,854,000 Mcf, as of February 1, 1947, to 14,144,000 Mcf, as of February 1, 1951, and the daily deliverability from the storage field is expected to increase from 8,800 Mcf in 1947 to 24,000 Mcf in 1948 and to 57,000 Mcf in 1951, and in addition the purchase of the 7,300 feet of pipe line from United Fuel Gas Company (Job 20) will eliminate a rental charge for the use of that line; that the changes proposed in Jobs 28 and 29 are in the interest of providing proper size equipment for the economic operation of the Cross Creek Compressor Station, and will allow the 300 H. P. engine to be transferred to the Majorsville Compressor Station; that the facilities proposed in Jobs 30 and 31 will enable Manufacturers to sell and deliver gas to Cumberland to meet the latter's increased requirements in Mount Savage, Maryland; that the facilities and operations proposed in Job 32 will enable Natural Gas Company to deliver 5,000 Mcf of gas daily to Manufacturers for storage in the Brinker Storage field in the summertime and for redelivery of gas from the storage field to Natural Gas Company in the wintertime.

Applicants estimate the net total over-all cost of the proposed facilities is $6,762,691. Cumberland and Natural Gas Company will finance the construction proposed by them ($29,450 and $32,525, respectively) from their own funds. Manufacturers and Home will borrow their total over-all capital costs ($6,503,751 and $196,965, respectively) from the Columbia Gas & Electric Corporation. The facilities to be purchased from United Fuel Gas Company and Natural Gas Company will be purchased at original cost less a calculated depreciation. United Fuel Gas Company has joined in the instant application to the extent necessary to secure Commission approval for the sale to Manufacturers of the 7,300 feet of 16-inch line hereinbefore referred to.

Applicants state that the proposed construction, acquisition and changes are for the purpose of serving existing customers of the Applicants and are not extensions of facilities into new markets not heretofore served by Applicants. Applicants recite that the requirements of the Applicants and their associated companies of the Pittsburgh group on a winter peak day in 1948 are estimated to be 393,000 Mcf, of which 351,000 Mcf are requirements of the Pittsburgh division and 42,000 Mcf are requirements of the Binghampton division; and the estimated requirements of the Applicants and their associated companies of the Pittsburgh group on a winter peak day in 1951 total 445,000 Mcf, of which 393,000 Mcf are requirements of the Pittsburgh division and 52,000 Mcf are requirements of the Binghampton division.

Any interested State Commission is requested to notify the Federal Power Commission whether the application should be considered under the cooperative provisions of Rule 37 of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure and, if so, to advise the Federal Power Commission as to the nature of its interest in the matter and whether it desires a conference, the creation of a board, or a joint or concurrent hearing, together with the reasons for such request.

The application of Home Gas Company, The Manufacturers Light and Heat Company, Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company, and Natural Gas Company of West Virginia is on file with the Commission and is open to public inspection. Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to the application shall file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., not later than fifteen days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, a petition to intervene or protest. Such petition or protest shall conform to the requirements of the rules of practice and procedure (effective September 11, 1946,) and shall set out clearly and concisely the facts from which the nature of the petitioner or protestant's alleged right or interest can be determined. Petitions for intervention shall state fully and completely the grounds of the proposed intervention and the contentions of the petitioner in the proceeding, so as to advise the parties and the Commission as to the issues of fact or law to be raised or controverted, by admitting, denying, or explaining, specifically and in detail, each material allegation of fact or law asserted with respect to the application.

SOUTH CAROLINA ELECTRIC & GAS CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR PRELIMINARY PERMIT

Public notice is hereby given, pursuant to the provisions of the Federal Power Act (16 U. S. C. 791-825r), that South Carolina Electric & Gas Company, of Columbia, South Carolina, has made application for preliminary permit for proposed major Project No. 1965 on the Saluda River, in Richland and Lexington Counties, South Carolina, consisting of a concrete dam with gated spillway and a concrete powerhouse with installed capacity of approximately 26,810 horsepower to be located about 1 mile above the mouth of the river and to develop as much as practical of the fall in the river below Lake Murray (Project No. 516). The power is to be transmitted 1.5 miles to a large substation of the applicant.

Any protest against the approval of this application or request for hearing thereon, with the reasons for such protest or request and the name and address of the party or parties so protesting or requesting, should be submitted before March 27, 1947, to the Federal Power Commission, at Washington, D. C.

TITLE 3—THE PRESIDENT

EXECUTIVE ORDER 9827

APPOINTMENT OF THE MEMBERS AND THE ALTERNATE MEMBER OF A MILITARY TRIBUNAL ESTABLISHED FOR THE TRIAL AND PUNISHMENT OF MAJOR WAR CRIMINALS IN GERMANY

By virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and the statutes, and as President of the United States and Commander in Chief of the Army and Navy of the United States, it is ordered as follows:

1. I hereby designate Carrington Tanner Marshall, formerly Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of Ohio, James Tenney Brand, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of Oregon, and Mallory B. Blair, formerly Associate Justice, Court of Civil Appeals, State of Texas, as the members, and Justin Woodward Harding, Esq., of the Bar of the State of Ohio, as the alternate member, of one of the several military tribunals established by the Military Governor for the United States Zone of Occupation within Germany pursuant to the quadripartite agreement of the Control Council for Germany, enacted December 20, 1945, as Control Council Law No. 10, and pursuant to Articles 10 and 11 of the Charter of the International Military Tribunal, which tribunal was established by the Government of the United States of America, the Provisional Government of the French Republic, the Government of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, and the Government of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, for the trial and punishment of major war criminals of the European Axis. Such members and alternate member may, at the direction of the Military Governor of the United States Zone of Occupation, serve on any of the several military tribunals above mentioned.

2. The members and the alternate member herein designated shall receive such compensation and allowances for expenses as may be determined by the Secretary of War and as may be payable from appropriations or funds available to the War Department for such purposes.

3. The Secretary of State, the Secretary of War, the Attorney General, and the Secretary of the Navy are authorized to provide appropriate assistance to the members and the alternate member herein designated in the performance of their duties and may assign or detail such personnel under their respective jurisdictions, including members of the armed forces, as may be requested for the purpose. Personnel so assigned or detailed shall receive such compensation and allowances for expenses as may be determined by the Secretary of War and as may be payable from appropriations or funds available to the War Department for such purposes, except that personnel assigned or detailed from the Navy Department shall receive such compensation and allowances for expenses to which they may be entitled by reason of their military rank and service and as may be payable from appropriations or funds available to the Navy Department for such purposes.

PART 601—OFFICERS RESERVE CORPS

ORGANIZED RESERVE CORPS, EXCEPT GENERAL OFFICERS

Sections 601.1 to 601.7, inclusive, are hereby rescinded and the following §§ 601.1 to 601.9 are substituted therefor:

Sec.
601.1 General.
601.2 Appointment.
601.3 Sections of the Officers Reserve Corps.
601.4 Physical examination.
601.5 Annual physical examination.
601.6 Length of appointment.
601.7 Appointments or enlistments not not made from certain classes.
601.8 Action by The Adjutant General.
601.9 Age-in-grade and service-in-grade.

AUTHORITY: §§ 601.1 to 601.9, inclusive, issued under sec. 37, 39 Stat. 189, 40 Stat. 73, sec. 3, 48 stat. 939; 10 U. S. C. 353.

§ 601.1 General. Whenever the term "Organized Reserve Corps" appears herein, it includes the personnel and units of the Officers' Reserve Corps, the Enlisted Reserve Corps, and the Organized Reserves as provided for in the National Defense Act of 1916, as amended.

§ 601.2 Appointments. (a) All persons appointed officers in the Organized Reserve Corps will be commissioned in the Army of the United States under the authority contained in section 37 of the National Defense Act.

(b) At the time of issuance of orders for relief from active duty all officers in the Army of the United States except officers of the Regular Army, active or retired, will be offered appointments in the Officers' Reserve Corps for an initial period of 5 years in the highest grade held at the time of relief from active duty subject to the following provisions:

(1) All male commissioned officers of the Army of the United States except active or retired Regular Army officers, who have not attained their sixtieth birthday, found physically qualified for general service, limited service, or general service with waiver, who have served honorably, and who have not been separated for unsatisfactory service, are eligible for appointment with the following exceptions:

(i) Commissioned officers of the National Guard of the United States who do not hold a higher temporary grade in the Army of the United States.

(ii) Commissioned officers of the Officers' Reserve Corps who do not hold a higher temporary grade in the Army of the United States.

(2) Officers who are eligible for promotion to the next higher grade and who are promoted in the Army of the United States, are thereby removed from the above categories (subparagraphs (1) (i) and (ii) of this paragraph) and are eligible for appointment in the higher grade.

(3) Officers eligible for appointment in the Officers' Reserve Corps under the provisions stated in this section, who have not accepted or who do not accept appointment at the time of relief from active duty may apply to The Adjutant General for appointment: Provided, Such applications are made prior to July 1, 1947, or within 6 months from date of relief from active duty, whichever is later.

(4) Officers listed in subparagraphs (1) (i) and (ii) of this paragraph will be commissioned in the Officers' Reserve Corps at any time after completion of terminal leave and within the time limits specified in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph upon application to The Adjutant General for such appointment.

§ 601.3 Sections of the Officers' Reserve Corps are:

(a) Adjutant General's Department Reserve, AG-Res.
(b) Air Reserve, Air-Res.
(c) Armor Reserve,[3] Arm-Res.
(d) Army Security Reserve, AS-Res.
(e) Cavalry Reserve, Cav-Res.
(f) Chaplain Reserve,[1] Ch-Res.
(g) Chemical Corps Reserve, Cml-Res.
(h) Coast Artillery Corps Reserve, CA-Res.
(i) Corps of Engineers Reserve, Engr-Res.
(j) Corps of Military Police Reserve, MP-Res.
(k) Field Artillery Reserve,[3] FA-Res.
(l) Finance Department Reserve, Fin-Res.
(m) Infantry Reserve, Inf-Res.
(n) Judge Advocate General's Department Reserve,[1] JAG-Res.
(o) Medical Department Reserve: [2]
(1) Dental Corps Reserve, Dent-Res.
(2) Medical Administrative Corps Reserve, MA-Res.
(3) Medical Corps Reserve, Med-Res.
(4) Pharmacy Corps Reserve, Ph-Res.
(5) Sanitary Corps Reserve, Sn-Res.
(6) Veterinary Corps Reserve, Vet-Res.
(p) Military Intelligence Reserve, MI-Res.
(q) Ordnance Department Reserve, Ord-Res.
(r) Quartermaster Corps Reserve, QM-Res.
(s) Signal Corps Reserve, Sig-Res.
(t) Staff and Administrative Reserve, SA-Res.
(u) Transportation Corps Reserve, TC-Res.

§ 601.4 Physical examination. Approved War Department policies relating to the postwar Organized Reserve Corps provide that the physical standards for officers and enlisted men of the Organized Reserve Corps will be those prescribed in current Army Regulations

[1] Officers only.
[2] Enlistments will be in the Medical Department Reserve. Appointments of officers in appropriate sections only.
[3] Includes tank destroyer personnel who may choose either Armor Reserve or Field Artillery Reserve.

and War Department directives. Waivers of physical defects will be authorized only to the extent prescribed for the Regular Army.

§ 601.5 Annual physical examination of officers—(a) Annual physical examination. An examination of a type and scope as prescribed in current War Department letters of instruction will be made on all officers in the active Reserve.

(b) By whom made. The physical examination for officers of the Organized Reserve Corps will be made by a board composed of an equal number of medical officers of the Regular Army and reserve components designated by the major command having administrative jurisdiction.

§ 601.6 Length of appointment. Appointments in every case will be for a period of 5 years, but an appointment in force at the outbreak of war or made in war-time will continue in force until 6 months after the termination of the war, should the 5-year period covered by the appointment terminate prior to that time.

§ 601.7 Appointment or enlistments not made from certain classes. No person in any of the following-named classes will be a member of the Organized Reserve Corps.

(a) Commissioned officers of the Regular Army.

(b) Cadets, United States Military Academy.

(c) Midshipmen, United States Naval Academy, and cadets, United States Coast Guard Academy.

(d) Persons on either the active or the reserve list of the Navy, Marine Corps, National Guard, National Guard of the United States, Coast Guard, Public Health Service, and Coast and Geodetic Survey.

§ 601.8 Action by The Adjutant General. Upon receipt of the report of the examining board approved by the major command recommending appointment; assignment to the Inactive Reserve from the Active Reserve; reassignment to the Active Reserve; or separation from the Organized Reserve Corps, The Adjutant General will accomplish the appointment or take other appropriate action.

§ 601.9 Age-in-grade and service-in-grade—(a) General. A mandatory age-in-grade, and a length of service-in-grade provision, as prescribed by the War Department, will be adopted, insuring appropriate age for the actual assignment of every officer. Exceptions to this policy in the case of officers with wartime service will be given due consideration.

(b) Interim policy, maximum, age-in-grade. (1) During such period as may be required to reorganize the reserve components, and in any event not to extend beyond 1 January 1951, the assignment of all officers of the Organized Reserve Corps will be limited by those ages set forth below. Assignment will be terminated upon reaching the following birthdays:

Army Air Forces units and qualified Air Reserve Officers necessary for balanced Air Reserve Force	31	36	41	44	47	49
All other Air Reserve Officers	36	41	46	49	52	54
Army Ground Forces (including AGF service troops)	30	35	42	47	52	55
All others in the Organized Reserve Corps	40	43	46	51	55	60

(2) No candidate will be given an assignment, who is less than 21 or more than 60 years old; nor, except for Army Air Forces, unless his age is such that he can serve at least 1 year before assignment would be terminated by the age limitation for each grade as set forth above. For the Army Air Forces no candidate for assignment to a unit as second lieutenant shall be more than 27; as first lieutenant, more than 32; as captain, more than 37; as major, more than 40; as lieutenant colonel, more than 43; as colonel, more than 45.

(c) All officers of the Active Reserve will, upon reaching the statutory retirement age, be transferred to the Inactive Reserve.

[Local Board Memorandum 187, Issued: 10-14-43, as amended: 2-21-47]

PART 671—LOCAL BOARD MEMORANDA

MINISTERS OF RELIGION AND STUDENTS PREPARING FOR THE MINISTRY

Pursuant to the provisions of the Administrative Procedures Act, the following directive issued under authority of the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940, as amended, is hereby made a matter of record.

§ 671.187 Ministers of religion and students preparing for the ministry—(a) Ministers of religion—(1) Classification of ministers of religion in Class IV-D. (i) The exemption of ministers of religion is a mandatory provision of the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940, as amended. Section 5 (d) of the act provides that:

> Regular or duly ordained ministers of religion, • • • shall be exempt from training and service (but not from registration) under this act.

(ii) This provision is implemented by § 622.44 of the Selective Service Regulations (9 F. R. 5202) which provides:

> Class IV-D: Minister of religion or • • •
> (a) In Class IV-D shall be placed any registrant:
> (1) Who is a regular minister of religion, or
> (2) Who is a duly ordained minister of religion, or
> (b) A "regular minister of religion" is a man who customarily preaches and teaches the principles of religion of a recognized church, religious sect, or religious organization of which he is a member, without having been formally ordained as a minister of religion; and who is recognized by such church, sect, or organization as a minister.
> (c) A "duly ordained minister of religion" is a man who has been ordained in accordance with the ceremonial ritual or discipline of a recognized church, religious sect, or religious organization, to teach and preach its doctrines and to administer its rites and ceremonies in public worship; and who customarily performs those duties.

(2) The general policy of our country. The exemption of ministers of religion from general military duty has been a policy in this country since early colonial times. They were specifically exempt by the draft acts of 1917 and 1918, and the history of the legislative action of 1940 indicates that it was the desire of the Congress to follow in general the provisions made during World War I. At one time it was said on the floor of the Senate that it was understood "there was in the committee a unanimity of opinion in favor of exempting actual ministers of the gospel who were actually performing ministerial and religious duties." One senator referred to the exemption as "necessary and justifiable." A separate vote was taken on section 5 (d) of the act in the Senate where it was offered as an amendment and it was adopted, after debate, by a vote of 60-10. The issue did not come before the House of Representatives for separate discussion or vote.

(3) Determination of classification. Whether a registrant is to be classified in Class IV-D as a minister of religion must be determined in each individual case by the local board of jurisdiction, subject to such appeals as are provided in the act and in the Selective Service Regulations.

(4) Waiving a ministerial classification. Nothing in this section shall be construed as preventing any registrant from waiving recognition of his status as a minister of religion and not insisting upon classification in Class IV-D for exemption from training and service under the act.

(5) Information required of a resident. Where a registrant claims exemption through the making of a statement or the presentation of information purporting to show that he is in fact a minister of religion, additional information general or specific, may be requested by the local board. However, in view of the fact that the exemption is a statutory provision of the Act, no particular form of document is specified for the presentation of evidence in such a case.

(6) Persons who are considered to be ministers of religion. One who performs certain religious and ministerial functions in accordance with the organizational and doctrinal policies of a recognized church or religious organization is a minister of religion whether commonly called a minister, priest, rabbi, missionary, overseer, or by another appropriate designation, and whether he is directly in touch with a congregation or is assigned to administrative or other work by his denomination. A minister of religion can be recognized best through his position and work in his church.

(i) Through the regular performance of the religious and ministerial duties of a historical office of leadership in a recognized church or religious organization, a registrant may qualify for classification in Class IV-D and exemption from training and service under the act. Such a type of ministry tends toward the single ministry serving a congregation, but must not be thought of as excluding a multiple ministry where more than one is fully engaged in the work of a congregation or where the duties of leadership have been rather equally divided among a few, as has long been recognized with regard to the counsellors of the Mormon Church. Because both practice and necessity require such clergy of some churches to support themselves either partially or wholly some will be found to be engaged in secular employment. In such event the actual and customary performance of ministerial tasks rather than any question regarding the secular employment should be the controlling factor in determining the man's classification.

(ii) Through the demonstration of a singular devotion of his life to a special service in a recognized church or religious organization, a registrant may qualify for classification in Class IV-D and exemption from training and service under the act. In this special type of ministry the men are found to have been assigned to special religious tasks which are ecclesiastically approved by their respective churches. This ministry is exemplified by the lay brothers of the Roman Catholic Church, the Christian day school teachers of certain of the Lutheran denominations, and the pioneers of the Jehovah's Witnesses. When otherwise qualified, a showing that such a man is performing his religious and ministerial duties to the substantial or complete exclusion of secular employment should be accepted as conclusive in determining the registrant's classification.

(7) Organizations which are considered to be recognized churches. The term "recognized church, religious sect, or religious organization" may be applied to any organization of persons for religious worship, whether under the name of church, ecclesia, company, meeting, mission, station, or other appropriate designation, which has a separate membership or congregation. The term may be made to include organizations of an ethical character which people regularly attend instead of and for the same general purposes as a more commonly recognized church. The term "denomination" is applied to the general overhead organization into which local churches are combined, and to groups of independent and federated churches. However, a single local institution should be considered to be a recognized church or religious organization when it is generally accepted as such within the community, without regard necessarily to a wider recognition.

(8) Certain recognized churches and some of their ministers. Because of the unusual nature of the organization and work of certain religious bodies, National Headquarters has been asked from time to time to make predeterminations relating to the question of whether a particular group comes within the purview of the exemption provisions as a recognized church or religious organization and to assist in determining the general and usual duties of various offices within such churches. No complete list of such recognized churches has been issued nor is the issuance of such contemplated. However, brief statements regarding a few recognized churches are included herein. Additional information regarding these or other organizations will be furnished upon the request of any agency of the Selective Service System. The following organizations have been predetermined by National Headquarters to be "recognized churches, religious sects, or religious organizations" and the named officials of the respective churches are thought to qualify for classification as ministers of religion where found to be performing the usual duties of such offices, although this is not an exclusive list and is not to be interpreted as indicating that a particular organization not listed is not a recognized church or that a particular office not listed is not an office of ministry:

(i) Salvation Army. Commissioned officers of the Salvation Army are consecrated to their religious beliefs and the commissions which they hold constitute in effect an ordination. Their position in their denomination entitles them to be considered duly ordained ministers of religion.

(ii) Roman Catholic Church. Catholic brothers have made profession of the vows required of them by their respective religious orders, such as poverty, chastity, obedience, etc., and are said to devote all of their time to the work of their communities or congregations. Moreover, when the act was being discussed in the Congress it was made clear that it was intended to include such in the purview of the statutory exemption provision. In view of this they are considered regular ministers of religion.

(iii) Jehovah's Witnesses (Watchtower Bible and Tract Society). In this church the company servants hold the position of leadership in handling the affairs of the local unit or company. The servants to the brethren are traveling evangelists supervising different regions as direct representatives of the society. Pioneers, special pioneers and members of the Bethel Family are said to have consecrated their lives to their church and to devote all or substantially all of their time in the work of their church. When such are found to be performing the religious and ministerial duties of their offices as indicated they qualify as ministers of religion.

(iv) Church of Christ, Scientist. First and second readers, Christian Science lecturers, Christian Science wartime ministers and readers and Christian Science practitioners whose names appear in the Christian Science Journal as being recognized or certified practitioners are considered regular ministers of religion while serving during a designated term in such offices.

(v) Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Missouri, Ohio, and other States. Teachers in the Christian day schools of this church are considered regular ministers of religion if they have undertaken to devote their lives to the furtherance of the religious beliefs of the church, if they have been called by a congregation and assigned to teach in a parochial school in a manner similar to that in which the pastor of the congregation is called and if they are regarded by other members of the church in the same manner in which regular ministers of religion are regarded.

(vi) Evangelical Lutheran Joint Synod of Wisconsin and other States. Christian day school teachers of this church are to be considered in exactly the same manner as is provided above regarding similar teachers of the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Missouri, Ohio and other States.

(vii) Jewish congregations. In exceptional instances where cantors perform virtually all of the functions normally performed by rabbis in Jewish congregations, including the giving of advice upon specific questions of Jewish law, the preaching of sermons, the teaching and expounding of the law, and the congregations regard them as their spiritual leaders, they are considered regular ministers of religion.

(viii) Volunteers of America. The commissioned officers of this denomination are duly ordained and commissioned after due preparation and a satisfactory examination. They customarily preach and teach the principles of religion in accordance with the prescribed form of worship recognized by the organization. Therefore, they are ministers of religion.

(ix) Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (Mormon). Those who have been ordained in the Melchizadek Priesthood of this church and who function in the capacities listed are considered regular ministers of religion, so long as they hold any of these positions; the first presidency of three men, the presiding patriarch or quorum of twelve apostles, the first seven presidents of seventies, the presiding bishopric of the church of three men, the president and two counsellors of each stake, the bishop and two counsellors of each ward, the president and two counsellors of each independent branch, the president of each dependent branch, the president of each mission, and those men who have been ordained as elders of seventies and who hold formal certificates as missionaries.

(x) Seventh-day Adventist Church. This church looks upon its colporteur evangelists as engaged in a vocation comparable to the gospel ministry. When registrants are actively engaged in a bona fide manner in full-time work of this nature and file evidence of possession of colporteur's licenses or colporteur's credentials, they are considered ministers of religion. When the teachers in the day schools of this church are shown to have given their lives and are devoting their lives to the religious activities of their church, they too are considered to be regular ministers of religion.

(b) Students preparing for the ministry—(1) Classification of students preparing for the ministry in Class IV–D. (i) Section 622.44 (a), Selective Service Regulations (9 F. R. 5202, 10 F. R. 12600) provides as follows:

> In Class IV–D shall be placed any registrant:
> (3) Who is a student preparing for the ministry in a theological or divinity school which has been recognized as such for more than one year prior to the date of enactment of the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940 (September 16, 1940), or
> (4) Who has been accepted for admittance to a theological or divinity school referred to in subparagraph (3) of this section and who, under the general direction of such theological or divinity school, is pursuing in another institution a full-time course of study required by the theological or divinity school in which he has been accepted for admittance and who has been formally accepted as a candidate for the ministry by the highest authority governing ordination of a recognized church, religious sect, or religious organization.

(ii) Section 5 (d) of the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940, as amended, provides for the exemption from training and service of students preparing for the ministry in theological or divinity schools recognized by such for more than one year prior to the date of the enactment of the act. This statutory provision is embodied in subparagraph (3) of § 622.44 (a) (9 F. R. 5202) as above quoted. Since preliminary training for the ministry in certain religious denominations is undertaken in high schools, colleges, and similar institutions rather than in schools which may be termed theological or divinity schools, provision is made in subparagraph (4) of § 622.44 (a) (10 F. R. 12600) for the classification in Class IV–D, under certain conditions, of registrants who are taking a pretheological course in "another institution."

(2) Student preparing for the ministry. (i) In order to qualify for classification in Class IV–D as a student preparing for the ministry, a man must be pursuing in good faith a full-time course of study for which credit will be given toward the completion of his training in the school which he attends, and it must be evident that he is preparing himself to become a regular or duly ordained minister of religion. The course of study may be carried on in the theological or divinity school or in another institution. Where carried on in another institution, the student's course of study must be under the general direction of the theological or divinity school in which he has been accepted.

(ii) The "full-time" nature of the course of study is established when the student is carrying a course similar to that normally designed in schools to occupy the full academic interest of a student. It would be similar to the type of course pursued by a student in order to complete a so-called four-year college course leading to the Bachelor's degree in eight semesters with a normal load of approximately sixteen hours of recitation per week. In a high school it would normally be equivalent to four class recitation periods per day. If a student is making satisfactory progress toward the completion of his course of study, a moderate amount of outside employment does not render the course less than "full-time."

(iii) A student classified in Class IV–D who has completed a required pretheological course and who has matriculated in a recognized theological or divinity school should be retained in Class IV–D if he is scheduled to enter upon active classroom work in such school with the next entering class.

(3) Students in theological or divinity schools; information required. In the case of any registrant who claims to be a student preparing for the ministry in a recognized theological or divinity school, the local board shall classify the registrant in accordance with the information submitted without specific requirement as to its form.

(4) Students who have been accepted for admittance to theological or divinity schools; information required. In the case of a registrant who claims to be a student preparing for the ministry who has been accepted for admittance to a recognized theological or divinity school and who is pursuing in another institution under the direction of such theological or divinity school a full-time course of study required by the theological or divinity school, the local board shall require the following information:

(i) A statement of the registrant that he is preparing for and intends to enter into the ministry of a recognized church, religious sect, or religious organization.

(ii) A statement of the highest authority governing ordination of a recognized church, religious sect, or religious organization that it is in need of ministers of religion and that the registrant has been formally accepted as a candidate for the ministry.

(iii) A statement of a recognized theological or divinity school that the registrant has been accepted for admittance to such theological or divinity school and that he is pursuing under the general direction of such theological or divinity school on a full-time basis a course of study required by the theological or divinity school.

(5) Predeterminations concerning schools made by the Director of Selective Service. A local board, a State Director of Selective Service, or another agency of the Selective Service System may desire, in certain cases, to request the Director of Selective Service to make a predetermination as to whether a theological or divinity school was recognized as such for more than one year prior to September 16, 1940. All such requests should be forwarded to the Director of Selective Service through the State Director of Selective Service.

(6) List of recognized theological or divinity schools. The Director of Selective Service has predetermined that certain theological or divinty schools were recognized as such for more than one year prior to September 16, 1940. A list of these recognized schools is set forth in Appendix A to this section. This list will be revised from time to time as other predeterminations are made by the Director of Selective Service. This list does not include a number of theological or divinity schools which undoubtedly would be eligible to receive a favorable predetermination by the Director of Selective Service if a request were made for such a predetermination. The fact that a particular theological or divinity school does not appear on this list should not be taken to mean that it is not a recognized theological or divinity school.

PART 1010—SUSPENSION ORDERS

[Suspension Order S-1091]

JOSEPH SHAFFER

Joseph Shaffer, Rural Route 2, Independence, Missouri, on July 12, 1946, without authorization from the Civilian Production Administration, began the construction of a filling station building costing in excess of $1,000 and four double tourist cabins costing in excess of $200 each, located on the north side of Highway 24 at the Northeast corner of the intersection with Highway 71 by-pass in Jackson County, Missouri, although his application for such construction was denied by the Civilian Production Administration on July 10, 1946. Thereafter, on January 9, 1947, authorization on Form CPA-4423 was issued to Joseph Shaffer on behalf of his son, Thomas Shaffer, who is a veteran of World War II, to complete the filling station to be operated by Thomas Shaffer and to complete one cabin as the residence of said veteran, Thomas Shaffer. The beginning and carrying on of construction of three double cabins not specifically authorized by the Civilian Production Administration was in violation of Veterans' Housing Program Order No. 1 and has diverted critical materials to uses not authorized by the Civilian Production Administration. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby ordered that:

§ 1010.1091 Suspension Order No. S-1091. (a) Neither Joseph Shaffer, his successors or assigns, nor any other person, shall do any construction on the premises located on the north side of Highway 24 at the northeast corner of the intersection with Highway 71 by-pass in Jackson County, Missouri, including completing, putting up, or altering of structure thereon, except the filling station and cabin which were authorized on Form CPA-4423 on January 9, 1947, referred to above, unless hereafter specifically authorized in writing by the Civilian Production Administration.

(b) Joseph Shaffer shall refer to this order in any application or appeal which he may file with the Civilian Production Administration for authorization to carry on construction.

(c) Nothing contained in this order shall be deemed to relieve Joseph Shaffer, his successors or assigns, from any restriction, prohibition or provision contained in any other order or regulation of the Civilian Production Administration, except insofar as the same may be inconsistent with the provisions hereof.

Issued this 21st day of February 1947.

CIVILIAN PRODUCTION ADMINISTRATION,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

PART 1010—SUSPENSION ORDERS

[Suspension Order S-1093]

LOUIS HAGES & NICK REGAS AND LLOYD SMALLING

Louis Hages and Nick Regas are partners operating a tavern and dance hall known as Toddle Inn at 3793 St. Clair Avenue, East St. Louis, Illinois. Lloyd Smalling was employed by them as contractor. On August 12, 1946, without authorization from the Civilian Production Administration, they began construction of an addition to the tavern at the above location to cost in excess of $6,000. Nick Regas and Lloyd Smalling knew that such construction could not be begun or carried on without authorization from the Civilian Production Administration and the beginning and carrying on of such construction without authorization constituted a wilful violation of Veterans' Housing Program Order No. 1. This violation has diverted critical materials to uses not authorized by the Civilian Production Administration. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby ordered that:

§ 1010.1093 Suspension order No. S-1093. (a) Neither Louis Hages, Nick Regas or Lloyd Smalling, their successors or assigns, nor any other person, shall do any construction on the premises located at 3793 St. Clair Avenue, East St. Louis, Illinois, including completing, putting up or altering of any structure located thereon, unless hereafter specifically authorized in writing by the Civilian Production Administration.

(b) Louis Hages, Nick Regas, and Lloyd Smalling shall refer to this order in any application or appeal which they may file with the Civilian Production Administration for authorization to carry on construction.

(c) Nothing contained in this order shall be deemed to relieve Louis Hages, Nick Regas, or Lloyd Smalling, their successors or assigns, from any restriction, prohibition or provision contained in any other order or regulation of the Civilian Production Administration, except insofar as the same may be inconsistent with the provisions hereof.

Issued this 21st day of February 1947.

PART 1305—ADMINISTRATION

[3d Rev. RO 3,[1] Amdt. 17 to Supp. 1]

SUGAR

Supplement 1 to Third Revised Ration Order 3 is amended in the following respect:

Section 5.1 is amended by adding paragraph (t) to read as follows:

(t) Application for a base or an adjustment in base by war producers who invested in productive equipment for use in making products for designated agencies (OPA Form R-380 (2-47)) referred to in section 17.7.

OPA Form R-380 (2-47)

Address—Number and street

City, postal zone number, State

Name of owner

If registered industrial user, give sugar branch office where registered:

INSTRUCTIONS

Who May Use This Form

Use this form if you are a manufacturer who used sugar or sugar-containing products during the eligible period, in producing a particular class of product for a designated agency, provided that:

(1) You invested in productive equipment between January 1, 1945, and January 1, 1946, for the production of jams, jellies, and preserves or between April 20, 1942, and January 1, 1946, for all other types of production.

Do not use this form if you are an industrial user who is applying for an adjustment because of unrepresentative base use of sugar resulting from an investment prior to April 20, 1942. Form R-365 or R-373 is used for that type of application.

Where to File Applications

File your application (original only) with the Sugar Branch Office serving the area in which your establishment is located. If you have more than one establishment and wish to register them together, file your application with the Sugar Branch Office serving the area in which your principal business office is located. If you do not wish to register them together, file a separate application for each at the Sugar Branch Office serving the area in which each establishment is located. In case of a multiple operation, separate applications should be filed for each operation regardless of manner of registration of establishments.

If you are a registered industrial user, file this application with the Sugar Branch Office where your registration (OPA Form R-1200) is on file. If you have multiple establishments registered together or registered separately your application must be filed with the OPA Office or Offices with which you are registered.

USE OF SUGAR OR SUGAR-CONTAINING PRODUCTS IN THE PRODUCTION OF MORE THAN ONE CLASS OF FINISHED PRODUCT

Fill out a separate application for each "class of finished product" produced at your establishment for which you are applying for an adjustment or assignment of a sugar base. For example, if you produce both candy and ice cream, you must file separate applications for your candy operation and for your ice cream operation.

Explanation of Terms

1. Designated Agency.—Means a government agency or activity, e. g., Army, Navy; or a private activity, e. g., Red Cross or U. S. O. for their overseas use, which was permitted to issue sugar to a person either by way of advance or replacement for the purpose of producing the products acquired by that agency.

2. Sugar.—For definition of sugar refer to Section 25.1 of TRRO 3.

3. Sugar Containing Products.—Examples of such products are baking mix, syrup, fondant, and chocolate coating which are purchased by many manufacturers and used in producing baked goods, soft drinks, candy, and other finished products.

4. Class of Finished Product.—This term as used in this form has reference to the products produced within a specific class of product (or use) as listed in Schedule I of the R-1200 Registration of Industrial Users and as stated in the industrial user section of Third Revised Ration Order 3.

5. Type of Finished Product.—This term as used in this form, has reference to individual products within a class of products. Examples of types of products are bread, rolls, cakes, and pie within the "bakery" class; hard candy, marshmallows, and creams within the "candy" class; ice cream and sherbet within the "ice cream" class.

6. Operations.—The terms "operations," as well as "business," "establishment," and "production" wherever used in this form have reference to the operation in which you use "sugar" or "sugar-containing products" to produce the "class of finished product" covered by this form.

7. Eligible Period.—This term used in this form has reference to the period Jan. 1, 1945 to Jan. 1, 1946 for jam, jelly, and preserve operations and April 20, 1942 to Jan. 1, 1946 for all other types of operation. Productive equipment ordered, acquired, or installed during this period may be considered as an investment made in productive equipment during the eligible period.

PART I—GENERAL

1 If you are not a registered industrial user of sugar, state the total annual sugar "base" that you are requesting to produce the class of finished products covered by this application ..... lbs.

NOTE: The "base" is not the amount of sugar you will receive if your application is approved. It is the figure from which your allotments will be computed, as established in the Sugar Rationing Regulations.

2 If you are a registered industrial user of sugar, answer (a), (b), and (c).

3 State the registered sugar base for the class of products covered by this application ..... lbs.

b State the amount of the adjustment requested for such class of products ..... lbs.

c As a registered industrial user, have you received an adjustment in your original sugar base? YES ☐ NO ☐

If "Yes," give Amount ..... Date Granted .....

Reason .....

[1] 11 F. R. 166.

3 Have you used sugar or sugar-containing products in manufacturing products for a designated agency? Yes ☐ No ☐

a If "Yes," give the date of last contract or order prior to January 1, 1946, and the name of the agency.

(Date of Contract) (Agency)

b If you operated as a sub-contractor give the name of the contractor and date of last order prior to January 1, 1946.

(Name of Contractor) (Date of last order)

NOTE: Submit photostatic or certified copies of contract or delivery receipt. Sub-contractor will attach letter from contractor or any other type of evidence in proof of delivery.

4 State class or classes of manufacturing operations you are engaged in (e. g., Bakery, Bottling, Candy Manufacturer, etc.)

a If you are engaged in more than one class of manufacturing operation, state which class is covered by this application.

5 Check appropriate type of business organization applicable to your manufacturing operation as of April 20, 1942, or date you commenced operations if such date was after April 20, 1942.
☐ Corporation ☐ Partnership
☐ Proprietorship ☐ Other (specify)

a Has there been any change in the type of business organization indicated by you above or its ownership since April 20, 1942, or the date you commenced operations if such date was after April 20, 1942. Yes ☐ No ☐

If "Yes," follow the instructions in the NOTE below:
NOTE: Furnish the information (1), (2), or (3), whichever is applicable, on a separate sheet identified as "Item 5 (a)." (If you are filing applications with respect to more than one class of products, this information need be furnished only once.)

a (1) If you checked "Proprietorship" in Item 5, list name of owner. If this individual proprietorship was subsequently changed to a partnership or a corporation, or was transferred to another individual proprietorship, partnership, or corporation, set forth the facts in full. In the case of a proprietorship state name of owner; if partnership state names of partners; if corporation state title of corporation. State the full particulars for each change, and list dates of each change.
(2) If you checked "Partnership" in Item 5, list names of partners. If there has been a change in the interest of any of the partners, state date of change, names of persons concerned and extent of interest of each before and after the change. If type of business organization changed to an individual proprietorship follow instruction (1).
(3) If you checked "Corporation" in Item 5, list title of the corporation. If the corporation was subsequently dissolved, the business being transferred to one or more of the stockholders, explain fully. Or, if the corporation transferred the business to another corporations, partnership, or individual, follow instructions in (1).

6 If you used sugar-containing products during the eligible period, give the names of such products.

(Example: Cake mix, beverage syrup, ice cream mix, etc. Do not include bulk condensed milk, jams, jellies, preserves and marmalades, canned and frozen fruits, canned meat and fish, and other items made with sugar granted on a provisional allowance basis.)
NOTE: Attach letters from the manufacturers of the above sugar-containing products showing the percentage which the weight of the sugar used is of the weight of the sugar-containing products which they shipped you during the eligible period. Identify each letter by marking "Item 6."

7 What percentage of your production was institutional (merchandise produced and sold for consumption on your premises)? ------%

8 In what percentage of your production did you use sugar granted on a provisional allowance basis? ------%

PART II

9 Report the productive capacity of your plant as of April 20, 1942 and as of January 1, 1946 in pounds per hour of each type of finished product produced by you as of such dates, as called for in the table below.
Bottlers will state capacity in terms of cases per hour using manufacturers rated capacities.
Doughnut manufacturers will state capacity in terms of dozens of doughnuts per hour using manufacturers rated capacity.
Example: Assuming that your oven and other equipment are used for manufacturing bread, rolls, and sweet goods the capacity would be determined as follows:
Step 1.—Compute in pounds the maximum amount of bread that you could produce per hour using all the equipment normally used by you for the production of bread.
Step 2.—Make similar computations for rolls and sweet goods.
Step 3.—List separately the results obtained in Steps (1) and (2) as your capacity for the production of bread, rolls, and sweet goods.

Column 1.—List types of products produced, e. g., candy manufacturers show hard candy, caramels, creams, etc.
Jam, Jelly, and Preserve Manufacturers.—Use Columns 2 (a), 2 (b), and 2 (c).
Column 2 (a).—Fill in this column only if you are a registered user of sugar.
Column 2 (b).—State productive capacity per hour based on equipment in use January 1, 1946.
Column 2 (c).—State productive capacity per hour based on equipment in use as of date of application.
All Other Manufacturers.—Use Columns 3 (a), 3 (b), and 3 (c).
Column 3 (a).—Fill in this column only if you are a registered user of sugar.
Column 3 (b).—State productive capacity per hour based on equipment in use January 1, 1946.
Column 3 (c).—State productive capacity per hour based on equipment in use as of date of application.

PLANT CAPACITY IN POUNDS PER HOUR

Type of finished product	For jam, jelly, and preserves manufacturers			For all other industrial users
	Jan. 1, 1945	Jan. 1, 1946	Present capacity	April 20, 1942	Jan. 1, 1946	Present capacity
(1)	2 (a)	2 (b)	2 (c)	3 (a)	3 (b)	3 (c)

Attach separate sheet if necessary, using above columnar headings, and identify as "Item 9."

10 Report each piece of major productive equipment used in actual production of finished products in your plant as of April 20, 1942 and each piece of major productive equipment ordered, acquired or installed after that date but prior to January 1, 1946. Jam, jelly, and preserve operators will report equipment in use as of January 1, 1945 and subsequently ordered, acquired or installed.
The following lists illustrate some of the types of recognized equipment and the types which are not recognized in determining productive capacity.

	Recognized equipment	Equipment not recognized
Bakery	Ovens, cake mixers, dough dividers, etc.	Proofers, bread coolers, steam boxes, etc.
Beverage and syrup	Washers, filling machines.	Refrigeration equipment, water filters.
Candy	Batch rollers, kettles, enrobers, etc.	Drying rooms, compartments or similar devices.
Ice cream	Freezers.	Hardening rooms.

Column 1.—List each piece of major equipment. Since it will be necessary to show the capacity in pounds per hour of each piece of equipment when producing each type of finished product, the data for one piece of equipment should be completed for all columns, using as many lines as there are types of finished product, before proceeding to the next piece of equipment.
Column 2.—Enter a description of each piece of equipment listed in Column 1, as for example, "(Make) 15 Tray" oven, "(Make) Cooking Kettle" 4 quarts, "(Make) Filler" 40 spout.
Columns 3, 4, and 5.—For equipment which was in production in your plant as of April 20, 1942, write the notation "in use as of April 20, 1942" across these three columns. For equipment ordered, acquired or installed after April 20, 1942, but prior to January 1, 1946, enter the dates ordered, acquired, and installed in the appropriate columns.
Jam, jelly, and preserve operators will show equipment in use as of January 1, 1945, by noting "in use as of January 1, 1945." For equipment ordered, acquired, and installed after January 1, 1945, but prior to January 1, 1946, enter the date in the appropriate columns.
Column 6.—Enter the capacity in number of pounds of finished products per hour for each type of finished product for which the particular piece of equipment was used.
Bottlers will state capacity in terms of cases per hour using manufacturers rated capacity.
Doughnut Manufacturers will state capacity in terms of dozens of doughnuts per hour using manufacturers rated capacity.
Column 7.—List the types of finished products for which you listed capacity data in Column 6.
Column 8.—Enter a check mark in this column opposite each piece of equipment you listed in Column 1 which has been disposed of.
NOTE: Bottlers will list only washers and fillers. Doughnut Manufacturers will list only frying kettles and frying machines. Jam, Jelly, and Preserve Manufacturers will list only cookers and fillers. Dry Mix and Syrup Manufacturers will, in addition to information requested below, state the pounds or gallons per batch and the time involved in producing a batch.

Type of equipment (1)	Description of equipment (2)	Date ordered (3)	Date acquired (4)	Date installed (5)	Capacity in pounds per hour (6)	Type of finished product (7)	Equipment disposed of (check) (8)

Attach separate sheet if necessary, using above columnar headings, and identify sheet as "Item 10."
NOTE: Attach original invoices, certified or photostatic copies thereof to substantiate purchase or acquisition of equipment which was ordered, acquired or installed during the "eligible period" and in production as of January 1, 1946. Invoices dated after January 1, 1946 must be accompanied by original order or photostatic copy thereof. Attach letters from suppliers of all equipment acquired indicating manufacturer's rated capacity of each piece of equipment when used to produce the types of product for which the equipment was used during the representative month reported in Items 13 and 14. If the capacity which you reported in the table in Item 10 disagrees with the capacity reported by the supplier of the equipment, attach a further statement explaining the difference. Identify these attachments by marking each "Item 10."

11 Do you still own and intend to operate all the equipment listed in Item 10 (Other than that checked in Column 8)? Yes ☐ No ☐

If not, explain fully----------

12 Submit separate "Flow Sheets" as of April 20, 1942 and as of January 1, 1946.

If you are not a registered industrial user of sugar submit a "Flow Sheet" as of January 1, 1946.

The Flow Sheet may be a rough sketch and should cover the following: (1) Class of finished product (e. g., Bread, Rolls, Cake, Hard Candy, Creams, Marshmallows, Ice Cream, Sherbet, etc.); (2) Major equipment used in producing such product; show equipment in sequence of use; (3) capacity in pounds per hour of each piece of equipment when handling each type of product. Unusual situations should be explained, e. g., a candy manufacturer may indicate that his finished product (creams) is composed of 75% centers and 25% chocolate coating.
NOTE: Bottlers and Doughnut Manufacturers will not submit Flow Sheets. Jam, jelly, and preserve operators will submit Flow Sheets as of January 1, 1945 and as of January 1, 1946.

EXAMPLES

Capacity in pounds per hour as of April 20, 1942, for each type of product produced

	Mixer	Divider	Rounder	Moulder	Make-up table	Oven	Plant capacity (same as item 9)
	☐→	☐→	☐→	☐→	☐→	☐→	☐

13 Give your total designated agency and civilian production in pounds during a representative period. (Include products not containing sugar, e. g., a pickle manufacturer will give his total pounds of production of all pickles and relishes including sours, dills, and sweets.)

Representative period ---------- (Month, year) Pounds----------

NOTE: Bottlers and Doughnut Manufacturers will not fill in Item 13, but are referred to (a) and (b) below.

a Doughnut manufacturers:

i Give the total designated agency and civilian production in dozens during a representative period.

Representative period ---------- (Month, year) Dozens of doughnuts---------- ii Give the total number of hours spent in producing doughnuts during the period selected.

PART 953—LEMONS GROWN IN CALIFORNIA AND ARIZONA

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

§ 953.317 Lemon Regulation 210—(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement and the order (7 CFR, Cum. Supp., 953.1 et seq.), regulating the handling of lemons grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona, issued under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the Lemon Administrative Committee, established under the said marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of the quantity of such lemons which may be handled, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that compliance with the notice, public rule making procedure, and effective date requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act (Pub. Law 404, 79th Cong.; 60 Stat. 237) is impracticable and contrary to the public interest in that the time intervening between the date when information upon which this regulation is based became available and the time when this regulation must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, is insufficient for such compliance.

(b) Order. (1) The quantity of lemons grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona which may be handled during the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., p. s. t., February 23, 1947, and ending at 12:01 a. m., p. s. t., March 2, 1947, is hereby fixed at 300 carloads, or an equivalent quantity.

(2) The prorate base of each handler who has made application therefor, as provided in the said marketing agreement and order, is hereby fixed in accordance with the provisions of the said marketing agreement and order, shall calculate the quantity of lemons which may be handled by each such handler during the period specified in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph.

(3) As used in this section, "handled," "handler," "carloads," and "prorate base" shall have the same meaning as is given to each such word in the said marketing agreement and order. (48 Stat. 31, 670, 675, 49 Stat. 750, 50 Stat. 246; 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.)

PART 966—ORANGES GROWN IN CALIFORNIA AND ARIZONA

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

§ 966.312 Orange Regulation 166—(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the provisions of the order (7 CFR, Cum. Supp., 966.1 et seq.) regulating the handling of oranges grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona, issued under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the Orange Administrative Committee, established under the said order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of the quantity of such oranges which may be handled, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that compliance with the notice, public rule making procedure, and effective date requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act (Pub. Law 404, 79th Cong.; 60 Stat. 237) is impracticable and contrary to the public interest in that the time intervening between the date when information upon which this regulation is based became available and the time when this regulation must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, is insufficient for such compliance.

(b) Order. (1) The quantity of oranges grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona which may be handled during the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., p. s. t., February 23, 1947, and ending at 12:01 a. m., p. s. t., March 2, 1947, is hereby fixed as follows:

(i) Valencia oranges. Prorate Districts Nos. 1, 2, and 3, no movement.

(ii) Oranges other than Valencia oranges. (a) Prorate District No. 1, unlimited movement; (b) Prorate District No. 2, 950 carloads; and (c) Prorate District No. 3, unlimited movement.

(2) The prorate base of each handler who has made application therefor, as provided in the said order, is hereby fixed in accordance with the prorate base schedule which is attached hereto and made a part hereof by this reference. The Orange Administrative Committee, in accordance with the provisions of the said order, shall calculate the quantity of oranges which may be handled by each such handler during the period specified in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph.

(4) As used herein, "handled," "handler," and "carloads," and "prorate base" shall have the same meaning as is given to each such term in the said order; and "Prorate District No. 1," "Prorate District No. 2," and "Prorate District No. 3" shall have the same meaning as is given to each such term in § 966.107 (11 F. R. 10258) issued pursuant to said order. (48 Stat. 31, 670, 675, 49 Stat. 750, 50 Stat. 246; 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.)

TITLE 46—SHIPPING

Chapter II—United States Maritime Commission

Subchapter F—Merchant Ship Sales Act of 1946

[G. O. 60, Supp. 10]

PART 299—RULES AND REGULATIONS, FORMS AND CITIZENSHIP REQUIREMENTS

SUBPART B—SALES OF WAR-BUILT VESSELS

§ 299.26 Spare parts and vessel equipment, stores, fresh water, and fuel. The United States Maritime Commission will provide and equip all vessels sold under the act both to citizens and non-citizens, unless otherwise agreed, in accordance with the following:

(a) Machinery spare parts—(1) Except for vessels sold "as is". Except for vessels sold "as is", the American Bureau of Shipping requirements, outstanding as of the date of the contract of sale, for on board machinery spare parts as contained in their publication, "Rules for Building and Classing Steel Vessels", will be met by the Commission.

The cost with respect to supplying deficiencies or repairing or renewing damaged parts already on board, shall be borne,

(i) On sales to citizens of the United States, in full by the Commission.

(ii) On sales to non-citizens, 50% by the Commission and 50% by the purchaser.

(2) Vessels sold "as is". For vessels sold "as is", the Commission will not comply with the American Bureau of Shipping requirements for machinery spare parts to the extent of insuring that the parts are actually aboard the vessels, but will, as to all such requirements outstanding as of the date of the contract of sale, grant an allowance based upon the estimated cost of supplying deficiencies or repairing or renewing damaged parts already on board, within the limits of section 3 (d) of the Merchant Ship Sales Act of 1946,

(i) On sales to citizens of the United States, equal to such estimated cost.

(ii) On sales to non-citizens, equal to 50% of such estimated cost.

(3) Spare parts list. For ready reference there is attached a listing of the American Bureau of Shipping required spare parts for steam reciprocating engines, steam turbines, internal combustion engines, boilers, machinery for refrigerated vessels, and for electrically driven vessels.

(b) Allowance list items, consumable stores, fresh water, and fuel—(1) Construction of "unbroached". For the purpose of this section, the following provisions shall apply in respect to the term "unbroached":

(i) Unbroached consumable stores except subsistence stores. In general, any item of consumable stores, which at the time of inventory may be given a condition valuation of 100% by the Commission's standards, i. e. that the item has not been used and has not lost any of its original value through age, rust, decay, or improper stowage, shall be considered unbroached. With respect to the con-items normally supplied to vessels in bulk shall be considered first on the basis of condition and if meeting the above qualifications, the quantities as found shall be considered as unbroached. With respect to items normally packaged in small quantities of nominal value they shall be considered as broached where the containers have been opened and contents partially consumed.

(ii) Unbroached subsistence stores. All subsistence stores which are in 100% condition by the Commission's standards, as set forth in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph, shall be considered unbroached, regardless of whether stored in original packages or containers or whether part of the original amounts have been consumed.

(2) Vessels in operation. As to vessels in operation, the Commission assumes no obligation on sales to either citizens or non-citizens for delivery of vessels to purchasers fully equipped with items of an allowance list nature, expendables, or consumable stores (Spare machinery parts will be furnished as prescribed in paragraph (a) of this section). In this respect the vessels will be sold "as is", with the Commission neither adding or removing any such items, except as provided in paragraph (c) of this section. However, purchasers will be required to pay to the Commission an amount reflecting the full value, as indicated by the prevailing rate at the port where delivery is being made, for all unbroached consumable stores, fresh water, and fuel.

(3) Vessels from the reserve fleet or inactive status. As to vessels sold out of the reserve fleet or from inactive status, the Commission, when such vessels have been stripped of expendable equipment, will undertake to re-equip the vessels at its expense in accordance with the appropriate minimum standard allowance lists attached entitled "Standard Allowance List for Reoutfitting EC2, Z–ET1, VC2, C1, C2, C3, C4, R2, T2 and T3 Class Vessels sold under the Merchant Ship Sales Act of 1946" and "Standard Allowance List for Reoutfitting N3 and T1 Class Vessels sold under the Merchant Ship Sales Act of 1946." These allowances lists provide, in general, those minimum items of equipment and material necessary for the berthing of officers and crew, for the operation of pantries and galleys, and for instruments necessary for the safe navigation of the vessel. The Commission will not assume any obligations over and beyond those set forth in this paragraph on inoperative vessels. Purchasers will be required to pay to the Commission an amount reflecting the full value, as indicated by the prevailing rate at the port where delivery is being made, for all unbroached consumable stores, fresh water, and fuel.

(c) Removal of excesses. Items in the category of propellers, tailshafts, sections of line shafting, pinions and reduction gears for main propulsion units, bearings where found in quantity (except roller and ball types), rotors and rotating elements for turbines, and complete spare machinery components where in excess of American Bureau of Shipping requirements, will be removed. As to other items, where vessels are found to be stocked in excess of American Bureau of Shipping requirements or in excess of the standard allowance lists attached, such excesses will not be removed except where it is found that specific items or parts are of high intrinsic value or are in very short supply, thereby justifying the Commission's incurring expenditures for their removal and storage.

(d) Procedure—(1) Deficiencies in machinery spare parts. Within five days after a purchaser signs a contract of sale or an addendum to an existing contract of sale, involving the purchase of a vessel, or (if the vessel is at sea on the date of such signing or makes a voyage other than under bareboat charter to the purchaser after such signing) within five days after the return of the vessel to the United States port of final discharge, whichever is the later, the purchaser of such vessel shall furnish to the Local Head, Inventory Section, Operating Contracts Division, at the port nearest that of the vessel, a list of deficiencies in machinery spare parts within the limits of paragraph (a) of this section. The Local Head, Inventory Section, shall verify whether or not such parts are on board. He shall promptly notify the purchaser in writing of the disapproval of such list or any portion thereof. Upon approval of such list or any portion thereof, he shall

(i) Except for a vessel sold "as is," forward such approved list to the nearest District Purchasing Officer, Procurement Division, who shall obtain and deliver to such vessel such required spare parts.

(ii) For a vessel sold "as is," proceed as set forth in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph.

(2) Parts in need of repair. Within five days after a purchaser signs a contract of sale or an addendum to an existing contract of sale, involving the purchase of a vessel, or (if the vessel is at sea on the date of such signing or makes a voyage other than under bareboat charter to the purchaser after such signing) within five days after the return of the vessel to the United States port of final discharges, whichever is later, the purchaser of such vessels shall furnish to the Local Manager, Maintenance and Repair Division, at the port nearest that of the vessel, a list of damaged machinery spare parts, within the limits of paragraph (a) of this section. Such Local Manager shall verify whether or not such parts are damaged as alleged. He shall promptly notify the purchaser in writing of the disapproval of such list or any portion thereof. Upon approval of such list or any portion thereof, he shall

(i) Except for a vessel sold "as is," arrange, consistent with existing Maintenance and Repair Division requirements and instructions, for the effecting of the necessary repairs. If the expenditures for such repairs will exceed the cost of replacing any of the damaged parts, such Local Manager shall furnish to the nearest District Purchasing Officer, Procurement Division, a list of such damaged parts to be replaced as deficiencies in the manner prescribed in subparagraph (1) (i) of this paragraph.

(ii) For a vessel sold "as is", proceed as set forth in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph.

(3) Allowance for deficiencies in and repairs of machinery spare parts for vessels sold "as is". In the case of a vessel sold "as is", upon approval of the purchaser's list of deficiencies in machinery spare parts, or any portion thereof, pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, the Local Head, Inventory Section, Operating Contracts Division, shall furnish to the Local Manager, Maintenance and Repair Division, an estimate of the cost of supplying such approved deficiencies. Such Local Manager, upon approval of the purchaser's list of damaged machinery spare parts, or any portion thereof, pursuant to subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, shall furnish to the Director, Maintenance and Repair Division, an estimate of the cost of repairing such damaged parts, and the estimate of the cost of supplying deficiencies. The Director, Maintenance and Repair Division, shall furnish such estimates to the Director, Division of Large Vessel Sales so that allowances in accordance with paragraph (a) (2) of this section may be determined.

(4) Allowance list items, consumables, and expendables—(i) Operating vessels. When an operating vessel is sold, the Local Head, Inventory Section, Operating Contracts Division, at the port nearest to that of the vessel, shall make a full inventory consistent with the provisions of paragraph (b) (2) of this section, and shall prepare an estimate of the value, at rates prevailing at such vessel's port of delivery, for all the unbroached consumable stores, fresh water, and fuel aboard the vessel, which estimate shall be furnished by the Chief, Inventory Section, Operating Contracts Division, to the Director, Division of Large Vessel Sales, who shall be responsible for carrying out the provisions of paragraph (b) (2) of this section.

(ii) Vessels from the reserve fleet or inactive status. When a vessel is sold out of the reserve fleet or inactive status, the Local Head, Inventory Section, Operating Contracts Division, United States Maritime Commission, at the port nearest to that of the vessel, shall make a full inventory consistent with the provisions of paragraph (b) (3) of this section and shall check and compare such inventory against the allowance lists attached. He shall furnish the nearest District Purchasing Officer the resulting list of deficiencies. Such Purchasing Officer shall obtain and deliver to such vessel such allowance list items.

The Local Head, Inventory Section, shall prepare an estimate of the value, at rates prevailing at such vessel's port of delivery, of all the unbroached consumable stores, fresh water and fuel aboard the vessel, which estimate shall be furnished by the Chief, Inventory section, Operating Contracts Division, to the Director, Division of Large Vessels Sales, who shall be responsible for carrying out the provisions of paragraph (b) (3) of this section with respect to consumable stores, fresh water and fuel. (60 Stat. 41)

By order of the United States Maritime Commission.

[SEAL] A. J. WILLIAMS,
Secretary.

NOVEMBER 7, 1946.

LIST OF AMERICAN BUREAU OF SHIPPING SPARE PARTS AND EQUIPMENT FOR EACH OCEAN GOING VESSEL

STEAM RECIPROCATING ENGINES

Two (2) crosshead bearing bolts and nuts.
Two (2) crankpin bearing bolts and nuts.
Two (2) main bearing bolts and nuts.
One (1) set of piston rings where common rings are used.
Twenty-five (25) percent of piston springs.
Six (6) follower ring studs and nuts.
Six (6) cylinder cover studs and nuts.
Six (6) valve chest cover studs and nuts.
One (1) set of bearing pads for one single-collar type thrust bearing where fitted.
One (1) set of bolts for each size coupling.
One (1) set of propeller studs, if of special material.
One (1) set of valves for one feed pump.
One (1) set of valves for one bilge pump.
A set of bearing gauges.
Assorted bolts, nuts, and shim material.
Bar and plate steel in various sizes.
No spare parts are required for auxiliaries which are fitted in duplicate when such duplication is in excess of that required by the rules.

STEAM TURBINES

One (1) set of springs for governor, relief, and maneuvering valves.
One-half (½) set of packing rings, or segments, with springs for each gland so fitted.
Five (5) percent of bolts, or studs, and nuts of each size fitted in joints of turbine and gear casings.
One (1) set of thrust pads or rings, also springs where fitted for each size turbine thrust bearing.
Assorted shims and liners where fitted.
One (1) set of bolts and nuts for each size for turbine rotor, pinion, and gear bearings.
Spare bearing bushings sufficient to replace all the bushings on any one turbine rotor, pinion and gear having sleeve type bearings or complete assemblies consisting of outer and inner races and cages complete with rollers or balls where these types of bearings are used.
One (1) set of coupling bolts of each size, for one coupling.
One (1) set of bearings pads for one single collar type main thrust bearing where fitted.
One (1) set of studs, when made of special material, for one propeller.
Two (2) thermometers for the lubricating oil system.
One (1) set of valves for one feed pump.
One (1) set of valves for the bilge pump.
One (1) set of valves for one lubricating oil pump.
Assorted bolts, nuts and shim material.
Bar and plate steel in various sizes.
No spare parts required for auxiliaries which are fitted in duplicate when such duplication is in excess of that required by the Rules.

INTERNAL COMBUSTION ENGINES

Spares for Main Propelling Machinery

One (1) engine cylinder head complete with valves, cages, springs, etc.
One (1) piston complete with rings, etc.
One (1) set of parts liable to damage or wear for the piston cooling, arrangement of one cylinder.
One (1) set of bearings pads for one single collar type main thrust bearing where fitted.
One (1) set of studs, when made of special material, for one propeller.

Additional Spares for Main Engines and Spares for Auxiliary Engines

One (1) set of valves for one (1) cylinder complete with cages, springs, etc.
Twenty-five (25) percent of fuel valve needles.
One (1) set of piston rings for one piston.
One (1) set of main bearing brasses complete with bolts and nuts.
One (1) set of crankpin bearing brasses complete with bolts and nuts.
One (1) set of crosshead bearing brasses complete with bolts and nuts, when fitted or one wrist pin bushing where trunk pistons are used.
Where reduction gears are used there shall also be provided spare bearing bushings sufficient to replace all the bushings on any one piston and gear having sleeve type bearings, or complete assemblies consisting of outer and inner races, and cages complete with rollers or balls where these types of bearings are used.
One (1) complete set of the parts liable to damage or wear for the fuel oil pumps.
One (1) complete set of rings for each size piston of air compressors and scavenging air pumps.
One (1) set of bolts or studs of each size for one cylinder cover or the engines and air compressors.
One (1) set of coupling bolts of each size for one coupling.
Twenty-five (25) per cent of each size of special gaskets and packing, at least one of each size.
One (1) set of templates and gauges for adjusting gear and aligning main bearings
A sufficient length of each size of pipe used for injection air, starting air and injection oil lines to replace the longest section of pipe.
Asserted bolts, nuts, pipe flanges and pipe couplings.
At least one (1) set of valves of each type and size for all transfer pumps, fuel oil pumps, lubricating oil pumps, cooling water pumps and bilge pumps.
No spare parts are required for auxiliaries which are fitted in duplicate when such duplication is in excess of that required by the rules.

BOILERS

One (1) set of springs for one safety valve of each size.
Twelve (12) gauge glasses with packings per boiler if of the round gauge glass type.
Two (2) gauge glasses per boiler and one (1) frame for each two boilers if of the flat gauge glass type.
One-half (½) set of plain grate bars for one boiler (coal burning).
One (1) strainer basket of each size for fuel oil system.
Twenty-five (25) per cent of burner atomizer units for oil-fired boilers.
One (1) standard boiler presure gauge or gauge testing apparatus.
Five (5) per cent of each size and kind of tube for one fire-tube boiler.
Five (5) per cent of the tubes for one water tube boiler.
The number of each size and location in the boiler are to be as approved in connection with the design in each case.
Tube stoppers for twelve (12) generator, economizer and superheater tubes of each kind and size.
Necessary tools for operations.

REFRIGERATING MACHINERY—REEFER CARGO VESSELS

(a) When duplicate machinery units are fitted so that each unit is separately connected to two or more refrigerated compartments, one set of spare gear will be required as follows:

One (1) crankshaft, complete, with eccentric sheaves or one-half shaft where interchangeable.
One (1) cover of each pattern for compressors, except where forged steel cover or screwed plugs are fitted.
One (1) piston and rod with nuts, complete of each pattern, for steam cylinders and compressors.
One (1) valve spindle and nut of each pattern.
One (1) pair of main bearing bushings complete.

Two (2) main bearing bolts.
One (1) set of piston rod and connecting rod bolts and bushings.
One (1) cylinder cover of each type for the steam cylinders.
One (1) eccentric strap and rod, complete, of each pattern.
Main and cut-off valves for steam cylinder.
One (1) coupling for each type of compressor piston rod.
One (1) set of suction and delivery valves, complete with springs and casings, required for one compressor cylinder of each type and, in addition, 6 springs of each type.
One (1) set of metallic packing rings, if used, for compressors.
One (1) oil pump complete.
One (1) circulating pump bucket and rod, or one impeller and shaft of each type.
One (1) set of suction and delivery valves for each type of circulating pump.
One (1) rod of each type for steam and water ends of piston brine pumps.
One (1) cylinder cover of each type for piston brine pumps.
One (1) impeller and shaft of each type for centrifugal brine pumps.
One (1) set of coupling bolts of each type for centrifugal brine pumps.
One (1) gas regulating valve, complete, if made of cast iron; one rod and cone if of mild steel.
One (1) distributing and one (1) collecting piece of each pattern, except where they are of forged steel.
Assorted valves, cocks, flanges and fittings.
Blocks for making all leather packing.
Two (2) spare gauges with pressure and temperature scales and a sufficient supply of mercury thermometers.
Assorted lengths and bends of piping, together with flanges, couplings and screwing appliances.
A supply of assorted bolts, nuts, studs, packings, joint rings, compressor rings and leathers.

(b) In cases where independent cooling water pumps are not fitted and the cooling water is supplied by auxiliary pumps, spare piston rings, pumps valves and rods are to be carried.

(c) Where independent surface condensers, with air, water, circulating and feed pumps, are fitted and there are no connections to the main engine pumps, the following additional spare gear is to be carried:
One (1) crankshaft, complete with eccentric sheaves.
One (1) piston rod, complete of each pattern.
One (1) set of piston rings of each pattern for steam cylinders.
One (1) eccentric strap and rod of each pattern.
One (1) pump bucket and rod, complete of each pattern.
One (1) set of connecting rod and cross head bolts and nuts.
One (1) set of valves for each pump.
Six (6) tubes and twenty-four (24) ferrules for the condenser.

(d) Where connections to the main engine pumps are provided in cases otherwise similar to that of the foregoing sub-paragraph (c) the spare required will be as follows:
One (1) pump bucket and rod, complete, of each pattern.
One (1) set of connecting rod and cross-head bolts and nuts.
One-half (½) set of valves for each pump.

(e) Spare gear required for vessel engaged in voyage of not more than three days' duration should be as follows:
One (1) piston of each type, complete, for steam and compressor cylinders.
One (1) piston of each type, complete with nuts for steam and compressor cylinders.
One (1) valve and rod of each type, complete with nuts.
One (1) eccentric strap and rod of each type.
One (1) set of connecting rod brasses, complete with bolts and nuts, of each type.
One (1) set of main bearing brasses, complete with bolts and nuts, of each type.
One (1) set of suction and delivery valves, complete with springs and casings, of each type.
One (1) set of piston rings for steam and water ends of each type of brine pump.
Blocks for making all leather packings.
One (1) spare gauge with pressure and temperature scales.
Assorted lengths and bonds of piping, together with flanges, couplings and screwing appliances.
A supply of assorted bolts, nuts, studs, packings, joint rings, compressor rings and leathers.

(f) Spares required for electric motors are as follows:
One (1) spare armature, complete with commutator and shaft, for each type of motor fitted.
One (1) spare field coil of each kind and size for direct current motors.
Two (2) spare coils for synchronous motors.
One-fourth set of rotor coils for form-wound induction motors.
One-fourth set of armature coils for synchronous and induction motors.

NOTE: Alternating-current motors with multiple windings require no spare coils.

One (1) complete brush holder and springs, stud insulation and set of brushes for each type and size fitted.
One (1) set of arc-rupturing and interlock contacts and springs for each circuit breaker, contractor, relay, etc., up to eight similar sets, beyond that one set for each four.
Two (2) fuses for each fuse installed if renewable fuses are used, then five renewals for each fuse and two cases for each size fuse.
One (1) trip coil for each size and type installed.
One (1) set of fingers, burning contacts, and springs where fitted, for each controller up to four similar sets.
One (1) shunt coil for each size and type installed.
One (1) resister of each capacity used plus one additional for every four up to four similar resisters.
One (1) bearing lining of each kind and size with oil rings, where fitted.
One (1) set of studs and nuts for main bearings, assorted bolts, studs and nuts, screws, necessary tools, etc.

NOTE: The spares as noted in the foregoing are minimum requirements. Where installations require more than six circulating fans additional spares should be carried as approved for each such case.

(g) Where other than electric motors are used for driving fans, the spare gear is to be specially submitted to the Bureau for approval.

ELECTRICAL

Coils: One (1) spare field coil of each kind and size for direct-current generators and motors.
Two (2) spare field coils for synchronous motors and salient-pole synchronous generators.
One-fourth set of rotor coils for form-wound induction propulsion motors.
One-fourth set of armature coils for synchronous and induction propulsion motors.
Exception: Alternating-current motors with multiple windings require no spare coils.
Bearings: One (1) bearing lining of each kind and size with oil rings, where fitted, for generator and motors.
Brushes and Holders: One (1) complete brush holder with three spare springs, stud insulation and set of brushes for each type and size, where fitted for generators and motors.

No spare parts are required for auxiliaries which are fitted in duplicate when such duplication is in excess of that required by the rules.

TITLE 49—TRANSPORTATION AND RAILROADS

Chapter I—Interstate Commerce Commission

[4th Rev. S. O. 104, Amdt. 3]

PART 95—CAR SERVICE

SUBSTITUTION OF REFRIGERATOR FOR BOX CARS

At a session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Division 3, held at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 18th day of February A. D. 1947.

Upon further consideration of Fourth Revised Service Order No. 104 (11 F. R. 2189), as amended (11 F. R. 3952, 9039), and good cause appearing therefor, it is ordered, that:

Section 95.304, Substitution of refrigerator cars for box cars, of Fourth Revised Service Order No. 104, as amended, be, and it is hereby, further amended by substituting the following paragraph (e) in lieu of paragraph (e) thereof:

(e) Expiration date. This section shall expire at 11:59 p. m., June 30, 1947, unless otherwise modified, changed, suspended, or annulled by order of the Commission.

It is further ordered, that this amendment shall become effective at 12:01 a. m., February 21, 1947; that a copy of this order and direction shall be served upon the Association of American Railroads, Car Service Division, as agent of the railroads subscribing to the car service and per diem agreement under the terms of that agreement; and that notice of this order be given to the general public by depositing a copy in the office of the Secretary of the Commission at Washington, D. C., and by filing it with the Director, Division of the Federal Register.

(40 Stat. 101, sec. 402, 41 Stat. 476, sec. 4, 54 Stat. 901, 49 U. S. C. 1 (10)–(17))

By the Commission, Division 3.

[SEAL] W. P. BARTEL, Secretary.

§ 7.512 Introductory. The income tax convention between the United States and the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, signed April 16, 1945, and supplementary protocol, signed at Washington on June 6, 1946, both of which were proclaimed by the President of the United States on July 30, 1946, and effective (for the purposes of United States income and excess profits taxes) for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1945 (hereinafter referred to as the convention), provide as follows:

ARTICLE I

(1) The taxes which are the subject of the present Convention are:

(a) In the United States of America: The Federal income taxes, including surtaxes and excess profits taxes (hereinafter referred to as United States tax).

(b) In the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland: The income tax (including surtax), the excess profits tax and the national defense contribution (hereinafter referred to as United Kingdom tax).

(2) The present Convention shall also apply to any other taxes of a substantially similar character imposed by either Contracting Party subsequently to the date of signature of the present Convention or by the government of any territory to which the present Convention is extended under Article XXII.

ARTICLE II

(1) In the present Convention, unless the context otherwise requires:

(a) The term "United States" means the United States of America, and when used in a geographical sense means the States, the Territories of Alaska and of Hawaii, and the District of Columbia.

(b) The term "United Kingdom" means Great Britain and Northern Ireland, excluding the Channel Islands and the Isle of Man.

(c) The terms "territory of one of the Contracting Parties" and "territory of the other Contracting Party" means the United States or the United Kingdom as the context requires.

(d) The term "United States corporation" means a corporation, association or other like entity created or organized in or under the laws of the United States.

(e) The term "United Kingdom corporation" means any kind of juridical person created under the laws of the United Kingdom.

(f) The terms "corporation of one Contracting Party" and "corporation of the other Contracting Party" mean a United States corporation or a United Kingdom corporation as the context requires.

(g) The term "resident of the United Kingdom" means any person (other than a citizen of the United States or a United States corporation) who is resident in the United Kingdom for the purposes of United Kingdom tax and not resident in the United States for the purposes of United States tax. A corporation is to be regraded as resident in the United Kingdom if its business is managed and controlled in the United Kingdom.

(h) The term "resident of the United States" means any individual who is resident in the United States for the purposes of United States tax and not resident in the United Kingdom for the purposes of United Kingdom tax, and any United States corporation and any partnership created or organized in or under the laws of the United States, being a corporation or partnership which is not resident in the United Kingdom for the purposes of United Kingdom tax.

(i) The term "United Kingdom enterprise" means an industrial or commercial enterprise or undertaking carried on by a resident of the United Kingdom.

(j) The term "United States enterprise" means an industrial or commercial enterprise or undertaking carried on by a resident of the United States.

(k) The terms "enterprise of one of the Contracting Parties" and "enterprise of the other Contracting Party" mean a United States enterprise or a United Kingdom enterprise, as the context requires.

(l) The term "permanent establishment" when used with respect to an enterprise of one of the Contracting Parties means a branch, management, factory or other fixed place of business, but does not include an agency unless the agent has, and habitually exercises, a general authority to negotiate and conclude contracts on behalf of such enterprise or has a stock of merchandise from which he regularly fills orders on its behalf. An enterprise of one of the Contracting Parties shall not be deemed to have a permanent establishment in the territory of the other Contracting Party merely because it carries on business dealings in the territory of such other Contracting Party through a bona fide commission agent, broker or custodian acting in the ordinary course of his business as such. The fact that an enterprise of one of the Contracting Parties maintains in the territory of the other Contracting Party a fixed place of business exclusively for the purchase of goods or merchandise shall not of itself constitute such fixed place of business a permanent establishment of such enterprise. The fact that a corporation of one Contracting Party has a subsidiary corporation which is a corporation of the other Contracting Party or which is engaged in trade or business in the territory of such other Contracting Party (whether through a permanent establishment or otherwise) shall not of itself constitute that subsidiary corporation a permanent establishment of its parent corporation.

(2) For the purposes of Articles VI, VII, VIII, IX and XIV a resident of the United Kingdom shall not be deemed to be engaged in trade or business in the United States in any taxable year unless such resident has a permanent establishment situated therein such taxable year. The same principle shall be applied, mutatis mutandis, by the United Kingdom in the case of a resident of the United States.

(3) In the application of the provisions of the present Convention by one of the Contracting Parties any term not otherwise defined shall, unless the context otherwise requires, have the meaning which it has under the laws of that Contracting Party relating to the taxes which are the subject of the present Convention.

ARTICLE III

(1) A United Kingdom enterprise shall not be subject to United States tax in respect of its industrial or commercial profits unless it is engaged in trade or business in the United States through a permanent establishment situated therein. If it is so engaged, United States tax may be imposed upon the entire income of such enterprise from sources within the United States.

(2) A United States enterprise shall not be subject to United Kingdom tax in respect of its industrial or commercial profits unless it is engaged in trade or business in the United Kingdom through a permanent establishment situated therein. If it is so engaged, United Kingdom tax may be imposed upon the entire income of such enterprise from sources within the United Kingdom: Provided, That nothing in this paragraph shall affect any provisions of the law of the United Kingdom regarding the imposition of United Kingdom excess profits tax and national defence contribution in the case of inter-connected companies.

(3) Where an enterprise of one of the Contracting Parties is engaged in trade or business in the territory of the other Contracting Party through a permanent establishment situated therein, there shall be attributed to such permanent establishment the industrial or commercial profits which it might be expected to derive if it were an independent enterprise engaged in the same or similar activities under the same or similar conditions and dealing at arm's length with the enterprise of which it is a permanent establishment, and the profits so attributed shall, subject to the law of such other Contracting Party, be deemed to be income from sources within the territory of such other Contracting Party.

(4) In determining the industrial or commercial profits from sources within the territory of one of the Contracting Parties of an enterprise of the other Contracting Party, no profits shall be deemed to arise from the mere purchase of goods or merchandise within the territory of the former Contracting Party by such enterprise.

ARTICLE IV

Where an enterprise of one of the Contracting Parties, by reason of its participation in the management, control or capital of an enterprise of the other Contracting Party, makes with or imposes on the latter, in their commercial or financial relations, conditions different from those which would be made with an independent enterprise, any profits which would but for those conditions have accrued to one of the enterprises but by reason of those conditions have not so accrued, may be included in the profits of that enterprise and taxed accordingly.

ARTICLE V

(1) Notwithstanding the provisions of Articles III and IV of the present Convention, profits which an individual (other than a citizen of the United States) resident in the United Kingdom or a United Kingdom corporation derives from operating ships documented or aircraft registered under the laws of the United Kingdom, shall be exempt from United States tax.

(2) Notwithstanding the provisions of Articles III and IV of the present Convention, profits which a citizen of the United States not resident in the United Kingdom or a United States corporation derives from operating ships documented or aircraft registered under the laws of the United States, shall be exempt from United Kingdom tax.

(3) This Article shall be deemed to have superseded, on and after the first day of January 1945, as to United States tax, and on and after the 6th day of April, 1945, as to United Kingdom tax, the arrangements relating to reciprocal exemption of shipping profits from income tax effected between the Government of the United States and the Government of the United Kingdom by exchange of Notes dated August 11, 1924, November 18, 1924, November 26, 1924, January 15, 1925, February 13, 1925, and March 16, 1925, which shall accordingly cease to have effect.

ARTICLE VI

(1) The rate of United States tax on dividends derived from a United States corporation by a resident of the United Kingdom who is subject to United Kingdom tax on such dividends and not engaged in trade or business in the United States shall not exceed 15 percent: Provided, That such rate of tax shall not exceed five percent if such resident is a corporation controlling, directly or indirectly, at least 95 percent of the entire voting power in the corporation paying the dividend, and not more than 25 percent of the gross income of such paying corporation is derived from interest and dividends, other than interest and dividends received from its own subsidiary corporations. Such reduction of the rate to five percent shall not apply if the relationship of the two corporations has been arranged or is maintained primarily with the intention of securing such reduced rate.

(2) Dividends derived from sources within the United Kingdom by an individual who is (a) a resident of the United States, (b) subject to United States tax with respect to such dividends, and (c) not engaged in trade or business in the United Kingdom, shall be exempt from United Kingdom surtax.

(3) Either of the Contracting Parties may terminate this Article by giving written notice of termination to the other Contracting Party, through diplomatic channels, on or before the thirtieth day of June in any year after the year 1945, and in such event paragraph (1) hereof shall cease to be effective as to United States tax on and after the first day of January, and paragraph (2) hereof shall cease to be effective as to United Kingdom tax on and after the 6th day of April, in the year next following that in which such notice is given.

ARTICLE VII

(1) Interest (on bonds, securities, notes, debentures, or on any other form of indebtedness) derived from sources within the United States by a resident of the United Kingdom who is subject to United Kingdom tax on such interest and not engaged in trade or business in the United States, shall be exempt from United States tax; but such exemption shall not apply to such interest paid by a United States corporation to a corporation resident in the United Kingdom controlling, directly or indirectly, more than 50 percent of the entire voting power in the paying corporation.

(2) Interest (on bonds, securities, notes, debentures, or on any other form of indebtedness) derived from sources within the United Kingdom by a resident of the United States who is subject to United States tax on such interest and not engaged in trade or business in the United Kingdom, shall be exempt from United Kingdom tax; but such exemption shall not apply to such interest paid by a corporation resident in the United Kingdom to a United States corporation controlling, directly or indirectly, more than 50 percent of the entire voting power in the paying corporation.

ARTICLE VIII

(1) Royalties and other amounts paid as consideration for the use of, or for the privilege of using, copyrights, patents, designs, secret processes and formulae, trademarks, and other like property, and derived from sources within the United States by a resident of the United Kingdom who is subject to United Kingdom tax on such royalties or other amounts and not engaged in trade or business in the United States, shall be exempt from United States tax.

(2) Royalties and other amounts paid as consideration for the use of, or for the privilege of using, copyrights, patents, designs, secret processes and formulae, trade-marks, and other like property, and derived from sources within the United Kingdom by a resident of the United States who is subject to United States tax on such royalties or other amounts and not engaged in trade or business in the United Kingdom, shall be exempt from United Kingdom tax.

(3) For the purposes of this Article the term "royalties" shall be deemed to include rentals in respect of motion picture films.

ARTICLE IX

(1) The rate of United States tax on royalties in respect of the operation of mines or quarries or of other extraction of natural resources, and on rentals from real property or from an interest in such property, derived from sources within the United States by a resident of the United Kingdom who is subject to United Kingdom tax with respect to such royalties or rentals and not engaged in trade or business in the United States, shall not exceed 15 percent: Provided, That any such resident may elect for any taxable year to be subject to United States tax as if such resident were engaged in trade or business in the United States.

(2) Royalties in respect of the operation of mines or quarries or of other extraction of natural resources, and rentals from real property, or from an interest in such property, derived from sources within the United Kingdom by an individual who is (a) a resident of the United States, (b) subject to United States tax with respect to such royalties and rentals, and (c) not engaged in trade or business in the United Kingdom, shall be exempt from United Kingdom surtax.

ARTICLE X

(1) Any salary, wage, similar remuneration, or pension, paid by the Government of the United States to an individual (other than a British subject who is not also a citizen of the United States) in respect of services rendered to the United States in the discharge of governmental functions, shall be exempt from United Kingdom tax.

(2) Any salary, wage, similar remuneration, or pension, paid by the Government of the United Kingdom to an individual (other than a citizen of the United States who is not also a British subject) in respect of services rendered to the United Kingdom in the discharge of governmental functions, shall be exempt from United States tax.

(3) The provisions of this Article shall not apply to payments in respect of services rendered in connection with any trade or business carried on by either of the Contracting Parties for purposes of profit.

ARTICLE XI

(1) An individual who is a resident of the United Kingdom shall be exempt from United States tax upon compensation for personal (including professional) services performed during the taxable year within the United States if (a) he is present within the United States for a period or periods not exceeding in the aggregate 183 days during such taxable year, and (b) such services are performed for or on behalf of a person resident in the United Kingdom.

(2) An individual who is a resident of the United States shall be exempt from United Kingdom tax upon profits, emoluments or other remuneration in respect of personal (including professional) services performed within the United Kingdom in any year of assessment if (a) he is present within the United Kingdom for a period or periods not exceeding in the aggregate 183 days during that year, and (b) such services are performed for or on behalf of a person resident in the United States.

(3)[1] The provisions of this Article shall not apply to the compensation, profits, emoluments or other remuneration of public entertainers such as stage, motion picture or radio artists, musicians and athletes.

[1] Paragraph (3) of Article XI was deleted by the Protocol approved June 6, 1946.

ARTICLE XII

(1) Any pension (other than a pension to which Article X applies), and any life annuity, derived from sources within the United States by an individual who is a resident of the United Kingdom shall be exempt from United States tax.

(2) Any pension (other than a pension to which Article X applies), and any life annuity, derived from sources within the United Kingdom by an individual who is a resident of the United States shall be exempt from United Kingdom tax.

(3) The term "life annuity" means a stated sum payable periodically at stated times, during life or during a specified or ascertainable period of time, under an obligation to make the payments in consideration of money paid.

ARTICLE XIII

(1) Subject to section 131 of the United States Internal Revenue Code as in effect on the first day of January, 1945, United Kingdom tax shall be allowed as a credit against United States tax. For this purpose, the recipient of a dividend paid by a corporation which is a resident of the United Kingdom shall be deemed to have paid the United Kingdom income tax appropriate to such dividend if such recipient elects to include in his gross income for the purposes of United States tax the amount of such United Kingdom income tax.

(2) Subject to such provisions (which shall not affect the general principle hereof) as may be enacted in the United Kingdom, United States tax payable in respect of income from sources within the United States shall be allowed as a credit against any United Kingdom tax payable in respect of that income. Where such income is an ordinary dividend paid by a United States corporation, such credit shall take into account (in addition to any United States income tax deducted from or imposed on such dividend) the United States income tax imposed on such corporation in respect of its profits, and where it is a dividend paid on participating preference shares and representing both a dividend at the fixed rate to which the shares are entitled and an additional participation in profits, such tax on profits shall likewise be taken into account in so far as the dividend exceeds such fixed rate.

(3) For the purposes of this Article, compensation, profits, emoluments and other remuneration for personal (including professional) services shall be deemed to be income from sources within the territory of the Contracting Party where such services are performed.

ARTICLE XIV

A resident of the United Kingdom not engaged in trade or business in the United States shall be exempt from United States tax on gains from the sale or exchange of capital assets.

ARTICLE XV

Dividends and interest paid on or after the first day of January 1945 by a United Kingdom corporation shall be exempt from United States tax except where the recipient is a citizen of or a resident of the United States or a United States corporation.

ARTICLE XVI

A United Kingdom corporation shall be exempt from United States tax on its accumulated or undistributed earnings, profits, income or surplus, if individuals who are residents of the United Kingdom control, directly or indirectly, throughout the last half of the taxable year, more than 50 percent of the entire voting power in such corporation.

ARTICLE XVII

(1) The United States income tax liability for any taxable year beginning prior to January 1, 1936 of any individual (other than a citizen of the United States) resident in the United Kingdom, or of any United Kingdom corporation, remaining unpaid on the date of signature of the present Convention, may be adjusted on a basis satisfactory to the United States Commissioner of Internal Revenue: Provided, That the amount to be paid in settlement of such liability shall not exceed the amount of the liability which would have been determined if:

(a) The United States Revenue Act of 1936 (except in the case of a United Kingdom corporation in which more than 50 percent of the entire voting power was controlled, directly or indirectly, throughout the latter half of the taxable year, by citizens or residents of the United States), and

(b) Articles XV and XVI of the present Convention, had been in effect for such year. If the taxpayer was not, within the meaning of such Revenue Act, engaged in trade or business in the United States and had no office or place of business therein during the taxable year, the amount of interest and penalties shall not exceed 50 percent of the amount of the tax with respect to which such interest and penalties have been computed.

(2) The United States income tax unpaid on the date of signature of the present Convention for any taxable year beginning after the thirty-first day of December 1935 and prior to the first day of January 1945 in the case of an individual (other than a citizen of the United States) resident of the United Kingdom, or in the case of any United Kingdom corporation shall be determined as if the provisions of Articles XV and XVI of the present Convention had been in effect for such taxable year.

(3) The provisions of paragraph (1) of this Article shall not apply:

(a) Unless the taxpayer files with the Commissioner of Internal Revenue on or before the thirty-first day of December 1947 a request that such tax liability be so adjusted and furnishes such information as the Commissioner may require; or

(b) In any case in which the Commissioner is satisfied that any deficiency in tax is due to fraud with intent to evade the tax.

ARTICLE XVIII

A professor or teacher from the territory of one of the Contracting Parties who visits the territory of the other Contracting Party for the purpose of teaching, for a period not exceeding two years, at a university, college, school or other educational institution in the territory of such other Contracting Party shall be exempted by such other Contracting Party from tax on his remuneration for such teaching for such period.

ARTICLE XIX

A student or business apprentice from the territory of one of the Contracting Parties who is receiving full-time education or training in the territory of the other Contracting Party shall be exempted by such other Contracting Party from tax on payments made to him by persons within the territory of the former Contracting Party for the purposes of his maintenance, education or training.

ARTICLE XX

(1) The taxation authorities of the Contracting Parties shall exchange such information (being information available under the respective taxation laws of the Contracting Parties) as is necessary for carrying out the provisions of the present Convention or for the prevention of fraud or the administration of statutory provisions against legal avoidance in relation to the taxes which are the subject of the present Convention. Any information so exchanged shall be treated as secret and shall not be disclosed to any person other than those concerned with the assessment and collection of the taxes which are the subject of the present Convention. No information shall be exchanged which would disclose any trade secret or trade process.

(2) As used in this Article, the term "taxation authorities" means, in the case of the United States, the Commissioner of Internal Revenue or his authorized representative; in the case of the United Kingdom, the Commissioners of Inland Revenue or their authorized representatives; and, in the case of any territory to which the present Convention is extended under Article XXII, the competent authority for the administration in such territory of the taxes to which the present Convention applies.

ARTICLE XXI

(1) The nationals of one of the Contracting Parties shall not, while resident in the territory of the other Contracting Party, be subjected therein to other or more burdensome taxes than are the nationals of such other Contracting Party resident in its territory.

(2) The term "nationals" as used in this Article means:

(a) In relation to the United Kingdom, all British subjects and British protected persons, from the United Kingdom or any territory with respect to which the present Convention is applicable by reason of extension made by the United Kingdom under Article XXII; and

(b) In relation to the United States, United States citizens, and all persons under the protection of the United States, from the United States or any territory to which the present Convention is applicable by reason of extension made by the United States under Article XXII; and includes all legal persons, partnerships and associations deriving their status as such from, or created or organized under, the laws in force in any territory of the Contracting Parties to which the present Convention applies.

(3) In this Article the word "taxes" means taxes of every kind or description, whether national, Federal, state, provincial or municipal.

ARTICLE XXII

(1) Either of the Contracting Parties may, at the time of exchange of instruments of ratification or thereafter while the present Convention continues in force, by a written notification of extension given to the other Contracting Party through diplomatic channels, declare its desire that the operation of the present Convention shall extend to all or any of its colonies, overseas territories, protectorates, or territories in respect of which it exercises a mandate, which impose taxes substantially similar in character to those which are the subject of the present Convention. The present Convention shall apply to the territory or territories named in such notification on the date or dates specified in the notification (not being less than sixty days from the date of the notification) or, if no date is specified in respect of any such territory, on the sixtieth day after the date of such notification, unless, prior to the date on which the Convention would otherwise become applicable to a particular territory, the Contracting Party to whom notification is given shall have informed the other Contracting Party in writing through diplomatic channels that it does not accept such notification as to that territory. In the absence of such extension, the present Convention shall not apply to any such territory.

(2) At any time after the expiration of one year from the entry into force of an extension under paragraph (1) of this Article, either of the Contracting Parties may, by written notice of termination given to the other Contracting Party through diplomatic channels, terminate the application of the present Convention to any territory to which it has been extended under paragraph (1), and in such event the present Convention shall cease to apply, six months after the date of such notice, to the territory or territories named therein, but without affecting its continued application to the United States, the United Kingdom or to any other territory to which it has been extended under paragraph (1) hereof.

(3) In the application of the present Convention in relation to any territory to which it is extended by notification by the United States or the United Kingdom references to the "United States" or, as the case may be, the "United Kingdom" shall be construed as references to that territory.

(4) The termination in respect of the United States or the United Kingdom of the present Convention under Article XXIV or of Article VI shall, unless otherwise expressly agreed by both Contracting Parties, terminate the application of the present Convention or, as the case may be, that Article to any territory to which the Convention has been extended by the United States or the United Kingdom.

(5) The provisions of the preceding paragraphs of this Article shall apply to the Channel Islands and the Isle of Man as if they were colonies of the United Kingdom.

ARTICLE XXIII

(1) The present Convention shall be ratified and the instruments of ratification shall be exchanged at Washington as soon as possible.

(2) Upon exchange of ratifications, the present Convention shall have effect

(a) As respects United States tax, for the taxable years beginning on or after the first day of January 1945;

(b) (i) As respects United Kingdom income tax, for the year of assessment beginning on the 6th day of April 1945 and subsequent years; (ii) as respects United Kingdom surtax, for the year of assessment beginning on the 6th day of April 1944 and subsequent years; and (iii) as respects United Kingdom excess profits tax and national defence contribution, for any chargeable accounting period beginning on or after the first day of April 1945 and for the unexpired portion of any chargeable accounting period current at that date.

ARTICLE XXIV

(1) The present Convention shall continue in effect indefinitely but either of the Contracting Parties may, on or before the 30th day of June in any year after the year 1946, give to the other Contracting Party, through diplomatic channels, notice of termination and, in such event, the present Convention shall cease to be effective

(a) As respects United States tax, for the taxable years beginning on or after the first day of January in the year next following that in which such notice is given;

(b) (i) As respects United Kingdom income tax, for any year of assessment beginning on or after the 6th day of April in the year next following that in which such notice is given; (ii) as respects United Kingdom surtax, for any year of assessment beginning on or after the 6th day of April in the year in which such notice is given; and (iii) as respects United Kingdom excess profits tax and national defense contribution, for any chargeable accounting period beginning on or after the first day of April in the year next following that in which such notice is given and for the unexpired portion of any chargeable accounting period current at that date.

(2) The termination of the present Convention or of any Article thereof shall not have the effect of reviving any treaty or arrangement abrogated by the present Convention or by treaties previously concluded between the Contracting Parties.

In witness whereof the above-mentioned Plenipotentiaries have signed the present Convention and have affixed thereto their seals.

Done at Washington, in duplicate, on the 16th day of April, 1945.

Have agreed as follows:

ARTICLE I

Paragraph (3) of Article XI of the Convention of April 16, 1945, for the avoidance of double taxation and the prevention of fiscal evasion with respect to taxes on income shall be deemed to be deleted and of no effect.

ARTICLE II

This Protocol, which shall be regarded as an integral part of the said Convention, shall be ratified and the instruments of ratification thereof shall be exchanged at Washington.

In witness whereof the undersigned Plenipotentiaries, being authorized thereto by their respective Governments, have signed this Protocol and have affixed thereto their seals.

Done at Washington, in duplicate, this sixth day of June, 1946.

For the Government of the United States of America:

JAMES F. BYRNES,
Secretary of State, of the United States of America.

For the Government of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland:

JOHN BALFOUR,
His Majesty's Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary in Washington.

§ 7.513 Applicable provisions of the Internal Revenue Code. The Internal Revenue Code provides in part as follows:

CHAPTER 1—INCOME TAX

* * * * * * *

* * * * * * *

(b) Exclusions from Gross Income. The following items shall not be included in gross income and shall be exempt from taxation under this chapter:

* * * * * * *

(7) Income exempt under treaty. Income of any kind, to the extent required by any treaty obligation of the United States;

* * * * * * *

SEC. 62. RULES AND REGULATIONS

The Commissioner, with the approval of the Secretary, shall prescribe and publish all needful rules and regulations for the enforcement of this chapter.

Pursuant to section 62 of the Internal Revenue Code, and other provisions of the internal revenue laws, the following regulations, which are designated as §§ 7.514 to 7.532, are hereby prescribed and all regulations inconsistent herewith are modified accordingly.

§ 7.514 Scope of the convention. The primary purposes of the convention, to be accomplished on a reciprocal basis, are to avoid double taxation upon major items of income derived from sources in one country by persons resident in the other country, and to exchange fiscal information complementary to other provisions of the convention, including those relating to avoidance of double taxation.

The specific classes of income from sources within the United States exempt under the convention from United States tax for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1945, are:

(a) Industrial and commercial profits of a United Kingdom enterprise having no permanent establishment in the United States (Article III);

(b) Income derived by a nonresident alien who is a resident of the United Kingdom, or by a United Kingdom corporation, from the operation of ships documented or aircraft registered, under the laws of the United Kingdom (Article V);

(c) Interest and royalties (including film rentals) derived by a nonresident alien who is a resident of the United Kingdom or by a foreign corporation managed and controlled in the United Kingdom if such alien or corporation (1) is subject to United Kingdom tax upon such interest or royalties, and (2) has no permanent establishment in the United States (but such exemption does not apply to interest paid to such foreign corporation controlling the corporation paying such interest) (Articles VII and VIII);

(d) Compensation and pensions paid by the United Kingdom to individuals (other than a citizen of the United States who is not also a British subject) for services rendered to the United Kingdom in the discharge of its governmental functions (Article X);

(e) Compensation for personal services derived by a nonresident alien who is a resident of the United Kingdom if (1) such alien is present in the United States for a period or periods not exceeding 183 days during the taxable year, and (2) such services are performed for, or on behalf of, a person resident in the United Kingdom (Article XI);

(f) Pensions (other than pensions paid by the Government of the United States) and life annuities derived by nonresident alien individuals residing in the United Kingdom (Article XII);

(g) Gains from the sale or exchange of capital assets by a nonresident alien who is a resident of the United Kingdom or by a foreign corporation managed and controlled in the United Kingdom, if such alien or corporation has no permanent establishment in the United States (Article XIV);

(h) Dividends and interest paid on or after January 1, 1945, by a corporation organized under the laws of the United Kingdom to a nonresident alien or foreign corporation (Article XV);

(i) Remuneration derived from teaching in the United States for a period of not more than two years by a professor or teacher who is from the territory of the United Kingdom, but who is temporarily present in the United States (Article XVIII);

(j) Remittances from sources within the United Kingdom received in the United States by a nonresident alien individual who is from the territory of the United Kingdom but who is temporarily present in the United States for the purpose of education, or training, such remittances being for the purpose of his maintenance, education, or training (Article XIX).

The convention also reduces to 15 percent the rate of tax otherwise imposed upon dividends, natural resource royalties and rentals from real property, derived by a nonresident alien who is resident in the United Kingdom or by a foreign corporation managed and controlled in the United Kingdom if such alien or corporation meets the tests of liability to United Kingdom tax and absence of permanent establishment in the United States set out in paragraph (c) of this section with respect to exemption in the case of interest and royalties.

As to exemption from withholding of the tax at the source in the case of interest, royalties, pensions and life annuities and reduction in the rate of tax from 30 percent to 15 percent in the case of dividends, natural resource royalties, and rentals arising from real property, see Treasury Decision 5532 (26 CFR 7.500 to 7.511).

The convention does not affect the liability to United States income taxation of subjects of the United Kingdom who are residents of the United States except that such individuals are entitled to the benefits of Article X (relating to United Kingdom Government salaries and the like), of Article XIII (1) (relating to credit for United Kingdom income tax), and of Article XXI (relating to equality of taxation). Except as provided in Article X with respect to a citizen of the United States who is also a British subject and in Article XIII relating to the credit for income tax, the convention does not affect taxation by the United States of a citizen of the United States or of a domestic corporation, even though such citizen is resident in the United Kingdom and such corporation is managed and controlled in the United Kingdom. The convention has general application to foreign corporations managed and controlled in the United Kingdom even though such corporations are not organized under the laws of the United Kingdom, but, in the case of corporations organized under the laws of the United Kingdom but managed and controlled outside the United Kingdom, the provisions of Articles V, XV and XVI are applicable.

§ 7.515 Definitions. As used in §§ 7.512 to 7.532, inclusive, unless the context otherwise requires, the terms defined in the convention shall have the meanings so assigned to them. Any term used in §§ 7.512 to 7.532, inclusive, which is not defined in the convention, but which is defined in the Internal Revenue Code shall be given the definition contained therein unless the context otherwise requires.

As used in §§ 7.512 to 7.532, inclusive:

(a) The term "permanent establishment" means a branch, management, factory, mine, oil well, farm, timberland, plantation, workshop, warehouse, office, or other fixed place of business. The fact that a foreign corporation managed and controlled in the United Kingdom has a domestic subsidiary corporation, or a foreign subsidiary corporation having a branch in the United States, does not of itself constitute either subsidiary corporation a permanent establishment of the parent United Kingdom enterprise. The fact that a United Kingdom enterprise has business dealings in the United States through a bona fide commission agent, broker, or custodian, acting in the usual course of his business as such, or maintains in the United States an office or other fixed place of business used exclusively for the purchase of goods or merchandise, does not mean that such United Kingdom enterprise has a permanent establishment in the United States. If, however, a United Kingdom enterprise carries on business in the United States through an agent who has, and habitually exercises, a general authority to negotiate and conclude contracts on behalf of such enterprise or if it has an agent who maintains within the United States a stock of merchandise from which he regularly fills orders on behalf of his principal, then such enterprise shall be deemed to have a permanent establishment in the United States. However, an agent having power to contract on behalf of his principal but only at fixed prices and under conditions determined by the principal does not constitute a permanent establishment of such principal. The mere fact that an agent (assuming he has no general authority to contract on behalf of his employer or principal) maintains samples or occasionally fills orders from incidental stocks of goods maintained in the United States will not constitute a permanent establishment within the United States. The mere fact that salesmen, employees of a United Kingdom enterprise, promote the sale of their employer's products in the United States or that such enterprise transacts business in the United States by means of mail-order activities, does not mean such enterprise has a permanent establishment therein. The term "permanent establishment" as used in the convention implies the active conduct therein of a business enterprise. The mere ownership, for example, of timberlands or a warehouse in the United States by a United Kingdom enterprise does not mean that such enterprise has a permanent establishment therein. As to the effect of the maintenance of a permanent establishment within the United States upon exemption from United States tax in the case of interest and royalties and reduction in the rate of United States tax in the case of dividends, natural resource royalties, and rentals arising from real property, see § 7.519.

(b) The term "enterprise" means any commercial or industrial undertaking whether conducted by an individual, partnership, corporation, or other entity. It includes such activities as manufacturing, merchandising, mining, processing, and banking. It does not include the rendition of personal services. Hence, a nonresident alien who is a resident of the United Kingdom and who renders personal services is not, merely by reason of such services, engaged in an enterprise within the meaning of the convention and his liability to United States tax is not affected by Article III of the convention.

(c) The term "United Kingdom enterprise" means an enterprise carried on by any person (including an individual and foreign corporation, whether or not a corporation organized under the laws of the United Kingdom, which is managed and controlled in the United Kingdom but not including a United States citizen or domestic corporation) who is a resident of the United Kingdom, regardless of whether such enterprise is carried on within or without the United Kingdom.

(d) The term "resident of the United Kingdom" means any nonresident alien (including an individual, fiduciary and partnership) resident in the United Kingdom for the purposes of United Kingdom income tax, and any foreign corporation managed and controlled from within the United Kingdom but not engaged in trade or business within the United States.

(e) The term "industrial and commercial profits", means profits arising from industrial, commercial, mercantile, manufacturing, and like activities of a United Kingdom enterprise as defined in this section. Such term does not include rentals, royalties, interest, dividends, fees, compensation for personal services, nor gains derived from the sale or exchange of capital assets. Such enumerated items of income are not governed by the provisions of Article III of the convention but are subject to the rules elsewhere set forth in the convention and in §§ 7.512 to 7.532, inclusive.

§ 7.516 Scope of convention with respect to determination of "industrial or commercial profits"—(a) General. Article III of the convention adopts the principle that an enterprise of one of the contracting parties shall not be taxable in the territory of the other contracting party upon its industrial or commercial profits unless it has a permanent establishment in the territory of the latter party. Hence, a United Kingdom enterprise is subject to United States tax upon its industrial and commercial profits to the extent of such profits from sources within the United States only if it has a permanent establishment within the United States. From the standpoint of Federal income taxation, the article has application only to a United Kingdom enterprise and to the industrial and commercial income thereof from sources within the United States. It has no application, for example, to compensation for labor or personal services performed in the United States nor to income derived from real property located in the United States, including rentals and royalties therefrom, nor to gains from the sale or disposition of such property, nor to interest, dividends, royalties, other fixed or determinable annual or periodical income and gains derived from the sale or exchange of capital assets.

(b) No United States permanent establishment. A nonresident alien individual who is a resident of the United Kingdom or a foreign corporation managed and controlled in the United Kingdom, having no permanent establishment in the United States is not, for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1945, subject to United States income tax upon industrial and commercial profits from sources within the United States. For example, if such United Kingdom enterprise sells, in 1946, merchandise, such as leather goods, porcelain, textiles, or liquors, through a bona fide commission agent or broker in the United States acting in the ordinary course of his business as such agent or broker, the resulting profits are, under the terms of Article III of the convention, exempt from United States income tax. Likewise no permanent establishment exists if such enterprise, through its sales agents in the United States, secures orders for its products, the sales being made in the United Kingdom.

(c) United States permanent establishment. A nonresident alien (including a nonresident alien individual, fiduciary and partnership) who is a resident of the United Kingdom or a foreign corporation managed and controlled in the United Kingdom, having a permanent establishment in the United States, is subject to tax upon industrial and commercial profits from sources within the United States to the same extent as are nonresident aliens and foreign corporations engaged in trade or business therein. In the determination of the income taxable to such alien or foreign corporation all industrial and commercial profits from sources within the United States shall be deemed to be allocable to the permanent establishment in the United States. Hence, for example, if a United Kingdom enterprise having a permanent establishment in the United States sells in the United States, through a commission agent therein goods produced in the United Kingdom, the resulting profits derived from United States sources from such transactions are allocable to such permanent establishment even though such transactions were carried on independently of such establishment. In determining industrial and commercial profits no account shall be taken of the mere purchase of merchandise within the United States by the United Kingdom enterprise. The industrial or commercial profits of the permanent establishment shall be determined as if the establishment were an independent enterprise engaged in the same or similar activities and dealing at arm's length with the enterprise of which it is a permanent establishment.

§ 7.517 Control of a domestic enterprise by a United Kingdom enterprise. Article IV of the convention provides, in effect, that if a United Kingdom enterprise by reason of its control of a domestic enterprise imposes on such latter enterprise conditions different from those which would result from normal business relations between independent enterprises, the accounts between the enterprises may be adjusted so as to ascertain the true net income of each enterprise. The purpose is to place the controlled domestic enterprise on a tax parity with an uncontrolled domestic enterprise by determining, according to the standard of an uncontrolled enterprise, the true net income from the property and business of the controlled enterprise. The basic objective of the article is that if the accounting records do not truly reflect the net income from the property and business of such domestic enterprise the Commissioner of Internal Revenue may intervene and, by making such distributions, apportionments, or allocations as he may deem necessary of gross income or deductions of any item or element affecting net income as between such domestic enterprise and the United Kingdom enterprise by which it is controlled or directed, determine the true net income of the domestic enterprise. The provisions of § 29.45-1 of this chapter (Regulations 111), shall, insofar as applicable, be followed in the determination of the net income of the domestic business.

§ 7.518 Income from operation of ships and aircraft. The income derived from the operation of ships documented, or aircraft registered, under the laws of the United Kingdom by a nonresident alien who is a resident of the United Kingdom or by a corporation, association, or other like entity created under the laws of the United Kingdom, is, for taxable years beginning or or after January 1, 1945, exempt from United States income tax under the provisions of Article V of the convention. It is immaterial for the purpose of the exemption whether such corporation is managed and controlled in the United Kingdom.

§ 7.519 Exemption from, or reduction in rate of, United States tax in the case of dividends, interest, royalties, natural resource royalties, and real property rentals—(a) Dividends, natural resource royalties, and rentals from real property—(1) General. The tax imposed by the Internal Revenue Code in the case of dividends, natural resource royalties, and rentals arising from real property (including leasehold and other interest in such property), received in any taxable year beginning on or after January 1, 1945, from sources within the United States by (i) a nonresident alien (including a nonresident alien individual, fiduciary, and partnership) who is a resident of the United Kingdom, or (ii) a foreign corporation (whether or not created under the laws of the United Kingdom) which is managed and controlled in the United Kingdom, is limited to 15 percent under the provisions of Article VI (1) (relating to dividends) and Article IX (1) (relating to natural resource royalties and rentals from real property) of the convention if such alien or corporation:

(a) Is subject to United Kingdom tax on such dividends, natural resource royalties and rentals, and

(b) At no time during the taxable year in which such dividends, natural resource royalties and rentals were so derived, was engaged in trade or business within the United States.

For the purposes of Articles VI, VII, VIII, IX and XIV of the convention, the nonresident alien or foreign corporation is not deemed to be engaged in trade or business within the United States unless such alien or foreign corporation has a permanent establishment situated therein at some time in the taxable year in which the income is derived. See Article II (2) of the convention. Thus, if a nonresident alien who is a resident of the United Kingdom, performs personal services within the United States during the calendar year 1946, has no permanent establishment within the United States at any time during such year, and is subject to United Kingdom tax upon dividends derived by him from United States sources in that year, he is entitled to the reduced rate of tax with respect to such dividends, as provided in Article VI (1) of the convention, even though by reason of his having rendered personal services within the United States he is engaged in trade or business therein in that year within the meaning of section 211 (b) of the Internal Revenue Code. If, for example, A, a nonresident alien who is a resident of the United Kingdom, derives in 1946, $5,000 compensation for such personal services and his only other income from sources within the United States consists of dividends, the dividends are subject to tax at the rate not to exceed 15 percent and his earned income is subject to normal tax and surtax without taking the dividends into account in determining the tax on such earned income.

In any case, however, in which a nonresident alien or a foreign corporation derives from sources within the United States in any taxable year beginning on or after January 1, 1945, royalties from the operation of mines, quarries, or other extraction of natural resources or rentals from real property situated within the United States and is entitled to the reduced rate of 15 percent prescribed in Article IX of the convention, such alien or foreign corporation may for such taxable year elect instead to be subject to Federal income tax as if such alien or corporation were engaged in trade or business within the United States by reason of having a permanent establishment therein. Such election shall be made by so signifying on the return for such year. The election so signified shall be irrevocable for the taxable year for which such election is made. In such a case a return may be filed by the nonresident alien or foreign corporation even though the sole income of such alien or corporation from sources within the United States is fixed or determinable annual or periodical income upon which the tax has been fully satisfied at the source and there exists no necessity for the filing of the return except for the purposes of securing the benefits of Article IX of the convention. See § 29.217–2 of this chapter (Regulations 111).

(2) Dividends paid by a United States subsidiary corporation. Under the proviso of Article VI (1) of the convention, dividends paid by a domestic corporation to its foreign parent corporation are subject to tax at the rate of only 5 percent if (i) such foreign corporation controls, directly or indirectly, at the time the dividend is paid 95 percent or more of the voting power in such domestic corporation, (ii) not more than 25 percent of the gross income of the domestic corporation paying the dividend consists of dividends and interest (other than dividends and interest paid to such domestic corporation by its own subsidiary corporations, if any), and (iii) the relationship between such domestic corporation and such foreign corporation has not been arranged or maintained primarily with the intention of securing such reduced rate of 5 percent.

Thus, for example, the X Corporation is a domestic corporation, 97 percent of the entire voting stock of which is controlled by the Y Company, Ltd., a foreign corporation managed and controlled in the United Kingdom, not having a permanent establishment in the United States at any time during the calendar year 1946, and subject to United Kingdom tax with respect to any dividends received by it or credited to its account in the United States. The X Corporation makes its income tax returns on the calendar year basis and throughout each of the years 1943, 1944, and 1945 derived not more than 25 percent of its gross income from interest and dividends from corporations not controlled by it. The relationship between the X Corporation and the Y Company, Ltd., is a relationship arranged and maintained without reference to the reduced rate of tax on dividends provided in the proviso in Article VI (1) of the convention. A dividend was paid by the X Corporation to the Y Company, Ltd., on July 1, 1946. The reduced rate of tax of 5 percent is applicable to such dividend.

(b) Interest and royalties—(1) General. Interest (other than interest paid by a subsidiary corporation to its United Kingdom parent corporation, as explained in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph), whether on bonds, securities, notes, debentures or any other form of indebtedness (including interest on obligations of the United States and on obligations of instrumentalities of the United States) and royalties for the privilege of using copyrights, patents, designs, secret processes and formulae, trade-marks, and other like property (including film rentals) received in any taxable year beginning on or after January 1, 1945, from sources within the United States by (i) a nonresident alien (including a nonresident alien individual, fiduciary, and partnership) who is a resident of the United Kingdom, or (ii) a foreign corporation (whether or not organized under the laws of the United Kingdom) which is managed and controlled in the United Kingdom, are exempt from United States tax under the provisions of Articles VII and VIII of the convention if such alien, or corporation:

(a) Is subject to United Kingdom tax on such interest or royalty, and

(b) At no time during the taxable year in which such interest or royalty was so derived, had a permanent establishment situated within the United States.

Such interest and royalties are, therefore, not subject to the withholding provisions of the Internal Revenue Code.

(2) Interest paid by subsidiary corporation to its United Kingdom parent corporation. Article VII (1) of the convention provides in part that the exemption from United States tax of interest paid to residents of the United Kingdom shall not apply to interest paid by a domestic corporation to a foreign corporation managed and controlled in the United Kingdom if such foreign corporation controls more than 50 percent of the voting power of all classes of stock of such domestic corporation.

(c) Beneficiaries of an estate or trust. A nonresident alien who is a resident of the United Kingdom and who is a beneficiary of a domestic estate or trust, shall be entitled to the exemption, or reduction in the rate of tax, as the case may be, provided in Articles VI, VII, VIII, IX and XIV of the convention with respect to dividends, interest, royalties, natural resource royalties, rentals from real property and capital gains to the extent such item or items are included in his distributive share of income of such estate or trust if he is taxable in the United Kingdom on such income and is not engaged in trade or business in the United States through a permanent establishment. In such case such beneficiary must, in order to be entitled to the exemption or reduction in the rate of tax, execute Form 1001–UK or Form 1001A–UK (modified to show dividends where applicable) and file such form with the fiduciary of such estate or trust in the United States.

In any case in which dividends, interest, royalties, rents or the like are derived from United States sources by a United Kingdom estate or trust any beneficiary of such estate or trust who is not a resident of the United Kingdom is not entitled to any exemption under the convention with respect to such income included in his distributive share of the income of the estate or trust.

§ 7.520 Government wages, salaries, pensions, and similar remunerations. Under Article X of the convention any salary, wage, similar remuneration, or pension, paid in taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1945, by the Government of the United Kingdom for services rendered such Government (whether within or without the United States) in the discharge of its governmental functions by any individual who is not a citizen of the United States, is exempt from Federal income tax. For the purposes of the exemption an individual is treated as not a citizen of the United States if he or she has the dual status of being a citizen of the United States as well as being a subject of the United Kingdom. Thus, if A, a United States citizen, marries a British subject and assumes the status of a British subject by reason of such marriage without relinquishing her United States citizenship and performs personal services in the United States for the Government of the United Kingdom, the compensation for such services is excluded from gross income. As to the taxation, generally, of compensation of alien employees of foreign governments see section 116 (h) of the Internal Revenue Code § 29.116–2 of this chapter (Regulations 111). The exemption granted by Article X of the convention does not apply to compensation for services rendered incident to the carrying on of any trade or business by the United Kingdom.

§ 7.521 Compensation for labor or personal services. Article XI provides, upon a reciprocal basis, that a nonresident alien who is a resident of the United Kingdom is, for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1945, exempt from Federal income tax upon compensation (regardless of amount of such compensation) for personal (including professional) services performed during the taxable year within the United States if for such taxable year:

(a) Such alien is temporarily present in the United States for a period or periods not exceeding 183 days during such taxable year, and

(b) Such services are performed for or on behalf of a person resident in the United Kingdom.

As to who is a resident of the United Kingdom, see § 7.515 (d). As to the source of compensation for labor or personal services see section 119 (a) (3), Internal Revenue Code.

§ 7.522 Pensions and life annuities. Under the provisions of Article XII of the convention, pensions (other than pensions paid by the United States) and life annuities derived from sources within the United States by a nonresident alien individual who is a resident of the United Kingdom are exempt from Federal income tax for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1945. The term "life annuities" means a stated sum payable periodically at stated times during life or during a specified or ascertainable period of time under an obligation to make payments in consideration of payments made for such obligation.

§ 7.523 Capital gains. Under Article XIV of the convention, when read in association with Article II (2) of the convention, gains from the sale or exchange of capital assets by a nonresident alien individual who is a resident of the United Kingdom or by a foreign corporation managed and controlled in the United Kingdom are, for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1945, exempt from Federal income tax unless such alien or corporation has a permanent establishment in the United States. As to what constitutes capital assets, see section 117, Internal Revenue Code. As to what constitutes a permanent establishment see § 7.515. If A, a nonresident alien individual who is a resident of the United Kingdom, performs personal services within the United States during the calendar year 1946 for a domestic employer, he is engaged in trade or business within the United States in such taxable year. Section 211 (b), Internal Revenue Code. He carries on in that year no other business activity within the United States other than certain securities transactions upon a domestic stock exchange and maintained no office or other fixed place of business within the United States at any time during such year. A is not subject to Federal income tax upon his capital gains, if any, realized from his securities transactions. Likewise, a foreign corporation managed and controlled in the United Kingdom selling its products manufactured in the United Kingdom through a resident commission agent or broker in the United States and having certain securities transactions within the United States as its only other business activity therein is exempt from United States tax upon those capital gains, if any, arising from the securities transactions within the United States.

§ 7.524 Dividends and interest paid by a United Kingdom corporation. A dividend paid by a foreign corporation constitutes in whole or in part income from sources within the United States and hence is subject to tax in the hands of a nonresident alien or foreign corporation, if 50 percent or more of the gross income of the foreign corporation paying such dividend is derived from sources within the United States during the period prescribed by the statute. Section 119 (a) (2) (B), Internal Revenue Code, and § 29.119–3 (b) of this chapter (Regulations 111). Interest paid by a resident foreign corporation constitutes in its entirety income from sources within the United States, and hence is subject to tax in the hands of a nonresident alien individual or foreign corporation, if 20 percent or more of the gross income of the foreign corporation paying such interest is derived from sources within the United States during the period prescribed by the statute. Section 119 (a) (1) (B), Internal Revenue Code, and § 29.119–2 (b) of this chapter (Regulations 111).

Under the provisions of Article XV of the convention, dividends and interest paid by a corporation created under the laws of the United Kingdom to any nonresident alien or to any foreign corporation, whether or not such alien is a resident of the United Kingdom and whether or not such foreign corporation is organized under the laws of the United Kingdom, are, for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1945, not subject to Federal income tax regardless of whether the corporation paying such dividends or interest is a resident foreign (as to the United States) corporation and regardless of the percentage of its gross income derived from sources within the United States.

§ 7.525 United Kingdom corporations; exemption from Federal taxation with respect to accumulated profits or undistributed income. Section 102 of the Internal Revenue Code imposes (in addition to other taxes imposed by Chapter 1 of such Code) a graduated income tax or surtax upon any domestic or foreign corporation formed or availed of to avoid the imposition of the individual surtax upon its shareholders or the shareholders of any other corporation through the medium of permitting earnings or profits to accumulate instead of dividing or distributing them. Such tax, however, does not apply in the case of personal holding companies as defined in section 501 of the Internal Revenue Code nor to foreign personal holding companies as defined in Supplement P (section 331) of such Code. Section 500 of the Internal Revenue Code imposes (in addition to the taxes imposed by Chapter 1 of such code) a graduated income tax or surtax upon corporations classified as personal holding companies, regardless of whether or not they are formed or availed of to accumulate earnings or profits for the purpose of avoiding surtax upon shareholders.

Under the provisions of Article XVI of the convention corporations organized under the laws of the United Kingdom are, for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1945, subject to neither the tax imposed by section 102 of the Internal Revenue Code nor the tax imposed by section 500 of such code if more than 50 percent of the entire voting power in such corporation is controlled directly or indirectly throughout the last half of the taxable year by nonresident alien individuals who are residents of the United Kingdom. To come within the scope of the exemption, the prescribed proportion of the stock of the United Kingdom corporation concerned must be so owned at all times throughout the last half of the taxable year in which the taxable status of the corporation is involved. In determining the ownership of the voting stock of the United Kingdom corporation, the provisions of §§ 29.503 (a)–1 to 29.503 (a)–7, inclusive, and § 29.503 (b)–1 of this chapter (Regulations 111), shall, in so far as not inconsistent with the convention, be applicable in the administration of the provisions of the convention.

§ 7.526 Visiting professors or teachers. Under Article XVIII of the convention, an alien individual who is from the territory of the United Kingdom, but who is temporarily present within the United States for the purposes of teaching, lecturing, or instructing, at any university, college, school, or other educational institution situated within the United States, is, for a period not exceeding two years from the date of his arrival in the United States, exempt for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1945, from Federal income tax on remuneration received for such services. It shall be deemed that such alien coming to the United States for the purposes indicated has, for a period of not more than two years immediately succeeding the date of his arrival within the United States for such purposes, the tax status of a nonresident alien in the absence of proof of his intention to remain indefinitely in the United States.

§ 7.527 Remittances. Under Article XIX of the convention nonresident alien individuals who are from the territory of the United Kingdom but who are temporarily present in the United States for the purposes of study or for acquiring business experience or training are exempt, for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1945, from Federal income tax upon amounts representing remittances from sources within the United Kingdom for the purposes of their maintenance, education, and training.

§ 7.528 Credit against United States tax liability for income tax paid or deemed to have been paid to the United Kingdom. For the purpose of avoidance of double taxation, Article XIII of the convention provides that there shall be allowed on the part of the United States, in accordance with section 131 of the International Revenue Code as in effect on the first day of January, 1945, for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1945, against the United States income and excess profits tax liability a credit for United Kingdom taxes.

In determining the credit under section 131 of the Internal Revenue Code, in any case in which a taxpayer receives a dividend from a foreign corporation managed and controlled in the United Kingdom it shall be deemed that such taxpayer has paid to the United Kingdom, the United Kingdom income tax at the rate appropriate to such dividend, if such taxpayer elects to include in his gross income an amount equivalent to such United Kingdom income tax in addition to the amount of the dividend otherwise included in gross income.

Thus, if such foreign corporation declares during the taxable year 1945 a gross dividend of which the taxpayer's share is $1,000, and the standard rate of United Kingdom income tax in 1945 is 50 percent and such corporation is not entitled to any "relief" from the payment of the standard rate of tax because of any Dominion income tax paid by it, there is deducted at the source of such corporation incident to the payment of the dividend of $1,000 the sum of $500, leaving a net amount of $500 actually received by the taxpayer. If the taxpayer elects to include the entire amount of $1,000 in his gross income, the amount of $500, representing the United Kingdom income tax deemed to have been paid, is allowable as a credit under section 131 of the Internal Revenue Code, subject to the limitations provided in that section. If, however, the foreign corporation is entitled to "relief" for Dominion income tax paid by it so that the amount of tax deducted from the gross dividend is the net United Kingdom income tax (representing the standard tax reduced by the relief for Dominion income tax) the amount of such net United Kingdom tax is the amount allowable as a credit against the United States income tax under the provisions of section 131 of the Internal Revenue Code, subject to the limitations provided in that section provided the taxpayer elects to include in his gross income, in addition to the amount of the dividend received by him, the net United Kingdom tax appropriate to the dividend. See §§ 29.131–1 to 29.131–8 inclusive, of this chapter (Regulations 111).

The net United Kingdom tax is also the basis of the credit in the case of a dividend paid by such corporation subsequent to 1945 even though the tax required to be deducted from such dividend must be determined without taking into account any reduction by reason of "relief" from double taxation to which the corporation paying such dividend may be entitled. Thus, for example, a foreign corporation managed and controlled in the United Kingdom derives all of its income from sources within a British Dominion which imposes an income tax at an effective rate of 20 percent. On July 1, 1946, it pays a dividend, the gross amount of which in the case of A, a United States citizen shareholder resident in the United States, is $1,000. The amount of tax required to be withheld by the corporation is $450 or a rate of 45 percent applied to the gross amount of the dividend and A receives a net dividend of $550. However, the corporation in the payment of its United Kingdom income tax received a credit against the rate of 45 percent for the 20 percent tax paid to the Dominion. Hence the net United Kingdom rate is 25 percent which, applied to the gross dividend of $1,000, equals $250 which constitutes the United Kingdom income tax appropriate to the dividend. In such case, if A elects to take a credit for the United Kingdom tax appropriate to the dividend, he must include in gross income the amount of $550 plus $250, or $800, the sum of $250 being the basis of the resulting credit under the provisions of section 131, Internal Revenue Code.

Assume that a domestic corporation owns stock in a foreign corporation managed and controlled in the United Kingdom (hereinafter referred to as the first United Kingdom corporation), that the first United Kingdom corporation has as its sole income dividends received from a second United Kingdom corporation and that such second United Kingdom corporation derives all its income from sources within the X British Colony which imposes upon such second United Kingdom corporation tax at the rate of 20 percent of its income. Both the first and second United Kingdom corporations are subject to tax imposed by the United Kingdom. However, in the imposition of such tax upon the second United Kingdom corporation, there is allowed under United Kingdom law against the United Kingdom standard tax of 45 percent a credit of 20 percent imposed by the X Colony and hence such corporation pays United Kingdom tax at the rate of 25 percent. The second British corporation is deemed under United Kingdom law to have paid the 25 percent United Kingdom tax with respect to the dividends paid by it and, in turn, the first United Kingdom corporation is deemed to have paid United Kingdom tax of 25 percent with respect to such dividends. When, therefore, dividends are received by the domestic corporation from the first United Kingdom corporation, such domestic corporation will for the purposes of the credit under section 131 be deemed to have paid United Kingdom tax of 25 percent. Such domestic corporation may elect to include in its gross income the amount of United Kingdom tax thus deemed to have been paid and to claim credit for such tax under the provisions of section 131 of the Internal Revenue Code.

§ 7.529 Adjustment of tax liability of nonresident aliens who are residents of the United Kingdom and of United Kingdom corporations. Article XVII (1) of the convention confers upon the Commissioner of Internal Revenue authority to adjust the tax liability for taxable years beginning prior to January 1, 1936, of any nonresident alien individual who is a resident of the United Kingdom and of any corporation organized under the laws of the United Kingdom (whether or not such corporation is managed and controlled in the United Kingdom) in any case in which such tax liability remained unpaid on April 16, 1945 (the date of signature of the convention). Such provisions, however, will not apply unless:

(a) The taxpayer files with the Commissioner of Internal Revenue on or before December 31, 1947, a request that such tax liability be so adjusted and a sworn statement showing for each year involved and for such other years as the Commissioner of Internal Revenue may require, (1) by items and classes of income the amounts of dividends, interest, rents, salaries, wages, premiums, annuities, compensations, remunerations, emoluments, or other fixed or determinable annual or periodical income, gains, profits, and income derived from sources within the United States; (2) the business transactions, if any, carried on in the United States by or in behalf of the taxpayer during each of such years; and (3) such further information as the Commissioner of Internal Revenue may require in the particular case; and

(b) The Commissioner of Internal Revenue is satisfied that the additional income tax involved did not arise by reason of fraud with intent to evade the tax on the part of the taxpayer concerned.

In any case in which the Commissioner of Internal Revenue deems it appropriate to exercise the authority thus conferred, the resulting tax liability for any such year or years may not exceed the amount of the liability which would be determined had the following been given effect for such year or years:

(1) The Revenue Act of 1936 (but this does not apply in the case of a United Kingdom corporation in which more than 50 percent of the entire voting power was controlled, directly or indirectly, through the latter half of the taxable year for which the liability is being determined by citizens or residents of the United States);

(2) Article XV of the convention, exempting from United States tax dividends and interest paid by a United Kingdom corporation to nonresident aliens or foreign corporations; and

(3) Article XVI of the convention, exempting United Kingdom corporations from the tax imposed by the United States with respect to accumulated or undistributed earnings, profits, income, or surplus.

In any case in which the Commissioner of Internal Revenue has exercised his authority to apply the provisions of Article XVII (1) of the convention, if the taxpayer was not engaged in trade or business within the United States and had no office or place of business therein during the taxable year involved, the aggregate amount of interest and penalties may not exceed 50 percent of the amount of the tax with respect to which such interest and penalties have been computed.

Article XVII (2) of the convention provides that the Federal income tax liability for taxable years beginning after December 31, 1935, and prior to January 1, 1945, which remains unpaid on April 16, 1945, the date of signature of the convention, in the case of any nonresident alien individual, a resident of the United Kingdom, or of any United Kingdom corporation, shall be determined under the United States internal revenue law properly applicable thereto, except that Articles XV (relating to exemption from United States tax of dividends and interests paid by a United Kingdom corporation) and XVI (relating to exemption of a United Kingdom corporation from United States tax with respect to accumulated earnings or profits) of the convention shall be treated as being in effect for such years. (See §§ 7.524 and 7.525.)

§ 7.530 Reciprocal administrative assistance. By Article XX of the convention, the United States and the United Kingdom adopt the principle of exchange of such information as is necessary to the administration of the provisions of the convention or for the prevention of fraud or for the detection of practices which are aimed at reduction of the revenues of either Contracting Party but not including information which would disclose any trade secret or trade process. Pursuant to such principle, every United States withholding agent shall make and file with the collector, in duplicate, an information return on Form 1042D, in addition to the withholding return, Form 1042, for the calendar year 1946 and each subsequent calendar year, with respect to: (a) Dividends from which a tax of 15 percent was withheld from persons whose addresses are in the United Kingdom (5 percent in the case of dividends falling within the scope of the proviso of Article VI (1) of the convention); (b) real property rentals and natural resource royalties from which a tax of 15 percent was withheld from persons whose addresses are in the United Kingdom; (c) royalties and like amounts and interest from which no tax was withheld from persons whose addresses are in the United Kingdom; and (d) all other fixed or determinable annual or periodical income paid to persons whose addresses are in the United Kingdom.

The information and correspondence relative to exchange of information may be transmitted directly by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue to the Commissioners of Inland Revenue.

§ 7.531 Information to be furnished in due course. In accordance with the provisions of Article XX of the convention the Commissioner of Internal Revenue will forward to the Commissioners of Inland Revenue as soon as practicable after the close of the calendar year 1946, and of each calendar year thereafter during which the convention is in effect, the names and addresses of all persons whose addresses are within the United Kingdom and who derived from sources within the United States dividends, interest, rents, royalties, salaries, wages, pensions, annuities, or other fixed or determinable annual or periodical profits and income, showing the amounts of such items of income in the case of each addressee. For these purposes the transmission to the Commissioners of Inland Revenue of information return Form 1042D as provided in § 7.530 for the calendar year 1946, and subsequent calendar years, shall constitute compliance with the provisions of Article XX of the convention and of §§ 7.512 to 7.532 inclusive.

§ 7.532 Information in specific cases. Under the provisions of Article XX of the convention and upon request of the Commissioners of Inland Revenue, the Commissioner of Internal Revenue shall furnish to the Commissioners of Inland Revenue any information (other than information that would disclose any trade secret or trade process) available to or obtainable by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue relative to the tax liability of any person under the revenue laws of the United Kingdom in any case in which such information is necessary to the administration of the provisions of the convention or for the prevention of fraud or the administration of statutory provisions against legal avoidance.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act, approved June 11, 1946, that the regulations set forth in tentative form below are proposed to be prescribed by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury. Prior to the final adoption of such regulations, consideration will be given to any data, views, or arguments pertaining thereto which are submitted in writing in duplicate to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Washington 25, D. C., within the period of 30 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The proposed regulations are to be issued under the authority of section 62 of the Internal Revenue Code (53 Stat. 32; 26 U. S. C. 62), as made applicable by section 729 (a) of the Internal Revenue Code (54 Stat. 989, 26 U. S. C. 729 (a)).

Regulations 109 (26 CFR, Part 30) and Regulations 112 (26 CFR, Part 35) are amended as follows:

PARAGRAPH 1. Section 30.722-2 (b), as amended by Treasury Decision 5415, approved November 3, 1944 (26 CFR 30.722-2 (b)), is further amended by striking out the last sentence of subparagraph (1) and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "In a proper case, however, growth may be recognized in arriving at the fair and just amount representing normal earnings if, and to the extent that, such recognition is reasonable and consistent with the conditions and limitations of section 722."

PAR. 2. Section 35.722-2 (b), as amended by Treasury Decision 5415, approved November 3, 1944 (26 CFR 35.-722-2 (b)), is further amended by striking out the last sentence of subparagraph (1) and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "In a proper case, however, growth may be recognized in arriving at the fair and just amount representing normal earnings if, and to the extent that, such recognition is reasonable and consistent with the conditions and limitations of section 722."

MILK IN NEW YORK METROPOLITAN MARKETING AREA

NOTICE OF PUBLIC MEETING FOR CONSIDERATION OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO RULES AND REGULATIONS

Pursuant to the provisions of § 927.4 (b) of Order No. 27, as amended (7 CFR, 1945 Supp., 927.1 et seq.), and as further amended effective October 1, 1946 (11 F. R. 11115), regulating the handling of milk in the New York metropolitan milk marketing area, and of the Administrative Procedure Act (Pub. Law 404, 79th Cong.; 60 Stat. 237) notice is hereby given of a public meeting to be held on February 25, 1947 at 10:00 a. m., e. s. t., at the office of the Market Administrator, 205 East 42nd Street, New York, New York, for consideration of a proposed amendment to the rules and regulations which were issued under said order, as amended, effective on November 1, 1945 (10 F. R. 13095) and were amended effective on February 1, 1947 (12 F. R. 457).

The proposed amendment to be considered at said public meeting consists of the following proposed changes:

1. Changes in section 2 (c) and related provisions:

(a) By the Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers of New York State:

Amend section 2 (c) (1) by adding at the end thereof: "except as provided in subsection (n) (3)."

Amend section 2 (c) (2) and (3) by adding at the end of each subsection "except as provided in subsection (n) (3) and (jj) (7)."

Amend section 2 (n) (3) to read as follows:

(3) Frozen deserts or homogenized mixtures, 2.5 percent; Provided, That a deduction not to exceed 1 percent shall be permitted in the event that the total butterfat accounted for at the plant is greater than the total butterfat to be accounted for.

Amend section 2 (jj) (7) to read as follows:

(7) Frozen deserts and homogenized mixtures, 2 percent; Provided, That a deduction not to exceed 1 percent shall be permitted in the event that the total butterfat accounted for at the plant is greater than the total butterfat to be accounted for.

(b) By the Market Administrator:

Change the reference to the orders in section 2 (c) (1) from § 927.8 (e) (2) (iii) to § 927.9 (h) (2) (iii).

2. Changes in section 2 (o):

(a) By the Market Administrator:

Add a sentence as follows: "In the event that the receipts of butterfat in products deducted at this point are greater than the remaining plant loss, deduct such excess butterfat from the products in which the handler claims to have used such butterfat." Add similar provisions to pargaraphs (aa) and (dd) if such provisions appear necessary.

3. Changes in section 2 relating to the assignment of butterfat in frozen cream:

(a) By the Market Administrator:

(1) Amend section 2 (d) by inserting the term "frozen cream" between the terms "sour cream" and "plain condensed milk".

(2) Reconsider the allowable plant loss on the use of frozen cream (section 2 (v)) and the method of accounting for this allowable plant loss.

(3) Add two new paragraphs between paragraphs (x) and (y) of section 2 as follows:

First paragraph:

Deduct the remaining butterfat in the opening inventories or received in the form of frozen cream from butterfat in closing inventories of cream held in a frozen condition.

Second paragraph:

Deduct the remaining butterfat in opening inventories or received in the form of frozen cream from butterfat leaving the plant in the form of cream in a frozen condition.

4. Changes in section 2 (cc):

(a) By Crowley's Milk Co., Inc.:

Revise section 2 (cc) to read as follows:

(cc) Deduct butterfat received in the form of cream pro rata from remaining butterfat leaving the plant or in the closing inventories at the plant in the form of cream, sour cream, frozen cream, frozen desserts, homogenized mixtures, cream cheese, butter, and, to the extent that cream or frozen cream is used in the manufacture of such products, from butterfat leaving the plant or in the closing inventories at the plant in the form of milk, Class II-A cultured or flavored milk drinks, plain condensed milk, evaporated milk, sweetened condensed milk, milk powder, ice cream powder, malted milk powder, candy products, or Class III cheese.

5. Changes in section 2 (pp) and related subjects:

(a) By Milk Dealers' Association of Metropolitan New York, Inc.:

Amend section 2 (pp) by adding the words "or Class II–B" after words "or Class II–A" whenever they occur in this paragraph.

(b) By Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers of New York State:

Amend section 2 (pp) to include "Class II–B".

(c) By the Market Administrator:

(1) Classification of butterfat deducted pursuant to (cc) may be interchanged with the classification of butterfat deducted pursuant to (nn) from the same products covered by (cc) or with the classification of butterfat in the receipts from dairy farmers classified on the basis of the products covered by (cc). Classification of butterfat deducted pursuant to (q) may be interchanged with the butterfat deducted pursuant to (nn) from the same products covered by (q) or with the classification of butterfat in receipts from dairy farmers classified on the basis of the products covered by (q): Provided, That in both instances the quantity of butterfat so interchanged shall not exceed any quantity necessary in order to avoid payments pursuant to § 927.9 (h) of the orders. Such interchange shall be between one or more classes on which payments pursuant to § 927.9 (h) of the orders might be made and the class which contains the largest quantity of butterfat. In the event that the latter class does not contain sufficient quantities of butterfat for the purpose of interchanging, other classes in the order of the amounts of butterfat shall be used.

(2) Insert in section 3 (b) the following subparagraph between subparagraphs (2) and (3):

Classes of butterfat remaining after the assignments pursuant to (2) of this paragraph may be interchanged with classes of butterfat remaining after the assignments pursuant to (d) (3) of this section which are based on the products covered by section 2 (q).

(3) Insert in section 3 (c) the following subparagraph between subparagraphs (2) and (3):

Classes of butterfat remaining after the assignments pursuant to (2) of this paragraph may be interchanged with classes of butterfat remaining after the assignments pursuant to (d) (3) of this section which are based on the products covered by section 2 (cc).

(4) Insert in section 3 (d) the following subparagraph between subparagraphs (3) and (4):

Classes of butterfat remaining after the assignments pursuant to (3) of this paragraph may be interchanged with classes of butterfat remaining after the assignments pursuant to (b) (2) and (c) (2) of this section in accordance with the provisions of (b) (3) and (c) (3) of this section.

6. Changes in section 4:

(a) By Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers of New York State:

Clarify section 4 so that inventories of frozen deserts and homogenized mixtures which have been classified below Class II–B shall not be reclassified in a higher class unless and until actually used in such higher class, notwithstanding that such inventories may have been held longer than the period prescribed in § 927.4 (a) (2) of Order No. 27.

(b) By the Market Administrator:

Change section 4 to deduct butterfat in inventories held more than a month from butterfat leaving the plant before deducting from butterfat in closing inventories at the plant.

7. Changes in section 5 (a):

(a) By United Milk Products Co.:

Clearly recognize butterfat tests specifically reported by the first handler on the sales of fluid whole milk to the second handler instead of designating the first handler's monthly average butterfat test uniformly on all of the first handler's shipments of fluid whole milk.

(b) By Milk Dealers' Association of Metropolitan New York, Inc.:

Amend section 5 (a) by adding the following: "Specific butterfat tests will be deemed to be absent unless the handler's records show that the following number of tests have been made by a duly licensed tester:

Product and Number of Tests Required

Butter (salted or unsalted): 1 out of every 3 batches.

Cream (regardless of where sold): 1 test each day for each run of cream of different butterfat content.

Homogenized mixtures (including chocolate): 1 test each week if formula remains unchanged.

Condensed milk (plain and sweetened): 1 test each day of operation.

8. Changes in section 5 (c) and related subjects:

(a) By Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers of New York State:

Amend section 5 (c) to insert in subsection (1) after the words "homogenized mixtures" the words "or other mixtures containing butterfat"; and to make corresponding insertions in subsection (2).

(b) By Milk Dealers' Association of Metropolitan New York, Inc.:

Amend section 5 (c) (3) by adding the words "or other milk product" after the words "milk or cream."

(c) By the Market Administrator:

In the event that the proposal of the Milk Dealers' Association of Metropolitan New York, Inc. in regard to amending section 5 (c) (3) is adopted, a provision should be made in section 2 for the assignment of milk received or in the opening inventories in the form of "other milk product" to butterfat leaving the plant or in the closing inventories at the plant or in the form of "cultured or flavored milk drinks" containing less than 3 percent butterfat.

(d) By Milk Dealers' Association of Metropolitan New York, Inc.:

Establish in section 5 of the rules and regulations a method of determining butterfat in products embraced in the definition "other concentrated milk products."

Consideration should also be given to establishing, probably in section 2 in (jj) any operating loss for the manufacture of liquid hemo.

9. Addition to the rules and regulations relating to "storage cream payments":

(a) By Milk Dealers' Association of Metropolitan New York, Inc.:

Add a new section clarifying and specifying the method of handling storage cream payments.

(b) By the Market Administrator:

Pro rate butterfat received in the form of frozen cream on which storage cream payments might be applicable to all assignments of butterfat received at the plant or in the opening inventories at the plant in the form of frozen cream.

Interested persons will be afforded an opportunity to participate in the meeting through submission of written data, views, or arguments, and to present the same orally.

Copies of the said rules and regulations which became effective on November 1, 1945, of the said amendment which became effective on February 1, 1947, and of the proposed amendment thereto, may be procured from the Market Administrator, 205 East 42d Street, New York, New York, or may be there inspected.

Issued this 7th day of February 1947.

[SEAL] C. J. BLANFORD,
Market Administrator, New York Metropolitan Milk Marketing Area.

QUAD CITIES MILK MARKETING AREA

NOTICE OF HEARING ON PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE TENTATIVELY APPROVED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND MARKETING ORDER

Pursuant to the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and in accordance with the applicable rules of practice and procedure (7 CFR, Cum. Supp., 900.1 et seq.; 10 F. R. 11791; 11 F. R. 7737), as amended, notice is hereby given of a hearing to be held at the Council Chambers, City Hall, Rock Island, Illinois, beginning at 10 a. m., c. s. t., February 27, 1947, for the purpose of receiving evidence with respect to proposed amendments to the tentatively approved marketing agreement, as amended, and the marketing order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Quad Cities milk marketing area (9 F. R. 3278). Such proposed amendments have not received the approval of the Secretary of Agriculture.

The amendments, which have been proposed by the Dairy Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, and with respect to which evidence will be received at the said hearing, are as follows:

1. Delete the provisions of § 944.1 (f) and substitute in lieu thereof the following:

(f) "Handler" means any person, except as provided otherwise herein or in § 944.8 (b), who, on his own behalf or on behalf of others, purchases or receives milk from producers, associations of producers, or other handlers, all or a portion of which milk is disposed of as Class I milk in the marketing area. This definition shall include a cooperative association with respect to the milk of any producer which it causes to be delivered to a plant from which milk is disposed of as Class I milk in the marketing area, or which it causes to be diverted from a plant from which milk is disposed of as Class I milk in the marketing area to a plant from which no milk is disposed of as Class I milk in the marketing area. However, this definition shall not apply to any person determined by the Secretary to be a handler under another Federal milk marketing order issued pursuant to the act with respect to milk disposed of by such person in this marketing area as Class I milk and which was not purchased or received from producers, associations of producers, or handlers under this order.

2. Add, at the end of § 944.6, a new paragraph reading as follows:

(e) Sales in marketing area by handler under another Federal milk marketing order. If any person who is not a handler under this order, but who is determined by the Secretary to be a handler under another Federal milk marketing order issued by the Secretary pursuant to the act, disposes of milk or cream in this marketing area as Class I milk or Class II milk and such milk or cream was not purchased or received from producers, associations of producers, or handlers subject to this order, he shall pay to the market administrator for this marketing area an amount equal to the difference, if any, between the price provided therefor pursuant to § 944.4 (a) (1) or (2) of this order and the price which such person is required to pay by the applicable terms of the other Federal milk marketing order to which he is subject.

3. Make such other changes as may be required to make the entire tentatively approved marketing agreement, as amended, and the marketing order, as amended, conform with any amendments thereto which may result from this hearing.

Copies of this notice of hearing and of the tentatively approved marketing agreement, as amended, and of the marketing order, as amended, now in effect, may be procured from the Market Administrator, 335 Post Office Building, Rock Island, Illinois, or from the Hearing Clerk, Room 0306 South Building, Washington 25, D. C., or may be there inspected.

Dated: February 19, 1947.

CLINTON, IOWA, MILK MARKETING AREA

NOTICE OF HEARING ON PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE TENTATIVELY APPROVED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND MARKETING ORDER

Pursuant to the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and in accordance with the applicable rules of practice and procedure, (7 CFR, Cum. Supp., 900.1 et seq.; 10 F. R. 11791; 11 F. R. 7737), as amended, notice is hereby given of a public hearing to be held at the Council Chambers, City Hall, Clinton, Iowa, beginning at 10:00 a. m., c. s. t., February 28, 1947, with respect to proposed amendments to the tentatively approved marketing agreement, as amended, and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Clinton, Iowa, marketing area (7 CFR, 1944 Supp., 970.1 et seq.; 11 F. R. 2915). Such proposed amendments have not received the approval of the Secretary of Agriculture.

The amendments with respect to which evidence will be received at the said hearing are as follows:

Amendment proposed by the Clinton Cooperative Milk Producers Association, Inc., Clinton, Iowa:

1. Delete § 970.4 (a) (1) and substitute therefor the following:

(1) For Class I milk—the price shall be the price for Class II milk for such delivery period, plus $1.00 per hundredweight.

2. Amend § 970.4 by adding as follows:

(e) Out of area sales. With respect to milk disposed of in a market regulated by another Federal order, the price shall be the price provided pursuant to paragraph (a) (1) of this section or the price determined by the market administrator to be paid for milk of equivalent use in the area where sold, whichever is higher.

Amendments proposed by the Dairy Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture:

3. Amend § 970.1 (f) by adding, at the end thereof, a new sentence reading as follows: "However, this definition shall not include any person determined by the Secretary to be a handler under another Federal milk marketing order issued pursuant to the act with respect to milk or cream disposed of by such person in this marketing area as Class I milk and which was not purchased or received from producers, associations of producers, or handlers under this order."

4. Add, at the end of § 970.6, a new paragraph reading as follows:

(b) Sales in marketing area by handler under another Federal milk marketing order. If any person who is not a handler under this order, but who is determined by the Secretary to be a handler under another Federal milk marketing order issued by the Secretary pursuant to the act, disposes of milk or cream in this marketing area as Class I milk and such milk or cream was not purchased or received by him from producers, associations of producers, or handlers subject to this order, he shall pay to the market administrator for this marketing area an amount equal to the difference, if any, between the price provided therefor pursuant to § 970.4 (a) (1) of this order and the price which such person is required to pay by the applicable terms of the other Federal milk marketing order to which he is subject.

5. Make such other changes as may be required to make the entire tentatively approved marketing agreement, as amended, and the marketing order, as amended, conform with any amendments thereto which may result from this hearing.

Copies of this notice of hearing and of the tentatively approved marketing agreement, as amended, and of the marketing order, as amended, now in effect, may be procured from the Market Administrator, 335 Post Office Building, Rock Island, Illinois, or from the Hearing Clerk, Office of the Solicitor, United States Department of Agriculture, Room 0306 South Building, Washington 25, D. C., or may be there inspected.

Dated: February 19, 1947.

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to the authority contained in sections 308 and 501 of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938 as amended (52 Stat. 973, 986, 1005, 54 Stat. 1233, 1235, 1236, 49 U. S. C. 401, 458, 521) the Administrator of Civil Aeronautics is considering the revision, as hereinafter proposed, of Part 501 of the regulations of the Administrator.

This notice is published pursuant to section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (Pub. Law 404, 79th Cong.). All persons who desire to submit written data, views, or arguments for consideration in connection with the proposed revision, shall forward the same to the Director, Aircraft and Components Service, Civil Aeronautics Administration, Washington 25, D. C., not later than the 15th day after the publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The proposed revised Part 501 is as follows:

PART 501—AIRCRAFT REGISTRATION CERTIFICATES

Sec.
501.1 Scope.
501.2 Application.
501.3 Issuance of registration certificate.
501.3a New or previously unregistered aircraft.
501.3b Previously registered aircraft.

Sec.
501.4 Effective date.
501.5 Transferability.
501.6 Duration.
501.7 Display.
501.8 Invalidation.
501.9 Surrender.
501.10 Notice of change of address.

AUTHORITY: §§ 501.1 to 501.10, inclusive, issued under 52 Stat. 973, 986, 1005, 54 Stat. 1233, 1235, 1236, 49 U. S. C. 401, 458, 521.

§ 501.1 Scope. Except as provided in Part 502 of the regulations of the Administrator of Civil Aeronautics with respect to Dealers' Aircraft Registration Certificates, the requirements for aircraft registration certificates shall be as prescribed in this part.

§ 501.2 Application. Application for the registration of an aircraft shall be made upon the applicable form prescribed (and furnished) by the Administrator.

§ 501.3 Issuance of registration certificate.

§ 501.3a New or previously unregistered aircraft. A registration certificate will be issued by the Administrator for aircraft not previously registered under the provisions of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended: Provided, That the applicant: (a) Mails or delivers a duly executed application for registration to the Administrator [1] accompanied by the required registration fee;[2] (b) certifies that applicant is a citizen of the United States;[3] and (c) submits with the application proof satisfactory to the Administrator that the applicant is the owner of such aircraft.

[1] Effective November 15, 1946, the Administrator issued a new Form ACA 500 with complete instruction for the execution of each part on the back of the form. Each transfer of aircraft ownership effected subsequent to November 15, 1946, and registration of the aircraft in the new owner's name will be accomplished by using the new Form ACA 500.

[2] Registration fee. Section 651.31 (c) (1) of the regulations of the Administrator of Civil Aeronautics reads as follows:

(1) Effective November 15, 1946, aircraft registration other than Dealers' Aircraft Registration will be accomplished by the use of Form ACA 500 (revised). This form contains three parts: Part A, Registration Certificate; Part B, Application for Registration; and Part C, Bill of Sale.

(i) Application and fee. The applicant for such registration certificate will execute the original and duplicate of Part A and Part B, retain the original of Part B in the aircraft as a temporary registration for 60 days, and mail all duplicates of Parts A, B, and C together with the original of Part A and a registration fee of $5.00 to the Director, Aircraft and Components Service, Attention: Certification and Recordation Section, Civil Aeronautics Administration, Washington 25, D. C.

[3] As defined by section 1 (13) of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended, "Citizen of the United States" means (a) an individual who is a citizen of the United States or of one of its possessions, or (b) a partnership of which each member is such an individual, or (c) a corporation or association created or organized under the laws of the United States or of any State, Territory or Possession of the United States, of which the president and two-thirds or more of the board of directors and other managing officers thereof are such individuals and in which at least 75 per centum of the voting interest is owned or controlled by persons who are citizens of the United States or of one of its possessions.

§ 501.3b Previously registered aircraft. A registration certificate will be issued by the Administrator for aircraft previously registered under the provisions of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended, if the applicant: (a) Mails or delivers a duly executed application for registration to the Administrator [1] accompanied by the required registration fee [2]; (b) certifies that applicant is a citizen of the United States [3]; and (c) submits with the application for registration a conveyance which meets the requirements prescribed in Part 503 of the regulations of the Administrator of Civil Aeronautics, evidencing applicant's ownership of the aircraft; and (d) the conveyance submitted with the above application establishes in the recordation system of the Administrator, title to the aircraft in the applicant: Provided, That this requirement shall not be applicable to contracts of conditional sale in which the seller is the recorded owner of the aircraft.

§ 501.4 Effective date. An aircraft will be deemed to be registered upon the date the documents required by §§ 501.3a and 501.3b, whichever is applicable, are delivered to an authorized inspector of the Administrator or mailed to the Administrator.

§ 501.5 Transferability. A registration certificate is not transferable.[1]

§ 501.6 Duration. Upon application for registration made upon the prescribed form, an aircraft may be operated for a period of sixty (60) days pending registration by the Administrator.[2] The registration and the certificate issued by the Administraor pursuant thereto shall remain in effect indefinitely unless suspended or revoked: Provided, That such registration and certificate shall immediately expire on the date: (a) The aircraft is registered under the laws of any foreign country; or (b) the registration of the aircraft is cancelled at the written request of the owner; or (c) the aircraft is totally destroyed or scrapped; or (d) the ownership of the aircraft is transferred.

§ 501.7 Display. The registration certificate issued for any aircraft shall be carried at all times in such aircraft and shall be presented upon request of any duly authorized representative for the Administrator,[3] or any state or municipal official charged with enforcing local laws or regulations involving Federal compliance.

§ 501.8 Invalidation. Any registration of an aircraft shall be null and void if at the time of registration: (a) The aircraft was registered under the laws of any foreign country; (b) the person registered as owner was not the true and lawful owner of the aircraft; (c) the person registered as owner was not a citizen of the United States; or the interest of such person in the aircraft was created by any transaction not entered into in good faith, but for the purpose of avoiding, with or without the knowledge of the registered owner, the provision of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended, prohibiting the registration of an aircraft in the name of a person not a citizen of the United States.

§ 501.9 Surrender. Upon the suspension, revocation, expiration or invalidation of a registration certificate, the owner of the aircraft shall, upon request, surrender such certificate to any authorized representative of the Administrator.

§ 501.10 Notice of change of address. The registered owner of any aircraft shall notify the Administrator immediately of any change of address.

DEALERS' AIRCRAFT REGISTRATION CERTIFICATES

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to the authority contained in sections 308 and 501 of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended (52 Stat. 973, 986, 1005, 54 Stat. 1233, 1235, 1236, 49 U. S. C. 401, 458, 521) the Administrator of Civil Aeronautics is considering the revision, as hereinafter proposed, of Part 502 of the regulations of the Administrator of Civil Aeronautics.

This notice is published pursuant to section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (Pub. Law 404, 79th Cong.). All persons who desire to submit written data, views, or arguments for consideration in connection with the proposed revision, shall forward the same to the Director, Aircraft and Components Service, Civil Aeronautics Administration, Washington 25, D. C., not later than the 15th day after the publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Part 502, Dealers' Aircraft Registration Certificates, was adopted for the following purposes: (a) To facilitate the operation, demonstration, and merchandising of aircraft moving in the ordinary trade channels from the manufacturer, distributor, or dealer to the ultimate purchaser without imposing upon the manufacturer, distributor, or dealer the burden of obtaining an individual registration certificate for such aircraft with each transfer of title as required under the registration provisions of Part 501 of the regulations of the Administrator of Civil Aeronautics, and (b) to permit manufacturers to conduct required production flight tests. A dealers' aircraft registration certificate is valid only for aircraft owned by the person to whom such certificate was issued and is an alternate form for the registration of civil aircraft from that prescribed by Part 501. Persons engaged in the business of manufacturing, distributing or selling aircraft, upon application, may obtain one or more dealers' aircraft registration certificates issued under the provisions of this part. If such manufacturer, distributor, or dealer wishes to obtain an aircraft registration certificate other than a dealers' aircraft registration certificate, registration shall be accomplished as prescribed in Part 501. This part, as revised herein, differs from the original Part 502 in that it grants to bonafide distributors and dealers of used aircraft the same privilege to obtain and utilize dealers' aircraft registration certificates as was granted to manufacturers, distributors, and dealers of new aircraft under the original Part 502.

The proposed revised Part 502 is as follows:

PART 502—DEALERS' AIRCRAFT REGISTRATION CERTIFICATES

Sec.
502.1 General.
502.2 Application.
502.3 Requirements.
502.4 Limitations.
502.4a Operation.
502.4b Transfer of ownership.
502.5 Rules.
502.5a Display.
502.5b Duration.
502.5c Transferability.
502.6 Notice.

AUTHORITY: §§ 502.1 to 502.6, inclusive, issued under 52 Stat. 973, 986, 1005, 54 Stat. 1233, 1235, 1236, 49 U. S. C. 401, 458, 521.

§ 502.1 General. The following regulations in this part are prescribed for the registration of aircraft by persons engaged in the business of manufacturing, distributing, or selling of aircraft.

§ 502.2 Application. Application for a dealer's aircraft registration certificate shall be made upon a form prescribed by the Administrator and shall be accompanied by the required registration fee.[1]

§ 502.3 Requirements. To be eligible for a dealers' aircraft registration certificate an applicant shall be a citizen of the United States [2] with an established place of business located in the United States or any territory or possession of the United States, engaged in the following activities:

(a) The manufacture of aircraft, or

(b) The distribution or sale of new aircraft under authority of a franchise, license, letter of authority, agreement, or other arrangement from the manufacturer or his authorized agent, or

(c) The distribution or sale of used aircraft to ultimate purchasers through ordinary trade channels.

§ 502.4 Limitations.

§ 502.4a Operation. (a) A dealers' aircraft registration certificate shall be valid for the operation of an aircraft only by a person to whom such certificate was issued or by his duly authorized agent or employee.

(b) A dealers' aircraft registration certificate is valid only for an aircraft owned by a person to whom such certificate was issued and which is being operated, (1) in the ordinary trade channels between any two of the following persons: The manufacturer, the distributor, the dealer, or the purchaser from any of such persons, (2) for demonstration purposes necessary to the sale of such aircraft, or (3 to conduct required production flight tests.

§ 502.4b Transfer of ownership. Whenever the ownership of an aircraft is transferred to a person who is not the possessor of a valid dealers' aircraft registration certificate, the purchaser shall make application for registration of the aircraft in his name in accordance with the provisions of Part 501 of the regulations of the Administrator of Civil Aeronautics prior to the operation of the aircraft.[3]

§ 502.5 Rules.

§ 502.5a Display. The dealers' aircraft registration certificate shall be carried in the aircraft when operated by the person to whom the certificate was issued, or by his authorized agent or employee.

§ 502.5c Transferability. A dealer's aircraft registration certificate is not transferable.

§ 502.6 Notice. The holder of a dealers' registration certificate shall notify the Administrator immediately of any change which affects his status as a citizen of the United States as defined in section 1 (13) of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, or other change of the conduct of his business which affects his eligibility for a dealers' aircraft registration certificate.

[1] Registration fee. Section 651.31 (c) (2) (i) of the regulations of the Administrator of Civil Aeronautics reads in part as follows:

(i) Application and fee. Application is made on a form, "Application for Issuance of Dealers' Aircraft Registration Certificate(s)" (ACA-1706) • • •. An application containing current data must be submitted each time certificates are requested and may cover as many certificates as are desired at that time. This application is obtained from, and is submitted to, the Aircraft and Components Branch of the Regional Office for the area in which the applicant's business is located. A fee of $5.00 is charged for the first certificate, and $1.00 for each additional or subsequent certificate, issued to the same dealer. Certificates are valid for twelve months from date of issuance. Duplicates will not be issued.

[2] As defined by section 1 (13) of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938 as amended, "Citizen of the United States" means (a) an individual who is a citizen of the United States or of one of its possessions, or (b) a partnership of which each member is such an individual, or (c) a corporation or association created or organized under the laws of the United States of which the president and two-thirds or more of the board of directors and other managing officers thereof are such individuals and in which at least 75 per centum of the voting interest is owned or controlled by persons who are citizens of the United States or of one of its possessions.

[3] Upon the transfer of the ownership of the aircraft to a person who is not the possessor of a valid dealers' registration certificate, the parties to the sale will execute the new form ACA 500 in accordance with the instructions on the reverse side thereof. The portion marked "Part B" shall be retained in the aircraft and will entitle the purchaser to operate the aircraft for 60 days pending registration in his name by the Administrator.

RECORDATION OF AIRCRAFT OWNERSHIP

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to the authority contained in sections 308 and 503 of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended (52 Stat. 973, 986, 1006, 54 Stat. 1233, 1235, 1236, 49 U. S. C. 401, 458, 523), the Administrator of Civil Aeronautics is considering the revision, as hereinafter proposed, of Part 503 of the regulations of the Administrator.

This notice is published pursuant to section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (Pub. Law 404, 79th Cong.). All persons who desire to submit written data, views, or arguments for consideration in connection with the proposed revision, shall forward the same to the Director, Aircraft and Components Service, Civil Aeronautics Administration, Washington 25, D. C., not later than the 15th day after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The proposed revised Part 503 is as follows:

PART 503—RECORDATION OF AIRCRAFT OWNERSHIP

Sec.
503.1 Scope.
503.2 Definitions.
503.3 Eligibility of conveyances.
503.4 Limitations.

AUTHORITY: §§ 503.1 to 503.4, inclusive, issued under 52 Stat. 973, 986, 1006, 54 Stat. 1233, 1235, 1236, 49 U. S. C. 401, 458, 523.

§ 503.1 Scope. The regulations contained in this part are prescribed for recordation of conveyances affecting the title to, or interest in, any aircraft registered under the provisions of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended, and of Part 501 or Part 502 of the regulations of the Administrator of Civil Aeronautics.

§ 503.2 Definitions. As used in this part, "conveyance" means a bill of sale, contract of conditional sale, mortgage, assignment of mortgage, or other instrument affecting title to, or interest in, aircraft.

§ 503.3 Eligibility of conveyances. A conveyance shall be eligible for recordation only if:

(a) It is executed upon the form prescribed by the Administrator for such type of conveyance, or upon a form deemed by the Administrator to be its equivalent; and

(b) It is accompanied by a duly executed application for registration and the required registration fee, and complies with the other provisions of either § 501.3a or § 501.3b of this chapter, whichever is applicable, of the regulations of the Administrator: Provided, That, this paragraph shall not apply board of directors and other managing officers

aircraft registration certificates issued conveyances affecting an interest in, but not title to, the aircraft; and

(c) It affects an aircraft currently registered under the terms of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended; and

(d) It states the interest in the aircraft of the person by whom such conveyance is made or given, or in the case of a contract of conditional sale, the interest of the vendor; and, except in cases where the conveyor is the record title holder of such aircraft in the records of the Administrator, it is accompanied by a bill or bills of sale or similar instrument or instruments establishing title to such aircraft in the conveyor; and

(e) It states the interest transferred by the conveyance; and

(f) It is accompanied by the required recordation fee: [1] Provided, That this paragraph shall not apply to any conveyance accomplished by a bill of sale or similar instrument transferring title to an aircraft to the purchaser; and

(g) It is acknowledged before a Notary Public or other officer authorized by law of the United States, or a State, Territory, or possession thereof, or the District of Columbia, to take acknowledgement of deeds.

§ 503.4 Limitations. No mortgage or similar conveyance affecting an interest in, but not title to, aircraft, will be accepted by the Administrator for recording against any aircraft for which there is outstanding a Certificate of Ownership [2] unless such Certificate of Ownership is submitted to the Administrator for cancellation with such conveyance: Provided, That, in the event of the loss or destruction of such Certificate of Ownership, the owner shall submit in lieu thereof an affidavit or other proof satisfactory to the Administrator that such certificate has been lost or destroyed.

[Dissolution Order 43]

CARSCH, INC.

Whereas, by Vesting Order No. 2320, dated October 4, 1943 (8 F. R. 16338, December 4, 1943), there were vested all the issued and outstanding shares of the capital stock of Carsch, Inc., a New York corporation; and

Whereas, by said Vesting Order No. 2320, there were also vested the claims of Carl Schlemper against Carsch, Inc., and it has been determined that those claims amount in the aggregate to $31,497.42; and

Whereas, Carsch, Inc., has been substantially liquidated;

Now, under the authority of the Trading with the Enemy Act, as amended, and Executive Orders 9095, as amended, and 9788, and pursuant to law, the undersigned, after investigation:

1. Finding that the claims of all known creditors have been paid, except such claim, if any, as the Attorney General of the United States may have for monies advanced or services rendered to or on behalf of the corporation; and except the claims in the amount of $31,497.42, formerly owned by Carl Schlemper and vested as set forth above; and

2. Having determined that it is in the national interest of the United States that said corporation be dissolved, and that its assets be distributed, and a consent to dissolution having accordingly been filed with the Secretary of State of the State of New York;

Hereby orders that the officers and directors of Carsch, Inc. (to-wit, Francis J. Carmody, President and Director, N. S. Watts, Secretary and Director, and Robert Kramer, Treasurer and Director, and their successors, or any of them), continue the proceedings for the dissolution of Carsch, Inc.; and

Further orders, that the said officers and directors wind up the affairs of the corporation and distribute the assets thereof coming into their possession as follows:

(a) They shall first pay the current expenses and reasonable and necessary charges of winding up the affairs of said corporation and the dissolution thereof; and

(b) They shall then pay all known Federal, state and local taxes and fees owed by or accruing against the said corporation; and

(c) They shall then pay over, transfer, assign and deliver to the Attorney General of the United States, all of the funds and property, if any, remaining in their hands after the payments as aforesaid, the same to be applied by him, first in satisfaction of the vested claims in the amount of $31,497.42 described above, second, in satisfaction of such claims, if any, as he may have for monies advanced or services rendered to or on behalf of the corporation, and third, as a liquidating distribution of assets to the Attorney General of the United States as holder of all the issued and outstanding stock of the corporation; and

Further orders, that nothing herein set forth shall be construed as prejudicing the rights, under the Trading with the Enemy Act, as amended, of any person who may have a claim against said corporation to file such claim with the Attorney General of the United States against any funds or property received by the Attorney General of the United States hereunder; Provided, however, That nothing herein contained shall be construed as creating additional rights in such person; Provided, further, That any such claim against said corporation shall be filed with or presented to the Attorney General of the United States within the time and in the form and manner prescribed for such claims by the Trading with the Enemy Act, as amended, and applicable regulations and orders issued pursuant thereto; and

Further orders, that all actions taken and acts done by the said officers and directors of Carsch, Inc., pursuant to this order and the directions contained herein shall be deemed to have been taken and done in reliance on and pursuant to paragraph numbered (2) of subdivision (b) of section 5 of the Trading with the Enemy Act, as amended, and the acquittance and exculpation provided therein.

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION

[Docket No. G-784]

PANHANDLE EASTERN PIPE LINE CO.

NOTICE OF AMENDMENT TO APPLICATION

FEBRUARY 17, 1947.

Notice is hereby given that Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company (Applicant), a Delaware corporation having its principal offices at Kansas City, Missouri, and Chicago, Illinois, and authorized to do business in the States of Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Michigan, filed with the Federal Power Commission on January 16, 1947, an amendment to its application filed September 19, 1946, for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, to authorize the construction and operation of certain facilities hereinafter described.

Applicant in its original application sought authorization pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, to construct and operate one additional 1,600 horsepower compressor unit and appurtenant equipment at each of the following compressor stations presently existing on its gas transmission pipeline system: Greensburg, Haven and Olpe in the State of Kansas; Houstonia and Centralia in the State of Missouri; Pleasant Hill in the State of Illinois, and Montezuma in the State of Indiana; and one additional 1,000 horsepower compressor unit and appurtenant equipment at the Louisburg Compressor Station in the State of Kansas.

Applicant, by its amendment to its application of September 19, 1946, amends its original project by seeking authorization to construct and operate one 2,400 horsepower compressor unit and appurtenant equipment at each of two existing compressor stations, namely, Centralia Compressor Station and Pleasant Hill Compressor Station, in lieu of the 1,600 horsepower compressor unit and appurtenant equipment sought to be constructed and operated at each of said stations in the original application. No other changes from the original application are proposed in the amended application.

Applicant states that since the filing of its original application it learned that certain compressor units having a rated capacity of 2,400 horsepower were being produced and early delivery thereof could be obtained; that in light of the availability of such new type units, it reexamined its stand-by requirements at each of the stations located on its pipeline system and concluded that the installation of a 2,400 horsepower unit at Centralia Compressor Station and at Pleasant Hill Compressor Station would best serve its stand-by needs, make for economy of operation and provide more adequate relief than the 1,600 horsepower units included in the original application.

Applicant estimates that the over-all capital cost of the facilities, as amended, will be approximately $2,785,000.[1]

Any interested State commission is requested to notify the Federal Power Commission whether the application should be considered under the cooperative provisions of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, and, if so, to advise the Federal Power Commission as to the nature of its interest in the matter and whether it desires a conference, the creation of a board, or a joint or concurrent hearing, together with reasons for such request.

The application, as amended, of Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company is on file with the Commission and is open to public inspection. Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to the application, as amended, shall file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., not later than fifteen days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, a petition to intervene or protest. Such petition or protest shall conform to the requirements of the rules of practice and procedure (effective September 11, 1946), and shall set out clearly and concisely the facts from which the nature of the petitioner or protestant's alleged right or interest can be determined. Petitions for intervention shall state fully and completely the grounds of the proposed intervention and the contentions of the petitioner in the proceeding, so as to advise the parties and the Commission as to the issues of fact or law to be raised or controverted, by admitting, denying, or explaining specifically and in detail, each material allegation of fact or law asserted with respect to the application.

[1] The over-all capital cost of the facilities as proposed in the original application was estimated to be $2,685,000.

Secretary.

[Docket No. G-855]

MEMPHIS NATURAL GAS CO. AND KENTUCKY NATURAL GAS CORP.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

FEBRUARY 17, 1947.

Notice is hereby given that on January 30, 1947, a joint application was filed with the Federal Power Commission by Memphis Natural Gas Company ("Memphis"), a Delaware corporation with its principal place of business at Memphis, Tennessee, and Kentucky Natural Gas Corporation ("Kentucky"), a Delaware corporation with its principal place of business at Owensboro, Kentucky, for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, authorizing Memphis to purchase the gas system and related physical assets of Kentucky and thereafter to operate the same, and authorizing Kentucky to sell such gas system and related physical assets.

The natural-gas pipeline system of Memphis extends from the Lisbon and Monroe Fields in Louisiana across a portion of Arkansas and Mississippi to Memphis, Tennessee, and other points in western Tennessee. The natural-gas pipeline system of Kentucky lies in Kentucky, Indiana and Illinois. Its main transmission line commences approximately 25 miles north of Terre Haute, Indiana, at a point of connection with the pipeline system of Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company, and extends in a southerly direction across the States of Indiana and Kentucky and into Tennessee, to a point near Mitchellville, where connection is made with the pipeline system of Tennessee Gas and Transmission Company. Several branch pipelines extend from Kentucky's main pipeline above-described, which receive natural gas into the system, deliver natural gas to other utilities and serve various communities at wholesale. One of such branch lines extends into the State of Illinois, and two others across the Indiana-Kentucky boundary at two points on the Ohio River.

Memphis proposes to acquire by purchase from Kentucky, and Kentucky proposes to sell to Memphis, the gas plant and related physical assets owned by Kentucky, at the net book value thereof, which the application states coincides with original cost depreciated and was at December 31, 1946, $4,957,488.39. It is proposed that the consideration for said sale is to be the following: 272,345 shares of Memphis $5.00 par value common capital stock at book value of $7.18754 per share at December 31, 1946, $1,957,488.39; and $3,000,000 principal amount of 3¼ per cent Memphis debenture notes, at par, making a total of $4,957,488.39.

The application recites that the proposed purchase by Memphis will have no effect upon the service being rendered by either Memphis or Kentucky and that it is the intention of Memphis to continue the services presently being rendered by both applicants; that there will be no change in the method of operating the facilities proposed to be acquired; that Memphis will adopt and continue to charge the present rates of Kentucky. The application further recites that it is believed that each system operating alone is too small to get the benefit of diversity in sales, volume of sales, spreading of overhead, reduction in cost of purchases and financing; that integration, corporately, is a first and essential step to bring to the public the full benefits of the combined operations; and that the consolidation will make possible a plan to later connect the two systems.

Any interested State commission is requested to notify the Federal Power Commission whether the application shall be considered under the cooperative provisions of Rule 37 of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure and, if so, to advise the Federal Power Commission as to the nature of its interest in the matter and further to specify whether it desires a conference, the creation of a board, or a joint or concurrent hearing as defined in said rule and the reasons for such request.

The application of Memphis and Kentucky is on file with the Commission and is open to public inspection. Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to the application shall file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., not later than fifteen days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, a petition to intervene or protest. Such petition or protest shall conform to the requirements of the Rule of practice and procedure (effective September 11, 1946), and shall set out clearly and concisely the facts from which the nature of the petitioner or protestant's alleged right or interest can be determined. Petitions for intervention shall state fully and completely the grounds of the proposed intervention and the contentions of the petitioner in the proceeding, so as to advise the parties and the Commission as to the issues of fact or law to be raised or controverted, by admitting, denying, or explaining specifically and in detail, each material allegation of fact or law asserted with respect to the application.

Civilian Production Administration

[C-478]

OSCAR W. DUPUIS

CONSENT ORDER

Oscar W. Dupuis, of 62 Coolidge Street, Sherborn, Massachusetts, sometime in May or June 1946, began construction of a summer cottage located on Brunswick Street, Humarock Beach, Scituate, Massachusetts, at a cost of approximately $3,500. Oscar W. Dupuis is charged by the Civilian Production Administration with having commenced construction of this summer cottage without authorization from the Federal Housing Administration, which construction was not permitted under any exemption provided for in the VHP Order 1; and Oscar W. Dupuis is further charged by the Civilian Production Administration with having continued construction after receiving a warning telegram dated August 28, 1946, and a stop-telegram dated November 4, 1946. This construction constituted a violation of VHP-1 and a violation of an order of the Civilian Production Administration.

Oscar W. Dupuis admits the violation as charged and consents to the issuance of this order.

Wherefore, upon the agreement and consent of Oscar W. Dupuis, The Regional Compliance Director, and the Regional Attorney, and upon the approval of the Compliance Commissioner, It is hereby ordered, That:

(a) The temporary suspension order issued by the Civilian Production Administration by telegram dated November 4, 1946, addressed to Oscar W. Dupuis, 62 Coolidge Street, Sherborn, Massachusetts, is hereby revoked.

(b) Neither Oscar W. Dupuis, his successors or assigns, nor any other person shall do any further construction on the summer cottage located at Brunswick Street, Humarock Beach, Scituate, Massachusetts, unless hereafter specifically authorized in writing by the Federal Housing Administration and the Civilian Production Administration.

(c) Oscar W. Dupuis shall refer to this order in any application or appeal which he may file with the Federal Housing Administration for authorization to carry on construction.

(d) Nothing contained in this order shall be deemed to relieve Oscar W. Dupuis, his successors or assigns, from any restriction, prohibition, or provision contained in any other order or regulation of the Civilian Production Administration, except insofar as the same may be inconsistent with the provisions hereof.

(e) This order shall take effect on the date of issuance.

Issued this 21st day of February 1947.

CONTINENTAL GAS & ELECTRIC CORP. AND KANSAS CITY POWER & LIGHT CO.

NOTICE REGARDING FILING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 13th day of February 1947.

Notice is hereby given that a joint application-declaration has been filed with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 by Continental Gas & Electric Corporation ("Continental"), a registered holding company, and its subsidiary, Kansas City Power & Light Company ("Kansas City"). Applicants-declarants designate sections 6, 7, 9, 10 and 12 (f) of the Act and Rule U-43 promulgated thereunder as applicable to the proposed transactions.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than February 24, 1947, at 5:30 p. m., e. s. t., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request and the issues, if any, of fact or law raised by said application-declaration proposed to be controverted, or may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. At any time thereafter such application-declaration, as filed or as amended, may be granted and become effective as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated pursuant to said act. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania.

All interested persons are referred to said application-declaration which is on file in the office of this Commission, for a statement of the transactions therein proposed, which are summarized below:

Continental presently owns all the outstanding common stock of Kansas City consisting of 525,000 shares without par value, having a stated value of $24,380,000. Kansas City proposes to issue and sell and Continental proposes to purchase an additional 172,000 shares of common stock of Kansas City, presently authorized and unissued, for a cash consideration of $3,500,000. Continental proposes to use treasury funds in making such purchase. The proceeds from the sale of the new common stock will be added to the working capital of Kansas City and will be used for construction of needed facilities. The proposed purchase and sale of common stock is in fulfillment of a commitment heretofore made by Continental in connection with the issuance and sale by Kansas City in December 1946 of bonds, notes, and preferred stock (Holding Company Act Release No. 7017).

Applicants-declarants request that the Commission's order be issued as soon as possible and become effective upon the issuance thereof in order to permit consummation of the transactions on or before March 1, 1947.

By the Commission.

IOWA-ILLINOIS GAS AND ELECTRIC CO. AND UNITED LIGHT AND RAILWAYS CO.

NOTICE OF FILING AND ORDER FOR HEARING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa. on the 13th day of February 1947.

Notice is hereby given that a joint application and declaration has been filed with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 by Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Company ("Iowa-Illinois") and its parent, The United Light and Railways Company ("Railways"), a registered holding company. The applicant and declarants have designated sections 6 (b), 9, 10, 12 (c) and 12 (f) of the act and Rules U-42 and U-50 thereunder as applicable to the proposed transactions.

All interested parties are referred to said application and declaration, which is on file in the office of the Commission, for a statement of the transactions therein proposed which may be summarized as follows:

Iowa-Illinois proposes to issue and sell, pursuant to the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50, $22,000,000 principal amount of First Mortgage Bonds, ____%, Series due 1977, to be issued under an Indenture of Mortgage and Deed of Trust and a Supplemental Indenture to be dated as of March 1, 1947. The interest rate on said bonds (to be a multiple of ⅛%) and the price to be received by Iowa-Illinois (to be not less than 100% but not in excess of 102¾% of the principal amount) are to be determined by the competitive bidding. In addition, Iowa-Illinois proposes to issue and sell and Railways proposes to purchase 35,000 authorized but unissued shares of common stock of Iowa-Illinois having a par value of $100 per share for a cash consideration of $3,500,000. In consummating the purchase of the common stock of Iowa-Illinois, Railways proposes to utilize all of the net proceeds ($274,096) it received from the sale in 1946 of 2,436 shares of the 5% Cumulative Convertible Preferred Stock of International Paper Company.

The application states that a portion of the proceeds of the sale of the new bonds will be used to pay the principal amount of Iowa-Illinois' outstanding mortgage debt (in connection with the redemption thereof) consisting of $10,578,000 principal amount of 6% bonds and $5,422,000 principal amount of 5½% bonds. The redemption premiums aggregating $425,783 on the 6% and 5½% bonds which are callable at 103% and 102%, respectively, and accrued interest to the date of redemption on both series of bonds, estimated at $62,193, will be paid out of the general funds of the company. Of the balance of the proceeds of the sale of the new bonds, an amount estimated at $168,000 will be used to pay the expenses of the issuance and sale of the new bonds and the redemption of the bonds referred to hereinabove; $5,000,000 will be deposited with trustee under the indenture securing the new bonds subject to withdrawal against 60% of the cost or fair value to the company (whichever is less) of net property additions subsequent to February 28, 1947; and the remainder will be added to Iowa-Illinois' general funds for the construction and acquisition of additional property.

The entire proceeds from the sale of the common stock of Iowa-Illinois will be added to the general funds of Iowa-Illinois to be used for the construction and acquisition of additional property.

It is requested that the Commission issue an order with respect to the use by Railways of the net proceeds of the sale in 1946 of the stock of International Paper Company authorizing and directing such expenditure and conforming to the requirements of, and containing the recitals specified in, sections 371 (b), 371 (f) and 373 (a) and 1808 (f) of the Internal Revenue Code.

It appearing to the Commission that it is appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that a hearing be held with respect to the matters set forth in said application and declaration, and that said application and declaration shall not be granted or permitted to become effective except pursuant to further order of this Commission;

It is ordered, That a hearing on said application and declaration, pursuant to the applicable provisions of the act and the rules and regulations thereunder, be held on February 26, 1947 at 10:00 a. m., e. s. t., at the offices of this Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania. On such date the hearing room clerk in Room 318 will advise as to the room in which such hearing shall be held.

Any persons desiring to be heard or otherwise wishing to participate in this proceeding shall file with the Secretary of this Commission, on or before February 24, 1947, a written request relative thereto as provided by Rule XVII of the Commission's rules of practice.

It is further ordered, That Allen MacCullen, or any other officer or officers of this Commission designated by it for that purpose, shall preside at such hearing. The officer so designated to preside at such hearing is hereby authorized to exercise all powers granted to the Commission under section 18 (c) of the act and to a hearing officer under the Commission's rules of practice.

The Public Utilities Division of the Commission having advised the Commission that it has made a preliminary examination of the application and declaration and that, upon the basis thereof, the following matters and questions are presented for consideration without prejudice to its specifying additional matters or questions upon further examination:

1. Whether the proposed issue and sale of the new bonds and of the common stock are exempt from the provisions of sections 6 (a) and 7 of the act pursuant to section 6 (b) thereof, and, if not, whether said issue and sale meet with the requirements of section 7 of the act.

2. Whether the proposed issue and sale of bonds and of common stock in the amounts of $22,000,000 and $3,500,000, respectively, and the proposed increase in the amount of bonds and common stock to be outstanding are necessary or appropriate to the economical and efficient operation of the business of Iowa-Illinois.

3. Whether the terms and conditions of the issue and sale of bonds and common stock are detrimental to the public interest or to the interests of investors or consumers.

4. Whether the indenture securing the proposed bonds contains adequate protective provisions for the benefit of security holders.

5. Whether the fees, commissions and other remuneration to be paid in connection with the proposed transactions are for necessary services and are reasonable in amount.

6. Whether the proposed acquisition by Railways of the common stock of Iowa-Illinois meets the applicable requirements of section 10.

7. Whether the accounting entries to be recorded in connection with the proposed transactions are proper and conform with sound accounting principles and meet the standards of the act.

8. What terms or conditions, if any, with respect to the proposed transactions should be prescribed in the public interest or for the protection of investors and consumers.

It is further ordered, That at said hearing evidence shall be adduced with respect to the foregoing matters and questions.

It is further ordered, That the Secretary of the Commission shall serve a copy of this order by registered mail on the applicants and declarants herein, the Illinois Commerce Commission and the Federal Power Commission; and that notice of said hearing shall be given to all other persons by general release of this Commission which shall be distributed to the press and mailed to the mailing list for releases issued under the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 and by publication of this order in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By the Commission.

PUBLIC SERVICE CO. OF NEW MEXICO

ORDER GRANTING APPLICATION

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 14th day of February A. D. 1947.

Public Service Company of New Mexico, a public utility subsidiary of Federal Light & Traction Company, a registered holding company, having filed an application pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 regarding the following proposed transaction:

Public Service Company of New Mexico proposes to borrow $1,000,000 from Irving Trust Company and to issue in evidence thereof its promissory note with a maturity of nine months and bearing interest at the rate of 2% per annum. The proceeds from such note are to be used for the purpose of temporarily financing additional construction in the territory served by the company.

The application states that such note will constitute approximately 11% of the principal amount and par value of other outstanding securities of Public Service Company of New Mexico and the applicant requests authorization, pursuant to the first sentence of section 6 (b) of the act, to issue such note. The company represents that no State commission has jurisdiction over the proposed transaction.

Said application having been filed on December 27, 1946 and notice of said filing having been given in the form and manner prescribed by Rule U-23 promulgated pursuant to said act, and the Commission not having received a request for hearing with respect to said application within the period specified in said notice or otherwise and not having ordered a hearing thereon; and

The Commission deeming it appropriate in the public interest and for the protection of investors or consumers to grant such application;

It is ordered, Pursuant to said Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of said act and subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24, that said application, as amended, be, and hereby is, granted and shall become effective forthwith.

By the Commission.

EXECUTIVE ORDER 9830

AMENDING THE CIVIL SERVICE RULES AND PROVIDING FOR FEDERAL PERSONNEL ADMINISTRATION

By virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution, by section 1753 of the Revised Statutes (5 U. S. C. 631), by the Civil Service Act of January 16, 1883 (22 Stat. 403), and as President of the United States, it is hereby ordered as follows, effective May 1, 1947:

PART I—ORGANIZATION FOR PERSONNEL ADMINISTRATION

Organization for personnel administration in the executive branch of the Federal Government is hereby prescribed as follows:

§ 01.1 Responsibility for personnel management. Personnel management is a primary responsibility of all who plan, direct, or supervise the work of Federal employees. Personnel management methods should be consistent for the Government as a single employer and yet be sufficiently flexible to meet the diversified conditions in the Federal service.

§ 01.2 Civil Service Commission responsibilities under this order. (a) The Commission shall be responsible to the President for the proper application of the Civil Service Act and Rules, the Veterans' Preference Act, and all other applicable statutes and Executive orders imposing responsibilities on the Commission.

(b) The Commission shall exercise and provide leadership in personnel matters throughout the Federal service, and in the discharge of this responsibility shall, whenever practicable, consult Federal agencies.

(c) The Commission shall develop and promulgate standards, applicable to the competitive service and designed to protect and promote its efficiency, for the reinstatement or reemployment of former Federal employees, and for the promotion, demotion, reassignment, and transfer of present employees. The Commission shall also define the restoration rights of persons who left the Federal service to enter the armed forces of the United States in such a manner as to give full effect to section 8 of the Selective Training and Service Act.

(d) The Commission shall prescribe procedures to be followed by agencies in connection with removals, demotions, and suspensions in the competitive service which will insure equitable and uniform treatment to employees against whom adverse action is proposed.

(e) The Commission shall, when consistent with law and with the economical and efficient administration of the Government, delegate to the agencies its authority to act in personnel matters in accordance with standards issued by the Commission.

(f) The Commission shall maintain an adequate system of inspection to determine that equitable and sound application of statutes, Executive orders, regulations and standards relating to personnel management is being carried out by the agencies. Whenever the inspection indicates failure on the part of an agency to adhere to established policies, regulations and standards, the Commission shall take such action as may be appropriate to bring about adherence thereto. In this connection, the Commission may suspend or revoke any delegation of its authority.

(g) The Commission shall in the exercise of its personnel functions give all practicable assistance to international organizations in which the United States participates, to the Puerto Rico civil service board, and to such Federal, Territorial, State, or local agencies as shall request its cooperation and offer like cooperation, including, when appropriate, the sharing of any necessary expenses. Under such regulations as may be jointly agreed upon, the Commission shall conduct or join with such agencies in conducting examinations or other personnel functions. In its discretion, the Commission may certify eligibles from appropriate registers maintained by the Puerto Rico civil service board, Federal or Territorial boards, or civil service boards of State and local agencies, if such boards agree, and the Commission finds that the requirements of law concerning appointments to the competitive service have been met. If such boards so desire, they may, upon agreement with the Commission, certify eligibles from appropriate registers maintained by the Commission.

§ 01.3 Agency responsibilities for personnel management. (a) The head of each agency, in accordance with applicable statutes, Executive orders, and rules, shall be responsible for personnel management in his agency. To assist and advise him in carrying out this responsibility he shall maintain or establish such office or division of personnel as may be required. He shall designate a director of personnel or other similarly responsible official to be in charge of such office or division. Such director or other official shall represent the head of the agency in personnel matters, subject to his instructions.

(b) The head of each agency shall provide for the cooperation of his agency with the Civil Service Commission in the conduct of personnel matters.

(c) Authority for the conduct of personnel matters within each agency should be delegated to the extent compatible with provisions of law and with economical and efficient administration to those officials responsible for planning, directing, and supervising the work of others. The exercise of such delegated authority shall be subject to policies, rules, regulations and standards established by the head of the agency, and shall be subject to appropriate review and inspection.

(d) The head of each agency shall remove, demote, or reassign to another position any employee in the competitive service whose conduct or capacity is such that his removal, demotion, or reassignment will promote the efficiency of the service.

§ 01.4 Committees of expert examiners and boards of examiners. (a) In order to promote the effective recruitment and placement of persons for the Federal service, the departmental and field service resources of the Federal agencies may be utilized to the extent permitted by law. After consulting the agency or agencies concerned, the Commission may establish in the departmental service committees of examiners, expert in their respective fields, for scientific, professional, or technical positions, and in the field service, boards of examiners for any position. If such a position is peculiar to an agency, the committee or board shall be composed of not less than three qualified officers or employees of the agency concerned. If such a position exists in more than one agency, the committee or board shall be composed of not less than three qualified officers or employees of the agencies concerned.

(b) The work of the committees or boards referred to in this section shall be under the direction and supervision of the Commission in connection with the execution of the Civil Service Act, Rules, and Regulations.

(c) The duties performed by the members of such committees or boards shall be considered part of their official duties and adequate time shall be allowed for their performance by the agency in which they are employed.

(d) Where qualified examiners are not readily available in the Federal service, and to the extent permitted by law, the Commission or the agency concerned may designate and compensate individuals outside the service especially qualified by experience and training to serve as examiners,

§ 01.5 Federal Personnel Council. (a) The Council of Personnel Administration shall hereafter be known as the Federal Personnel Council and shall be continued within the Civil Service Commission.

(b) The membership of the Council shall consist of a chairman, the director of personnel or official responsible for personnel matters in each agency subject to the Civil Service Rules, one additional member designated by the Director of the Bureau of the Budget, and such additional member or members as the Commission shall designate.

(c) The Chairman of the Council shall be appointed by the Civil Service Commission after consultation with the Council and shall serve as a member of the staff of the Commission.

(d) The purpose of the Council, functioning as an advisory body, shall be to promote through study and discussion the application, interpretation, and development of personnel policies and practices. Its findings and recommendations shall be submitted to the Commission and may be submitted to the President or to other Federal agencies.

(e) Where there are substantial concentrations of Federal agencies in a geographical area, subsidiary councils may be established and maintained as recommended by the Council and approved by the Commission. The membership of such councils shall consist of the heads of field establishments in such areas or their designated representatives and of the designated representatives of the Commission.

PART II—CIVIL SERVICE RULES

The Civil Service Rules are hereby amended to read as follows:

RULE I—COVERAGE OF THESE RULES

§ 1.1 Positions and employees affected by these Rules. (a) These Rules shall apply to all positions in the competitive service. As used in these Rules, the words "competitive service" shall have the same meaning as the words "classified service", or "classified (competitive) service," or "classified civil service" as defined in existing statutes and Executive orders. The competitive service shall include all civilian positions in the executive branch of the Government unless specifically excepted therefrom under statute or Executive order, and all positions in the legislative and judicial branches of the Federal Government and in the Government of the District of Columbia which are specifically made subject thereto by statute. Whenever there is a doubt the Commission shall determine whether a position is in the competitive service.

(b) Persons occupying such positions shall be considered as being in the competitive service when they have a competitive status. A competitive status shall mean a status which permits a person to be promoted, transferred, reassigned, and reinstated to positions in the competitive service without competitive examination, subject to the conditions prescribed by the Civil Service Rules and Regulations for such noncompetitive actions. A competitive status shall be acquired by probational appointment through competitive examination, or may be granted by statute, Executive order, or the Civil Service Rules.

RULE II—APPOINTMENT THROUGH THE COMPETITIVE SYSTEM

§ 2.1 Competitive examinations and eligible registers. (a) The Commission shall be responsible for open, competitive examinations for admission to the competitive service which will fairly test the relative capacity and fitness of the persons examined for the position to be filled. The Commission is authorized to establish standards with respect to citizenship, age, education, training and experience, suitability, and physical and mental fitness, and for residence or other requirements which applicants must meet to be admitted to or rated in examinations.

(b) In addition to the names of persons who qualify in competitive examinations, the names of persons who lost eligibility on a probational register because of service in the armed forces subsequent to May 1, 1940, and the names of persons having a competitive status whom the Commission determines should be given further certification may also be entered at such places on appropriate registers and under such conditions as the Commission may prescribe.

§ 2.2 Apportionment. Subject to such modifications as the Commission finds to be necessary in the interest of good administration, appointments to positions in agencies' headquarters offices which are located within the metropolitan area of Washington, D. C., shall be made so as to maintain the apportionment of appointments among the several States, Territories, and the District of Columbia upon the basis of population.

§ 2.3 Probational and temporary appointments. (a) Persons selected from eligible registers for other than temporary appointment shall be required to serve a probationary period under such terms and conditions as the Commission may prescribe.

(b) The Commission may determine the types, duration and conditions of war service and other temporary appointments, and may prescribe the method for replacing persons holding such appointments.

RULE III—ACQUISITION OF A COMPETITIVE STATUS

§ 3.1 Classes of persons who may acquire status. (a) A person may acquire a competitive status by probational appointment through competitive examination, or by statute, Executive order, or this Rule.

(b) Subject to such noncompetitive examination time limits, or other requirements as the Commission may prescribe, the following classes of persons may acquire a competitive status:

(1) Any person holding a permanent position when it is placed in the competitive service by statute or Executive order or is otherwise made subject to competitive examination.

(2) Any person entitled to veteran preference who establishes the present existence of a service-connected disability of not less than ten percent, or any person entitled to wife or widow preference under the Veterans' Preference Act, when such person is serving under a war service indefinite appointment, a temporary appointment pending establishment of a register, or a temporary appointment for job employment which has been continuous for more than one year.

(3) Any disabled veteran who, in a manner satisfactory to the Commission, has completed a course of training in the executive branch of the Government prescribed by the Administrator of Veterans' Affairs in accordance with the act of March 24, 1943 (57 Stat. 43).

(4) Any employee who has served at least two years in the immediate office of the President or on the White House Staff and whose transfer to a competitive position is requested by any agency.

(5) An employee who was serving when his name was reached for certification on a civil service register appropriate for the position in which he was serving, provided recommendation for status is made prior to expiration of the register on which his name appears.

(6) An employee who was serving when his name was reached for certification on a civil service register appropriate for the position in which he was serving, provided he was appointed to a competitive position prior to the date such position was placed under the War Service Regulations and stood higher on such register than another eligible who received an original probational appointment therefrom.

(7) An employee who has served at least one year under an appointment not limited to one year or less and has received an eligible rating in an open competitive examination appropriate for the position occupied: Provided, That the lowest rating reached in the regular order of certification does not exceed his rating by more than five points: Provided further, That such employee is about to be replaced as a result of certification by the Commission. A nonveteran employee may not be granted status until all preference eligibles standing higher on the register have been given appropriate consideration under the Veterans' Preference Act.

§ 3.2 Appointment without competitive examination in rare cases. (a) Subject to receipt of satisfactory evidence of the qualifications of the person to be appointed, the Commission may authorize an appointment in the competitive service without competitive examination whenever it finds:

(1) That the duties or compensation of the position are such, or that qualified persons are so rare, that, in the interest of good civil service administration, the position cannot be filled through open competitive examination; or

(2) That it is essential to the program in which he is engaged to retain in the service a person who was serving in a highly specialized scientific, professional, or administrative position during the war period and prior to March 7, 1946, the effective date of the Temporary Civil Service Regulations.

(b) Any subsequent vacancy in such position shall not be filled without competitive examination except upon express prior approval of the Commission in accordance with this section. Detailed statements of the reasons for the noncompetitive appointments made under this section shall be made a part of the records of the Commission and shall be published in its annual reports. Any person heretofore or hereafter appointed under this section may acquire a competitive status upon completion of at least one year of satisfactory service and compliance with such requirements as the Commission may prescribe.

RULE IV—GENERAL PROVISIONS

§ 4.1 Prohibition against political activity. Persons in the executive branch shall retain the right to vote as they choose and to express their opinions on all political subjects and candidates, but such persons shall not use their official authority or influence for the purpose of interfering with an election or affecting the result thereof. Persons occupying positions in the competitive service shall not take any active part in political management or in political campaigns except as may be provided by or pursuant to statute.

§ 4.2 Attempting to secure withdrawal from competition. The Commission is authorized to take such disciplinary action as it deems appropriate whenever it finds that any person has influenced another person to withdraw from competition for any position in the competitive service for the purpose of either improving or injuring the prospects of any applicant for appointment.

§ 4.3 Method of filling vacancies. In his discretion an appointing officer may fill any position by appointment through the competitive system from a certificate of eligibles issued under authority of the Commission, or by promotion, demotion, reassignment, transfer, reinstatement or restoration in accordance with the Civil Service Regulations. He shall exercise his discretion in all personnel actions solely on the basis of merit and fitness and without regard to political or religious affiliations, marital status, or race.

§ 4.4 Personnel reports. Each agency shall report to the Commission, in such manner and at such times as the Commission may prescribe, such personnel information as it may request relating to positions and officers and employees in the competitive service or excepted from the competitive service by statute or Executive order, whether permanent, indefinite, temporary, or subject to contract.

RULE V—REGULATIONS, INVESTIGATION AND ENFORCEMENT

§ 5.1 Regulations. (a) The Commission is authorized and directed to promulgate and enforce such regulations as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of the Civil Service Act and Rules, the Veterans' Preference Act, and all other applicable statutes or Executive orders imposing responsibilities on the Commission.

(b) The Commission is authorized, whenever there shall be practical difficulties and unnecessary hardships in complying with the strict letter of its regulations, to grant a variation from the strict letter of the regulations if the spirit of the same is complied with and the efficiency of the Government and the integrity of the competitive service are protected and promoted: Provided, That whenever such a variation is made from the regulations the Commission shall record in the minutes of its proceedings (1) the particular practical difficulty or hardship, (2) what is permitted in lieu of what is required by regulation, (3) the circumstances which protect or promote the efficiency of the Government and the integrity of the competitive service, and (4) a statement limiting the application of the variation to the continuation of the conditions which gave rise to the variation: Provided further, That similar variations shall be granted whenever similar conditions exist. All minutes approved under authority of this section shall be published in the Commission's annual reports.

§ 5.2 Authority of the Commission to make investigations. The Commission may make appropriate investigations to secure enforcement of the Civil Service Act, Rules, and Regulations, including investigation of the qualifications and suitability of applicants for positions in the competitive service. It may authorize appointments conditioned upon a subsequent determination that the requirements of law or the Civil Service Rules and Regulations have been met.

§ 5.3 Officers and employees to furnish testimony. All officers and employees in the executive branch, and applicants or eligibles for positions therein, shall give to the Commission or its authorized representatives all information and testimony in regard to matters inquired of arising under the Civil Service Act, Rules, and Regulations. Whenever required by the Commission, such persons shall subscribe such testimony and make oath or affirmation thereto before an officer authorized by law to administer oaths.

§ 5.4 Authority of the Commission to issue instructions as to discipline or separation. Whenever the Commission finds that an appointment has been made in violation of the Civil Service Act, Rules, or Regulations, or that any employee subject thereto has violated such Act, Rules, or Regulations or is holding a position in violation thereof, it is authorized, after giving due notice and opportunity for explanation to the employee and the agency concerned, to certify the facts to the proper appointing officer with specific instructions as to discipline or dismissal.

§ 5.5 Withholding salary. If the appointing officer fails to carry out the instructions of the Commission issued under § 5.4 of this Rule, the Commission shall certify the facts to the head of the agency concerned. If the head of the agency fails to carry out the instructions of the Commission within ten days after receipt thereof, the Commission shall notify the Comptroller General of the United States and no payment or allowance shall be made of the salary or wages accruing to the employee concerned after such notification.

RULE VI—EXCEPTIONS FROM THE COMPETITIVE SERVICE

§ 6.1 Positions excepted from the competitive service. (a) Because of their confidential or policy-determining character, or because it is not practicable to make appointments thereto through competitive examination, the positions named in Schedules A and B, set out in § 6.4 of this Rule shall be excepted from the competitive service. The Commission may, upon the request of an agency, determine that similar positions also should be excepted from the competitive service. Upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER of its determination excepting such positions from the competitive service, appointment thereafter may be made to such positions in the same manner as under Schedules A and B (§ 6.4). At the end of each fiscal year the Commission shall submit to the President for review a list of the positions which it has excepted from the competitive service under this section during such year.

(b) Appointments to positions in Schedule A (§ 6.4 (a)) may be made without examination by the Commission.

(c) Appointments to positions in Schedule B (§ 6.4 (b)) shall be subject to such noncompetitive examination as the Commission may prescribe.

(d) Appointment under either Schedule A or B (§ 6.4) shall not confer a competitive status. Final decision as to whether the duties of a particular position are such that appointment to it is authorized under Schedule A or B (§ 6.4) shall rest with the Commission. The Commission, with the concurrence of the agency concerned, may revoke in whole or in part any paragraph of Schedule A or B (§ 6.4): Provided, That such revocation shall be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(e) An appointing officer in his discretion may fill any position in Schedule A or B (§ 6.4) or any position excepted from the competitive service by statute in the same manner as competitive positions are filled.

(f) Whenever any position in Schedule A or B (§ 6.4) is occupied by a person having a competitive status, he shall be separated from such position only in accordance with the provisions of this order and the Civil Service Rules and Regulations. Whenever any position excepted from the competitive service by statute is occupied by a person having a competitive status he shall not be entitled to the protection against separation provided by such Rules and Regulations.

§ 6.2 Assignment of excepted employees. Any person appointed without competitive examination to a position in Schedule A or B (§ 6.4), or to a position excepted from the competitive service by statute, shall not be assigned to the work of a position in the competitive service without prior approval of the Commission.

§ 6.3 Requirements of the Veterans' Preference Act. The regulations issued by the Commission pursuant to section

11 of the Veterans' Preference Act shall apply to positions listed in Schedule A and B (§ 6.4) and positions excepted from the competitive service by statute.

§ 6.4 Lists of positions excepted from the competitive service—(a) Schedule A. The following positions are those excepted from the competitive service to which appointments may be made without examination by the Commission, and constitute Schedule A of the Civil Service Rules:

(1) Entire Executive Civil Service.

(i) Chaplains.

(ii) Cooks, except at fixed locations, such as, hospitals, quarantine stations, and penal institutions.

(iii) Positions to which appointments are made by the President without confirmation by the Senate.

(iv) Attorneys.

(v) Chinese, Japanese, and Hindu interpreters.

(vi) Any position in which the appointee will receive compensation aggregating not more than $720 per annum, the duties of which are part-time or intermittent, but such appointments shall not be for job employment. In Washington, D. C., such appointments shall be subject to the prior approval of the Commission. All such employment shall be reported on the regular reports of personnel action; and in addition, unless payment is at a per annum rate of $720 or less, the total service rendered and its distribution shall be shown on reports submitted at the end of each calendar year; if separation occurs prior to the close of a calendar year, report should be submitted at the time of separation. Additional employment of the appointee by another agency, under similar conditions, shall be subject to the prior approval of the Commission.

(vii) Any position in a foreign country, or beyond the continental limits of the United States, when in the opinion of the Commission, appointment through competitive examination is impracticable, except as provided in subdivisions (viii) and (ix) of this subparagraph, and except the following:

(a) All positions in Hawaii;

(b) Positions in the Immigration and Naturalization Service, Department of Justice, in Canada and Mexico;

(c) Positions in the Bureau of Customs, Treasury Department, in foreign countries, in Puerto Rico and in the Virgin Islands.

(viii) Positions on the Isthmus of Panama, except: accountant, architect, architectural designer, bookkeeper, calculating machine operator, chemist, clerk (paying more than $150 in U. S. currency per month), custodian, dietitian, draftsman, employee counselor, medical technician, personnel aide, personnel assistant, pharmacist, physician, play-ground director, statistician, stenographer, storekeeper, surgeon, trained nurse, typist, and harbor personnel of the Quartermaster Corps, War Department.

(ix) Positions in Alaska, when, in the opinion of the Commission, appointment through competitive examination is impracticable. Persons formerly appointed under this subdivision may be reinstated to positions in Alaska with the approval of the Commission.

(x) Temporary, part-time, or intermittent employments of mechanics, skilled laborers, and tradesmen on construction or repair work in places where there is no local board of examiners of the Civil Service Commission for the employing establishment, when, in the opinion of the Commission, appointment through competitive examination is impracticable. Seasonal employments of a recurring nature are not authorized under this subdivision.

(xi) Any position directly concerned with the protection of the life and safety of the President and the members of his family.

(xii) Positions without compensation provided such appointments meet the requirements of applicable laws relating to compensation.

(xiii) Professional, scientific and technical experts for temporary, part-time or intermittent employment for consultation purposes.

(xiv) Unskilled laborers at any city, locality or establishment where the Labor Regulations were not in effect on July 1, 1941. The Commission, with the concurrence of the department or agency concerned, may include within the competitive civil service unskilled laborer positions at any such city, locality, or establishment.

(xv) Any local physician, surgeon, or dentist employed under contract or on a part-time or fee basis, when, in the opinion of the Commission, appointment through competitive examination is impracticable.

(2) State Department. (i) Five special assistants to the Secretary of State.

(ii) All positions under international commissions, congresses, conferences, and boards, except the International Joint Commission; the International Boundary Commission, United States, and Mexico; and the International Boundary Commission, United States, Alaska, and Canada.

(iii) Chief and Assistant Chief of the Foreign Service Buildings Office.

(iv) Two private secretaries or confidential assistants to the Secretary of State.

(v) One private secretary or confidential assistant to the Under Secretary of State, the Counselor, the Assistant Secretaries of State, the Legal Advisers, and other officials of the Department holding the rank of Assistant Secretary of State.

(vi) One chauffeur for the Secretary of State.

(vii) Gage readers employed part-time or intermittently by the International Boundary Commission, United States and Mexico at isolated localities when, in the opinion of the Commission, appointment through competitive examination is impracticable.

(viii) Temporary field employees of the International Boundary Commission, United States, Alaska, and Canada, such as instrument men, foremen, recorders, packers, cooks, and axemen, for not to exceed 180 working days a year.

THE COMMISSION AND STAFF ACTIVITIES

§ 01.1 The Commission. (a) The Commission is composed of three Commissioners appointed by the President, by and with the consent of the Senate, and removable by him. One member is designated by the President to be President of the Commission. The Commissioners, not more than two of whom may be adherents of the same political party, make final decisions on matters of policy, organization and administration within the Commission. They also serve, through the Liaison Officer for Personnel Management, as advisers to the President in personnel matters.

(b) The Commissioners in some cases act as a quasi-judicial body in reviewing and making final determinations on appeals of individuals and agencies from decisions made by officials of the Commission, and from certain decisions by officials of other agencies.

§ 01.2 Executive Director and Chief Examiner. The Executive Director and Chief Examiner is the chief technical and administrative official of the Commission. He has authority to take final action on matters covered by established policy and regulations. On other matters on which the Commissioners themselves make the final determination he reviews the recommendations prepared by the various divisions of the Commission and submits advisory opinions and recommendations. He represents the Commission in conferences and negotiations with representatives of other Government agencies, interpreting the regulations and policies of the Commission to officials and advising them in personnel policies and major personnel problems.

§ 01.3 Executive Assistant to the Commissioners. The Executive Assistant to the Commissioners presents to the Commission for action cases handled in the divisions; advises Members of Congress, Government officials and others on civil-service matters; performs special assignments at the direction of the Commission, and handles other administrative functions.

§ 01.4 Chief, Field Operations. The Chief, Field Operations, supervises the operations and procedures of the Commission's regional offices and coordinates their work with the divisions of the central office.

§ 01.5 Chief Law Officer. The Chief Law Officer advises the Commission, the Executive Director and Chief Examiner and division chiefs on legal questions pertinent to Commission policies and operations. He is responsible for drafting or reviewing drafts of legislation, Executive orders and regulations. He adjudicates appeals of veteran preference eligibles that are filed under the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944. He is responsible for the enforcement of the statutes and civil service rules relating to political activity of Federal and State employees. With respect to State employees he authorizes and is responsible for the investigation of complaints, the filing of charges, where the report of investigation so warrants, and the presentation of the Commission's side of the case before the hearing examiner when hearings are held. With respect to Federal employees he authorizes and is responsible for the investigation of complaints, the filing of proposed orders, where the report of investigation so warrants, and, in cases in which no hearing is held, recommending final decision to be made.

CROSS REFERENCE: For regulations relating to appeals of preference eligibles under the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944, see Part 22 of this chapter.

§ 01.6 Information Division. The Information Division furnishes to newspapers and magazines information regarding the Commission and the Federal civil service; prepares articles on these subjects for encyclopedias and other reference books; reviews manuscripts on these subjects which are submitted by publishing concerns or by individual writers; prepares informational booklets; prepares radio scripts and other public-address material; answers oral and written inquiries from the public regarding (a) the general activities of the Commission and (b) opportunities for employment in the Federal service; compiles the "Official Register of the United States".

§ 01.7 Veterans' Service Section. The Veterans' Service Section serves at the Commission's staff unit concerning policies and procedures with respect to the employment and reemployment of veterans; preferences granted veterans in Federal employment; legislation affecting the employment of veterans in the Federal service; and the maintenance of good public relations with veterans, veterans organizations, government agencies, legislative bodies and the public generally. Information may be obtained from and requests and submittals may be made to the Central Office in Washington or any one of its fourteen regional offices. These matters may be presented in any general written form.

§ 01.8 Board of Appeals and Review. (a) The Board of Appeals and Review in the Central Office of the Commission was created by official action of the Commission November 26, 1930. The Board has four members, one of whom, designated the Chairman, is the chief administrative officer of the Board. Only three members act on any one case. The Board has jurisdiction to entertain appeals on any matter adversely affecting eligibility, rights and/or interests arising under any law (except cases arising under sec. 12 (a) of the Hatch Act of August 2, 1939, as amended July 19, 1940, 53 Stat. 1147, 54 Stat. 767, 18 U. S. C. 61 e), rule or regulation administered by the Commission: Provided, That the matter previously has been finally acted upon and decided at the highest reviewing level in the division or office (departmental or field) having original jurisdiction. The Board, however, has jurisdiction to entertain appeals from the initial adverse action in ratings in postmaster examinations, adverse decisions on actual residence in postmaster and rural carrier examinations, findings by the Fourth Regional Branch Office in Washington, D. C., of unsuitability for Federal employment, adverse decisions on claims for benefits under the several retirement acts administered by the Commission, and appeals involving alleged discrimination because of race, creed, color or national origin.

(b) In those cases where the adverse action on appeal was taken by the Executive Director and Chief Examiner or by the Commissioners, and in appeals from the findings and recommendations of the Chief Law Officer or a regional director in cases arising under section 14 of the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944, the Board processes, analyzes, and submits the case with its recommendation to the Commissioners who make the final decision on the appeal.

(c) Laws, rules, regulations, matters of Commission policy, examination specifications, standards of rating, and standards of classification are not subject to appeal.

(d) Appeals are not required to be in any particular form and should be directed to the Chairman, Board of Appeals and Review, U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

CROSS REFERENCE: For Rules of Practice in cases arising under section 12 (a) of the Hatch Act, see Part 23 of this chapter.

For regulations relating to appeals of preference eligibles under the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944, see Part 22 of this chapter.

OPERATING ACTIVITIES

§ 01.9 Examining and Placement Division—(a) Organization. Responsibility for the functions connected with recruitment, examining and certification for positions in the departmental service in Washington, D. C., and for certain field positions, when public announcement to that effect is made, is vested in the Chief of the Examining and Placement Division and his staff. The Chief of the Division is also responsible for recommending to the Commission necessary changes in policies and practices regarding recruitment, examining and certification.

The operating sections of the divisions with their responsibilities and functions are as follows:

(1) The Clerical Placement and Services Section. This section prepares and distributes publicity for examination announcements on a nation-wide basis, receives and reviews applications for such examinations (except those announced on behalf of Regional Offices or Boards of U. S. Civil Service Examiners in the field), rates machine-scored examinations, prepares and maintains lists of eligibles for all positions in the departmental service in Washington, D. C. (except those handled by Committees of Expert Examiners), issues certificates of eligibles therefrom and audits the agencies' selections from such certificates. It maintains an information center for public inquiries regarding civil service examinations and answers other questions regarding Federal employment. In addition the section arranges for examinations for admission to the United States Military and Naval Academies, when requested, as a courtesy to Members of Congress to aid them in making selections for appointments thereto and administers examinations for the foreign service of the State Department.

This section and the other sections of the division are subdivided into examining units which deal specifically with particular types of examinations. The responsibilities of examining units are as follows:

(i) Surveys agencies for anticipated needs for employees in the occupational fields with which the unit is concerned.

(ii) Plans recruiting programs in advance of needs.

(iii) Prepares standards for examinations for all positions in its field in the Federal service and noncompetitive standards for transfer, promotion and reinstatement and for positions under Schedule A and B where necessary. (Schedule A is a list of positions to which departments and agencies may make appointments without competitive examinations; Schedule B is a list of positions to which departments and agencies may make appointments as a result of noncompetitive examination.)

(iv) Passes on qualifications for Schedule A and B appointments in its occupational fields if necessary and advises for qualifications for transfer, promotion and reinstatement.

(v) Cooperates with the Commissioners of the District of Columbia in observing the agreement regarding filling of positions in the District of Columbia Government.

(vi) Determines qualifications necessary to fill positions for which no register is appropriate and prepares a certificate of eligibles for such positions.

(vii) Acts or recommends action on agency objections or passing over of veterans, based on qualifications.

(2) The Physical Science Placement Section. This section comprises the examining units having responsibilities similar to those set forth above, with respect to positions in the engineering and allied fields, the physics, chemistry and related occupational areas and in the industrial and skilled trades. The Postal Examining Unit of this section performs all the functions of the examination program from the announcement of the examination to the audit of certificate.

(3) The Social Science and Personnel Management Section. This section comprises the examination units having responsibilities with respect to positions in the fields of social services, economics, accounting and allied occupations and the various phases of administrative management. The section also maintains a Personnel Management Advisory Service for the benefit of the agencies.

(b) Delegations of authority—(1) To the division. With respect to the functions set forth above the Examining and Placement Division has over-all responsibility for the development of plans and programs and for the establishment of procedures and standards applying both to regional offices (including Boards of U. S. Civil Service Examiners) and the Central Office (including Committees of Expert Examiners). It has direct operating responsibility for the recruiting, examining and placement programs in the departmental service in Washington, D. C., except insofar as any functions connected with these activities have been delegated to Committees of Expert Examiners as explained below.

(2) By the division—(i) To Regional Offices. Development of assembled examination material for field examinations under the jurisdiction of the Regional Offices or Boards of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, in the absence of appropriate standardized examination material; preparation of examining standards (specifications) for field positions, in the absence of approved specifications; modification of examination specifications by agreement with representatives of the agency (in the absence of a specific prohibition).

(ii) To departments and agencies. Certain phases of the review of applications involving acceptability from the standpoint of legal requirements for Federal service, for example, proof of citizenship, proof that the requirement limiting the number of members of the same family who may be employed in the Federal service has been met, proof of military service and honorable discharge in case of five point veterans; audit of declaration of appointees; determination of experience, training or educational qualification for transfer, reinstatement or promotions (under standards and with limitations prescribed by the Commission).

(iii) To committees of expert examiners. Where a Committee-type examination is involved, ratings of hand scored assembled or unassembled examination papers; securing of corroborative information regarding experience; handling of appeals on ratings of other than machine scored examinations; preparation and maintenance of registers of eligibles; certification of eligibles and audit of report on certificates (except actions on objections and passing over).

(iv) To the District of Columbia government by agreement between the District of Columbia Commissioners and the Civil Service Commission. Authority to effect appointments to lower grade positions in the District of Columbia Government in the absence of local eligibles on the Commission's registers (without audit of qualifications by the Commission).

(c) Method of securing and source of information. (1) For positions under the jurisdiction of the central office, whether Commission controlled or committee type, questions may be addressed in writing to the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C. Inquirers may call in person at the Information Office maintained by the Examining and Placement Division at 7th and F Street, N. W. Such inquiries may concern Civil Service examinations, that is, for what positions applicants may apply, how and where to file applications, what qualifications are required, etc.; requirements for veterans' preference, citizenship and age; ratings; employment opportunities in the Federal service during the periods preceding the establishment of appropriate registers for the majority of positions; types of written examinations, methods of rating, contents and form of questions, etc. The information available to the general public is restricted to that published in the examination announcement and the accompanying sample questions, if any, so that the secrecy of the examination materials may be preserved.

(2) Complaints should be in writing and should be addressed to the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C. Examples of types of complaints:

(i) Complaints regarding publicity given, admission to or conduct of central office examinations.

(ii) Complaints with regard to discrimination because of race, color or religious or political affiliations in connection with central office examinations.

(iii) During the period in which agencies are authorized to handle recruiting, examining and placement for positions under their jurisdiction pending establishment of a register appropriate to the particular position, complaints with regards to agency noncompliance with the policy and procedures established by the Commission for agency guidance, so far as positions in the departmental service are concerned.

(iv) Complaints of veterans with regard to agency action in passing over their names for positions in the departmental services. Such complaints may be presented by the veteran or his authorized agent either in writing, addressed to the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C., or to the Commission's Information and Interview Office, 7th and F Streets NW. In either case the Commission's action is limited to the authority granted by the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944 to present to the veteran or his authorized representative a copy of the agency's reasons for passing over his name and the Commission's recommendation to the agency with respect to the sufficiency of the reasons.

(3) Appeals from ratings assigned as a result of examination are handled originally in the unit that assigned the rating. Appeals in writing from Commission-controlled examinations for positions in the departmental service (identified by the name of the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C., as the issuing agency on the notice of rating (CSC Form 4008 or equivalent form) should be addressed to the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C. Appeals in person should be addressed to the examiner-in-charge of the appropriate examining unit.

Appeals from committee-type examinations for positions in the departmental service (identified by the name of the issuing agency, other than the Commission, preceded by the words "Committee of Expert Examiners" on the Notice of Rating, (CSC Form 4008 or equivalent form), should be presented in writing to the Committee on Expert Examiners concerned at the agency named in the Notice of Rating or equivalent form.

Appeals from the final decisions rendered by the Examining and Placement Division or the Committee of Expert Examiners should be submitted in writing to the Board of Appeals and Review, United States Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

§ 01.10 Personnel Classification Division—(a) Organization. The Personnel Classification Division is organized into five sections the functions of which are as follows:

(1) Washington Section. (i) Investigates the duties and responsibilities of positions in the departmental service within the scope of the Classification Act of 1923, as amended (5 U. S. C. 661ff.), and allocates them to services, grades, and classes.

(ii) Conducts classification surveys of organizations in the departmental service.

(iii) Postaudits for compliance with Commission's requirements, reports of vice changes, additional identical positions, and combined position descriptions submitted by Federal Agencies.

(iv) For the duration of the emergency, considers and makes recommendations on position classification appeals in the departmental service.

(v) Processes all classification sheets, appeals and requests for reconsideration before and after allocation decisions have been made.

(2) Standards and Special Studies Section. (i) Prepares and issues class specifications and statements of allocation standards under the Classification Act and Executive Order No. 9512; and gives technical supervision to the standards development work of the regional offices.

(ii) Prepares and revises the Handbook of Occupational Groups and Series of Classes.

(iii) Advises on all problems in which classification standards are involved.

(iv) Makes special studies on classification or compensation problems of the Government service.

(v) Prepares Departmental Circulars, Commission Letters and technical memoranda dealing with allocation standards, class titles, and the establishment or revision of classes.

(3) Efficiency Ratings Administration Section. (i) Establishes efficiency rating systems applicable to all employees in the field and departmental services compensated under the pay scales of the Classification Act of 1923 as amended and cooperates with agencies in their administration of the uniform efficiency rating system.

(ii) Administers the Board of Review program including the preparation and promulgation of regulations and procedures governing efficiency rating appeals, and provides chairmen for such boards.

(iii) Reviews and recommends decisions on agency requests for approval of proposed action, in the field or departmental service, to reduce in salary, demote, or separate employees on the basis of "Fair" or "Unsatisfactory" efficiency ratings.

(iv) Establishes uniform reduction in force procedures; reviews proposed reductions in force and considers appeals from such action in the departmental service.

(v) Reviews and approves grievance procedures proposed by the Federal agencies.

(vi) Prepares regulations and procedures dealing with (a) periodic within-grade salary advancements and (b) additional within-grade advancements as rewards for superior accomplishment. Preaudits, for compliance with regulations, proposed rewards submitted by departments or agencies. On the basis of plans approved by the Commission, recommends delegation, and when necessary revocation of delegation, of authority to heads of departments and agencies for prior approval of these rewards. Postaudits all actions by departments to insure compliance with the regulations. Compiles an annual consolidated report for presentation to the Congress.

(4) Field Section. (i) Gives technical supervision to the work of regional officials in making postaudit reviews of field allocations for conformance with standards issued by the Commission.

(ii) Inspects the work of the regional classification divisions for compliance with established policies and procedures, understanding of the various classification programs, and operating effectiveness; and follows up on delays or inadequacies.

(iii) Issues instructions to regional offices on classification policies, procedures and practices; assists regional offices in the installation of new classification programs or procedures; develops methods and materials for training field classification staffs; and performs other field supervisory functions assigned by the Chief of Division.

(iv) Advises agencies on general problems relative to classification and compensation of position in the field service.

(v) Under the authority and conditions prescribed in section 401 of the Federal Employees Pay Act of 1945 (59 Stat. 295), conducts studies to recommend the establishment of higher minimum rates of pay for particular classes of positions within the ranges of pay fixed by the Classification Act of 1923.

CROSS REFERENCE: For regulations under the Federal Employees Pay Act of 1945, see Part 25 of this chapter.

(vi) Recommends maximum stipends for positions in hospitals, hospital clinics or medical or dental laboratories owned or operated by the Federal Government primarily for training purposes which are excluded from the Classification Act of 1923, as amended, by Executive Order No. 9750.

CROSS REFERENCE: For regulations establishing maximum stipends for trainees in Government hospitals, see Part 27 of this chapter.

(vii) Prepares or reviews regulations, Departmental Circulars, Commission Letters, and/or chapters of the Federal Personnel Manual and the Commission's Manual dealing with any phase of Federal position classification or pay administration that does not pertain directly to functions of the Efficiency Ratings Administration Section.

(viii) Conducts studies and recommends other action preliminary to future expansion of classification to the field service in accordance with title II of the act (Ramspeck) of November 26, 1940 (54 Stat. 1212, 5 U. S. C. 681).

(5) Administrative Section. (i) Makes continuing studies to eliminate duplication of work, unnecessary procedures and practices and to see that available personnel is used to best advantage.

(ii) Provides classification information to departmental position classifiers and to the general public.

(iii) Receives all requests for personnel or for other proposed personnel changes within the Division, prepares necessary forms for transmittal to the Budget and Finance and Personnel Divisions; maintains leave records for the Division.

(iv) For administrative purposes within the Division, maintains records of encumbrances from the Division allotment for personnel services and prepares reports on the status of the allotment.

(v) Performs the usual service function for the Division, including supervision of mail and files and the stenographic force, compilation of production reports, timekeeping, furnishing of supplies, equipment, etc.

(vi) Prepares general correspondence not pertaining to the work of the several sections.

(b) Delegation of authority. (i) The authority for making initial decisions on matters within the purview of the Personnel Classification Division, except as specified in subparagraph (ii) of this paragraph, is vested in the Chief of Division, subject to appeal to the Commission.

(ii) Final decisions on efficiency rating appeals are, by statute, made by the efficiency rating Board of Review for the agency in which the appeal arises and are not reviewable by the Commission.

(c) Method of securing and source of information. (1) Information regarding functions of the Personnel Classification Division, including appeals from allocation actions of the Commission in central government offices, may be obtained in the Washington, D. C., area by writing or calling the Personnel Classification Division. In the field the appropriate regional office of the Commission may be contacted for such information. Inquiries regarding individual field allocations which are finally determined by the agency concerned should be addressed to such agency.

(2) Requests for review of efficiency ratings should be made in writing to the Chairman, Board of Review of the agency in which the appellant is employed, c/o U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

§ 01.11 Investigations Division—(a) Organization. The Commission's investigative activities may be divided into three major types:

(1) Investigations of the qualifications of candidates for Federal employment.

(2) Investigations to determine the facts when a preference eligible alleges that he has been denied any of the rights guaranteed him under the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944.

(3) Investigations arising out of the administration of the Merit System involving violations of the Civil Service Act and Rules.

For the purpose of carrying out these investigative functions the Investigations Division is divided into the following sections:

(i) Field Inspection and Training Section. This section inspects the work of the regional investigations division and assists regional offices in installing new procedures and in the training of personnel.

(ii) Rating Section. This section makes recommendations and renders advisory opinions with respect to cases referred by other divisions of the Commission, regional offices and other departments and agencies. It rates cases at the request of the Executive Director and Chief Examiner or the Chief of the division and develops rating standards and procedures for use of the regional offices.

(iii) Administrative Section. This section performs the necessary personnel and administrative work of the division.

(iv) Procedures and Control Section. This section prepares and issues instructions of a technical nature for investigators and raters. It maintains a master index and control records of all regional offices cases as well as master bar and flag records.

(v) Confidential Information Section. This section maintains confidential files of reports of investigations and makes them available to individuals and agencies that have a legitimate and valid reason for seeking information therein. (For information as to what records are available and to whom they are available see § 01.19.)

(b) Delegation of authority—(1) To regional offices. Regional directors are authorized to initiate investigations into the qualifications of applicants for certain specified positions. Investigations of applicants for all other positions must have the prior approval of the Commission. Regional directors are authorized to handle appeals of veterans under the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944 that arise in their region and to initiate investigations where the facts so warrant. Investigations into alleged violation of the Civil Service Act and rules must have the prior approval of the Commission.

CROSS REFERENCE: For regulations relating to appeals of preference eligibles under the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944, see Part 22 of this chapter.

(2) To departments and agencies. Authority is delegated to departments and agencies to conduct character and loyalty investigations where the nature of the positions to be filled is such that the agency reasonably requires its own investigations; where the agency maintains investigative facilities established for purposes other than undertaking personnel investigations but finds it desirable to undertake personnel investigations in order to afford maximum use of such facilities; and where the requirements of the agency become so great that the funds or facilities of the Commission are inadequate to meet the needs. Such investigations are to be conducted in accordance with standards set by the Commission. The Commission reserves the right to audit actions taken under this delegated authority and to inspect and review individual cases to determine compliance with the standards that have been established.

(c) Method of securing and source of information. Information in the files of the Investigations Division is considered confidential.

§ 01.12 Retirement Division—(a) Organization. The Retirement Division is charged with responsibility for interpreting and administering the Civil Service Retirement Act of May 22, 1920 (41 Stat. 614), as amended (5 U. S. C. 691–738), The Canal Zone Retirement Act of March 2, 1931 (46 Stat. 1471), as amended (48 U. S. C. 1371) and the Alaska Railroad Retirement Act of June 29, 1936 (49 Stat. 2017), as amended (5 U. S. C. 745). Jurisdiction over the administration of the Act of May 29, 1944 (58 Stat. 257), is also vested in the division. This act provides for the payment of annuities to United States citizen employees (or to their unremarried widows under prescribed conditions) who served on the Isthmus of Panama during the construction period of the Panama Canal from May 4, 1904 to March 31, 1914, inclusive, who were not included in the recognition and the benefits accorded by the act of March 4, 1915 (38 Stat. 1190).

CROSS REFERENCE: For regulations relative to retirement, see Part 29 of this chapter.

The operating sections of the division are as follows:

(1) Annuity Section. This section adjudicates claims for annuity under the acts administered by the Retirement Division. It examines service credit applications and makes decisions with respect to the service credits to which present or former employees are entitled. It examines agency requests for the retention of employees beyond retirement age and makes recommendations thereon to the President. It maintains records of all annuitants retired on disability and orders the annual medical examinations as required.

(2) Death Claims Section. This section adjudicates claims filed by the beneficiaries, legal representatives or next of kin of deceased employees or annuitants for the accrued annuities, the unexpended balance or the accumulated deductions in the retirement funds. It adjudicates claims in behalf of former employees who are incompetent for accumulated deductions to their credit, examines designation of beneficiary forms and maintains a file of such forms.

(3) Refund Section. This section adjudicates refund claims filed by former employees for the refund of deductions made from their salaries and to their credits in the retirement funds.

(4) Fiscal Section. This section prepares schedules and vouchers covering payments on all retirement claims. It prepares periodic financial statements, receives and records cash, check or money order remittances of voluntary deposits, accepts and records payments from employees covering the purchase of service credit or redeposit of amount withdrawn, maintains the individual annuity award accounts and the individual retirement accounts on all separated employees.

(5) Agency Accounting Section. This section conducts studies of the procedures used and practices followed by agencies in the maintenance of retirement accounts, makes periodic inspections of the retirement records in the agencies, posts and maintains the retirement accounts for employees of first class post offices, advises and instructs officials and employees in the agencies who are assigned to and are responsible for the agency retirement work.

(6) Accounting Systems and Report Analysis Section. This section studies the accounting system in the division and recommends changes and improvements when they are necessary, studies financial statements and reports to determine the adequacy of the accounts and reports the effectiveness of the protection afforded, assists in the installation of retirement accounting systems in the agencies.

(7) Office of the Legal Adviser. This office renders advisory decisions and interpretations of the retirement laws and decisions of the Comptroller General and of the Attorney General, prepares cases for submission to the Board of Appeals and Review, to the Attorney General or to the Comptroller General, collaborates in the preparation and trial of suits arising under the retirement laws, prepares drafts of bills and reports on proposed legislation concerning retirement, and drafts rules and regulations with respect to the administration of the Retirement laws.

(8) Office of the Actuary. This office conducts actuarial studies, periodic valuations of retirement funds and longevity investigations of annuitants. It recommends improvements and simplifications in retirement systems and policies, prepare the annual retirement report and other special tables and similar types of aids to facilitate the speedy and economical performance of retirement activities.

(9) Office of the Chief of Technical Studies. This office studies and coordinates the civil service retirement system with other federally administered or public employee systems. It conducts technical insurance studies of the various provisions of the retirement act, prepares analyses of these studies, plans insurance and retirement programs designed to provide for complete protection and conducts long range economic studies of the effect of changing coverage and characteristics of the coverage of retirement systems and their economic and administrative implications.

(10) Board of Actuaries. The Board of Actuaries is composed of three actuaries, appointed by the Commission, one of whom is the Government actuary. It is the Board's duty to report annually upon the actual operations of the Retirement Act, to recommend such changes as in their judgment may be deemed necessary to protect the public interest and maintain the system upon a sound financial basis, to make a valuation of the Civil Service, the Canal Zone and the Alaska Railroad Retirement and Disability Funds at intervals of five years or oftener if the Commission deems it necessary and to prepare such tables as may be required by the Commission for the purpose of computing annuities.

(b) Delegation of authority. The Commission with the concurrence of the Comptroller General of the United States (letters B–45488, dated November 11, 1944 and March 24, 1945) has approved a temporary plan for the duration of the emergency, unless terminated prior thereto, whereby local disbursing officers of the War Department, under certain conditions, are authorized to issue checks in payment of amounts due as refunds of civil service retirement deductions to former civilian employees of the War Department. The responsibility for making refunds of retirement deductions so authorized is lodged with local certifying officers of civilian pay rolls and applies only when the following conditions exist:

(1) The employee must have received an original appointment in the War Department on July 1, 1942, or subsequent thereto.

(2) The employee must have been officially separated on July 1, 1945 or subsequent thereto.

(3) The employee must have had no prior Federal or military service other than the period of employment in the specific installation and must have had no break in service during the period of employment at the installation for which the local retirement refund is being paid.

(4) The employee must not be indebted to the Federal Government for any reason according to the records of the installation.

Computations or refund payments are made in accordance with instructions approved by the Commission and copies of paid vouchers with supporting documents are transmitted to the Retirement Division for audit recording and filing.

(c) Method of securing and source of information. Decisions of the Retirement Division may be appealed to the Board of Appeals and Review through the Retirement Division. Appeals should be in writing and should show the name and post office address of the appellant, his retirement claim number, the date and substance of the action from which the appeal was taken and the full reason for the appeal. They must generally be filed within six months from the date the notice of final action was mailed.

Questions on retirement matters should be submitted by Federal employees to their Personnel Director.

§ 01.13 Service Record Division—(a) Organization. The Service Record Division has over-all responsibility for the administration and enforcement of rules and regulations governing the reporting of personnel transactions; maintenance of service records; according of competitive civil service status; determination of status of positions and status of present and former Federal employees and of compliance by Commission or agency officials with the procedural and legal requirements for effective personnel actions under the civil service rules and regulations.

The operating sections of the division are as follows:

(1) Audit Section. This section receives and inspects reports of personnel actions. It initiates corrective action on the enforcement of Civil Service Rules and other authorities governing appointments and personnel changes, inspects reports of separation to determine whether the reasons or circumstances shown appear to require debarment or flagging, maintains records showing currently the condition of the apportionment determines adequacy of proof of date of birth, reports cases of apparent dual employment to the Comptroller General and authorizes extension of suspensions.

(2) Correspondence Section. This section replies to inquiries and complaints regarding treatment in the Federal service, promotions, demotions, forced resignations, suspensions or removals, hours of duty, leave, assignment to duty, dual employment, payment for services rendered, overtime, deductions from salary for war bonds, subsistence allowance and travel. It also answers inquiries concerning rights under the Selective Service Act and reemployment benefits provided by regulations of the Commission.

(3) Postal Section. This section maintains complete records of employees in the field service of the Post Office Department, audits all personnel actions involving such employees, initiates corrective action where needed, maintains substitute rolls in accordance with the order of seniority of appointment and in general performs the other functions of the Audit Section with reference to employees in the field service of the Post Office Department.

(4) Records Section. This section maintains service records of present and former Federal employees and processes and files reports of personnel action.

(5) Status Section. This section receives agency recommendations for conferring of competitive status on Federal employees, acts on requests for promotion, transfer and reinstatement requiring prior approval of the Commission, post audits reports of reinstatements not requiring prior approval of the Commission, acts on agency recommendations in connection with non-competitive appointments under Schedule B of the Civil Service rules, furnishes information to agencies and individuals regarding their status for reinstatement, transfer, classification.

(b) Delegation of authority. Regional directors are authorized to pass on requests for reinstatement, transfer, promotion and reassignment to field positions in cases where the prior approval of the Commission is required. Regional directors are authorized to consider and act upon requests for extension of suspensions when the request is presented by a field officer of an agency who has authority to initiate such action.

(c) Method of securing and source of information. Decisions of the Service Record Division may be appealed to the Board of Appeals and Review.

Federal employees should submit questions to their Personnel office. Others may secure information by writing to the Commission or by calling at the Commission's office.

§ 01.14 Medical Division—(a) Organization. The Medical Division, created by the Commission in 1940 through unification of its previously diversified medical activities is under the immediate supervision of a Medical Director. Primarily, it is charged with responsibility (under the administrative direction and through the office of the Executive Director and Chief Examiner in all cases) for: Advising the Commission, in cooperation with the Examining and Placement Division, on all matters pertaining to physical standards for entrance or reinstatement into the Government service. In conjunction with the Retirement Division criteria are set up for separation from the service by reason of disability preventing satisfactory performance of duty. It is also responsible for the processing and disposing of all types of cases in the above categories which are referred by other divisions for comment or action as well as rendering opinions and advice on any other medical matters pertaining to Federal employment concerning which information may be requested by the Board of Appeals and Review or other officials of the Commission.

Other activities include the conducting of research programs throughout the Civil Service Regions for the purpose of determining appropriate physical standards for the various positions; carrying out studies of the performance of the physically impaired as compared to the able bodied; administering the program recommended by the Coordinating Committee for the Placement of the Physically Handicapped.

The operating sections of the Division are as follows:

(1) Office of the Medical Director. This office has the over-all administration of the Division's activities in the central office, including the handling of appeals in connection with certain types of cases. Also, through the offices of the Chief of Field Operations and the Executive Director and Chief Examiner, the Medical Director transmits to the various Regional Directors such information, instructional material and technical advice as may be necessary for the effective functioning of the medical officers assigned to their Regions. A member of the staff is detailed to the function of maintaining liaison with the various regional medical officers which may require travel to the Regional offices.

(2) Consultative Service Section. This section formulates physical requirements for entrance into the competitive civil service and prepares guides based thereon for the use of the appointing officers in the various agencies; devises schematic outlines for necessary physical examinations of both applicants and employees; reviews medical certificates exhibiting questionable conditions not covered by specific instructions and renders advisory services to appointing officers relative to the employability of applicants and the physical fitness of employees to continue in their post of duty, particularly with respect to nervous and mental conditions, communicable diseases, heart disease, and diabetes.

Within the section is a unit for the specialized handling of physically impaired applicants (emphasis on veterans) who offer unusual placement problems. This Unit is charged with the duties of devising broad schemes for the effective utilization of the remaining capabilities of impaired individuals as well as conducting interviews in specific cases.

(3) Disability Retirement Section. This section receives from the Retirement Division such applications for retirement as are based on claims of total disability for useful and efficient service; arranges for and authorizes physical examinations of applicants except in cases where sufficient evidence has already been presented by Federal medical officers or establishments; after securing adequate medical evidence, passes on the merits of applications and takes medical action of rejection or allowance; arranges for annual medical examinations or secures pertinent information in lieu thereof, in cases of retired employees (annuitants) whose cases have not been made permanent; supervises, by use of liaison facilities through the Office of the Medical Director, the initial medical processing in the regional offices of applicants residing within those areas; furnishes to the Retirement Division, through the office of the Medical Director, such technical advice pertaining to retirement matters in general as may be requested.

(4) Examining Section. This section in accordance with general procedures established by the Examining and Placement Division, examines and rates applications for professional and subprofessional positions in the medical and related fields in such agencies or establishments as are not otherwise provided for; renders advisory services to agencies regarding educational and experience standards in connection with the above positions; supervises and assists Committees of Expert Examiners in the conducting of examinations and the rating of applications in the medical and related fields; assists the Medical Director in making recommendations to the Personnel Division relative to the filling of medical officer and related positions within the Commission; receives and processes applications from cadet nurses who desire to complete their training in Federal hospitals under the provisions of the Cadet Nurse Act.

(b) Method of securing and source of information. Information in the files of the Medical Division is available to individuals and agencies in accordance with the regulations of the Commission set out in § 01.19.

§ 01.15 Inspection Division. The Inspection Division has been established to perform the following functions: To inspect and review in the offices of the various agencies the carrying out of the various personnel operations that have been delegated and to secure adherence to the required standards and procedures; to assist departments and agencies in adhering to the policies, standards and procedures prescribed by the Commission for the administration of delegated authority; to inspect and review the operations of Boards of Civil Service Examiners and Committees of Expert Examiners, to evaluate their effectiveness, to report on the carrying out of their functions and to secure adherence to the required standards and procedures; to present to the Commission current and accurate information as to the scope, content, effectiveness and equity of agency personnel management programs; to recommend to the Commission necessary changes in policies and practices to better personnel management in the Federal service; to improve agency personnel programs by rendering personnel management advisory service and serving as a clearing house for the exchange of information among agencies on the most efficient and economical personnel management policies, procedures and practices.

FIELD ACTIVITIES

§ 01.16 Regional Offices—(a) Organization. In the interest of economy and efficiency in administration of the field service, the Commission has divided the United States into fourteen regions. The activities of each region center in a regional office, located in a principal city within the region. A Regional Director is in charge of each Regional Office.

Each Regional Office supervises civil service activities within its area, in accordance with policies and procedures established by the Commission, furnishes information to the public, and announces regional and local examinations to fill positions under the jurisdiction of the region.

The functions of the regional office are performed under the regional director by Divisions and staff officials such as the following:

Budget and Fiscal Officer.
Personnel Officer.
Regional Examining and Placement Division.
Regional Classification Division.
Regional Investigations Division.
Medical Officer.
Regional Veterans Federal Employment Representative.
Examiner for Appeals under section 14 of the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944.
Personnel Management Advisor.

The location of regional offices, branch regional offices, and offices of Commission representatives outside the continental United States are as follows:

REPRESENTATIVES OUTSIDE CONTINENTAL UNITED STATES

Hawaii (Subsidiary to Twelfth Region) Branch Regional Office, 12th U. S. Civil Service Region, Federal Building, Honolulu 2, T. H.

Puerto Rico (Under supervision of Director, 5th Region, insofar as employment under U. S. Government is concerned)—Chairman, Puerto Rico Civil Service Commission, San Juan, P. R.

Canal Zone—Secretary, Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, Balboa Heights, C. Z.

In order to provide closer supervision and render more effective service, regional directors may, as necessary from time to time, station representatives in smaller key cities to facilitate administration of civil service activities in areas within the region.

(b) Delegation of authority. Regional directors have general authority over civil service matters arising within their region. Specific grants of authority have been referred to in connection with the description of the functions of the divisions of the Commission set out above. Their decisions may be appealed to the Commission, through the Board of Appeals and Review in the same manner as decisions of the various divisions of the Commission may be appealed.

(c) Method of securing and source of information. Individuals residing in the states that are included within any region may secure information by writing to or calling at the Regional or Branch Regional Office. Information is also obtainable at Boards of U. S. Civil Service Examiners. (See § 01.17.)

§ 01.17 Boards of United States Civil Service Examiners—(a) Organization—(1) Boards located at Federal establishments other than in the Post Office Department. Wherever considered administratively advisable, Boards are established by the regional director in agreement with the head of the establishment and are composed of officers and employees of the establishment or establishments served by the board.

For positions under their jurisdiction, such boards announce examinations, receive and rate applications, establish registers, certify names to appointing officers, approve the appointments made from names submitted, and perform other functions delegated by the regional director.

All activities of these boards are performed in accordance with current standards and instructions of the Commission. The extent of authority to be delegated to individual boards is determined by the regional director and is not uniform for all boards.

(2) Boards located at first and second class post offices. Boards of United States Civil Service Examiners have been established in each city which has a first or second class post office.

These boards publicize examinations announced by the Commission's central office, the regional office, and by Boards located at other Federal establishments. They also furnish general information to the public and conduct assembled examinations.

Regional directors may delegate other special functions to these boards within the limits of the policies established by the Commission.

(b) Delegation of authority. Boards of Examiners located in Federal establishments other than the post office can take final action on any matters delegated by the regional director. Requests for a review of rating and appeals from the action of any board in any mattter properly before it, are first considered and decided by the board. In the event of an adverse decision further appeal may be made to the regional office.

(c) Method of securing and source of information. General information on civil service matters and employment opportunities can be secured from the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners at any first or second class post office. Such information is available also at the regional or branch office of the Commission or at the offices of its representatives outside continental United States.

Where more detailed and specific information is desired which is not available at the office of a Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, this information may be obtained by communicating with the regional or branch office.

Listed below are the places where the public may secure information and submit requests relating to specific civil service matters.

(1) Open competitive examinations. (i) To keep informed of pending examinations, the bulletin board and examination announcements at any first or second class post office may be consulted. A copy of any examination announcement may be inspected but extra copies are not always available for distribution. In a city in which there is a regional or branch regional office, that office may also be contacted for information.

(ii) To secure a copy of the announcement the office having immediate jurisdiction over the examination as shown in the announcement under the heading "Where to file application" may be contacted.

(iii) The examination announcement contains full details about the requirements, the specific application forms and the location of the office where the required application forms should be filed. Application forms are available at first and second class post offices, except in cities where regional offices of the Commission are located, in which case they may be obtained from the regional office. In branch office cities, application forms may also be obtained from such offices.

(2) Examinations under section 10 of the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944. (i) Persons granted ten-point preference under section 2 (1), (2) and (3) of the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944 may apply for examination as provided in section 10 of the same act.

CROSS REFERENCE: For regulations relating to appeals of preference eligible under the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944, see Part 22 of this chapter.

(ii) For information concerning examinations which may be reopened, The Executive Secretary of the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners at the establishment where employment is desired or the regional or branch office of the Commission may be contacted.

(3) Acceptance of delayed applications after the closing date. Persons entitled to five-point military preference under section 2 (4) of the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944, and citizens who served beyond the continental limits of the United States with a Federal agency or international organization in which the U. S. Government participates, may, under certain conditions, file delayed applications.

(4) Restoration to the list of eligibles of honorably discharged veterans under Executive Orders 9733 and 8937. Requests for restoration should be made to the office which maintained the list of eligibles. The address of this office can be obtained from the notice of rating which the applicant received.

(5) Requests for a review of examination rating. A request for a review of a rating received may be made to the office which assigned the original rating as shown on the notice of rating.

(6) Complaints on discrimination. Complaints involving alleged discrimination on the grounds of race, creed, color, or national origin may be made to the regional director.

(7) Reduction in force appeals. Appeals involving alleged violation of reduction in force regulations based on section 12 of the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944 may be made to the regional office of the Commission.

(8) Suitability appeals. Appeals from applicants rated ineligible because they were not found suitable for government employment should be addressed to the office which assigned the rating, as shown on the notice of rating.

(9) Appeals under section 14 of the Veterans' Preference Act. Appeals under section 14 of the Act may be filed with the regional office.

(10) Competitive status under Executive Order 9598 of August 17, 1945. Requests for the benefits of this order should be submitted individually by letter to the office of the Commission which authorized the basic appointment. Requests are ordinarily submitted by the current employing agency, but may be acted upon if submitted by the agency in which the employee received his basic appointment.

(11) Passing over preference eligibles. Records of the Commission's findings in determining the sufficiency of the reasons submitted by an agency for passing over a preference eligible are available at the office of the Commission which maintains the register. The records will be made available to the veteran eligible or his designated representative upon request as provided in section 8 of the Veterans' Preference Act.

(12) Restoration under section 8 of the Selective Service and Training Act. Whenever a misunderstanding occurs between a veteran and his former employing agency as to restoration rights, the case may be submitted by the veteran for final determination to the regional office.

(13) Requests for reinstatement. Requests should be submitted to the appointing officer of the office in which the vacancy is to be filled.

(14) Requests for transfer: Requests should be submitted to the appointing officer of the office in which the vacancy is to be filled.

ADVISORY COMMITTEES

§ 01.18 Federal Personnel Council. The Council of Personnel Administration was established in February, 1939, under Executive Order No. 7916, June 24, 1938. The Council was placed within the Commission under Executive Order No. 8467, July 1, 1940. The name of the Council was changed to Federal Personnel Council and its functions redefined by Executive Order 9830, February 24, 1947.

The Council is set up to improve Federal personnel administration through common understanding and effort, to meet the personnel needs of the service by developing standards and practices sufficiently uniform for the Government as a single employer and yet flexible enough to provide for the great differences in the character and conditions of work. The Council serves as a clearing house where directors of personnel develop plans and spread throughout the service information about practices, and where representatives of the Commission and of the Bureau of the Budget meet regularly with the personnel directors to consult with them and to discuss and interpret the policies, programs and procedures which are in the course of development.

The Council's work is carried on by members assisted by a small staff through weekly meetings of the entire Council and by standing and special committees. The actions of the Council are put into effect in various ways. Recommendations are made to the President and to the Civil Service Commission, Bureau of the Budget and other appropriate agencies. Much of the Council's work results in practical suggestions or agreements on improved personnel methods which are carried out by departments and agencies themselves. Field personnel councils have been authorized by the Commission and established under the supervision of the Commission's Regional Directors or their Representatives. The field councils are composed of officers responsible for personnel administration in their agency in the area designated by the regional director. They have the same object and function along similar lines as the Federal Personnel Council.

The Federal Personnel Council is located at 1626 K Street NW., Washington 25, D. C.

PUBLIC RECORDS

§ 01.19 Availability of official records. (a) Official records of the Commission are generally regarded as confidential except that upon request by any person decision will be made in each case as to the part of the record which may be disclosed or made available to him.

(1) Examination records. Under this heading are included application forms filed in connection therewith. When the Commission's work load will permit copies of applications or a résumé of the pertinent information desired will be furnished an applicant.

(2) Medical records. Medical information furnished to the Commission as "fully confidential" is not given out. Instead the inquirer is referred to the source of information.

Medical information not secured in confidence may be disclosed under the following circumstances:

(i) The name of the examining physician is not to be disclosed without his consent.

(ii) An applicant (or his authorized agent) may be informed of the reasons for the action taken on his medical certificate only to the extent necessary to enable him to correct defects or to seek medical advice or treatment. No information is given where it is of such a nature as to make it inadvisable to release it as, for example, in case of mental disability or other serious diseases, the knowledge of which might prove injurious to the physical health of the applicant. Occasionally information that should not be given to the applicant may upon his authorization be given in confidence to his attending physician or to a hospital as an aid in diagnosis or treatment. If the applicant is already aware of the contents of the medical certificate it is not regarded as confidential as far as he or his authorized agent is concerned.

(iii) Information derived from a medical certificate is not disclosed to individuals or organizations (legal firms, insurance companies, employment agencies, etc.) not concerned unless the applicant gives his consent, or unless the Commission finds that it is in the public interest to do so.

(iv) Information officially requested by a Federal agency other than the employing agency, such as the Veterans' Administration, may be furnished as confidential, except fully confidential material furnished for the use of the Commission only.

(v) Exact or photostatic copies of medical certificates are usually furnished in confidence to other Federal agencies when requested. They are not furnished to other inquirers or to the applicant himself except under unusual circumstances. In such cases there is furnished a statement of the defects found or a statement that the certificate discloses no defects. The selection of medical facts to be disclosed is made by a medical officer of the Commission.

(vi) Copies of medical surveys that have been obtained from the Veterans' Administration are by law confidential. The Veterans' Administration reserves the legal right to make decisions regarding the disclosure of information contained in its medical surveys to the veteran concerned. No information is furnished by the Commission except upon authorization in each individual case from the Veterans' Administration.

(vii) Information received from State hospitals is treated as fully confidential. Disclosure of information received from other hospitals or private institutions is governed by the condition under which the information was furnished to the Commission.

(viii) Medical statements from Selective Service Boards are required only when the Commission's medical director determines that the statement is necessary. Such statements are kept strictly confidential.

(3) Service records. Records comprised under this heading are the employment records of present and former Federal employees. Such records are disclosed only to the individuals themselves upon request and to proper agency officials as required in connection with application for or employment in the Federal service.

(4) Reports of investigations. (i) Complete information contained in investigative reports is made available to properly identified investigative representatives of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Treasury Department, the Office of Naval Intelligence, the Military Intelligence Service, the Provost Marshal General's office, the Post Office Inspection Service, the Immigration and Naturalization Service and the State Department. Such reports are made available with the understanding that the information contained therein will be treated with the same confidence as information developed by representatives of the agencies themselves and that sources of the Commission's information will not be revealed outside the investigative agency.

(ii) Regional Directors, Chiefs of regional investigation divisions, the Chief of the central office Investigations Division, and the Director of Personnel (with respect to requests relating to employees of the Commission) are authorized to permit inspection of reports by properly identified representatives of the above agencies.

(iii) Analytical memoranda and other memoranda indicating actions or decisions reached as the result of the report of investigation are removed from the files before they are made available. Upon request the representatives may be advised of the Commission's final decision.

(iv) Upon showing a legitimate need for information contained in investigative files representatives of other Federal agencies are furnished an oral summary of the facts developed by investigation. Upon request the representatives may be advised of the Commission's final decision.

(v) Regional Directors, Chiefs of regional investigation divisions, the Chief of the central office Investigations Division and the Director of Personnel (with respect to requests relating to employees of the Commission) or officials designated by them are authorized to furnish oral summaries.

(vi) Information regarding cases in which investigative or rating action is pending is not furnished to Federal agencies other than those to which complete investigative reports are available.

(vii) Information contained in bar and flag files is strictly a confidential matter with the Commission and is for the official use of the Commission only. It is the policy of the Commission not to give out publicly any information that a particular individual has a bar or flag record.

(5) Retirement records. (i) Disclosure of information from the files, records, reports and other papers and documents pertaining to a retirement claim is made to a claimant or to his duly authorized representative in matters concerning himself alone when such disclosure would not be injurious to the physical or mental health of the claimant or be regarded as a breach of confidence.

(ii) The name or address of a beneficiary designated by an employee or an annuitant will, during the life of the employee or annuitant, be furnished only to the designator when request therefor is made in writing over the signature of the designator.

(iii) Such information as may properly be disclosed to a claimant personally shall in the event of his death be disclosed upon proper request to the duly appointed representative of his estate or to such person as may be designated by such representative or to a duly designated beneficiary or to the claimant's next of kin.

(iv) Copies of documents or other records desired by or in behalf of parties to a suit may be furnished to the court on an order of the court or subpena duces tecum.

(v) The address of a claimant as shown by the Commission's record may be furnished to duly constituted police or court officials upon proper requests or the submission of a certified copy either of the indictment returned against the claimant or of the warrant for his arrest.

(vi) Disclosure of the amount of annuity or refund to any claimant may be made to any National, State, county, municipal or other publicly recognized charitable or social security administrative agency.

(vii) All records or documents officially required by any department or agency of the United States Government or by Senators and Representatives of the United States in their capacity as Members of Congress may be furnished in response to a proper request.

(viii) Copies of papers, records, etc., the furnishing of which would be prejudicial to the interest of the Government, copies of reports of examining surgeons, reports from the War Department or copies of records of other departments and other confidential matters will not be furnished.

(6) Personnel classification records. Classification specifications and statements of allocation standards are available for public inspection at the Commission's central, regional and branch offices.

§ 01.20 Availability of final opinions and orders. Cases in which the Commission formulates final opinions and orders within the meaning of the Administrative Procedure Act are those involving decisions in retirement death claims and in cases of alleged political activity on the part of officers or employees of a State or local Government whose principal employment is in connection with an activity financed in whole or in part by Federal funds (Section 12 (a), Act of August 2, 1939, as amended). Final opinions or orders issued by the Commission's Retirement Division in retirement death claims will be available for public inspection at the Retirement Division in the Commission's central office. Final opinions or orders issued by the Board of Appeals and Review in retirement death claims will be available for public inspection at the Board of Appeals and Review in the Commission's central office and in the Commission's regional offices. Final orders in political activity cases involving officers or employees of State or local Governments will be available for public inspection at the office of the Chief Law Officer in the Commission's central office and in the Commission's regional offices. (For addresses of regional offices see § 01.16.)

PART 02—FUNCTIONS OF THE COMMISSION

Sec.
02.1 In general.
02.2 Examining applicants for employment in the competitive civil service.
02.3 Retirement.
02.4 Enforcement of the Civil Service Act and Rules.
02.5 Enforcement of other statutes.
02.6 Notice of proposed rule making.

AUTHORITY: §§ 01.1 to 02.6, inclusive, issued under sec. 2, 22 Stat. 403, 50 Stat. 533; 5 U. S. C. 633.

§ 02.1 In general. The Commission's primary function is to serve as the central personnel agency for the Federal Government. In so doing, it holds examinations to test the fitness of applicants for positions in the competitive civil service of the United States; conducts investigations into the character and suitability of successful applicants; certifies the names of qualified persons in response to requests from appointing officers in the various agencies; establishes standards for reinstatement, promotion and transfer of Federal employees; and in general enforces the Civil Service Act and the Civil Service Rules relating to the employment and the conduct of Federal employees. In addition the Commission is charged with the functions of administering the Classification Act of 1923 as amended, which provides for the classification of positions according to duties and responsibilities; of administering an efficiency rating system for Federal employees; of maintaining service records of employees in the executive civil service; of administering the Civil Service Retirement Act, the Canal Zone Retirement Act, the Panama Canal Construction Annuity Act and the Alaska Railroad Retirement Act; of administering the Veterans Preference Act of 1944; and of enforcing the provisions of the Hatch Political Activities Act which prohibits political activity on the part of employees of State or local governments participating in Federally financed projects.

CROSS REFERENCE: For regulations relative to retirement, see Part 29 of this chapter.

Inasmuch as most of these functions pertain to the internal management of the Federal Government they are not set out in full in this part. Federal employees who are affected by their operations may generally obtain information or answers to their questions from their personnel office. Insofar as their operations affect persons outside the Federal service they are explained in the sections that follow.

§ 02.2 Examining applicants for employment in the competitive civil service.—(a) Announcement of examinations. From data on net personnel requirements for positions in Washington, D. C., and in the field which are filled by the central office of the Commission, determination is made by the Commission as to what examinations will be held and which examinations will be given priority in announcement. In preparing to hold an examination the Commission and the agency or agencies in which the positions exist prepare a statement of the duties of the position and reach agreement as to the qualifications required for the satisfactory performance of these duties and the method of examining, including such factors as age, physical requirements, written tests, experience, training or education necessary. (Education may be prescribed only when the Commission has determined and made public its reasons for so doing, that the duties of a position of a scientific, professional or technical nature cannot be satisfactorily performed by an individual who has not met the specific educational requirements prescribed for the position.) The Commission then issues an announcement of the examination in which it incorporates the information needed by the applicant as to the requirements for the position, the method of examination, the location and salary of the position and the conditions of employment. Examination announcements may be given publicity by display and by newspaper publicity in the area from which applicants are accepted for the examination, and, when feasible, by publication in periodicals normally read by persons engaged in the occupations related to the position for which examination is announced.

(b) Applications. The examination announcement specifies the application forms to be filed by the applicant and indicates the period during which applications will be accepted. The application forms specified in the announcement may generally be obtained from the Secretary, Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, at any first- or second-class post office, or from the Commission's central, regional, or branch regional offices. However, application Form 9, required for rural carrier and fourth class postmaster, and application Form 10, required for first-, second-, and third-class postmaster, may be obtained only from the post office for which the examination is announced, during the time an announcement for the position is open, or from the Examining and Placement Division, Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

Applications for an examination which are received after the closing date specified in the announcement are cancelled and returned to the applicant unless he is eligible for a reopened or delayed examination or has been granted the privilege of filing for a position for which there is no open announcement, as in the case of displaced career employees or those former status employees who failed of restoration after military service, service in the merchant marine or war transfer.

(c) Examinations. Applicants for assembled examinations are notified of the time, place and date to report for examination and are supplied any additional forms necessary. These forms are collected at the time of the written examination and become a part of the examination file. At the time of the written examination each competitor fills in a "declaration sheet" carrying an identifying number which is placed on each answer sheet used by the competitor during the examination. The identity of the competitors is maintained secret by keeping the applications, related forms, and the declaration sheets entirely separate from the answer sheets until the rating has been completed, after which the answer sheets are matched with the declaration sheets and the applications and related forms.

(d) Ratings. Examinations are rated on a scale of 100. The examination announcement specifies the relative weights given to each part of the examination. In general nonpreference competitors must obtain a rating of 70 for eligibility; 5-point preference competitors, a rating of 65; and 10-point preference competitors, a rating of 60. After rating of the written examination, the applications of eligibles are reviewed to ascertain that they meet the legal requirements for Federal employment and the age and physical requirements listed in the announcement and have proved legal or voting residence if the position is in the apportioned service. Failure to meet requirements renders the applicant ineligible; failure to prove residence permits the eligible to be considered only for the non-apportioned service. If the announcement of a written examination specifies that the competitors must show prescribed experience or training (which may represent a minimum qualification, or may be rated and incorporated in the final rating, according to the terms of the announcement) the application papers of the acceptable eligibles are reviewed to ascertain that the experience or training requirements are met, and the competitors failing to meet the minimum requirements are declared ineligible.

Applications filed for unassembled examinations are first reviewed to ascertain that the applicant meets the legal requirements for Federal employment, the age and physical requirements specified in the announcement and has proved legal or voting residence if the position is in the apportioned service. Applications not canceled during this review, are then rated on the basis of experience, training or education shown by the applicant which is pertinent to the position for which he is being examined, in accordance with a predetermined rating schedule which fixes the credit to be assigned for various grades of the required experience. To attain eligibility a competitor must meet the minimum requirements for the position as stated in the examination announcement. When necessary, the Commission may request the applicant to supply the additional detailed information necessary to evaluate his qualifications.

(e) Register of eligibles. From the applications and related papers of persons eligible under the terms of the announcement the list of eligibles, known as the register, is prepared. A register card is completed for each eligible and a permanent index card and notice of rating prepared for each competitor.

The register of eligibles is arranged in such manner that the provisions of section 7 of the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944, of Executive Order 9733 and of the apportionment (section 2 of the Civil Service Act, March 3, 1871, 16 Stat. 514; 5 U. S. C. 631) are observed in certification from the top of the register. Existing registers are combined with the newly established register, when, in the judgment of the Commission, it is expedient to do so. Names of persons whose eligibility for probational appointment was restored under the provisions of Executive Order 8937 and Executive Order 9733 are also entered on the new register, if the period of extended eligibility to which they are entitled has not already expired.

Eligibles are requested to inform the Commission of any changes in availability, and may be suspended from the register during a period of unavailability, with the privilege of restoration upon notification to the Commission at any time during the life of the register. Eligibles who decline offers of appointment without a reasonable explanation may be suspended from the register. Eligibles on the central office register may be transferred to a register maintained in a field office of the Commission, and vice versa: Provided, The following conditions are met:

(1) An appropriate register is maintained by the receiving office.

(2) The requirements stated in the examination announcement for both offices concerned are the same.

(3) When the transfer is from a register for the non-apportioned service to one for the apportioned service, the eligible must prove legal or voting residence for 1 year prior to the submission of proof.

(4) If the register to which transfer of eligibility is requested is subject to a zone of certification provision, the eligible must be a resident of such zone of certification.

(5) On certain field registers the eligible must be merely a resident of the area in which the examination was publicized.

(6) Transfer is not permitted from a register established from an announcement which closed later than the comparable announcement in the office to which transfer is desired.

(7) Transfer of eligibility is subject to the approval of the receiving office.

(f) Certification of eligibles. If an agency desires to fill a vacancy by original appointment and it has been notified by the Commission that a register of eligibles has been established for probational appointment to such position, the Personnel Director of the agency, or his authorized representative, forwards to the Commission a request for the name of eligibles from which to select new personnel. If, upon receipt of the request in the central office, it is decided that the existing register is appropriate, eligibles in sufficient number to permit the appointing officer to consider three eligibles for each vacancy are listed from the top of the register and the list, known as a "certificate of eligibles", is furnished to the agency, together with the applications of such eligibles. If a study of the request indicates that certification in regular order from the register would not provide persons properly qualified to fill the vacancy, selective certification may be made. This can be done in two ways: (1) by reviewing all eligibles on the register to locate those having the special qualifications required to perform the duties of the position; or (2) rerating the eligibles on the most nearly appropriate registers on the basis of a special rating schedule which emphasizes the importance of the special qualifications required. In either case, the resulting eligibles are listed in the order of rating as augmented by veteran preference (and in accordance with the apportionment list if the positions are in the apportioned service) and the certificate forwarded to the appointing officer for his consideration.

(g) Selections from certificates. The appointing officer is required to make selection in accordance with the rule of three (see section 8 of the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944). If the appointing officer passes over a veteran eligible and tentatively selects a non-veteran he is required to furnish to the Commission reasons for his action, which are subject to review by the Commission. (Section 8 of the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944.) The appointing officer is not permitted to appoint a non-preference eligible, tentatively selected, in place of a preference eligible passed over, until he has received the Commission's opinion as to the sufficiency of his reasons for passing over the veteran. (If the appointing officer leaves a vacancy open for the selection of the preference eligible passed over, he may appoint the non-preference eligible.) If the Commission disagrees with the agency's reasons it requires the agency to submit any additional evidence in support of its action in passing over the veteran or a statement that there is no additional evidence in the case. In either event, the agency may, upon receiving a response to its second submission, appoint the non-preference eligible. The Commission is not empowered by the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944 to force the agency to appoint a veteran passed over by the agency without sufficient reason; however, it is directed by that act to furnish copies of the agency's reasons and its opinions of such reasons to the veteran or his authorized representative upon request.

The appointing officer, during the course of an interview with an eligible certified by the Commission, or in connection with any pre-employment check of an eligible's references, may receive information about the eligible which he believes would have disqualified the eligible from certification had the Commission been in possession of the information at the time the certificate was issued. In such cases, the appointing officer offers an objection to the eligible, and tentatively selects an eligible who would not have been within reach for consideration otherwise. He may not appoint such eligible selected out of order until the Commission has notified him whether the objection is sustained by the Commission. If the objection is sustained, the agency may appoint the eligible tentatively selected; if the objection is not sustained, the agency must reconsider the eligible to whom objection was offered. If the Commission lowers the rating of an eligible or declares him ineligible as the result of investigation following a sustained objection, the eligible is notified.

Since the regulations of the Commission do not require an appointing officer to give an eligible more than 3 considerations for the same position, a record of the certifications accorded each eligible is maintained on his record card, and, the number of considerations accorded the eligible as a result of each certification is recorded. If an eligible declines an offer of appointment, or fails to reply to the appointing officer's offer of appointment or inquiry as to availability, Form 1078, "Notice of Suspension of Eligibility" is sent to the eligible, informing him that if he does not reply to the questions with regard to the conditions under which he will accept an offer of appointment his name will be suspended from the register until such time as he notifies the Commission of his availability. If the agency's correspondence with the eligible is returned undelivered, the central office records are checked to insure that the correspondence was properly addressed; if so, the eligible is regarded as unavailable until he communicates with the Commission.

§ 02.3 Retirement—(a) Filing death claims. When an employee or an annuitant dies leaving any amount to his credit in the Retirement and Disability Funds it is the Commission's function to pay such amount to the person or persons who have a rightful claim to it. Such claims are handled as follows:

(1) The claimant must obtain a copy of Civil Service Commission Form 3000 either from the Retirement Division, or from the office in which deceased was last employed and complete it in accordance with the instructions contained therein. The completed form and supporting papers must be sent direct to the Retirement Division. There must be submitted with the application a certified copy of the public record showing the death of the employee or annuitant unless such death occurred while the employee was in the armed forces outside the continental United States. In the latter case the branch of the armed forces in which deceased was serving must be stated.

(2) A claim filed by or for a person who was designated by the deceased as beneficiary should be accompanied by the duplicate copy of the form on which such beneficiary was designated (Form 2806–1).

(3) If the application is filed by an executor, administrator, guardian, or committee, a certified copy of the court order showing such appointment must be submitted.

(4) If no beneficiary has been designated by deceased and no executor or administrator has been or will be appointed the claim should be filed by the legal heir or heirs under the laws of the State in which the deceased was domiciled.

(5) The application must be signed in the presence of two witnesses who must certify as to the identity of the person filing the claim.

(6) Upon examination of the application and the supporting documents the Commission adjudicates the claim.

§ 02.4 Enforcement of the Civil Service Act and rules—(a) Discrimination. Complaints by applicants who have been denied employment because of marital status, race or for political or religious reasons should be submitted in writing with all available evidence to the office of the Commission that has jurisdiction over filling the positions involved. The Commission investigates the allegation and notifies the appellant of the finding made. If a finding of a discrimination is made the Federal agency involved is notified and directed to take appropriate corrective action.

§ 02.5 Enforcement of other statutes—(a) Hatch Political Activities Act. Section 12 (a) of the Hatch Act prohibits political activity on the part of officers and employees of State and local governments whose principal employment is in connection with an activity financed in whole or in part by Federal funds. In exercising its function of enforcing this prohibition the Commission:

(1) Receives complaints alleging political activity.

(2) If the complaint so warrants, conducts an investigation.

(3) On the basis of the investigation issues a letter of charges.

(4) Reviews the answer to the letter of charges and either closes the case or conducts a formal hearing.

(5) Issues a final order embodying its findings as a result of the hearing.

(6) In the event of an appeal to the United States District Court, prepares the record for certification to the court and by arrangement with the Department of Justice represents the Government in the proceedings before the District Court.

CROSS REFERENCE: For the rules of practice under section 12 (a) of the Hatch Political Activities Act see Part 23 of this chapter.

§ 02.6 Notice of proposed rule making. Rules pertaining to the internal management of the Commission or of the Federal Government will be adopted and amended without prior notice or public participation. The procedure to be followed in the formulation of other rules will vary with the nature of the rule, the extent of public interest therein and the practicality of giving public notice. Details of the procedure to be followed will be incorporated in each notice of proposed rule making.

CIVIL SERVICE RULE II

NOTE: Text of Civil Service Rule II is contained in E. O. 9830, Title 3, supra.

REGULATIONS UNDER CIVIL SERVICE RULE II

§ 2.101 Examinations. (a) Examinations for original appointment shall be competitive except that noncompetitive examinations may be authorized when sufficient competent persons do not compete. Examinations for promotion, reassignment, transfer and reinstatement may be noncompetitive.

§ 2.102 Competition restricted to veterans. (a) Competition in examinations for the following positions is restricted by law to veterans as long as they are available: Guard, Elevator Operator, Messenger, and Custodian. It shall be the responsibility of each agency to restrict competition to veterans whenever, under delegated authority, it makes appointments to these positions.

(b) Until five years following the official termination of World War II competition in examinations for the following positions is restricted by Executive order to veterans as long as they are available: Correctional officer, Bureau of Prisons, Department of Justice; Veterans' relations adviser, Office of Price Administration; Assistant Contact Officer, Contact Officer, Contact Representative, and Senior Contact Representative, Veterans' Administration.

(c) Positions, examinations for which have been restricted to veterans under paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, may not be filled by appointment, reappointment, reinstatement, promotion, transfer or reassignment of a nonveteran as long as three or more qualified veterans are available for filling the position, except that a nonveteran employee may be promoted, transferred, or reassigned to a restricted position covered by the same generic title as the position in which he is presently serving.

§ 2.103 Qualifications of applicants. (a) Persons admitted to competitive examinations must be citizens of or owe allegiance to the United States. However, citizens of the Republic of Panama may be admitted to examinations for employment by the Panama Canal and the Panama Railroad Company, and until June 30, 1947, citizens of the Republic of the Philippines may be admitted to any examinations.

(b) When a veteran is rated in examinations where experience is an element of qualifications he shall be credited with time spent in the armed forces of the United States either: (1) As an extension of time spent in the position in which employed immediately prior to his entrance into such forces; or (2) On the basis of the actual duties performed therein; or both. Time spent in the armed forces shall be credited according to the method that will be of more benefit to the veteran.

§ 2.104 Disqualifications of applicants. (a) An applicant may be denied examination and an eligible may be denied appointment for any of the following reasons:

(1) Dismissal from employment for deliquency or misconduct.

(2) Physical or mental unfitness for the position for which applied.

(3) Criminal, infamous, dishonest, immoral, or notoriously disgraceful conduct.

(4) Intentional false statements or deception or fraud in examination or appointment.

(5) Refusal to furnish testimony as required by § 5.3 of Rule V.

(6) Habitual use of intoxicating beverages to excess.

(7) Reasonable doubt as to loyalty to the United States Government.

(8) Any legal or other disqualification which makes the applicant unfit for the service.

§ 2.105 Delayed filing of applications by veterans and persons serving overseas. (a) A ten-point veteran may file application at any time for any position he may specify for which there is an existing register, or a register about to be established, or to which any probational appointment has been made within the preceding three years. Examinations under this section shall be held not later than the quarterly period succeeding that in which the applications were filed.

(b) Applications for an examination for probational appointment will be accepted after the closing date of such examination from the persons described below, subject to the conditions specified:

(1) Any person who was unable to file application for an examination or to appear for any assembled test because of service in the armed forces of the United States, or because of hospitalization continuing for not more than one year following discharge from such forces. He may also file application for any examination announced within 120 days of his separation from the armed forces or hospitalization. Application from such person may be filed while in the armed forces or during hospitalization but must be filed within 120 days of honorable separation from such forces or from hospitalization and prior to the expiration of the register established as a result of the examination. A person serving in the armed forces or undergoing hospitalization will not be certified for appointment until he notifies the Commission that he will soon be available for appointment.

(2) Any citizen who was unable to file application for an examination or to appear for any assembled test because of foreign service with a Federal agency or an international organization in which the U. S. Government participates. He may also file application for any examination announced within 120 days of his return from foreign service. Application from such person may be filed while in foreign service but must be filed within 120 days of his return from foreign service and prior to expiration of the register established as a result of the examination. The applicant must certify, in his application or in a supporting statement, the facts which justify acceptance of his application under this subparagraph. He must show the Federal agency or international organization in which employed in foreign service, and the exact date of departure for and return from foreign service. "Foreign service" as used herein shall be service other than in the United States proper, Hawaii, Alaska, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, and the Canal Zone.

(3) Any person who meets the conditions of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph and leaves the armed forces to enter foreign service with a Federal agency, or an international organization in which the U. S. Government participates, and thus meets the conditions of subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, may file application within 120 days of his return from foreign service for examinations that closed either while he was in the armed forces or while he was in foreign service. Application must be filed prior to the expiration of the register established as a result of such examination.

§ 2.106 Competitive rating. (a) The subjects in examinations shall be given such relative weights as the Commission may prescribe. A scale of 100 shall be used and all competitors who meet the minimum entrance requirements and are rated 70 or more, including preference points, shall be eligible for appointment.

§ 2.107 Eligible registers. (a) The names of persons who qualify in competitive examinations shall be entered on appropriate registers in the order of their ratings, as may be augmented by veteran preference, subject to apportionment, residence, or other requirements of law or the Commission's regulations.

(b) When an eligible register has been established as the result of open competitive examination the names of the following classes of persons may be entered thereon provided they have a competitive status:

(1) Persons who have a legal right to restoration but fail to be restored to their former positions after service in the armed forces or the Merchant Marine of the United States;

(2) Persons who were transferred with reemployment rights but fail to be reemployed;

(3) Persons declared eligible by the Commission after appeal from separation under section 14 of the Veterans' Preference Act;

(4) Persons who, because of reduction in force, have been, or are about to be separated or furloughed for 30 days or more: Provided, That such persons may not have their names entered on more than two registers under this section.

(5) Veterans who have been furloughed or separated without delinquency or misconduct, or who have resigned from the service, and applied for reentry of their names on such register.

Application for entrance on a register under this paragraph must be filed within 90 days of separation or failure of restoration or reemployment. Applicants shall be examined under the same standards used in the open competitive examination and their names shall be entered on the register in the order prescribed by paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) (1) Veterans who were in the armed forces of the United States subsequent to May 1, 1940, and for that reason lost eligibility on a register during a period that the register was used for probational appointment, shall have their names entered on the appropriate successor register if they:

(i) Have been honorably separated from the armed forces;

(ii) Are still qualified to perform the duties of the position for which the register is used; and

(iii) Make application for entrance on the register within 90 days after separation from active service or from hospitalization continuing after discharge for a period of not more than one year.

Such persons shall be restored to the successor register, for the life of such register, in accordance with their former ratings as augmented by preference points, except as provided in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph.

(2) Persons who establish eligibility for entrance on a successor register in accordance with subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, shall have their names entered at the top of the appropriate group on the successor register if another person standing lower on the register on which their names formerly appeared was given a probational appointment from such register. For the purpose of determining the appropriate group all 10-point veterans including such restored veterans, will be considered as one group, and all other eligibles including such restored 5-point veterans, as another group. However, for professional and scientific positions for which the basic entrance salary is over $3,000 per annum, all eligibles will be considered as one group.

(3) Persons who meet the conditions for entrance on a successor register in accordance with subparagraph (1) of this paragraph shall have their names listed for certification for probational appointment if no successor register exists and another person standing lower on the register on which their names formerly appeared was given a probational appointment from such register.

§ 2.108 Termination of eligibility. (a) Elegibility on any register shall be terminated under the following conditions:

(1) By acceptance of appointment of other than temporary duration from such register.

(2) By action of the Commission terminating the eligibility of all eligibles on such register: Provided, That the eligibility of the following classes of persons shall not be terminated in less than one year unless a new register is established on the basis of more exacting requirements which have been determined to be more appropriate for the position concerned:

(i) Veterans entered on the register as a result of examination under section 10 of the Veterans' Preference Act, or of favorable determination of an appeal from dismissal or furlough, or application for restoration after furlough or separation without delinquency or misconduct, or resignation.

(ii) Eligibles entered on the register because of failure to receive mandatory reemployment after military or merchant marine service or transfer.

(iii) Eligibles restored to the register after separation because of reduction in force.

§ 2.109 Certification for appointment. (a) Upon receipt of a request for certification of eligibles, there shall be certified from the top of the appropriate register a sufficient number of names to permit the appointing officer to consider three eligibles in connection with each vacancy.

(b) Where no register exists appropriate as a whole for certification for filling a particular request, there may be certified selectively from the most nearly appropriate existing register, in the order of their ranking, the names of persons who are adequately qualified for the particular position to be filled. The Commission may, however, when appropriate, rerate the eligibles on the register on the basis of the particular requirements of the position.

(c) In order to fill existing vacancies in appropriate positions, and to require displacement of temporary and war service appointees who do not have eligibility for permanent retention, the Commission shall certify for probational appointment:

(1) Veterans who qualify in examinations under section 10 of the Veterans' Preference Act and who are entitled to 10-point preference and priority in certification under that statute; and

(2) Veterans entitled to priority in certification under § 2.107 (c) (3) because of lost opportunity for probational appointment due to military service.

(d) Certification shall be made without regard to sex unless the appointing officer, in accordance with the right conferred upon him by law, requests eligibles of a given sex.

§ 2.110 Apportionment. (a) Certifications for appointment in agencies' headquarters offices which are located within the metropolitan area of Washington, D. C., shall be made so as to maintain, as nearly as the conditions of good administration warrant, the apportionment of appointments among the several States, Territories, and the District of Columbia upon the basis of population. However, certification in the following cases shall be made without regard to the apportionment, and appointments in such cases shall be excluded from the apportionment figures:

(1) Certification of veterans.

(2) Certification for appointment to the following positions in all agencies:

(i) Positions in headquarters offices which are located outside the metropolitan area of Washington, D. C.

(ii) Positions in the professional and scientific service for which the entrance salary is over $3,000 per annum.

(iii) Positions in the clerical, administrative and fiscal service classified at Grade 14 and above.

(iv) Apprentice positions in the recognized trades and skilled occupations.

(v) Artisan and helper positions in all trades and skilled occupations, and all phases of the graphic and map reproduction arts that require trade knowledge and manual skill and effort in their performance. However, positions that require only clerical, technical, or professional knowledge in their performance are not excluded from the apportionment.

(vi) Positions of operating engineman, fireman, oiler, general helper, laborer, foreman of laborers, gardener, grounds keeper, animal keeper, chauffeur, truck driver, and telephone operator.

(3) Certification for appointment to all positions in the following agencies:

(i) The Government Printing Office.

(ii) Agency field offices in the metropolitan area of Washington, D. C.

§ 2.111 Selection for appointment. (a) An appointing officer shall, with sole reference to merit and fitness, make selection for the first vacancy from among the highest three eligibles available for appointment on the certificate. For the second vacancy he shall make selection from among the three highest unselected and available eligibles on the certificate. Each succeeding vacancy shall be filled in like manner. An appointing officer may pass over without further consideration any eligible (1) who has been considered for three separate appointments from the same or different certificates, or (2) to whose certification for the particular position he has made an objection which has been sustained by the Commission for any of the reasons stated in § 2.104.

(b) The following procedure shall be followed when an appointing officer passes over a veteran and tentatively selects a nonveteran:

(1) He shall file with the Commission his reasons in detail and in writing for passing over the veteran.

(2) The Commission shall determine the sufficiency or insufficiency of such reasons and notify the appointing officer of its findings.

(3) If the reasons are sufficient the nonveteran tentatively selected may be appointed.

(4) If the reasons are insufficient and the appointing officer still desires to appoint the nonveteran he shall submit:

(i) More detailed information concerning his reasons for passing over the veteran; or

(ii) A statement that he has no more information in support of his selection of the nonveteran.

(5) The nonveteran tentatively selected may not be legally appointed, except as provided herein, until the appointing officer has received the Commission's notice concerning his second statement.

(6) When a certificate has been issued for filling several vacancies a nonveteran may be appointed to one or more of the vacancies prior to receipt of the Commission's findings provided the appointing officer holds open one of the vacancies for further consideration of the veteran in case the reasons for passing him over are found insufficient. Where a seniority system of promotion is established by law, such appointment shall be made on a temporary basis until the vacancy held open is filled by probational appointment.

(7) A copy of the appointing officer's reasons and the Commission's findings shall, upon request, be sent to the veteran or his designated representative.

(c) If, upon certification, reasons deemed sufficient by the Commission for passing over a veteran's name shall three times have been given by appointing officers, certification of his name for appointment will thereafter be discontinued, prior notice of which shall be sent to the veteran.

§ 2.112 Appointments may be subject to investigation. (a) In the following types of appointments investigation designed to further establish the individual's qualifications may be made at any time within one year of the personnel action and removal may be ordered by the Commission if such investigation discloses that the individual is disqualified for Federal employment, and all such appointments shall be considered as subject to this condition:

(1) Original probational.

(2) Reappointments.

(3) Reinstatements.

(4) Temporary appointments pending establishment of a register.

(5) Temporary appointments which exceed or are extended beyond six months.

(6) Inter-agency transfers.

(7) Conversions from excepted, war service indefinite, or temporary indefinite positions to competitive positions.

§ 2.113 Probational appointment. (a) A person selected for other than temporary appointment shall be given a probational appointment. The first year of service under this appointment shall be a probationary period. The agency shall utilize the probationary period as fully as possible to determine the fitness of each employee and shall terminate his services during such period if he fails to demonstrate fully his qualifications for continued Federal employment.

(b) The following service will be counted toward completion of the probationary period:

(1) Service in the armed forces of the United States during a national emergency when the employee entered such service during his probationary period.

(2) All continuous service under war service indefinite appointment or temporary appointment rendered immediately preceding probational appointment, or acquisition of status under § 3.1 (b) (2), (5) and (7) of Rule III, which was in the same line of work and in the same agency as the position to which probationally appointed or in which status is acquired.

(c) A probationer voluntarily or involuntarily separated from the service without delinquency or misconduct may be restored to the register of eligibles for the remainder of any period of eligibility thereon whenever in the opinion of the Commission he is suitable and eligible for further Federal employment.

§ 2.114 Temporary appointment—(a) Pending establishment of register. Whenever there are no eligibles upon a register appropriate for filling a vacancy, and the public interest requires that the vacancy be filled before eligibles can be certified, the Commission may authorize temporary appointment. Such appointment shall continue only for such period as may be necessary to make appointment through certification, and in no case, without prior approval of the Commission, shall extend beyond thirty days from the date of the receipt by the appointing officer of a certification of three or more eligibles.

(b) Pending full certification. Whenever there are fewer than three eligibles on any appropriate register for a position in which a vacancy exists, the Commission shall certify for consideration for probational appointment those eligibles who are on the register. If the appointing officer shall elect not to make probational appointment from such certification, the vacancy may be filled by temporary appointment pending establishment of a register but the appointing officer will be required to give reasons for passing over a veteran on the certificate.

(c) Job employment. When there is work of a temporary character, at the completion of which the services of an additional employee will not be required, a temporary appointment may be made with the prior authority of the Commission for a period not to exceed 6 months. Such temporary appointment shall be made through certification from the Commission's eligible registers unless there are no available eligibles. Such temporary appointment may be extended only if there are no eligibles available for the additional period or after an adequate showing that such extension is necessary to complete the job of work for which the person was originally employed. The Commission may restrict certification for temporary job employment to eligibles that are immediately available because of residence or other conditions.

(d) Temporary substitutes in Post Offices. When, in the Post Office Service, the quota of substitutes is filled but the Post Office Department has authorized the appointment of additional substitutes for temporary work of indefinite duration, the Commission will, upon request of the Postmaster, certify eligibles, and selection shall be made, in the same manner as for probational appointment. However, the person selected shall not obtain a competitive status by such appointment, but shall be considered a temporary employee.

(e) Agency authority to make temporary appointments. Subject to the conditions specified, the Commission hereby delegates authority to agencies to make:

(1) Emergency appointments without examination in cases of extreme emergency where positions must be filled without delay, and where time does not permit the securing of prior authority of the Commission. Such emergency appointments may not continue for more than 30 days and may not be extended by the agency without the prior approval of the Commission.

(2) Temporary appointments pending establishment of a register, or for job employment as defined in paragraph (c) of this section, until the agencies have been notified that certification for filling particular positions should be secured from the Commission. In making such appointments the agencies shall:

(i) Give preference first to qualified ten-point veterans, second, to qualified five-point veterans, and third, to qualified former Federal employees. (Upon establishment before the Commission that this order of preference has not been followed in any case, the person appointed may be removed); and

(ii) Determine that the applicant meets the qualifications standards prescribed by the Commission for the position applied for.

(f) Limitations on rights of temporary appointees. Persons serving under appointments under this section may not be transferred between agencies and shall not be regarded as occupying permanent positions for the purpose of withingrade salary advancements under section 7 of the Classification Act of March 4, 1923, as amended, and shall not by virtue of such appointments be subject to the Civil Service Retirement Act.

CIVIL SERVICE RULE III

NOTE: Text of Civil Service Rule III is contained in E. O. 9830, Title 3, supra.

REGULATIONS UNDER CIVIL SERVICE RULE III

§ 3.101 Incumbents of positions brought into the competitive service. (a) When the Commission has determined, upon request of the agency, that one of the following situations exists, a person occupying a position when it is brought into the competitive service may be appointed at that time to such position, and may acquire a competitive status therein subject to the requirements of this section:

(1) A permanent excepted position has been brought into the competitive service by statute, Executive order, or revocation of a paragraph of Schedules A or B in accordance with § 6.1 (a) of Rule VI.

(2) The Postmaster General has issued an order for the advancement of any post office from the fourth class to a higher class, or for the consolidation of any post office with one in which the employees are in the competitive service.

(3) The Federal Government has taken over a public or private enterprise, or an identifiable unit thereof, and continues its functions on a permanent basis, and the Commission concurs with the agency concerned that the employees involved may be retained.

(b) In order to acquire a competitive status under this section an employee must:

(1) Be recommended by the agency in which employed.

(2) Have rendered six months of satisfactory active service in the position that is brought into the competitive service, or in the civilian executive branch of the Government immediately prior to the effective date of the change in status of the position, and continued to serve in such position for sixty days thereafter. In determining this time period the following may be substituted for active service: (i) Active service in the armed forces of the United States; (ii) The period during which an employee's name is carried on the United States employee compensation rolls for disability; and (iii) Leave without pay when granted for educational purposes under Pub. Law 16, 78th Cong., approved March 24, 1943 (57 Stat. 43); Pub. Law 113, 78th Cong., approved July 6, 1943 (57 Stat. 374); and Pub. Law 346, 78th Cong., approved July 22, 1944, 58 Stat. 284 (Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944), or because of personal illness of the employee (including maternity leave) after all sick leave has been exhausted.

(3) Pass such examination as the Commission may prescribe. Any law, Executive order, civil service rule or regulation which would disqualify an applicant for appointment shall also disqualify an applicant for acquisition of a competitive status.

(c) Any person appointed under paragraph (a) of this section who fails to meet the requirements for acquisition of a competitive status may, in the discretion of the agency concerned and with the approval of the Commission, be retained in the position occupied at the time his position is brought into the competitive service without acquiring a competitive status, but may not be promoted or transferred to any other competitive position.

(d) A former incumbent of a position which has been brought into the competitive service who left such position in order to perform active service in the armed forces of the United States between May 1, 1940, and the date of the official termination of World War II may acquire a competitive status provided:

(1) His position was brought into the competitive service during his service in the armed forces;

(2) He has been released from the armed forces under honorable conditions;

(3) He is recommended for reinstatement by the same or some other agency;

(4) He meets the requirements of paragraph (b) of this section.

(e) In order to acquire a competitive status any person who was given a war-service indefinite appointment upon the date his position was brought into the competitive service under one of the situations described in paragraph (a) of this section shall meet the following conditions:

(1) His Federal position has become permanent, and he has remained continuously employed in the same agency since such appointment; or

(2) His position in a public or private enterprise has become a permanent position, and he has remained continuously employed in the same establishment since his appointment; and

(3) He must have entered on duty in the Federal agency or public or private enterprise prior to March 16, 1942 for positions in the service generally, or October 23, 1943, for positions in the field service of the Post Office Department; and

(4) He must meet the requirements of paragraph (b) of this section.

(f) Any person who was given a war-service indefinite appointment upon the date his position was brought into the competitive service under one of the situations described in paragraph (a) of this section and who entered on duty subsequent to March 16, 1942 for positions in the service generally, or October 23, 1943, for positions in the field service of the Post Office Department, shall be subject to displacement, or retention if qualified, as war-service appointees in accordance with § 10.112 (a) of this chapter.

§ 3.102 Certain persons entitled to veteran preference. (a) Any person who establishes the present existence of a service-connected disability of not less than ten per cent, or any person entitled to wife or widow preference under the Veterans' Preference Act, when such person is serving under a war-service indefinite appointment, a temporary appointment pending establishment of a register, or a temporary appointment for job employment which has been continuous for more than one year, may acquire a competitive status subject to the following requirements:

(1) The employee shall have served satisfactorily in, and been recommended by the agency concerned. However, the Commission may request an agency to determine whether or not it will recommend the employee for status under this section and shall assume that recommendation has been made unless the agency makes an adverse recommendation within thirty days of receipt of the Commission's request.

(2) If the employee has not satisfactorily completed one year of service he will be required to serve a one-year probationary period. All continuous service in the same line of work as the position in which status is acquired may be counted toward completion of such probationary period.

(3) He must pass such examination as the Commission may prescribe. Any law, Executive order, Civil Service rule or regulation which would disqualify an applicant for appointment shall also disqualify an applicant for acquisition of a competitive status.

§ 3.103 Disabled veterans who have completed a training course. (a) When a disabled veteran shall have completed a course of training prescribed by the Administrator of Veterans' Affairs in accordance with the act of March 24, 1943, 57 Stat. 43, (Pub. Law 16, 78th Cong.), he may be appointed to the position for which the training was received provided the Commission determines that such training is adequate for the performance of the duties of the position. Such veteran may, upon recommendation of the agency concerned, acquire a competitive status upon passing such examination as the Commission may prescribe. Any law, Executive order, Civil Service rule or regulation which would disqualify an applicant for appointment shall also disqualify an applicant for acquisition of a competitive status.

§ 3.104 Employees who have served in the office of the President or on the White House staff. (a) Any employee who has served at least two years in the immediate office of the President or on the White House staff may acquire a competitive status subject to the following requirements:

(1) His transfer to the competitive service must be requested by an agency.

(2) He must pass such examination as the Commission may prescribe. Any law, Executive order, Civil Service rule or regulation which would disqualify an applicant for appointment will also disqualify an applicant for acquisition of a competitive status.

§ 3.105 Employees who have been reached on a register. (a) An employee who was serving when his name was reached for certification on a civil service register appropriate for the position in which he was serving may acquire a competitive status subject to the following requirements:

(1) He has been continuously employed since his name was reached on such register.

(2) He is recommended for a competitive status, prior to expiration of the register on which his name appears, by the agency in which he was employed when his name was reached.

(b) Such employee will be required to serve a one-year probationary period which shall begin to run from the date he was reached for certification.

(c) A non-veteran employee may not be granted status under this section until all veterans standing higher on the register have been given appropriate consideration under the Veterans' Preference Act.

§ 3.106 Employees reached on a register prior to the War Service Regulations. (a) An employee who was serving when his name was reached for certification on a civil service register appropriate for the position in which he was serving may acquire a competitive status subject to the following requirements:

(1) He was appointed to a competitive position for other than temporary job-employment lasting one year or less prior to the date such position was placed under the War Service Regulations.

(2) He has been continuously employed since his appointment and is recommended for a competitive status by the agency in which he is employed.

(3) He stood higher on such register than another eligible who received an original probational appointment therefrom.

§ 3.107 Employees serving in competitive positions without competitive status. (a) An employee who has served at least one year under an appointment not limited to one year or less and has received an eligible rating in an open competitive examination appropriate for the position occupied may acquire a competitive status subject to the following conditions:

(1) The Commission is about to require displacement of such employee by certification from the register;

(2) The lowest rating reached in the regular order of certification does not exceed his rating by more than five points.

(b) Where ten-point veterans are placed at the top of the register no person other than a ten-point veteran may be granted status under this section until all ten-point veterans standing higher on the register have been appointed or have been given appropriate consideration under the Veterans' Preference Act.

(c) In no event shall a non-veteran be granted status under this section until all veterans standing higher on the register have been appointed or have been given appropriate consideration under that act.

(d) In determining the required one-year of service, military service may be included when such service was an interruption of the employee's present civilian service.

CIVIL SERVICE RULE IV

NOTE: Text of Civil Service Rule IV is contained in E. O. 9830, Title 3, supra.

REGULATIONS UNDER CIVIL SERVICE RULE IV

Prohibition Against Political Activity

§ 4.101 Investigations. (a) Investigations of cases involving charges of prohibited political activity on the part of an officer or employee (both hereinafter comprehended within the term "employee") subject to the provisions of § 4.1 of Rule IV shall be conducted jointly by representatives of the Commission and of the agency where the individual is employed, unless either the Commission or the agency signifies that it will be unable to participate in the investigation. The Commission shall be notified of any complaint of political activity received by an agency and shall be given an opportunity to cooperate in any investigation that the agency may decide to make. Likewise, the Commission will not proceed with any investigation until the agency has been notified and has been given an opportunity to participate.

(b) During the course of the investigation the employee shall be afforded an opportunity to make a statement, either personally or in writing, before the investigator, and shall be allowed to furnish names of witnesses who will support the statements he has made to the investigator.

§ 4.102 Investigation by correspondence. (a) In case the complaint involves a political activity violation that may be established by record evidence, the investigation may be conducted by correspondence. In such cases, the accused employee will be given an opportunity to furnish in writing any statement or information that he may desire and the employing agency will be furnished a copy of the letter directed to such accused employee allowing him the opportunity to furnish a statement.

§ 4.103 Proposed order. (a) When the Commission reaches the conclusion that a violation of § 4.1 of Rule IV has been established by the investigation, it shall issue a proposed order. This order, which shall include a statement of the charges against the employee and of the information in support thereof, shall be sent to the employee by registered mail, and he shall be allowed 15 days from the date of service to respond thereto in writing. A copy of this order shall also be sent to the agency in which the individual is employed. With his reply to the proposed order, the employee may request a hearing as hereinafter provided.

§ 4.104 Hearing. (a) The granting of a hearing shall not be a matter of right but shall be within the discretion of the Commission. No hearing shall be authorized in cases where the employee has admitted a violation or where a violation is established by indisputable record evidence.

(b) Hearings shall be held before a Hearing Examiner designated by the Commission and shall be at the Commission's office in Washington, D. C., unless the Commission shall order that the hearing be held elsewhere. All testimony shall be under oath or affirmation. The employee may appear personally or by or with counsel. Counsel appearing shall have been admitted to practice before the Commission in accordance with Rule 4 of the rules of practice under the act of August 2, 1939 as amended (§ 23.4 of this chapter).

(c) The hearing shall be of the limited scope necessitated by the Commission's lack of the power of subpena in proceedings under § 4.1 of Rule IV. Because of the absence of that authority, it cannot undertake to conduct said hearing as a proceeding de novo, or to have evidence introduced therein in support of the charges against the respondent. Owing to the lack of subpena power, evidence in support of charges must be limited to information given voluntarily. Such information is obtained upon an understanding of confidential treatment. Consequently, evidence supporting the charges cannot be introduced at the hearing. The hearing shall be unilateral, that is, it shall be only for the presentation of evidence on behalf of the employee in rebuttal of the charges disclosed by the proposed order. Counsel for the Commission may cross-examine witnesses.

(d) It shall be within the discretion of the Hearing Examiner to permit, and fix the time for, filing of briefs. The proceedings at the hearing will not be reported, unless the Commission shall so direct; but the employee shall have the privilege of himself having the evidence taken stenographically. If the proceeding is not taken by a reporter on behalf of the Commission, the employee and Commission counsel shall submit a summary thereof to the Hearing Examiner within a time fixed by him. Any disagreement concerning the contents of the summary shall be resolved by the Examiner, and the parties may file written exceptions. The summary and any exceptions shall be certified by the Hearing Examiner and shall become a part of the record.

§ 4.105 Final order. (a) The Commission's final order shall be based on the entire record of the case, including the report of the investigation, the reply of the employee to the proposed order, and in cases where a hearing has been granted, the report of the Hearing Examiner. If the employee does not reply to the proposed order within 15 days from the date of service, a final order shall be based on the report of investigation alone.

(b) The final order shall contain a statement of the charges that have been substantiated and shall prescribe the penalty to be imposed. Copies of the final order shall be served on the respondent and on the agency wherein the individual is employed.

§ 4.106 Penalties. (a) Since violations of § 4.1 of Rule IV are by law violations also of section 9 (a) of the Hatch Act, the penalty required by that act must of necessity be imposed. The employee must be immediately removed from the position or office held and may not again be employed in such position or office. If the appointing officer fails to carry out the instructions of the Commission within ten days after receipt thereof, the Commission shall certify the facts to the head of the agency concerned for proceedings for withholding salary in accordance with § 5.5 of Rule V.

(b) When the Commission directs the removal of an employee for a violation of § 4.1 of Rule IV, and the Hatch Act, the penalty laid down in § 4.106 (a) shall be applied, even where the agency reports that the individual has been removed, on grounds other than a violation of § 4.1 of Rule IV and the Hatch Act. Such individual may not again be employed in the position from which he was removed. The provisions of § 4.107 regarding reemployment in positions other than the one from which removal was effected shall also apply.

(c) The above procedure shall apply also where an employee has resigned from his position or office prior to the Commission's determination that he had violated § 4.1 of Rule IV, and the Hatch Act.

§ 4.107 Reemployment. (a) An employee removed for violation of § 4.1 of Rule IV may be reemployed in accordance with the provisions of the regulations in this chapter in any position for which he can qualify other than one the salary or compensation of which is payable under the same appropriation as the position from which removed: Provided, That in all cases involving a finding that a Federal employee has engaged in prohibited political activity, the Commission shall consider the matter from a suitability standpoint and shall establish a definite period of debarment applicable to the employee for all Federal positions within the Commission's jurisdiction.

Withdrawal From Competition

§ 4.201 Attempting to secure withdrawal from competition. (a) Applicants for competitive examination, or eligibles on any register, or officers or employees in the executive branch, shall not directly or indirectly persuade, induce, or coerce, or attempt to persuade, induce, or coerce any prospective applicant, applicant, or eligible to withhold filing application or to withdraw from competition or eligibility for positions in the competitive service for the purpose of either improving or injuring the prospects for appointment of any such applicant or eligible. The penalty for violation of this section by applicants or eligibles shall be cancellation of application or eligibility, as the case may be, and such other penalty as the Commission may deem appropriate.

Definitions

§ 4.301 Definitions. (a) As used in the regulations in this chapter:

(1) "Agency" means any executive department or independent establishment of the Federal Government, including a Government owned and controlled corporation, and any portion of the legislative and judicial branches and of the Government of the District of Columbia insofar as they have positions subject to the Civil Service rules and regulations.

(2) "Appointing officer" means a person having power by law, or by lawfully delegated authority, to make appointments.

(3) "Armed forces" means the armed forces of the United States.

(4) "Competitive service" shall have the same meaning as the words "classified service", or "classified (competitive) service" or "classified civil service" as defined in existing statutes and Executive orders. The competitive service shall include all civilian positions in the executive branch of the Government unless specifically excepted therefrom under statute or Executive order, and all positions in the legislative and judicial branches and of the District of Columbia Government which are specifically made subject thereto by statute. Persons occupying such positions shall be considered as being in the competitive service when they have a competitive status.

(5) "Competitive status" means a status which permits a person to be promoted, transferred, reassigned, and reinstated to positions in the competitive service without competitive examination, subject to the conditions prescribed by the Civil Service rules and regulations for such noncompetitive actions. A competitive status is acquired by probational appointment through competitive examination, or may be granted by statute, Executive order, or the Civil Service rules.

(6) "Continuous service" means an active duty status but may include a break in service of not more than 30 calendar days.

(7) "Demotion" means a change from one position to another position of lower grade or lower minimum salary during continuous service within the same agency.

(8) "Metropolitan area of Washington, D. C." means the area so defined by the Bureau of the Census, and includes the District of Columbia, and Alexandria City, Arlington County, and part of Fairfax County, Virginia, and parts of Montgomery and Prince Georges Counties, Maryland.

(9) "Military service" means active service in the armed forces of the United States.

(10) "Promotion" means a change from one position to another position of higher grade or higher minimum salary during continuous service within the same agency.

(11) "Reassignment" means a change, without promotion or demotion, from one position to another position in a different line of work (such as from clerk to stenographer, chauffeur to guard, etc.) or in the same line of work (such as from clerk-searcher to clerk-recorder) or in service (such as subprofessional to clerical, administrative and fiscal) during continuous service within the same agency.

(12) "Removal" means separation from the service on charges of delinquency or misconduct, or because the employee's capacity is not sufficient to justify his retention in the service.

(13) "Rule" means Civil Service rule.

(14) "Suspension" means a temporary non-pay status and absence from duty required by the appointing officer for disciplinary reasons, or for other reasons pending inquiry.

(15) "Temporary indefinite" means temporary pending establishment of a register.

(16) "Transitional period" means the period from the revocation of the War Service Regulations to the establishment of registers of sufficient eligibles for probational appointment, or to the time particular positions can be filled by persons having a competitive status without the establishment of a register, as may be determined by the Commission.

(17) "Transfer" means a change of position during continuous Federal service from one agency to another, or within the same agency from one official headquarters to another or from one organizational unit to another.

(18) "Veteran" means a person entitled to preference under the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944, including a person entitled to wife or widow preference under that act.

(19) "War Service Regulations" means the regulations issued by the Commission pursuant to Executive Order No. 9063 of February 16, 1942, as amended, and in effect from March 16, 1942 to March 7, 1946.

PART 7—REINSTATEMENT

Sec.
7.101 General requirements for reinstatement of persons who have competitive status.
7.102 Extension of time limits after certain types of employments.
7.103 Commission approval required for certain reinstatements.
7.104 Agency authority for reinstatement.

AUTHORITY: §§ 7.101 to 7.104, inclusive, issued under R. S. 1753; sec. 2, 22 Stat. 403, 50 Stat. 533; 5 U. S. C. 631, 633.

§ 7.101 General requirements for reinstatement of persons who have competitive status. (a) A person having a competitive status at the time of separation from the Federal service may be reinstated subject to the following requirements:

(1) Reinstatement must be made within one year of separation if the period of service was less than two years, within two years if the period of service was two years or more but less than three years, within three years if the period of service was three years or more but less than four years, within four years if the period of service was four years or more but less than five years, and without time limitation if the period of service was five years or more.

(2) If separated during his probationary period, reinstatement must be made within one year of separation; but such reinstatement may be made only in the same agency and in the same type of position, grade, and locality, and shall be subject to completion of probation.

(3) Veterans may be reinstated without regard to any time limitations specified in this section.

(4) The qualifications standards of the Commission for promotion or reassignment to the position must be met.

(5) The applicant must be eligible under the apportionment quota restrictions of § 2.110 of this chapter unless he is a veteran or has previously served in the apportioned service. However, the Commission may, upon request of the agency, waive the apportionment when the reinstatement is in the interest of good administration.

§ 7.102 Extension of time limits after certain types of employments. (a) The period of eligibility for reinstatement of any person with a competitive status who left his position and within thirty days entered on duty in one of the following described employments, shall begin to run from the date of termination of continuous and satisfactory service in such employment:

(1) An excepted position in the executive branch of the Government.

(2) A position in the judicial branch of the Government or in the executive or judicial branches of the insular possessions of the United States.

(3) The legislative branch of the Government.

(4) The service of an international governmental organization, or of a Territorial, State, county, municipal or foreign government in a position in which he has acquired valuable training and experience for the position to be filled.

(5) A training course in any educational institution of recognized standing when the Commission finds that he has acquired valuable training or experience for the position to be filled.

(6) Compulsory service on work of national importance under civilian direction as required by the Selective Training and Service Act.

§ 7.103 Commission approval required for certain reinstatements. (a) A certificate by the Commission authorizing the reinstatement must be obtained by any agency when:

(1) A waiver of the apportionment is requested in the interest of good administration.

(2) A former employee eligible under § 7.102 is proposed for reinstatement.

(3) The person proposed for reinstatement was removed for cause from his last position in the Federal or District of Columbia Government, or when his removal was made at the specific request of the Commission for any of the reasons stated in § 2.104 of this chapter.

(b) Prior approval of the qualifications of the person proposed for reinstatement must be obtained from the Commission when:

(1) It is desired to make an exception to the qualifications standards for the position to which reinstatement is proposed.

(2) The Commission has not issued qualifications standards for such position unless reinstatement is to be made to a position in the same (or lower) grade in the same line of work as a position previously held in the Federal service.

§ 7.104 Agency authority for reinstatement. (a) The Commission hereby delegates authority to agencies to reinstate any person who meets the requirements of § 7.101 except where a certificate of the Commission is required by § 7.103 (a). However, prior approval of qualifications must be obtained in cases falling under § 7.103 (b).

(b) The Commission may disapprove any reinstatement, or suspend or withdraw this authority whenever, after post-audit, it finds that the regulations in this part have not been followed.

PART 8—PROMOTION, REASSIGNMENT, AND TRANSFER

Sec.
8.101 General requirements for promotion, reassignment, and transfer of employees who have competitive status.
8.102 Commission approval required for certain promotions, reassignments, and transfer.
8.103 Agency authority for promotion, reassignment, or transfer.
8.104 Status and tenure unchanged.

AUTHORITY: §§ 8.101 to 8.104, inclusive, issued under R. S. 1753; sec. 2, 22 Stat. 403, 50 Stat. 533; 5 U. S. C. 631, 633.

§ 8.101 General requirements for promotion, reassignment, and transfer of employees who have competitive status. (a) An employee having a competitive status may be promoted, reassigned, or transferred subject to the following requirements:

(1) The qualifications standards of the Commission for promotion or reassignment to the position must be met.

(2) An employee serving in a position in the clerical, administrative and fiscal service classified at Grade 7 or a comparable or higher salary level, who has served continuously in the field or nonapportioned service of an agency for at least the three years immediately preceding, may be transferred, promoted, or reassigned to an apportioned position in the same agency without regard to the apportionment. In all other transfers, promotions, or reassignments the employee must be eligible under the apportionment quota restrictions of § 2.110 of this chapter unless he is a veteran or has previously served in the apportioned service. However, the Commission may, upon request of the agency, waive the apportionment when the transfer, promotion, or reassignment is in the interest of good administration.

(3) He must complete the probationary period in the new position if he is promoted, reassigned, or transferred before completion of probation.

§ 8.102 Commission approval required for certain promotions, reassignments, and transfers. (a) A certificate by the Commission authorizing the promotion, reassignment, or transfer must be obtained by an agency when a waiver of the apportionment is necessary and requested in the interest of good administration.

(b) Prior approval of the qualifications of the employee proposed for promotion, reassignment, or transfer must be obtained from the Commission when:

(1) It is desired to make an exception to the qualifications standards for the position to which promotion, reassignment, or transfer is proposed.

(2) The Commission has not issued qualifications standards for such position unless reassignment or transfer is to be made to a position in the same (or lower) grade in the same line of work as the position presently or previously occupied by the employee.

§ 8.103 Agency authority for promotion, reassignment, or transfer. (a) The Commission hereby delegates authority to agencies to promote, reassign, or transfer an employee who meets the requirements of § 8.101 except where a certificate of the Commission is required by § 8.102 (a). However, prior approval of qualifications must be obtained in cases falling under § 8.102 (b).

(b) The Commission may disapprove any promotion, reassignment, or transfer, or suspend or withdraw this authority whenever, after post-audit, it finds that the regulations in this part have not been followed.

§ 8.104 Status and tenure unchanged. (a) The status or tenure of an employee will not be changed by promotion, re-assignment, or intra-agency transfer under this part. No time limit administratively placed on an appointment by inter-agency transfer shall affect the employee's right to permanent tenure in the agency in which employed unless he was transferred to a position with a time limitation of six months or less.

PART 9—SEPARATIONS AND DEMOTIONS

Sec.
9.101 Agency responsibility for separation or demotion of employees.
9.102 Procedure in separating or demoting permanent and indefinite employees.
9.103 Procedure in separating employee serving a probationary or trial period.
9.104 Procedure in separating temporary employees.
9.105 Authority of Commission to investigate separations.
9.106 Effect of removal on future employment.
9.107 Suspensions.

AUTHORITY: §§ 9.101 to 9.107, inclusive, issued under R. S. 1753; sec. 2, 22 Stat. 403, 50 Stat. 533; 5 U. S. C. 631, 633.

§ 9.101 Agency responsibility for separation or demotion of employees. (a) The employing agency shall remove, demote, or reassign to another position any employee in the competitive service whose conduct or capacity is such that his removal, demotion, or reassignment will promote the efficiency of the service. The grounds for disqualification of an applicant for examination stated in § 2.104 of this chapter shall be included among those constituting sufficient cause for removal of an employee.

(b) The discretion vested in the appointing officer to remove employees under his jurisdiction, or to take other disciplinary action, is subject only to the following restrictions:

(1) Employees serving under other than a probational or temporary appointment in the competitive service shall not be removed, or demoted except for such cause as will promote the efficiency of the service and in accordance with the procedure prescribed in § 9.102.

(2) Discrimination shall not be exercised in removals or demotions because of an employee's religious opinions or affiliations, or because of his marital status or race, or except as may be required by law, because of his political opinions or affiliations.

(3) Like penalties shall be imposed for like offenses whenever removals or demotions are made, or when other disciplinary actions are taken.

§ 9.102 Procedure in separating or demoting permanent and indefinite employees. (a) One of the following procedures shall be followed in connection with the removal, involuntary separation (other than retirement for age or disability), furlough in excess of 30 days, or demotion of any permanent or war service indefinite employee in the competitive service unless he is serving a probational or trial period. The procedural requirements of this section shall not apply to any person serving under temporary appointment, or whose removal is requested by the Commission under § 5.4 of Rule V.

(1) Charges preferred against nonveteran employees. Prior to separation or demotion for cause, the agency shall notify the employee in writing of the action proposed to be taken. This notice shall set forth specifically and in detail the charges preferred against him. The employee shall be allowed a reasonable time for personally answering such charges in writing and for furnishing affidavits in support of his answer. He shall not, however, be entitled to an examination of witnesses nor a trial or hearing except in the discretion of the agency. If the employee answers the charges, his answer must be considered by the agency. If, upon consideration of the evidence, the agency determines that the removal or other action is warranted, the employee shall be notified in writing of the reasons for the action taken and its effective date. Copies of the charges, notice of hearing (if any), answer, reasons for removal or other action, and of the notice of action taken shall be made a part of the records of the department or agency concerned.

(2) Removal or other actions affecting veterans. The regulations governing appeals to the Commission under section 14 of the Veterans' Preference Act (Part 22 of this chapter) shall be followed in connection with the removal, suspension for more than 30 days, furlough without pay, or reduction in rank or compensation of any veteran.

(3) Separations or reductions in compensation required by official efficiency ratings. The instructions promulgated by the Commission for the administration of the Uniform Efficiency Rating System required by section 9 of the Classification Act of 1923, as amended, shall be followed whenever the dismissal or reduction in compensation of an employee is based on the official efficiency rating assigned to him under that system.

(4) Reduction in force. The Retention Preference Regulations for use in reductions in force promulgated by the Commission pursuant to section 12 of the Veterans' Preference Act (Part 20 of this chapter) shall be followed whenever the employee's separation or furlough in excess of 30 days is caused by a reduction in force.

(5) Demotion for administrative reasons. A nonveteran whose demotion is proposed for administrative reasons shall be notified in writing of the reasons why his demotion will promote the efficiency of the service and of his right to appeal his demotion to the head of the agency concerned through the grievance procedures adopted by the agency. The regulations governing appeals to the Commission under section 14 of the Veterans' Preference Act (Part 22 of this chapter) shall be followed whenever a veteran's demotion is proposed for administrative reasons.

§ 9.103 Procedure in separating employee serving a probationary or trial period. (a) Any person serving a probationary or trial period shall be given a full and fair trial in the performance of the duties of the position to which appointed. If the performance of his duties or his conduct is not satisfactory to the agency his services shall be terminated by notifying him in writing of the reasons for his separation and of its effective date. The Retention Preference Regulations (Part 20 of this chapter) shall be followed whenever a probationer's separation is caused by reduction in force.

§ 9.104 Procedure in separating temporary appointees. (a) A person serving under a temporary appointment may be separated at any time upon notice in writing from the appointing officer.

§ 9.105 Authority of Commission to investigate separations. (a) Except as required by section 14 of the Veterans' Preference Act, the Commission shall not investigate or review the sufficiency of the reasons for removal, reassignment, or reduction in rank or compensation of an employee.

(b) The Commission may investigate the removal, reassignment, or demotion of an employee when such employee establishes a prima facie case that:

(1) The procedure prescribed by the Commission under § 9.102 (a) (1) has not been followed; or

(2) The removal, reassignment, or demotion was made for political reasons, except as may be required by law, or for religious reasons, or resulted from discrimination because of marital status or race.

§ 9.106 Effect of removal on future employment. (a) An employee who has been removed on charges shall not solely for that reason be ineligible for further employment in the competitive service. His suitability for further employment will be determined by the Commission upon receipt of an official request for his reinstatement or when he files application for an examination.

§ 9.107 Suspensions. (a) The regulations governing appeals to the Commission under section 14 of the Veterans' Preference Act (Part 22 of this chapter) shall be followed whenever a veteran is suspended for more than 30 days unless he is serving a probationary or trial period. Any nonveteran may be suspended for a period not to exceed 90 days pending action under § 9.102 (a) (1) or for disciplinary reasons. The period of suspension may be extended beyond 90 days with the prior consent of the Commission. The reasons for suspension shall at the time of the suspension be filed in the records of the department or agency concerned.

PART 10—SPECIAL TRANSITIONAL PROCEDURES

Sec.
10.101 Method of filling vacancies.
10.102 Reappointment of war service indefinite employees during the transitional period.
10.103 Promotion, reassignment, and transfer of war service indefinite employees during the transitional period.
10.104 Promotion, reassignment, and transfer of temporary indefinite employees during the transitional period.
10.105 Agency authority to make promotions, reassignments, transfers and reappointments during the transitional period.

Sec.
10.106 Tenure under this part.
10.107 Status and tenure of persons having competitive status who were transferred or reappointed under the War Service or Temporary Civil Service Regulations.
10.108 Statutory restoration after military service.
10.109 Regulatory restoration after military service.
10.110 Restoration in another agency.
10.111 Reemployment benefits after transfer.
10.112 Replacement of war service and temporary appointees.
10.113 Release requirements for appointment, reappointment, reinstatement or transfer under the regulations in this chapter.

AUTHORITY: §§ 10.101 to 10.113, inclusive, issued under R. S. 1753; sec. 2, 22 Stat. 403, 50 Stat. 533; 5 U. S. C. 631, 633.

§ 10.101 Method of filling vacancies. (a) (1) Until agencies have been notified by the Commission that the procedures provided in the regulations in this part for the transitional period may no longer be used for particular positions, a vacancy may be filled by any person eligible under this part or by a temporary appointment pending establishment of a register in accordance with § 2.114 (e) of this chapter. A vacancy in any position for which such notice has been issued shall be filled only by a person having a competitive status or by selection for probational appointment from an eligible register.

(2) The requirements of Parts 7 and 8 of this chapter must be followed whenever a vacancy is filled by a person having a competitive status.

(b) The authority to fill vacancies by temporary appointment, or by persons eligible under this part, may be suspended by the Commission whenever, in accordance with § 2.109 (c) of this chapter, it certifies to an agency the name of veterans examined under section 10 of the Veterans' Preference Act or entitled to priority in certification because of lost opportunity for probational appointment due to military service.

§ 10.102 Reappointment of war service indefinite employees during the transitional period. (a) Except as provided in § 10.101 (a), any former employee who served under a war service indefinite appointment at any time during his last continuous service may be reappointed within 30 days of separation if he meets the qualifications standards of the Commission for promotion or reassignment to the position: Provided, That this period may be extended to 90 days in the case of an employee who proves by a certificate signed by the head of a liquidated agency by which he was last employed that he had been required by the exigencies of the service to serve continuously in active duty during the final two months of the agency's operations and through the final date of its liquidation.

§ 10.103 Promotions, reassignment, and transfer of war service indefinite employees during the transitional period. (a) Except as provided in § 10.101 (a), any employee who, during his current continuous service, has served under a war service indefinite appointment may be promoted, reassigned, or transferred if he meets the qualifications standards of the Commission for promotion or reassignment to the position.

§ 10.104 Promotion, reassignment, and transfer of temporary indefinite employees during the transitional period. (a) Except as provided in § 10.101 (a), an employee serving under temporary indefinite appointment may be promoted, reassigned, or transferred only within the same agency. Such employee must meet the qualifications standards of the Commission for promotion or reassignment to the position.

§ 10.105 Agency authority to make promotions, reassignments; transfers and reappointments during the transitional period. (a) The Commission hereby delegates authority to agencies to promote, reassign, transfer, or reappoint any employee who meets the requirements of this part. However, prior approval of the qualifications of the person proposed for promotion, reassignment, transfer, or reappointment must be obtained from the Commission when:

(1) It is desired to make an exception to the qualifications standards for the position to which promotion, reassignment, transfer, or reappointment is proposed.

(2) The Commission has not issued qualifications standards for such position unless reassignment, transfer, or reappointment is to be made to a position in the same (or lower) grade in the same line of work as the position presently or previously occupied by the employee.

(b) The Commission may disapprove any promotion, reassignment, transfer, or reappointment, or suspend or withdraw this authority whenever, after post-audit, it finds that the regulations in this part have not been followed.

§ 10.106 Tenure under this part. (a) The tenure of an employee will not be changed by promotion, reassignment, transfer, or reappointment under this part unless he is assigned to a position with a time limitation of six months or less. However, an employee who has served under war service indefinite appointment and then received an excepted appointment shall be considered as having a war service appointment when promoted, reassigned, transferred, or reappointed under this part.

§ 10.107 Status and tenure of persons having competitive status who were transferred or reappointed under the War Service or Temporary Civil Service Regulations. (a) No employee who was transferred from a probational or permanent civil service appointment during the period the War Service Regulations or the Temporary Civil Service Regulations were in effect shall by reason of such transfer, lose his right to permanent tenure. No time limit administratively placed on the appointment to the position to which transferred without his consent shall affect the employee's rights to permanent tenure in the agency by which employed.

(b) Any employee who, on or after March 16, 1942, (or in the case of the Post Office field service, on or after October 23, 1943) was appointed or reappointed (or whose appointment was automatically converted to a war service appointment) under the War Service Regulations without break in service of 30 calendar days or more after satisfactory service and separation from a probational or permanent Civil Service appointment, shall be entitled to the same benefits he would have had under reinstatement under the Civil Service rules. Such an employee has permanent tenure and competitive status in the agency in which employed unless he was appointed or reappointed with a time limitation of one year or less. An employee reappointed under the Temporary Civil Service Regulations will have the same civil service status and tenure in the agency to which reappointed as he had in the agency in which he last served unless he was reappointed with a time limitation of six months, or less.

§ 10.108 Statutory restoration after military service. (a) Any civilian employee of the executive branch of the Government who has left or leaves a position (other than a temporary position) in order to perform active service in the armed forces of the United States shall be restored to the position he left, or if that position does not exist, to a position of like seniority, status, and pay. Restoration shall be made within 30 days of application for reemployment. In order to be entitled to restoration under this section the employee shall (1) have been honorably separated from the armed forces; (2) be qualified to perform the duties of the position; and (3) make application for reemployment within 90 days after he is relieved from active service, or from hospitalization continuing after discharge for a period of not more than one year.

(b) Failure of the agency to act within the 30-day period will not affect the employee's right to restoration. The employee's tenure with the agency will determine whether he left other than a temporary position. The fact that the last position the returning veteran held through promotion or reassignment carried a time limitation will not of itself affect his right to be restored to that position or one of like seniority, status, and pay.

§ 10.109 Regulatory restoration after military service. (a) Any civilian employee in the competitive service who has left or leaves a temporary position in order to perform active service in the armed forces of the United States shall be reemployed either in the position he left, or one of like seniority, status, and pay in the same geographical locality in which formerly employed, so long as such a position is occupied by an employee with lower retention preference. His reemployment shall be subject to the following requirements: The employee shall (1) have been honorably separated from the armed forces; (2) be qualified to perform the duties of the position; (3) make application for reemployment within 90 days after he is relieved from active service, or from hospitalization continuing after discharge for a period of not more than one year; and (4) have been serving under an appointment not limited to one year or less when he entered the armed forces. Reemployment under this section shall be made within 30 days of application but shall not require the removal through reduction in force of any employee with higher retention preference, nor extend the limitation placed on the employee's original appointment.

(b) Failure of the agency to act within the 30-day period will not affect the employee's right to reemployment. The fact that the last position the returning veteran held through promotion or reassignment carried a time limitation will not of itself affect his right to be restored to that position or one of like seniority, status, and pay.

(c) Any person who, in order to perform active service in the armed forces of the United States, has left or leaves a position in a public or private enterprise (other than a temporary position limited to one year or less) which was or is subsequently taken over by the Federal Government shall be entitled to reemployment in accordance with this section. Upon such reemployment he shall be entitled to all the benefits accorded other employees taken over by the Government.

§ 10.110 Restoration in another agency. (a) In lieu of restoration in the agency he left, any person who meets the conditions of §§ 10.108 or 10.109 for restoration after service in the armed forces may be reemployed under this section in any other agency, in that agency's discretion, in any position for which he meets the qualifications standards of the Commission for promotion or reassignment to such position. The prior approval of the Commission for such reemployment shall be required only when:

(1) It is desired to make an exception to the qualifications standards for the position to which reemployment is proposed;

(2) The Commission has not issued qualifications standards for such position unless reemployment is to be in a position in the same (or lower) grade in the same line of work as a position previously held in the Federal service.

(b) Any person reemployed under this section may, to the extent consistent with law, be extended all of the benefits that he would have received if he had been restored in the agency he left to enter the armed forces. Reemployment under this section of a person having regulatory restoration rights shall not extend the limitation placed on his original appointment.

§ 10.111 Reemployment benefits after transfer. (a) Any person, except one who was holding a temporary position, who was transferred by the Commission with reemployment rights under authority of Executive Order No. 8973 or 9067 or War Manpower Commission Directive No. X, shall be entitled to the rights specified in paragraph (b) of this section if he:

(1) Gives the agency in which he has reemployment rights 30 days' advance written notice of his intent to exercise his reemployment rights and that he has secured the consent of the agency in which he is employed, or upon appeal, of the Commission, to the exercise of such rights: Provided, That such notice may not be withdrawn by the employee without forfeiture of his rights under this section. If furloughed or separated from the activity to which transferred, he shall give such advance notice not later than 40 days after such furlough or separation. In any event, such notice shall be given not later than six months after the end of World War II as officially determined.

(2) Is still qualified to perform the duties of the position.

(b) Any person meeting the requirements of paragraph (a) of this section shall be entitled to the following rights:

(1) If his transfer was to another Federal agency, he shall be entitled to 30 days' notice from the agency to which he was transferred, prior to the termination of his services with such agency, unless such termination is for cause.

(2) He shall be reemployed within 30 days of his application in the same agency and to the maximum extent practicable, in the same locality, in his former position, or in a position of like seniority, status, and pay, in such manner, to the extent consistent with law, that he does not lose any of the rights or benefits to which he would have been entitled had he not been transferred or released: Provided, That such a position then exists that is not held by a person having higher retention preference.

(c) In the event of the transfer of any employee under a series of transfers, all of which were with reemployment rights, such reemployment rights shall continue to be applicable only to the agency from which the employee was originally transferred.

(d) An employee who was transferred within the Government service with reemployment rights, or an employee who was transferred with reemployment rights from a Government position for employment in an essential activity conducted by a public or private enterprise, and who, while employed in the agency or enterprise to which transferred, enters active service with the armed forces of the United States, shall be entitled to the same reemployment rights with respect to the Government position from which he was transferred as those to which he would have been entitled had he entered active military or naval service while employed in such Government position.

(e) A person initially appointed for the duration of the war who was transferred with reemployment rights will not be required to be reemployed at the cessation of the war (as officially determined) in the agency in which he was originally employed.

(f) Whenever an agency is considering filling any position by promotion from within the agency, it may give the same consideration to a former employee who has transferred from that agency with reemployment rights therein as he would have received if he still occupied the position he left. Such a former employee may be selected for the promotion, and, if he is not authorized to return at that time to the position to which promotion is made, his reemployment rights at the time application is made for reemployment in the agency shall be applicable to the position to which promotion was made during his absence.

(g) The regulations issued by the Commission pursuant to Executive Order No. 9721 of May 10, 1946 (Part 26 of this chapter), authorizing the transfer with reemployment rights of civilian employees of the executive branch of the Government to public international organizations in which the United States Government participates, shall be followed in connection with such transfers.

§ 10.112 Replacement of War Service and temporary appointees. (a) Upon the establishment of appropriate registers of eligibles through either restoration under § 2.107 (c) of this chapter of persons who lost opportunity for probational appointment because of military service, or entrance of the names of ten-point veterans under section 10 of the Veterans' Preference Act, or competitive examination, or when the Commission determines that positions can be filled by promotion, transfer, reassignment or reinstatement of persons having a competitive status without the necessity of establishing an appropriate register, the Commission shall require the displacement of persons occupying positions in the competitive service who do not have permanent tenure. The displacement of such persons shall be made in the following order:

(1) War-service and other temporary appointees who have not qualified in the appropriate examination.

(2) All other war-service and all other temporary appointees unless they are reached and selected for probational appointment, or acquire a competitive status in accordance with § 3.1 (b) (7) of Rule III.

(b) The Commission shall determine the duration of war-service appointments, but no such appointment may extend beyond the six months period following the official termination of World War II unless specifically authorized by the Commission.

§ 10.113 Release requirements for appointment, reappointment, reinstatement, or transfer under the regulations in this chapter. (a) A release shall be required before effecting an appointment, reappointment, reinstatement, or transfer under the regulations in this chapter of a person who is serving, or has served within 30 days, in another agency. This provision shall not apply to a person who is serving, or last served, under an appointment limited to six months or less.

(b) Such release may be granted by the agency of present or last employment or, upon appeal, by the Commission. An official notice of actual or impending separation because of reduction of force or an official notice of furlough shall constitute a release.

(c) An agency shall not deny a release except on the grounds of undue jeopardy to the operations of the agency and in no event shall a release be denied where to do so would constitute undue personal hardship to the applicant. Whenever a release is denied by an agency the applicant shall be advised in writing of the reasons for denial and of his right to appeal to the appropriate office of the Commission. Such appeals shall be in writing and accompanied by the notice of denial by release by the agency.

AUTHORITY: §§ 20.1 to 20.14, inclusive, issued under sec. 12, 58 Stat. 390; 5 U. S. C. Sup. 861.

§ 20.1 Extent of part. The regulations in this part establish degrees of retention preference and uniform rules for reductions in force. They apply to all civilian employees in the executive branch of the Federal Government, and in the municipal government of the District of Columbia, except those whose appointments are required to be approved by the Senate, and those who are appointed by the President of the United States.

§ 20.2 Definitions. For the purpose of the regulations in this part definitions are given for words, terms, and phrases as follows:

(a) "Reduction in force" means the involuntary separation from the rolls of a department, or furlough in excess of thirty days, of one or more employees in order to reduce personnel. Reduction of personnel may have to be made because of lack of funds, personnel ceilings, reorganization, decrease of work, to make a position available for a former employee with established reemployment or restoration rights, or for other reasons. However, the term does not apply to (1) termination of temporary appointments limited to one year or less, (2) retirement of employees, or (3) separations for unsatisfactory service.

(b) "Retention groups" and "subgroups" means classes of employees entitled to the same degree of retention preference on the basis of tenure of employment and veteran preference.

(c) "Retention credits" are credits for length of service and efficiency ratings in determining retention order in each retention subgroup. They are computed by allowing one point for each full year of Federal Government service plus five points for an "Excellent" efficiency rating, three points for a "Very Good" efficiency rating, and one point for a "Good" efficiency rating. This paragraph shall be effective with respect to notices in reductions in force issued on and after September 15, 1946, or, with respect to individual agencies, at any date prior thereto at the option of the agency: Provided, That, with respect to ungraded positions under the Navy Department this paragraph shall be effective on October 15, 1946.

(d) "Federal Government service" means the total of all periods of service eligible for consideration for civil service retirement purposes, without regard to whether the employee is eligible or will be eligible actually to receive retirement benefits. All active military service is counted whether or not veteran preference is given therefor or whether it is eligible to be considered for civil service retirement purposes. Total service shall consist only of full years of creditable service, but fractions of a year shall be considered in arriving at the total.

(e) "Efficiency rating" means (1) for employees paid under the compensation schedules of the Classification Act of 1923 as amended or of Executive Order No. 6746, the current official efficiency rating under the Uniform Efficiency Rating System; and (2) for other employees the current efficiency rating under an efficiency rating system which is in general compliance with the uniform system.

Administratively adopted efficiency rating systems not in general compliance with the uniform system may be used for determining retention credits with the prior approval of the Commission.

(f) "Veteran preference employee" means an employee entitled to veteran preference under the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944.

(g) "Department" means an entire executive department, parent organization with constituent agencies, independent establishment, government-owned or government-controlled corporation of the Federal Government, the municipal government of the District of Columbia, or any other such organization or separate governmental agency of the executive branch of the Federal Government created by Act of Congress or Executive order.

(h) "Governmental entity" means a department, bureau of a department, parent organization, constituent agency, independent establishment, entire field installation, regional office, or field station, an operating department of the municipal government of the District of Columbia, or any other such organization or separate governmental agency of the Federal Government created by Act of Congress or Executive order.

(i) "Competitive area" means a governmental entity; a combination of governmental entities, or that part of a governmental entity for which approval has been secured from the Commission, within which employees of a competitive level are considered to be in competition.

(j) "Competitive level" means all positions in the same grade of the same service, trade, or profession (although they may have different titles or different pay rates), in which interchange of personnel is feasible.

§ 20.3 Retention preference; classification. For the purpose of determining relative retention preference in reductions in force, employees shall be classified according to tenure of employment in competitive retention groups and subgroups, as follows:

Group A: All employees who have met all requirements for indefinite retention in their present positions. With respect to positions subject to the Civil Service Act and rules, this includes all employees currently serving under absolute or probational civil service appointments or who were appointed, reappointed, transferred or promoted from absolute or probational civil service appointments to war service indefinite or trial period appointments without a break in service of thirty days or more. With respect to positions excepted from the Civil Service Act and rules, this includes all employees currently serving under appointments without time limitation.

A–1 Plus during one-year period after return to duty, as required by law.

A–1 With veteran preference unless efficiency rating is less than "Good".

A–2 Without veteran preference unless efficiency rating is less than "Good".

A–3 With veteran preference where efficiency rating is less than "Good".

A–4 Without veteran preference where efficiency rating is less than "Good".

Group B: All employees serving under appointments limited to the duration of the present war or for the duration of the war and not to exceed six months thereafter, or otherwise limited in time to a period in excess of one year, except those specifically covered in Groups A and C.

B–1 With veteran preference unless efficiency rating is less than "Good".

B–2 Without veteran preference unless efficiency rating is less than "Good".

B–3 With veteran preference where efficiency rating is less than "Good".

B–4 Without veteran preference where efficiency rating is less than "Good".

Group C: All employees serving under appointments specifically limited to one year or less, all non-citizen employees serving within the continental limits of the United States, all employees continued beyond the automatic retirement age, and all annuitants appointed under section 2 (b) of the Civil Service Retirement Act, as amended.

C–1 With veteran preference unless efficiency rating is less than "Good".

C–2 Without veteran preference unless efficiency rating is less than "Good".

C–3 With veteran preference where efficiency rating is less than "Good".

C–4 Without veteran preference where efficiency rating is less than "Good".

§ 20.4 Completion of employee records. (a) Departments and governmental entities are responsible for maintaining current records of information necessary for determining retention preference of employees.

If these records are incomplete, they shall be supplemented by written statements from employees, supported by a signed certificate substantially as follows:

I certify that the information submitted herewith is true, correct, and complete to the best of my knowledge and belief.

(b) Employees who have served continuously without a break in service of thirty days or more in positions subject to the Civil Service Act and rules since before March 16, 1942 (October 23, 1943, in the field service of the Post Office Department):

(1) Are in Group A unless appointed under authority of Executive Order Nos. 8257, 8564, or 8458 (former Civil Service Rule VIII), or new Civil Service Rule II and the Commission's regulations thereunder (§ 2.114 of this chapter), and have not acquired a civil service status.

(2) Are in Group B if appointed under authority of Executive Order Nos. 8257, 8564, or 8458 (former Civil Service Rule VIII) or new Civil Service Rule II and the Commission's regulations thereunder (§ 2.114 of this chapter), unless they acquired a civil service status under Executive Order Nos. 8833 or 8952, or the Commission's Departmental Circular 457 or 517, in which case they are in Group A.

(c) Employees appointed after March 16, 1942 (October 23, 1943, in the field service of the Post Office Department), initially or reappointed after a break in service of thirty days or more are in Group B unless:

(1) They are currently holding appointments definitely limited to one year or less—in which case they are in Group C.

(2) They are occupying positions excepted from the Civil Service Act and rules and not limited in duration—in which case they are in Group A.

(d) Whenever a department is unable to obtain from its records or from an employee information as to his classified (competitive) civil service status or length of service necessary to establish his retention preference standing, under the above rules, the Commission, upon the receipt of a request on Standard Form No. 66, will supply the information, if available, from its records.

§ 20.5 Determination of competitive area. The area in which a reduction in force is made should be a governmental entity as defined in § 20.3 (h).

No reduction in force affecting employees in retention groups A or B shall be made in any smaller competitive area in Washington, D. C., or vicinity, without obtaining prior approval from the Central Office of the Commission, or elsewhere without securing prior approval from the appropriate regional or branch office of the Commission. Approval will be given if the proposed competitive area is large enough to prevent the loss of highly efficient employees, to allow true competition to exist, and to protect the high retention preference of group A employees. Consideration will be given to the extent of the competitive level or levels to be affected, whether the proposed competitive area has independence of operation, work functions, and personnel administration (although policies may be established in higher department levels), whether the staff of the proposed competitive area is separately organized and clearly distinguishable from other units of the governmental entity, and whether it is within local commuting distance of other units of the governmental entity.

If there is doubt as to the size and scope of competitive areas, or if it is desired to establish competitive areas smaller than governmental entities as a standard practice for reductions in force, departments shall submit proposed plans of such competitive areas to the Central Office of the Commission. When approved, subsequent clearance with the Commission will not be necessary unless (a) a proposed competitive area does not conform to the plan, (b) reorganization has affected the plan, or (c) there has been a change in the facts upon which the plan was originally based.

§ 20.6 Special rule relating to consolidations and mergers. Before any reduction in force is made as the result of the transfer of any or all of the functions of one department to another continuing department, all veteran preference employeees and all retention group A employees assigned to any such function shall be transferred to such continuing department.

§ 20.7 Compilation of retention register. Whenever there is to be a reduction in force there shall first be determined the competitive level or levels to be affected. Each employee whose official position is in such a competitive level shall be considered in competition in his retention group in any reduction in force, whether he is in a duty or leave status, pay or nonpay status, or actually engaged on work in another department, another competitive area, or in another competitive level; excluding only those in the active military service of the United States or in the Merchant Marine.

A retention register shall be compiled for each competitive level in which a reduction in force is to be made, showing the names of all employees in competition by retention groups and subgroups. It shall be arranged in sequence showing subgroup A–1 plus with highest retention preference, followed in order by subgroups A–1, A–2, A–3, A–4, B–1, B–2, B–3, B–4, C–1, C–2, C–3, and C–4. Within each subgroup in retention groups A and B where some but not all employees may be affected by the reduction in force, names shall be arranged in sequence according to retention credits, with higher retention preference accorded to those with a greater number of retention credits. No computations of retention credits are necessary for employees in any retention subgroup which will not be affected by the reduction in force, in any subgroup where all of the employees are to be separated, or in retention group C. For this purpose, the employee records shall be reviewed and brought up to date with respect to length of service, efficiency ratings, and other particulars regarding which changes have occurred since the records were last made current.

This register shall be maintained in the order specified for inspection by employees, and shall at all times be available for inspection by representatives of the Commission.

§ 20.8 Sequence of selection. Within each competitive level, action must be taken to eliminate all employees in lower subgroups before a higher subgroup is reached, and within each subgroup of retention groups A and B, action must be taken concerning all employees with a lower number of retention credits before an employee with a higher number of retention credits is reached, except as provided below. Action may be taken at administrative discretion within any subgroup of retention group C. Whenever two or more employees are tied for position in retention group A or B, the ties shall be broken first by considering half years of service in excess of total years for which retention credits were granted, and then by giving consideration to such matters as official conduct, or established administrative policy.

In unusual situations, an employee performing necessary duties which cannot be taken over by any other available employee with higher retention preference without undue interruption to the activity involved, may be retained, although employees with higher retention preference may be affected. A written statement of the reasons for such exceptions shall be made for inspection by employees adversely affected and for review by representatives of the Commission.

When a reduction in force is necessary only because of a curtailment in funds from which excepted employees are paid, only employees in excepted positions shall be considered in competition for the reduction in force.

Seasonal employees shall be considered in competition only with other seasonal employees in reductions in force.

Employees serving on a when-actually-employed (WAE) basis shall be considered in competition only with other when-actually-employed employees in reductions in force.

No discrimination shall be exercised, threatened or promised in any reduction in force against or in favor of any employee because of race, sex or marital status, or his political or religious opinions or affiliations.

§ 20.9 Actions. Employees who cannot be retained in their positions because of a reduction in force shall be separated, except as provided below. Such actions may be effective at different times within 90-day periods, each 90-day period being considered as a separate reduction-in-force program, and may be made effective without the prior approval of the Commission.

(a) Exceptions; furloughs. Where the reduction in force is the result of a temporary condition which is not expected to continue for more than one year, employees reached for action may, in lieu of being separated, be furloughed for a period not to exceed the unexpired portion of the period of appointment and in no case shall it exceed one year: Provided, That notice of furlough to employees in subgroups A–1 and A–2 with competitive status shall conform to the one-year notice rule under § 20.10. In the event that vacancies are to be filled in positions in the competitive level and competitive area from which such employees have been furloughed, such employees shall be given the opportunity to return to duty before any original appointments are made to such positions: Provided, however, That since no position in the agency may be filled by original appointment of a person, or by the promotion, reassignment, or transfer of a retention group B or C employee if the agency has employees in subgroup A–1 or A–2 with competitive status on leave or furlough due to reduction in force who are available and qualified to fill the position without undue interruption to the activity, such status employees in subgroup A–1 or A–2 shall be considered for such positions. Offer of recall to duty in positions of the competitive level and competitive area from which furloughed shall be made in the order of retention preference of furloughed employees.

(b) Exceptions; statutory retention. Whenever an employee in Subgroup A–1 plus is reached for action in a reduction in force, he shall be placed in some other position of like seniority, status, and pay elsewhere in the department, and, wherever possible, at the same geographical location.

(c) Exceptions; status employees. No employee in retention group A–2, A–3 or A–4 with competitive status and serving in a position subject to the Civil Service Act may be separated or furloughed in a reduction in force if there is a position subject to the Civil Service Act in the department in any other competitive area or competitive level within the geographic area, which may reasonably be expected to continue for one year or more, not filled by a retention group A employee which he could fill without undue interruption to the activity involved unless (1) he refuses a reasonable offer of transfer to a position meeting these requirements, including reduction in pay, if necessary, or (2) he has reemployment rights to a position in another department. Subject to the other requirements set forth above, agencies shall consider such group A–2 employee with competitive status who is reached in a reduction and who has had five or more years of Federal Government service including active military service, for reassignment to a position either vacant or occupied by a war service or a temporary employee in the agency at another geographic area where reassignment within his present geographic area cannot be made and the employee desires to be considered for a position in such other area. Offers of reassignment of status employees in subgroup A–2 shall be made prior to the expiration of the first sixty days of nonduty status.

(d) Exceptions; veterans preference employees. No employee in subgroup A–1 with competitive status and serving in a position subject to the Civil Service Act may be separated or furloughed in a reduction in force if there is a position subject to the Civil Service Act in the department in any other competitive area or competitive level within the geographic area which may reasonably be expected to continue for one year or more not filled by an employee in subgroup A–1 which he could fill without undue interruption to the activity involved, unless (1) he refuses a reasonable offer of transfer to a position meeting these requirements, including reduction in pay if necessary, or (2) he has reemployment rights in another department. Subject to the other requirements set forth above, agencies shall consider such veteran preference career employee in group A–1 with competitive status who is reached in a reduction and who has had five or more years of Federal Government service including active military service, for reassignment to a position either vacant or occupied by a war service or a temporary employee in the agency at another geographic area where reassignment within his present geographic area cannot be made and the employee desires to be considered for a position in such other area. Offers of reassignment of status employees in subgroup A–1 shall be made prior to the expiration of the first sixty days of nonduty status.

(e) Exceptions; war service employees with veteran preference. No employee in subgroup B-1 may be separated or furloughed in a reduction in force from a position subject to the Civil Service Act if there is another position subject to the Civil Service Act in the department at the same geographical location in any other competitive area or competitive level which may reasonably be expected to continue for one year or more not filled by an employee in retention group A or subgroup B-1 which he could fill without undue interruption to the activity involved, unless (1) he refuses a reasonable offer of transfer to a position meeting these requirements, including reduction in pay if necessary, or (2) he has reemployment rights in another department.

(f) Actions concerning displaced employees. Additional actions necessary in connection with employees displaced, as a result of transfers or reassignments under paragraphs (b), (c), (d) and (e) of this section shall be determined on the basis of their retention preference in their respective competitive areas and competitive levels.

§ 20.10 Notice to employees. An employee in group A–1 or A–2 with competitive status affected by a reduction in force shall be given an individual notice in writing one year before the action becomes effective. His one-year notice period shall be composed of, whenever possible, at least 30 days in an active duty status; a non-duty status with pay for the duration of his leave, if any; and the balance of the year in a furlough or leave without pay status. Exceptions to this rule are authorized when the employee requests separation in lieu of furlough, or when the agency as a whole is liquidating, in which case the notice period shall terminate as of the day the agency is finally liquidated.

Each employee, except those in subgroups A–1 or A–2 with competitive status, affected by reduction in force shall be given an individual notice in writing at least 30 days before the action becomes effective. Where it is not possible to continue the employee in an active-duty status for the period specified in the notice, he shall have the greatest possible notice before he is relieved from active duty and shall thereafter be carried on the rolls for the remainder of the period. If the period of active duty after the notice is given and the period of accrued leave total less than thirty days, the employee shall be carried in a nonpay status for the remainder of the 30-day period. Notices to employees shall inform them of:

(a) The nature and effective date of the action,

(b) The proper office of the organization where he may examine a copy of these regulations and inspect the retention register and records,

(c) His right to appeal the proposed action to the Commission (departmental employees in the Washington area to the Central Office and others to the appropriate regional or branch office) within ten days from the receipt, and

(d) The procedure for exercising any restoration or reemployment rights he may have, and the channels (departmental and field) through which he may apply for other government employment.

§ 20.11 Reports to the Commission. As soon as employees are notified of the proposed action, and within the 10-day period allowed for the filing of appeals, a report shall be submitted to the appropriate office of the Commission of each reduction in force program. Such report shall include:

(a) The competitive area and competitive level in which the reduction in force is to be made,

(b) The retention subgroup and credit point above which employees will be retained in each competitive level, the names of any employees below such point who are retained, and the reasons for their retention,

(c) The period in which the reduction in force is to be completed,

(d) The total number of employees separated or furloughed, and

(e) A certification of compliance with the regulations.

§ 20.12 Special rules on liquidation. Whenever it has been determined that all functions and all positions in an entire department, an entire governmental entity, or an entire competitive area are to be abolished within a specified time period, actions may be taken in regard to individual employees at different dates at administrative discretion; except that no employee with veteran preference shall be separated before an employee without veteran preference where their positions are immediately interchangeable: And provided further, That notices to group A–1 and A–2 employees with competitive status shall be made to conform to the notice requirements of § 20.10.

NOTE: A mere limitation of authority to a specified date in the law which establishes, authorizes, or extends an agency is not a sufficient basis for the application of the provisions of this section.

In such cases, the employees of the particular department, entity, or competitive area shall be given individual notices in writing containing a statement of the law, Executive order, or authority which requires the liquidation of the department, governmental entity, or competitive area, and the time period in which the liquidation is to be accomplished, and informing them of their rights to appeal to the Commission if they feel that there has not been compliance with the provisions of the regulations in this part. The notices shall also inform employees of their rights to retention on the rolls for at least thirty days, or if a group A–1 or A–2 employee with competitive status, for the period provided for in § 20.10, of the procedures necessary to exercise any reemployment rights they may have to positions in other departments, governmental entities, or competitive areas, and of the procedures necessary to secure other employment.

A report of all liquidation programs shall be made to the Commission which shall include (a) a copy of the law, Executive order, or other authority for the liquidation of the department, governmental entity, or competitive area; (b) a certificate that no employee with veteran preference is being separated in advance of any employee without veteran preference where their positions are immediately interchangeable; and (c) a list of all retention group A employees with classified (competitive) civil service status who have not been transferred or assigned to other positions. This report shall be submitted within ten days after the first individual notices of separation are given to the employees affected.

Where it is necessary to liquidate a major activity which is not an entire competitive area, or which is a part of two or more competitive areas, the Commission will consider a request to establish such activity as a competitive area for the purpose of such liquidation.

§ 20.13 Appeals. Any employee who feels that there has been a violation of his rights under the regulations in this part may appeal to the appropriate office of the Civil Service Commission within 10 days from the date he received his notice of the action to be taken. This time limit may be extended only upon a showing by the employee that circumstances beyond his control prevented him from filing his appeal within the prescribed 10 days. In order that employees may be informed of the facts on which action is based they shall have the right to examine a copy of these regulations and to inspect the retention register and records on which their names appear, including statements of reasons for passing over employees with lower standing on the retention list. Each appeal should set forth whether it is based upon an error in the records, an incorrect efficiency rating, violation of the rules of selection, restriction of the competitive area or competitive level, disregard of a specified right under the law or regulations, or denial of right to examine regulations, retention register, or records.

The question of an incorrect efficiency rating presented in a reduction in force appeal will be considered by the Commission only where the employee has made use of such appellate procedures as were provided by his agency for the administrative review of the rating at issue during such time limits as these procedures were available, or in the case of an employee in a position subject to the Classification Act, as amended, where he appealed such rating to the appropriate board of review established under the authority of section 9 of such act. However, appeals will be accepted by the Commission in any case where adverse actions are proposed to be taken too soon to permit diligent use of efficiency rating appeal procedures, where because of the urgency of the case it is impracticable to await the decision under the administrative review or board of review procedures, where employees were misinformed as to their rights under such procedure, or where coercive measures were employed to prevent recourse to such procedures.

§ 20.14 Actions disapproved by the Commission. Whenever the Commission, as the result of a decision on the appeal of an employee, disapproves the action taken under the regulations in this part, the head of the department or governmental entity shall restore the employee to active duty.

With respect to reductions in force outside the Washington, D. C., area, the decision of the Commission's regional director is the decision of the Commission on appeals.

PART 21—APPOINTMENT TO POSITIONS EXCEPTED FROM THE COMPETITIVE SERVICE

Sec.

21.1 Extent of regulations.
21.2 Persons entitled to military preference.
21.3 Receipt of applications; uniform treatment.
21.4 Qualifications of applicants.
21.5 Examination of applicants.
21.6 Maintenance of employment lists.
21.7 Selection and appointment.
21.8 Reappointment.
21.9 Promotion; qualifications.
21.10 Removal, suspension, furlough, or demotion of preference employees.
21.11 General provisions.

AUTHORITY: §§ 21.1 to 21.11, inclusive, issued under sec. 11, 58 Stat. 390; 5 U. S. C., Sup., 860.

§ 21.1 Extent of regulations—(a) Positions covered. The regulations in this part shall apply to all positions (1) in the executive branch of the Federal Government that are excepted from the competitive service; (2) in any temporary or emergency establishment, agency, bureau, administration, project, and department created by acts of Congress or Presidential Executive order which are excepted from the provisions of the Civil Service Act of January 16, 1883; and (3) in the civil service of the District of Columbia. Positions excepted from the competitive service include all positions excepted from the provisions of the Civil Service Act of January 16, 1883, by statute or Executive order, including positions listed in Part 8 of this chapter, positions which may be filled by persons under personal service contract, and positions in Government owned or controlled corporations. The civil service of the District of Columbia includes all positions in the Government of the District of Columbia, and positions under the Board of Education and the Board of Library Trustees of the District of Columbia.

(b) Applicability. The provisions of the regulations in this part respecting the examination, rating, and selection for appointment of applicants are required to be followed whenever a qualified person entitled to preference under § 21.2 applies for consideration for appointment. Such provisions may be followed, in the discretion of the agency, in making appointments when no preference applicant applies.

§ 21.2 Persons entitled to military preference—(a) Five-point preference. In actions taken under the regulations in this part, honorably discharged ex-service men and women who have served in any branch of the armed forces of the United States during any war, or in any campaign or expedition (for which a campaign badge has been authorized), shall be entitled to that military preference hereinafter referred to as five-point preference.

(b) Ten-point preference. In actions taken under the regulations in this part, the following persons shall be entitled to that military preference hereinafter referred to as ten-point preference:

(1) Honorably discharged ex-service men and women who have served in any branch of the armed forces of the United States and who have established the present existence of service-connected disability or receipt of compensation, disability retirement benefits, or pension by reason of public laws administered by the Veterans' Administration, the War Department or the Navy Department;

(2) The wives of honorably discharged service-connected disabled ex-servicemen as have themselves been unable to qualify for any civil service appointment; and

(3) The unmarried widows of honorably discharged deceased ex-servicemen who had served in any branch of the armed forces of the United States during any war, or in any campaign or expedition (for which a campaign badge has been authorized).

(c) Definition. As used in this section "honorably discharged" shall mean any separation from active duty in any branch of the armed forces under honorable conditions. A transfer to inactive status, a transfer to retired status, the acceptance of a resignation, or the issuance of a discharge will be considered as covered by the above definition if such separation was under honorable conditions.

§ 21.3 Receipt of applications; uniform treatment. Each agency shall establish definite rules regarding the acceptance of applications for employment in positions covered by the regulations in this part. Such rules shall be made of record in the agency and shall be uniformly applied to all persons who meet the conditions of such rules. Information regarding the rules shall be furnished upon request.

§ 21.4 Qualifications of applicants—(a) Standards. Prior to making appointments to positions under the regulations in this part the agency shall establish standards for eligibility such as those relating to experience and training, citizenship, age, physical condition, etc., which standards shall relate to the duties to be performed. The establishment of standards relating to groups of positions or to a specific position may be delegated to the appropriate administrative level or subdivision of the agency and may be amended or modified from time to time in accordance with the needs of the locality in which the position is located, but the agency shall determine that all standards established are in conformity with the regulations in this part.

Any such standard shall be made a matter of record in the appropriate office of the agency and information concerning the standards for any position shall be furnished upon request. The qualifications standards effective for each position shall be applied uniformly to all applicants for such position except for such waivers as are provided under the regulations in this part for persons entitled to preference.

No minimum educational requirement will be included in qualification standards except those for such scientific, technical, or professional positions the duties of which the agency decides cannot be performed by a person who does not have such education. The agency shall make a part of its records its reasons for such decision. A statement of the reasons shall be furnished upon request.

The qualification standards established for each position shall include:

(1) A provision for the waiver by the agency of any requirements as to age, height, and weight for any applicant entitled to preference under the regulations in this part whenever such requirements are not essential to the performance of the duties of the position; and

(2) A provision for the waiver by the agency of any physical requirements for any applicant entitled to preference under the regulations in this part whenever the agency finds, after giving due consideration to the recommendation of any accredited physician, that such applicant is physically able to discharge the duties of the position.

(b) Disqualifications. In the standards established by the agency or the appropriate office of the agency, it may be provided that certain factors will disqualify applicants for employment. These may include among others, the following: (1) Dismissal from the service for delinquency or misconduct; (2) criminal, infamous, dishonest, immoral, or notoriously disgraceful conduct; (3) intentional false statements as to any material fact, or deception or fraud in connection with an application; (4) habitual use of intoxicating beverages to excess; (5) a reasonable doubt as to loyalty to the Government of the United States; (6) any legal disqualification for appointment; (7) lack of United States citizenship.

§ 21.5 Examination of applicants—(a) Rating. The agency may provide for an evaluation of the qualifications of all applicants for a position, who are available under §§ 21.3 and 21.4 at any time prior to appointment being made to such position. Numerical ratings shall be assigned on a scale of 100 and all applicants rated 70 or more shall be eligible for appointment: Provided, That no numerical ratings need be assigned whenever all qualified applicants will be offered immediate appointment: Provided further, That whenever there is an excessive number of applicants, only a sufficient number of the highest qualified applicants to meet the anticipated needs of the agency within a reasonable length of time need be given numerical ratings; in such cases the agency shall adopt procedures which will insure consideration of all preference applicants in the order in which they would have been considered if all applicants had been assigned numerical ratings. To the earned numerical ratings of applicants entitled to five-point preference, five points shall be added and to the earned numerical ratings of applicants entitled to ten-point preference, ten points shall be added. A notice of the rating assigned shall be furnished upon request.

No consideration shall be given the application of any non-preference applicant, nor shall such application be rated, for the positions of elevator operator, messenger, guard and custodian as long as qualified applicants entitled to preference are available for such position.

Whenever experience is a factor in determining eligibility, an applicant entitled to five-point or ten-point preference under the regulations in this part shall be credited with time spent in the military or naval service of the United States when the position for which he is applying is similar to that he held immediately prior to his entrance into the military or naval service; credit shall also be given such applicant for all valuable experience, including experience gained in religious, civic, welfare, service, and organizational activities, regardless of whether any compensation was received therefor.

§ 21.6 Maintenance of employment lists—(a) Establishment of lists. All applicants assigned eligible numerical ratings in accordance with § 21.5 shall have their names entered on either (1) the appropriate reemployment list or (2) the appropriate regular employment list. The names of all such applicants shall be entered on said lists in accordance with their ratings, except that the names of applicants entitled to five- or ten-point preference under the regulations in this part shall be entered on such lists in accordance with their respective augmented ratings, and the name of a preference applicant shall be entered ahead of all others having the same rating: Provided, That except on lists of applicants for professional and scientific positions for which the basic entrance salary is over $3,000 per annum, the names of applicants entitled to ten-point preference under the regulations in this part shall be placed at the top of the appropriate lists.

(b) Reemployment list. The reemployment list will consist of the names of former employees of the agency who are to be considered for future employment, and shall, in any case, include the following:

(1) The names of former employees of the agency entitled to preference under the regulations in this part who have been furloughed or separated without delinquency or misconduct and who apply for reemployment; and

(2) The names of any former employees of the agency entitled to preference under the regulations in this part who are found by the Commission, in accordance with § 21.10, to have been unjustifiably dismissed from the agency.

(c) Regular employment list. Eligible applicants assigned numerical ratings who are not entered on the agency reemployment list shall be entered on the regular employment list.

(d) Order of consideration. (1) The names of all applicants who are assigned eligible numerical ratings for a given position shall, except as provided below for professional and scientific positions for which the basic entrance salary is over $3,000 per annum, be considered either in Order A or in Order B, below:

Order A. (i) The names of qualified applicants entitled to ten-point preference under the regulations in this part whose names appear on the agency reemployment list, in the order of their numerical ratings.

(ii) The names of all other qualified applicants entitled to ten-point preference under the regulations in this part in the order of their numerical ratings.

(iii) The names of all other qualified applicants on the agency's reemployment lists in the order of their numerical ratings.

(iv) The names of all other qualified applicants in the order of their numerical ratings.

Order B. (i) The names of qualified applicants entitled to ten-point preference under the regulations in this part whose names appear on the agency reemployment list, in the order of their numerical ratings.

(ii) The names of all other qualified applicants on the agency's reemployment list, in the order of their numerical ratings.

(iii) The names of all other qualified applicants entitled to ten-point preference under the regulations in this part in the order of their numerical ratings.

(iv) The names of all other qualified applicants, in the order of their numerical ratings.

(2) The names of all applicants assigned numerical eligible ratings for professional and scientific positions for which the basic entrance salary is over $3,000 per annum shall be considered in the following order:

(i) The names of applicants on the agency's reemployment list, in the order of their numerical ratings.

(ii) The names of all other applicants, in the order to their numerical ratings.

§ 21.7 Selection and appointment—(a) Selection. In making appointments from employment lists the agency shall make selection for appointment to each vacancy from not more than the highest three names available for appointment in the order provided in § 21.6 (d): Provided, That the agency need not accord eligibles on the agency reemployment list the preferential consideration provided in that section for such eligibles if such list contains the names of less than three applicants entitled to preference under the regulations in this part: Provided further, That the agency need not consider any applicant who has previously been considered three times, nor any preference applicant who has been disqualified under the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section. The second and any additional vacancies shall be filled in like manner.

(b) Passing over a preference applicant. Whenever an agency in making a selection of a non-preference applicant in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section passes over the name of a preference applicant who, under § 21.6 (d), is entitled to prior consideration, it shall record its reasons for so doing. A copy of such reasons shall, upon request, be sent to the preference applicant or his designated representative.

When, in making appointments to a position, an agency has on three occasions passed over the name of a preference applicant and recorded its reasons for so doing, consideration of his name for such position may thereafter be discontinued.

§ 21.8 Reappointment—(a) Persons granted preference. A former civilian employee of the executive branch of the Federal government or the District of Columbia government who is entitled to preference under the regulations in this part may be reappointed to a position covered by the regulations in this part without regard to the names of qualified applicants on the agency reemployment list or regular employment list.

§ 21.9 Promotion; qualifications. In determining qualifications for promotion with respect to employees entitled to five- or ten-point preference under the regulations in this part, any requirements as to age, height, and weight shall be waived provided any such requirement is not essential to the performance of the duties of the position. After due consideration has been given to the recommendation of any accredited physician, the physical requirements shall be waived in the case of any such employee provided he is found physically able to discharge efficiently the duties of the position for which promotion is proposed.

§ 21.10 Removal, suspension, furlough, or demotion of preference employees. This section shall apply to permanent and indefinite employees entitled to five- or ten-point preference under the regulations in this part but shall not apply to (a) employees during their first year of current continuous Federal or District of Columbia service, or (b) employees appointed for periods specifically limited to one year or less.

Any employee subject to this section who is proposed for involuntary discharge, suspension for more than thirty days, furlough without pay, or reduction in rank or compensation, shall have at least thirty days advance written notice (except where there is reasonable cause to believe the employee to be guilty of a crime for which a sentence of imprisonment can be imposed), stating any and all reasons, specifically and in detail, for any such proposed action. Such employee shall be allowed a reasonable time for answering the same personally and in writing, and for furnishing affidavits in support of such answer, and shall have the right to appeal to the Civil Service Commission from an adverse decision of the administrative officer so acting. Such appeal shall be made in writing within a reasonable length of time after the date of receipt of notice of such adverse decision: Provided, That, such employee shall have the right to make a personal appearance, or an appearance through a designated representative, in accordance with rules and regulations of the Commission. After investigation and consideration of the evidence submitted, the Commission shall submit its findings and recommendations to the proper administrative officer and shall send copies of the same to the appellant or his designated representative: Provided further, That the Commission may declare any such employee who may have been dismissed or furloughed without pay to be eligible for entry of his name on the agency reemployment list established under § 21.6 (b).

§ 21.11 General provisions—(a) Exceptions. (1) No provisions of the regulations in this part shall apply to any position or appointment which by the Congress is required to be confirmed by, or made with, the advice and consent of the Senate.

(2) The provisions of the regulations in this part relating to examination and appointment shall not apply to (i) positions filled under the Civil Service rules or the War Service regulations in the same manner as competitive positions are filled; or (ii) reemployment in the agency of former employees in accordance with reemployment rights acquired by reason of service in the armed forces or the merchant marine, or by reason of transfer under Executive Order Nos. 8973, 9067, or 9243 (3 CFR Cum. Supp.), or Directive X of the War Manpower Commission (7 F. R. 7298, 11050; 9 F. R. 3534).

(b) Procedural modifications. In view of the circumstances and conditions surrounding employment in the following classes of positions the agency concerned will not be required to apply to such positions the apppointment procedures of the regulations in this part: Provided, That the principles of veteran preference shall be followed as far as administratively feasible and the reasons for his nonselection shall be furnished upon request to any qualified and available preference applicant:

(1) Positions filled by persons appointed without compensation or at a compensation of $1.00 per annum;

(2) Positions outside the continental limits of the United States and outside the Territories of Hawaii and Puerto Rico when filled by persons resident in the locality, and positions in the Territories of Hawaii and Puerto Rico when compensated in accordance with local prevailing native wage rates;

(3) Positions which the exigencies of the war program demand be filled immediately before lists of qualified applicants can be established or utilized: Provided, That appointments to such positions shall be temporary appointments not to exceed one year and may be renewed for one additional year at the discretion of the agency;

(4) Intermittent positions;

(5) Positions paid on a fee basis; and

(6) Such positions as are included in Schedule A (Part 8 of this chapter) and similar types of positions, whenever the Commission agrees with the agency that such position should be included hereunder.

(c) Special plans. Any department or agency having positions subject to the regulations in this part may submit to the Commission a system for making appointments which will result in granting to veterans the preference provided for in the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944 but which does not conform to all of the procedural requirements set forth in the regulations in this part: Provided, That such a system may not be put into effect until it has received the prior approval of the Commission.

AUTHORITY: §§ 22.1 to 22.11, inclusive, issued under secs. 11 and 14, 58 Stat. 387, 5 U. S. C., Sup. 860, 863.

§ 22.1 Applicability of regulations—(a) Coverage. The regulations in this part shall govern appeals to the Commission by permanent and indefinite preference eligible employees from adverse decisions of administrative officers of the Federal Government and the government of the District of Columbia, more specifically defined hereinafter.

(1) Employees covered. Employees affected are permanent and indefinite preference eligible employees who have completed a probationary or trial period in positions under the Civil Service Rules or War Service Regulations, or one year of current continuous employment in positions excepted from the competitive service, in the service of any establishment, agency, bureau, administration, project or department created by acts of Congress or Presidential order or in the service of the District of Columbia. The regulations in this part are not applicable to employees under the legislative or judicial branch of the Government, and employees who were appointed to any positions required to be confirmed by, or made with, the advice and consent of the United States Senate, other than postmasters in offices of the first, second and third classes.

(2) Preference eligible employees. The term "preference eligible employees" referred to in this section includes the following persons:

(i) Those ex-service men and women who have served on active duty in any branch of the armed forces of the United States and have been separated therefrom under honorable conditions and who have established the present existence of a service-connected disability or who are receiving compensation, disability retirement benefits, or pension by reason of public laws administered by the Veterans' Administration, the War Department or the Navy Department;

(ii) The wives of such service-connected disabled ex-servicemen as have themselves been unable to qualify for any civil service appointment;

(iii) The unmarried widows of deceased ex-servicemen who served on active duty in any branch of the armed forces of the United States during any war, or in any campaign or expedition (for which a campaign badge has been authorized), and who were separated therefrom under honorable conditions;

(iv) Those ex-service men and women who have served on active duty in any branch of the armed forces of the United States, during any war, or in any campaign or expedition (for which a campaign badge has been authorized), and have been separated therefrom under honorable conditions.

Separation under "honorable conditions" means separation from active duty in any branch of the armed forces by transfer to inactive status, transfer to retired status, acceptance of a resignation or the issuance of a discharge, if such separation was under honorable conditions.

(3) Adverse decisions which may be appealed. Appeals may be made from the decisions of administrative officers in cases of discharges, suspensions for more than thirty (30) days, furloughs without pay and reduction in rank or compensation for reasons other than reduction in force which are covered by reduction in force regulations.

(b) Appeals involving efficiency ratings. The regulations in this part are applicable in cases of adverse decisions based on efficiency ratings, but the Commission will not consider the correctness of any efficiency rating which is appealable to a Board of Review established under the provisions of section 9 of the Classification Act of 1923, as amended. The correctness of an efficiency rating which is not appealable to a Board of Review will not be considered unless the employee has made use of his agency's administrative appellate procedures, if provided by the agency, in any case where adverse action is proposed to be taken too soon to permit diligent use of administrative appellate procedures, it is impracticable to await the decision under the administrative appellate procedures, the employee was misinformed of his rights under such procedures, coercive measures were used to prevent recourse to such procedures, or the employee presents satisfactory reasons for not resorting to such procedures.

(c) Appeals not governed by the regulations in this part. The regulations in this part are not applicable to decisions of the Commission relative to applications, examinations, promotions, transfers, reinstatements, reappointments, classifications and other civil service proceedings, nor to actions of administrative officers which are taken under instructions from the Commission in cases in which the Commission has jurisdiction. Appeals in such cases will continue to be entertained by the Commission in accordance with its established administrative procedures.

(d) Notice in reduction in rank or compensation resulting from Commission's position allocation decisions. Preference eligible employees who are to be reduced in grade or rank as a result of the Commission's position allocation decisions shall be given at least thirty (30) days' advance written notice, stating any and all reasons, specifically and in detail, for such proposed action.

§ 22.2 Notification of proposed actions; charges and opportunity for answer—(a) Advance written notice of thirty days. No employee covered by the regulations in this part shall be discharged, suspended for more than thirty (30) days, furloughed without pay, reduced in rank or compensation, or debarred for future appointment except for such cause as will promote the efficiency of the service and for reasons given in writing, and the employee whose discharge, suspension for more than thirty (30) days, furlough without pay, or reduction in rank or compensation is sought shall have at least thirty (30) days advance written notice (except where there is reasonable cause to believe the employee to be guilty of a crime for which a sentence of imprisonment can be imposed), stating any and all reasons, specifically and in detail, for any such proposed action.

(b) Reasonable time to answer. A reasonable time shall be allowed employees for answering personally and in writing, charges and notifications of proposed adverse actions, and for furnishing affidavits in support of such answers, and the reasonable time required shall depend on all the facts and circumstances of each case, and be sufficient in all cases to afford the employee ample opportunity to prepare answers and secure affidavits.

(c) Status of an employee during period of advance notice. The advance written notice which is required when a proposed adverse action is sought by an employing agency shall be submitted to the employee at least thirty (30) days before the effective date of such proposed action, and during such thirty (30) day period the employee shall continue in an active duty status; but in cases of furlough without pay due to unforeseeable circumstances such as sudden breakdowns in equipment, acts of God or emergencies requiring immediate curtailment of activities, advance notice shall not be necessary.

In exceptional cases where the circumstances are such that the retention of the employee in an active duty status during the thirty (30) day period may result in damage to Government property, would be otherwise detrimental to the interests of the Government, or would be injurious to the employee, his fellow workers or the general public, and the employee cannot during such period be temporarily assigned to duties in which these conditions would not exist, he shall be placed on annual leave, provided he has sufficient annual leave to his credit to cover the required period, and otherwise, suspended for such period or periods during the thirty (30) days as the circumstances warrant: Provided, That a certificate is filed by the administrative officer in the records of the employing agency setting forth the specific circumstances in such exceptional cases. The reasonableness of such exceptions, including suspensions, will be considered in connection with the entire case in the event that the employee subsequently appeals from the final adverse decision reached by the administrative officer.

(d) Notice and answer in efficiency rating cases. In cases where it is proposed to take adverse action against an employee on the basis of an efficiency rating, the employee shall be given the advance notice in writing of the proposed action at least thirty (30) days before the effective date, and said notice shall allow the employee a reasonable time for answer and to object to the proposed action and show cause why it should not be taken. This right of advance notification does not affect the right of the employee to appeal for a review of his efficiency rating to a Board of Review established under the provisions of section 9 of the Classification Act of 1923, as amended.

§ 22.3 Adverse decisions of administrative officers of agencies. Adverse decisions by administrative officers following notifications of proposed adverse actions, charges and answers of employees, shall be in writing, dated and submitted to the employee promptly after such decisions have been made. The employee should at the same time be advised of his right to appeal the decision to the Civil Service Commission. If delay in submitting an appeal to the Commission occurs because the employee has not been so advised this fact shall be considered good cause shown for failure to file the appeal within the prescribed period of thirty (30) days after receipt of notice of the adverse decision as provided in § 22.4, but shall not otherwise affect the adjudication of the appeal.

§ 22.4 Appeals to the Commission—(a) Right to appeal. After receipt by the employee of notice of an adverse decision such employee may, as a matter of right, appeal to the Commission immediately or within a reasonable time thereafter. The Commission will not entertain a request for consideration or review of any action under section 14 of the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944 prior to the receipt by the employee from the administrative officer of the adverse decision making effective the discharge, suspension for more than 30 days, furlough without pay, or reduction in rank or compensation.

(b) Time limit for filing appeals. (1) Thirty (30) days from the date of receipt of notice of an adverse decision shall be considered a reasonable time to prepare and submit an appeal under this regulation, but the Commission may, in its discretion, and where good cause is shown for failure to file the appeal within the prescribed period, consider appeals submitted after the expiration of thirty (30) days.

(2) Nothing in this section shall affect the right of an employee to appeal an adverse decision occurring between the time of the effective date of the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944 (June 27, 1944) and the date of the promulgation of the regulations in this part: Provided, That such an appeal is made to the Commission within six months after the effective date of the regulations in this part, unless good cause is shown for failure to file the appeal within the prescribed period.

§ 22.5 Form of appeal—(a) Contents. The appeal of the employee to the Commission shall be in writing and (1) shall set forth in detail all the facts and circumstances of the adverse decision; (2) shall be accompanied by copies of charges, answer, affidavits in support of answer, and notice of the adverse decision, and by such documentary evidence in support of the appeal as the employee may wish to submit; (3) shall state whether the employee desires to make a personal appearance or an appearance through or accompanied by a representative designated by him before a representative of the Commission; (4) shall be supported by acceptable evidence of entitlement to preference and (5) shall set forth detailed information regarding the employee's status, such as the date and nature of appointment and whether the employee has completed a probationary or trial period or one year of current continuous employment in the civil service of the Federal government or District of Columbia, and any other data bearing on whether the employee is within the purview of the regulations in this part.

§ 22.6 Where appeals shall be filed. Appeals from employees in the Departmental Service in Washington, D. C. and the metropolitan area shall be submitted to the Chief Law Officer, United States Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C.; appeals from employees in the Field Service in Washington, D. C. and the metropolitan area shall be submitted to the Manager, Branch Regional Office, Fourth U. S. Civil Service Region, Washington 25, D. C., and appeals from employees outside of these areas shall be submitted to the Director of the appropriate Civil Service Region or Manager of any Branch Regional Office.

§ 22.7 Preliminary consideration of appeals in the Commission. When an appeal is received it will be examined for the purpose of determining whether or not it is within the scope of Public Law 359 and the regulations in this part. If the determination is that it is not, the employee will be so advised and informed as to the basis for such determination. Thereafter the employee or his designated representative may make request for reconsideration of this determination and may submit evidence and make representations in support of his request. The record will then be considered and the employee or his designated representative advised as to the decision reached. If it is found to be an appeal within the purview of Public Law 359 and the regulations in this part it will be docketed for investigation and adjudication and the employee or his designated representative and the employing agency will be so advised.

§ 22.8 Investigations—(a) When made. Investigations will be made as necessary, to develop all the facts and circumstances relative to the adverse decision and to obtain necessary copies of the official record, charges, answer, decision and the reasons therefor, and pertinent testimony of witnesses.

(b) Manner of taking testimony. Testimony of witnesses will be by affidavit, without any pledge of confidence, but where it is impracticable to obtain testimony under oath from a witness such statement will be obtained, without any pledge of confidence, from the witness as the circumstances will permit, and such weight will be given to the unsworn testimony as the record will warrant: Provided, however, That where the adverse action of the administrative officer with respect to the appellant was based on grounds raising a question of the appellant's loyalty to the Government of the United States, testimony and evidence will be obtained under a pledge of confidence and the source of the information secured will not be divulged.

(c) Information obtained discussed with agency and with employee. The evidence submitted by the employee in connection with his appeal will be discussed by the investigator of the Commission with the administrative officer who made the decision and other proper officials of the employing agency concerned, and such officials shall be requested to state their side of the case. Similarly, the employee should be informed of the information furnished by the officials of the agency and given the opportunity to insert his side of the case into the record of investigation: Provided, however, That in cases where the adverse action of the administrative officer with respect to the appellant was based on grounds raising a question of the appellant's loyalty to the Government of the United States, only such information should be furnished either party as will be consistent with the pledge of confidence attached to testimony and evidence in such cases.

§ 22.9 Hearings—(a) Right to appear personally or by representative. The appellant shall have the right to appear personally or through or accompanied by a designated representative in connection with his appeal and if an appellant has expressed the desire for such a personal appearance arrangements will be made for a hearing at a stage of the proceedings agreed upon between the appellant and the regional office or the office of the Chief Law Officer, as the case may be.

(b) Notice of hearings and where scheduled. The hearing will be scheduled at Washington, D. C., or at any regional office or branch regional office and notifications thereof transmitted to the appellant or his designated representative and to the employing agency, advising the latter that it may participate, and informing both parties of a right to produce evidence and witnesses.

(c) How conducted. Hearings will be conducted by a representative of the Commission in an informal manner with an opportunity afforded for the introduction of evidence, including testimony and statements by the appellant and his designated representative and witnesses and representatives of the employing agency and witnesses, and for the cross-examination of witnesses: Provided, however, That where the adverse action of the administrative officers with respect to the appellant was based on grounds raising a question of the appellant's loyalty to the Government of the United States, the appellant will be accorded such hearing as will be consistent with the pledge of confidence attached to testimony and evidence in such cases.

(d) Admission of evidence. Rules of evidence will not be strictly applied during hearings, but the Commission representative in charge of the hearing shall use reasonable discretion to exclude irrelevant testimony.

(e) Testimony taken under oath; record of hearing; not open to public. The testimony at hearings shall be under oath. When the Chief Law Officer or the Regional Director, as the case may be, directs that the hearing be recorded stenographically, a complete verbatim report of the hearing shall be made stenographically. In other cases the hearing examiner will make suitable notes of the relevant portions of the testimony and at the conclusion of the hearing will summarize these notes and when agreed to in writing by all parties concerned the summary will constitute the report of the hearing. If the examiner and the parties cannot agree on the summary the parties shall be permitted to submit in writing exceptions to any part of the summary which they question and such exceptions will be considered in connection with the making of the finding and recommendation. Hearings will not be open to the general public or the press and attendance shall be limited to persons having a direct connection with the appeal.

(f) Appearance of witnesses. The Commission does not have the power of subpoena and appellants and their designated representatives, and employing agencies, will be required to make their own arrangements for the appearance of witnesses.

(g) Transcripts of hearing. Copies of transcripts of hearing will not be furnished.

§ 22.10 Decision in the Commission—(a) By whom made; contents. The decision on the appeal shall be made by the Chief Law Officer or the regional office, as appropriate, in a formal finding, consisting of an analysis of the evidence, the reasons for the conclusions reached and a recommendation for action to be taken by the employing agency concerned: Provided, however, That where the adverse action of the administrative officer with respect to the appellant was based on grounds raising a question of the appellant's loyalty to the Government of the United States, the case will, after investigation and hearing, be referred to the Loyalty Rating Board of the Commission in Washington, D. C., for consideration and recommendation to the Commissioners for their decision. The contents of the formal finding on such loyalty aspects in cases under section 14 will not contain information which will be inconsistent with the pledge of confidence attached to testimony and evidence in such cases.

(b) Copy of decision furnished appellant and agency; appeal to Commissioners. Copies of the analysis, conclusions and recommendation shall be furnished to the employing agency and to the appellant or his designated representative, and both parties shall be notified of the right of a further appeal to the Commissioners of the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

(c) Report by agencies to Commission of action taken or proposed to be taken on finding favorable to employee. When the finding and recommendation is that the employee be restored to his position, or is otherwise favorable to the employee, the employing agency will, at the time the finding and recommendation is transmitted to it, be requested to report to the Chief Law Officer, the regional office or the Loyalty Rating Board, as the case may be, within seven (7) days of the receipt of such finding and recommendation, regarding the action taken or proposed to be taken by the employing agency.

§ 22.11 Further appeals to the Commission—(a) Time limit for filing. An appeal may be made by the employee from a decision of the Chief Law Officer or Regional Office (and of the Commissioners in loyalty cases) to the Commissioners, the United States Civil Service Commission, within thirty (30) days of the date of receipt of notification of the decision. An appeal may be made to the Commissioners by the employing agency within seven (7) days of the date of receipt of such notification.

(b) Referred to Board of Appeals and Review. Appeals under this regulation shall be referred to the Board of Appeals and Review of the Commission in Washington, D. C., for appropriate action and recommendation to the Commissioners.

(c) Hearing before Board of Appeals and Review. The Board of Appeals and Review shall review the record and in its discretion grant hearings with an opportunity for the production of evidence and cross-examination of witnesses.

(d) Final appeal is to the Commissioners. Decisions on appeals to the Commissioners will be transmitted to the appellant or his designated representative and the employing agency concerned with notifications to both parties that no further appeals will be entertained as to the particular case unless new and material evidence is submitted.

(e) Further appeals. The Commissioners may in their discretion, when in their judgment such action appears warranted by the circumstances, entertain a further appeal at the request of the appellant or his designated representative or of the employing agency, and may grant a hearing before them. In connection with such reopened appeal both parties to the proceeding shall be accorded opportunity to make written representations and to participate in any hearing which may be held.

§ 23.1 The Commission—(a) Offices. The principal office of the Commission is at Washington, D. C.

All communications to the Commission must be addressed to United States Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C., Attention, Chief Law Officer, unless otherwise specifically directed.

(b) Hours. The office is open on each business day from 8:45 a. m. to 5:15 p. m.

(c) Proceedings. The Commission may, by one or more of its members or by such examiners as it may designate, conduct any inquiry or hearing necessary to its duties in any part of the United States.

§ 23.2 Executive officer. The Executive Director and Chief Examiner is the executive officer of the Commission, and has legal custody of its papers, records, and property; and all orders of the Commission shall be signed by the Executive Director and Chief Examiner, or such other person as may be authorized by the Commission.

§ 23.3 Service. Letters of charges, orders, and other processes of the Commission shall be served by the Chief Law Officer of the Commission by registered mail, by registering and mailing a copy thereof addressed to the officer or employee charged with the violation and to the State or local agency employing such person.

When service is not accomplished by registered mail, letters of charges, orders, or other processes of the Commission may be served by anyone duly authorized by the Commission, or by an examiner of the Commission.

(a) By delivering a copy of the document to the person to be served, and/or to an officer of the State or local agency; or

(b) By leaving a copy thereof at the principal office or place of business of such person and/or State or local agency.

The return post-office receipt for said letter of charges, order, or other process registered and mailed as aforesaid, or the verified return by the person serving such letter of charges, order, or other process setting forth the manner of said service, shall be proof of the service of the document.

§ 23.4 Appearance. Any individual who is a party to any proceedings before the Commission may appear for himself or by an attorney at law possessing the requisite qualifications, as hereinafter set forth, to practice before the Commission. Any State or local agency may appear or be represented by an attorney at law possessing the requisite qualifications, as hereinafter set forth, to practice before the Commission.

Attorneys at law in good standing who are admitted to practice before the Federal courts or before the courts of any State or Territory of the United States may practice before the Commission.

A written application for admission to practice before the Commission is required. A writtten notice of appearance on behalf of a specific party or parties in the particular proceeding shall be submitted by attorneys desiring to appear for such specific party or parties. Upon receipt of such notice, application forms for admission to practice before the Commission will be furnished. Any attorney, practicing before the Commission or desiring so to practice, who, in the judgment of the Commission does not possess the requisite qualifications to represent others, or who is lacking in character, integrity, or proper professional conduct, may be disbarred or suspended from practicing before the Commission; and the Commission or its examiners shall have the right to suspend immediately any attorney for contumacy, contempt, or misconduct during the course of any proceeding.

No former officer, examiner, attorney, clerk, or other former employee of this Commission shall appear as attorney or counsel for or represent any party in any proceeding resulting from any investigation, the files of which came to the personal attention of such former officer, examiner, attorney, clerk, or other former employee during the term of his service or employment with the Commission.

§ 23.5 Documents. Documents required to be filed with the Commission in any proceeding shall be filed with the Chief Law Officer of the Commission.

(a) Title. Documents shall clearly show the docket number and title of the proceeding.

(b) Copies. Five copies of documents other than correspondence shall be filed except as otherwise specifically required by these rules.

(c) Form. It is requested that documents not printed be typewritten on one side of paper only, letter or legal size, double or triple spaced, with ample margin.

The originals of all documents, whether printed or typewritten, shall be signed in ink by the duly authorized attorney, or if an interested party is appearing without counsel, by the interested party.

§ 23.6 Letter of charges. When the Commission has reason to believe that there is a violation of the law over which the Commission has jurisdiction, the Commission shall, by registered mail, send to the officer or employee charged with the violation and to the State or local agency employing such officer or employee a notice setting forth a summary of the alleged violation, which instrument shall be known as a letter of charges.

§ 23.7 Answers. In the case of a desire to contest the proceedings, the respondent or respondents shall, within fifteen (15) days from the day the letter of charges is served, file with the Commission an answer to the letter of charges; or within thirty (30) days if the officer or employee and/or the local agency is in a Territory or possession of the United States of America.

Such answers shall contain a concise statement of the facts which constitute the ground of defense. The respondent shall specifically admit or deny or explain each of the facts alleged in the letter of charges, unless respondent is without knowledge, in which case respondent shall so state. Five (5) copies of answers shall be furnished the Commission at the time of filing the original answer. All answers and copies thereof shall be signed by the respondent or by his attorney at law and shall show the office and post-office address of the signer.

Failure of the respondent to file an answer and the copies thereof within the time above provided shall be deemed to authorize the Commission, without further notice to respondent, to proceed in the regular course on the charges set forth in the letter of charges. If respondent desires to waive hearing on the allegations of fact set forth in the letter of charges and not to contest the facts, the answer may consist of a statement that respondent admits all the material allegations of fact charged in the letter of charges to be true. Respondent by such answer shall be deemed to have waived a hearing on the allegations of fact set forth in said letter of charges and to have authorized the Commission, without further evidence or other intervening procedure, to find such facts to be true, and, if in the judgment of the Commission, such facts admitted constitute a violation of the law as charged in the letter of charges, to make and serve findings of facts, and to thereupon make an order, if the violation so warrants, for the removal of the officer or employee, and to notify such officer or employee and the appropriate State or local agency of such determination.

Upon application in writing made contemporaneously with the filing of such answer, the respondent, in the discretion of the Commission, may be heard on brief or in oral argument, or both, solely on the question as to whether the facts so admitted constitute the violation or violations of the law charged in the letter of charges.

§ 23.8 Notice of hearing. After the filing of answer or other appropriate response, the Commission shall fix a time and place for a hearing and shall, by registered mail, send to the officer or employee charged with the violation and to the State or local agency employing such officer or employee a notice of the time and place of hearing.

§ 23.9 Motions. Motions before the Commission or the hearing examiner shall state briefly the purpose thereof, and all supporting affidavits, records, and other papers, except such as have been previously filed, shall be filed with the motions and clearly referred to therein.

Motions in any proceeding before a hearing examiner which relate to the introduction or striking of evidence shall be made to the hearing examiner and shall be ruled on by the hearing examiner. No exception is necessary to the ruling of the hearing examiner to preserve the objection before the Commission or appellate courts.

§ 23.10 Continuances and extensions of time. Except as otherwise expressly provided by law, the Commission or its examiners, for cause shown, may extend any time limits prescribed for filing any papers, except time for filing appeal, which is fixed by statute, and may continue or adjourn any hearing. A hearing before a hearing examiner shall begin at the time and place ordered by the Commission, but thereafter may be adjourned from time to time by the hearing examiner or the Commission.

Applications for continuances and extensions of time shall be made prior to the expiration of the time prescribed by these rules, and must be accompanied by an affidavit showing exceptional circumstances.

§ 23.11 Hearings of complaints. All hearings before the Commission or hearing examiners on letters of charges issued by the Commission shall be public unless otherwise ordered by the Commission.

Hearings shall be stenographically reported by the official reporter of the Commission and a transcript thereof shall be made which shall be a part of the record of the proceeding. The record made shall be the sole official record. Transcripts will be supplied to a respondent or respondents (or to the public) by the official reporter at rates not to exceed the maximum rates fixed by contract between the Commission and the reporter.

§ 23.12 Hearing examiners. When evidence is to be taken in a proceeding upon a letter of charges issued by the Commission, a hearing examiner may be designated for that purpose by the Commission.

It shall be the duty of the hearing examiner to complete the taking of evidence with all due dispatch.

The hearing examiner is charged with the duty of conducting a fair and impartial hearing and of maintaining order in form and manner consistent with the dignity of the Commission. He will note on the record any disregard by counsel for his rulings on matters of order and procedure, and where he deems it necessary shall make special written report thereof to the Commission. In the event that counsel for the Commission or counsel for any respondent shall be guilty of disrespectful, disorderly, or contumacious language or conduct in connection with any proceeding, the hearing examiner may suspend the proceeding and submit to the Commission his report thereon together with his recommendation as to whether any rule should be issued to show cause why any such counsel should not be suspended or disbarred pursuant to § 23.4 or other appropriate action as provided under section 12, subsection (d) of the Hatch Political Activity Act. A copy of such hearing examiner's report shall be furnished to any counsel upon whose language or conduct such report is made, and the Commission will take disciplinary action after an opportunity for hearing has been accorded such counsel.

§ 23.13 Subpenas. Subpenas requiring the attendance of witnesses from any place in the United States at any designated place of hearing may be issued by the Commission or any member thereof. Application therefor must be made in writing either to the Chief Law Officer or to the presiding hearing examiner.

Subpenas for the production of documentary evidence will be issued only upon application in writing to the Commission or the presiding hearing examiner. The application must specify as exactly as possible the documents desired, and show their competency, relevancy, and materiality. An application by a respondent shall be verified by oath or affirmation.

In case of disobedience to a subpena, the Commission may invoke the aid of any court of the United States in requiring the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of documentary evidence. Any of the district courts of the United States within the jurisdiction of which such inquiry is carried on may, in case of contumacy or refusal to obey a subpena issued to any person, issue an order requiring such person to appear before the Commission, or to produce documentary evidence if so ordered, or to give evidence touching the matter in question; and any failure to obey such order of the court may be punished by such court as a contempt thereof (sec. 12 (d) of the act of August 2, 1939, as amended).

§ 23.14 Witnesses. Witnesses shall be examined orally, except that for good and exceptional cause for departing from the general rule the Commission may permit their testimony to be taken by a deposition.

Witnesses summoned by the Commission shall be paid the same fees and mileage as are paid witnesses in the courts of the United States. Witnesses whose depositions are taken for the Commission, and the persons taking such depositions, shall severally be entitled to the same fees as are paid for like service in the courts of the United States.

§ 23.15 Evidence—(a) Documentary. Where relevant and material matters offered in evidence are embraced in a document containing other matters not material or relevant and not intended to be put in evidence, such immaterial or irrelevant parts shall be excluded and shall be segregated insofar as practicable.

(b) Objections. Objections to the evidence before a commissioner or a hearing examiner shall be in short form, stating the grounds of objection relied upon, and the transcript shall not include argument or debate thereon, except as ordered by the Commission or hearing examiner. Rulings on such objections shall be a part of the transcript. No exception to the ruling is necessary to preserve the rights of the parties in an appeal to the Commission or in the appellate court.

§ 23.16 Depositions. The Commission may order evidence to be taken by deposition in any proceeding or investigation pending before the Commission at any stage of such proceeding or investigation. Such depositions may be taken before any person designated by the Commission and having the power to administer oaths or affirmations.

Unless notice be waived, no deposition shall be taken except after reasonable notice to the parties.

Any party desiring to take the deposition of a witness shall make application in writing, setting out the reasons why such deposition should be taken and stating the time when, the place where, and the name and post-office address of the person before whom it is desired the deposition be taken; the name and post-office address of the witness, and the subject matter or matters concerning which the witness is expected to testify.

If good cause be shown, the Commission will make and serve upon the parties or their attorneys an order wherein the Commission shall name the witness whose deposition is to be taken and specify the time when, the place where, and the person before whom the witness is to testify, but such time and place and the person before whom the deposition is to be taken so specified in the Commission's order may or may not be the same as those named in said application to the Commission.

The testimony of the witness shall be reduced to writing by the officer before whom the deposition is taken or under his direction, after which the deposition shall be subscribed by the witness and certified in the usual form by the officer. After the deposition has been so certified, it shall, together with four additional copies thereof made by such officer or under his direction, be forwarded by such officer under seal, in an envelope addressed to the Commission at its office, Washington 25, D. C. Such deposition, unless otherwise ordered by the Commission for good cause shown, shall be filed in the record in said proceeding and a copy thereof supplied to the party upon whose application said deposition was taken or his attorney.

Depositions shall be typewritten on one side of paper only; letter or legal size; left margin 1½ inches; right margin 1 inch.

§ 23.17 Admissions of fact and genuineness of documents. At any time after answer has been filed the hearing attorney for the Commission may serve upon any respondent, or counsel for a respondent may serve upon the Commission's hearing attorney, a written request for admission of the genuineness of any relevant documents described in and exhibited with the request or of the truth of any relevant matters of fact set forth in such documents. Copies of documents shall be delivered with the request unless copies have already been furnished. Each of the matters on which an admission is so requested shall be deemed admitted, unless within a period designated within the request, not less than ten (10) days after service thereof, or within such further time as the Commission or the hearing examiner may allow on motion and notice, the party so served serves upon the party making the request a sworn statement either denying specifically the matters of which an admission is requested or setting forth in detail the reasons why he can neither truthfully admit nor deny those matters.

Service required hereunder may be made upon a respondent either by registering and mailing or by delivering a copy of the documents to be served to the respondent or his attorney or by leaving a copy at the principal office or place of business of either. Service upon the Commission's hearing attorney may be either by registering and mailing or delivering a copy of the documents to be served to such attorney.

§ 23.18 Hearing examiner's preliminary report. Except as stated in the next paragraph, the hearing examiner shall, as promptly as practicable after the receipt by him of the complete stenographic transcript of all testimony in a proceeding, make his preliminary report upon the evidence. He shall also transmit copies of this report to attorneys who appeared in the proceeding, and individually to any respondent unrepresented by counsel.

A hearing examiner's report is not a report of finding of the Commission. The preliminary report, like the final report hereinafter mentioned, is advisory only and is not binding upon the Commission.

§ 23.19 Briefs. At the conclusion of a hearing, the examiner shall prescribe the time and other directions for filing of briefs on behalf of parties to the hearing, if any party desires to submit a brief. The time within which initial briefs are to be filed, shall be calculated from the date of service upon the parties of copies of the examiner's preliminary report: Provided, That for good cause stated at the conclusion of the hearing, the examiner may eliminate the filing and service of a preliminary report: Provided further, That any interested party may apply in writing to the Commission for modification of any of the examiner's rulings concerning reports and briefs. Five copies of briefs shall be filed.

§ 23.20 Hearing examiner's final report. After expiration of the time for filing briefs, the hearing examiner, as promptly as practicable, shall re-examine the record, including the briefs, and shall make a final report to the Commission. If, in any instance, the recommendations of the final report shall so vary from the tentative recommendations of the preliminary report, that the Commission deems that notice and further opportunity to be heard should be given to the parties, it will so order and provide.

§ 23.21 The decision. Upon receipt of the hearing examiner's final report, the Commission shall review the report and shall make its own findings and determine whether any violation has occurred and whether such violation, if any, warrants the removal of the officer or employee by whom it was committed from his office or employment, and shall, by registered mail, notify such officer or employee and the appropriate State or local agency of such determination. The Commission may, if the circumstances warrant, refer the case back to the hearing examiner for the purpose of obtaining additional evidence.

§ 23.22 Appeal. Appeal procedure is prescribed in section 12 (c) of the act of August 2, 1939, as amended by the act of July 19, 1940. This subsection is as follows:

(c) Any party aggrieved by any determination or order of the Commission under subsection (b) may, within thirty days after the mailing of notice of such determination or order, institute proceedings for the review thereof by filing a written petition in the district court of the United States for the district in which such officer or employee resides; but the commencement of such proceedings shall not operate as a stay of such determination or order unless (1) it is specifically so ordered by the court, and (2) such officer or employee is suspended from his office or employment during the pendency of such proceedings. A copy of such petition shall forthwith be served upon the Commission, and thereupon the Commission shall certify and file in the court a transcript of the record upon which the determination or the order complained of was made. The review by the court shall be on the record entire, including all of the evidence taken on the hearing, and shall extend to questions of fact and questions of law. If application is made to the court for leave to adduce additional evidence, and it is shown to the satisfaction of the court that such additional evidence may materially affect the result of the proceedings and that there were reasonable grounds for failure to adduce such evidence in the hearing before the Commission, the court may direct such additional evidence to be taken before the Commission in such manner and upon such terms and conditions as to the court may seem proper. The Commission may modify its findings of fact or its determination or order by reason of the additional evidence so taken and shall file with the court such modified findings, determination, or order, and any such modified findings of fact, if supported by substantial evidence, shall be conclusive. The court shall affirm the Commission's determination or order, or its modified determination or order, if the court determines that the same is in accordance with law. If the court determines that any such determination or order, or modified determination or order, is not in accordance with law, the court shall remand the proceeding to the Commission with directions either to make such determination or order as the court shall determine to be in accordance with law or to take such further proceedings as, in the opinion of the court, the law requires. The judgment and decree of the court shall be final, subject to review by the appropriate circuit court of appeals as in other cases, and the judgment and decree of such circuit court of appeals shall be final, subject to review by the Supreme Court of the United States on certiorari or certification as provided in sections 239 and 240 of the Judicial Code, as amended (U. S. C. 1934 edition, title 28, secs. 346 and 347). If any provision of this subsection is held to be invalid as applied to any party with respect to any determination or order of the Commission, such determination or order shall thereupon become final and effec-time and place of hearing.

of any relevant matters of fact set forth the hearing examiner's final report, the order shall thereupon become final and tive as to such party in the same manner as if such provision had not been enacted.

24.37 Occupational therapist, P–1 and above.
24.38 Physical therapist, P–1 and above.
24.39 Mathematician, P–2 through P–8, where the duties involve highly complicated or fundamental scientific research or similar difficult scientific duties.
24.40 Instructor, meteorology, P–2, through P–5.
24.41 Human biologist, P–7.
24.42 U. S. Coast Guard Academy.

AUTHORITY: §§ 24.1 to 24.42, inclusive, issued under sec. 5, 58 Stat. 388; 5 U. S. C., Sup., 854.

§ 24.1 Medical officer; all grades—(a) Duties. With responsibilities proportionate to the grade, appointees perform professional duties as doctors of medicine in hospitals, in dispensaries or in the field. As examples of the work performed: Conduct physical examinations, give anesthetics, perform minor surgical operations, assist in major operations, change dressings, supervise care of patients, and diagnose and treat diseases; including the administration of parenteral medication, administer first aid, give first aid instructions, supervise a ward or other hospital or dispensary clinic, serve as Officer of the Day in hospitals, determine whether government employees have tuberculosis or other disease in a communicable form.

(b) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. A thorough understanding of the human body, its anatomy, its physiology, and its reactions to drugs; a thorough understanding of the symptoms of disease, the causes of disease and the treatment; a thorough understanding of the principles and procedures in the practice of all branches of medicine are necessary.

(c) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. It is a well-recognized fact that persons desiring to become physicians or doctors of medicine must obtain their education in a medical school of approved standing. There are no other sources in which knowledge necessary to provide for the health and welfare of the individual can be obtained.

§ 24.2 Dentist; all grades—(a) Duties. Appointees perform dental operations either under supervision or independently according to assignment. As examples of the work performed: In a large hospital or in a dental clinic make an examination of the oral cavity and independently or in consultation with dental specialists in the higher grades in the more unusual cases, make diagnoses of gums or pathological conditions and give treatment or perform dental operations as required; take, develop, and interpret X-ray films, make dental examinations, aid in medical diagnoses, and instruct, advise and assign dental interns, dental assistants, mechanics or others; make dental reports, requisition equipment, medicine and supplies, and act especially on the dental disabilities for compensation purposes or make dental ratings and authorize treatment.

(b) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. Applicants must have an understanding of the anatomy and physiology of the mouth and the relation of mouth conditions to the rest of the body; the types of diseases affecting the mouth, gums and teeth; and the cure of such diseases. They must understand thoroughly safe and approved methods for treating teeth and gums and for removing damaged or diseased teeth. They must know all the proper methods for filling of teeth, making of crowns, inlays, and all other related repairs on teeth. They must be able to repair mouth fractures and dental damages resulting from accident or wounds incurred in war.

(c) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The knowledge required for the performance of the duties described in paragraph (b) of this section can be obtained only by attending and completing a full four-year course in a dental school of recognized standing.

§ 24.3 Veterinarian; all grades—(a) Duties. The duties of this position include ante-mortem and post-mortem inspection of food animals and inspection of food products; administration of tests for disease, control and eradication of disease, sanitary inspection of establishments and plants. Appointees inspect dairies, make milk sanitation surveys, and advise state and local health departments on proper methods of milk sanitation for the United States Public Health Service. As examples of the work performed: Makes primary ante-mortem and post-mortem inspection of meat producing animals; detect diseases and/or other abnormal conditions; assist in enforcing sanitary requirements in meat-preparing establishments by making preliminary examinations or diagnoses and supervise the handling and preparation of meat and its products. Make preliminary inspection of cattle, sheep, swine, and other livestock in stockyards, and in the field for contagious, infectious and communicable diseases. Assist in the testing of cattle and other animals for tuberculosis, and the mallein testing of horses for glanders. Draw samples of blood from horses and other animals and prepare such material for shipment to a laboratory for serological and other examinations. Supervise the dipping of cattle and sheep in officially permitted solutions and the immunization of swine and other animals to prevent and control communicable diseases; make tests of dipping solutions to maintain them in a proper strength. Assist in the inspection of animals used in licensed biological establishments and in supervising the production of anti-hog cholera virus and serum for carrying out preliminary inspection, making preliminary diagnoses, and conducting the technique upon the results of which the decision of a superior is based. Organize and conduct animal disease control and eradication in small areas, such as one or more counties of a State, involving cooperative tuberculosis testing, tick or scabies eradication, or hog cholera control. Make scientific investigation of internal parasites of domesticated or wild animals; prescribe medical treatment of affected animals and determine the value of treatment and prophylactic methods.

(b) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The field of veterinary medicine and surgery is as complicated as that of human medicine and surgery and requires as intensive an education including intensive clinical experience. Veterinarians must have a full and complete knowledge of the anatomy, physiology, biochemistry, and functioning of the animal body. They must know all the various types of approved medicines and the effects on the animal body. They must be capable of recognizing animal disease and of correcting such disease.

(c) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The knowledge required for the performance of the duties described in paragraph (a) of this section can be obtained only by attending and completing a full four-year course in an approved school of veterinary medicine. There are no other sources from which an individual may obtain this basic knowledge and training.

§ 24.4 Consultant in education, all grades—(a) Duties. The duties of educational consultants or specialists consist of advising school administrators, supervisors, boards of education, or other official school or community groups concerning technical phases of educational programs; providing assistance in planning curriculum content and methods of teaching; and advising local officials in the application of approved educational methods to their individual school and to their community problems.

(b) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. Thorough knowledge of one or more specialized fields of vocational, general, or cultural subjects; comprehensive grasp of the written material and instructional methods related to the specialized fields; ability to impart this knowledge both formally and informally; and an understanding of the relationship of special fields of knowledge to the needs of the school or the community as a whole.

In addition, experience in research, teaching, or administration of educational programs is required for most positions; the length, scope, nature, and quality of the experience varies with the grade of the position involved.

(c) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The method by which the basic knowledge and training can be acquired is by successfully completing, in a college or university of recognized standing, a full, four-year course leading to a bachelor's degree, and, in adddition, specialized study and training in the principles and methods of education. By such training the student learns under competent instructors, is guided in his reading and in his evaluation of materials read. He has access to well-stocked scientific libraries and to well-equipped laboratories; he is given an opportunity to observe various materials and methods of instruction in operation, and, in a controlled and supervised setting, can experiment for himself under professional guidance. The literature in the field of education and related fields is so voluminous that an individual cannot master it on his own initiative or by random study. Without this basic college training an individual cannot recognize significant social data or draw valid conclusions.

The duties of an educational consultant require more than usual knowledge in the educational and subject-matter fields, as well as leadership ability.

§ 24.5 Student nurse, St. Elizabeths Hospital—(a) Duties. The student attends classes which include theoretical study in the following subjects: Anatomy, physiology, microbiology, chemistry, psychology, sociology, social problems in nursing, introduction to medical sciences, pharmacology and therapeutics nutrition, foods, cookery, diet therapy, medical and surgical nursing, obstetrical nursing, nursing of children, psychiatric nursing. Classes are attended at which demonstration in the nursing care of patients for various types of diseases and conditions are given by nurse instructors. The students practice and return the demonstration to the instructors before being permitted to carry out any procedures on patients. Students then carry out the less complicated procedure on a specially assigned patient under close supervision of war instructors. As students gain more skill in carrying out nursing procedures and techniques they are then given more advanced nursing procedures in which they assume more responsibility in the nursing care of patients.

(b) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The student nurse is considered as a student in the same manner as a student who is learning to be a teacher, dentist, physician, or preparing for any other profession. The course requires three years and consists of a probationary term of six months, a freshman term of six months, a junior term of twelve months, and a senior term of twelve months. Completion of four years of high school, or its equivalent, with the subjects stated in paragraph (c) of this section is the minimum education necessary for a student entering a basic course in nursing.

The requirements of applicants for enrollment in the school of nursing at St. Elizabeths Hospital are necessary to meet the standards set by the District of Columbia Board of Nurse Examiners. Boards of Nurse Examiners are established by law and govern the standards for admission to accredited schools of nursing. If a school of nursing does not meet the standards, it loses accreditation. Nurses graduating from such schools are not eligible for registration as Graduate Professional Nurses, and would not be eligible to practice as such in the District of Columbia or in the States. In order to maintain its accredited standing, the exact requirements specified by the Board of Nurse Examiners for schools of nursing in the District of Columbia are necessary for entrancee as Student Nurse.

(c) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. To meet the standards set by the District of Columbia Board of Nurse Examiners, the Commission has determined that applicants must have been graduated from an accredited high school giving a four-year course. They must have completed at least 16 units of study, including: 4 units of English; 2 units of high-school mathematics; 2 units of science; preferably including general science, and a second science such as some form of chemistry or physics (home economics units do not constitute acceptable science units); and 2 units of social studies (1 unit must be United States history, except that one-half unit of civics may be substituted for one-half unit of United States history). (1 unit of study means one 36- to 40-week school year of study, five 40- to 60-minute class periods a week.)

§ 24.6 Graduate nurse, general staff duty or psychiatric duty—(a) Duties. Under supervision of the head nurse to perform general nursing duty or psychiatric nursing duty in the wards of hospitals which include the following: Administering or assisting in administering treatments and medications as prescribed by the medical staff; bathing critically ill patients, taking temperature, pulse, and respiration of patients, feeding patients, if necessary; supervising and instructing non-professional staff who give any type of nursing care to patients; charting and recording care and treatments given patients; performing duties requiring special training and experience; performing related duties as assigned which are of a professional nursing nature.

(b) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. To qualify for Graduate Nurse the Commission has determined an applicant must have the following minimum requirements:

(1) Graduation from a recognized school of nursing requiring a residence of at least two years in a hospital having a daily average of 50 bed patients or more; or where the course includes not less than six months' resident affiliation with a general hospital having a daily average of not less than 75 bed patients, or where the graduate has successfully completed a resident postgraduate course of not less than six months' duration in general nursing in a hospital having a daily average of not less than 50 bed patients.

(2) Registration as Graduate Nurse in a State or Territory of the United States, or the District of Columbia.

(c) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. Graduate Nurses are to be employed in hospitals operated by the Army, Navy, Veterans' Administration, U. S. Public Health Service and the Indian Service, and to a very large extent, the patients will be ex-servicemen and women in need of the best of medical care. The medical directors of the various Federal agencies have confirmed the requirements stated in paragraph (b) of this section as being the minimum training for the effective performance of the duties of the nursing positions.

§ 24.7 Graduate Nurse (Trainee)—(a) Duties. Graduate nurses appointed to these positions will receive a period of special supervised training ordinarily of 6 months' duration in hospitals operated by Federal agencies, following which, if they prove satisfactory, they may be promoted to the position of Graduate Nurse (General Staff Duty or Psychiatric Duty).

(b) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. To qualify for Graduate Nurse (Trainee), the Commission has determined an applicant must have the following minimum qualifications:

(1) Graduation from a full course in a recognized school of nursing requiring a residence of at least two years.

(2) Registration as Graduate Nurse in a State or Territory of the United States, or the District of Columbia.

(c) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The Graduate Nurse (Trainee) position is established in order to utilize services of Graduate Nurses who have not had training in a hospital having a daily average of 50 bed patients. The medical directors of the various Federal agencies have confirmed the requirements contained in paragraph (b) of this section as being the minimum training necessary for the effective performance of the duties of Graduate Nurse (Trainee).

§ 24.8 Agronomist (field operations), P–1, Soil Conservation Service—(a) Duties. The duties of an agronomist are, under supervision, to maintain and make preliminary interpretation of technical records of grass and legumes under scientific tests, including their climatic resistance, disease susceptibility, augmentation, germination and purity, and their response to environmental conditions of soil conservation culture; to plan crop rotations in accordance with proper land capabilities; to develop tentative pasture management plans in accordance with proper land capabilities, rotation with other crops, with the type and amount of livestock, with available irrigation facilities, and with any accessory pasture; to make chemical analyses tests of soils to determine their calcium and magnesium requirements for the production of any specific crop and to assist in developing a liming and/or fertilization program for the various crops and pastures produced; to take proper soil samples or to teach others the proper techniques of soil sampling for chemical determinations for nitrogen, phosphorus, potash and minor elements; to develop a strip cropping pattern for crop production in accordance with land capabilities, crops produced, and surface relief; to assist in developing a contour system of crop production designed in accordance with all other practices in soil and water conservation; to assist in developing a soil management system for commercial fruit production that will be in harmony with technical water disposal systems needed for the site, with biological, organic and inorganic components of the soil; to design and supervise the installation of proper vegetative engineering work in support of structural engineering installation; to aid in the development of land use capability tables and charts for his immediate area; and to supervise the technical phases of harvesting grass and legume seed, cleaning, seeding, and cultivating.

(b) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. Knowledge and training requisites for the successful performance of the duties of agronomist, include a thorough knowledge of the supporting sciences upon which agronomy is based, as well as intensive training in agronomy itself and an intimate working knowledge of the theory and application of the scientific agronomic principles employed in technical soil conservation practices.

(c) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The Commission is of the opinion that the only method by which persons may obtain the knowledge required to perform adequately the duties of an agronomist is through the successful completion in a college or university of recognized standing of the subjects specified below:

2 courses in chemistry.

3 courses in any one or in any combination of plant physiology, plant pathology, entomology, or bacteriology.

3 courses in any one or in any combination of principles of feeding livestock, animal husbandry, range management, principles of dairying, or poultry culture.

8 courses in farm crops, soils, or plant breeding of which at least 4 courses shall be in farm crops.

The student receives in such courses, competent instruction in the technical and theoretical subjects that he will have to apply as an agronomist, and works in well equipped laboratories. The scientific information thus obtained cannot be acquired by individual study because the necessary facilities for laboratory experimentation are not available. The requisite studies represent information from a variety of fields, and the student cannot cover the material except through a careful correlation of such material through directed classroom study and reading.

CROSS REFERENCE: For justification relative to Agronomist (Research) Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Plant Industry, see § 24.17.

§ 24.9 Soil scientist (field operations), P–1, Soil Conservation Service—(a) Duties. The duties of a soil scientist are, under supervision, to perform work in field mapping; to make physical land surveys involving identification of: inherent soil characteristics in the soil profiles such as the proportions and composition of the textual separates, nature and stability of the structural aggregates, properties with respect to soil consistence, conditions of oxidation and reduction, and amount and nature of organic matter, all as a basis for classifying the effective depth of plant root feeding zone, the amount of water and the nutrients available for plant growth; types of parent rock and soil material; geomorphic relationships including the differentiation of concave and convex land surfaces and slopes in relation to differences in soil and in susceptibility to erosion that have significance in use and management of land; losses of soil by accelerated erosion, distinguishing between those of wind and water; water table conditions both temporary and permanent; amount and toxicity of soluble salts; character and significance of stoniness, surface soil crusting, etc.; also to take soil samples; to write soil profile and land area descriptions; to assist in interpretation of physical land factors for the development of land capability classification; and to assist in preparing land use and management recommendations and applying such recommendations to the land.

(b) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. Knowledge and training requisite for the performance of the duties described in paragraph (a) of this section include a thorough knowledge of the supporting sciences upon which soil science is based, as well as intensive training in soil science itself, and an intimate working knowledge of the theory and application of the scientific principles employed in technical soil conservation practices.

(c) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The Commission is of the opinion that the only method by which persons may obtain the knowledge required to perform adequately the duties of soil scientist is through the successful completion in a college or university of recognized standing of the subjects specified below:

2 courses in advanced chemistry.

2 courses in plant science or bacteriology.

4 courses in either soil science or earth science, or in any combination of earth science and soil science.

The student receives, in such courses, competent instruction in the technical and theoretical subjects that he will have to apply as a soil scientist, and works in well equipped chemistry, bacteriology, and soil science laboratories. The scientific information thus obtained cannot be acquired by individual study because the necessary facilities for laboratory experimentation are not available. The requisite studies represent information from a variety of fields, and the student cannot cover the material except through the careful correlation of such material into directed classroom study and reading.

§ 24.10 Dietitians—(a) Student—(1) Duties. The duties of a student dietitian consist of individual and class participation in an advanced and technical training course under the guidance and direction of an instructor in dietetics and the immediate supervision of graduate dietitians. In this course the student receives classroom instruction and on-the-job training in the field of dietetics. This involves the preparation and analysis of menus; studying and analyzing food specifications, studying methods of food preparation, serving, and storage; supervision of regular and special diet service and all phases of food preparation including special diets; contacting patients regarding diets; conducting diabetic and other special diet classes; and performing other duties incident to the administration of a hospital dietary department.

(2) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. Since the training course for student dietitians is only 12 months in length it is necessary that persons entering this advanced course have already acquired a knowledge of the physical and social sciences upon which the field of dietetics is based. To comprehend the information and practical training presented in the course, students must have, and be able to apply, a knowledge of the physiology and digestive processes of the human body; the nutritional requirements of individuals of varying ages and occupations; the special diet requirements of persons suffering from a variety of diseases; bacteriological principles as applied to food spoilage and sanitation; and a background of the organization and administration of a hospital dietary department.

The Commission has determined that the duties of the position of Student Dietitian are such that they cannot be performed by a person who does not have 36 semester hours of study in a college or university of recognized standing provided that this study has included: 12 semester hours in chemistry (to include general, organic, and biochemistry); 6 semester hours in biology (to include human physiology and bacteriology); 6 semester hours in foods (to include food preparation and meal planning); 6 semester hours in nutrition and diet in disease; 6 semester hours in institution management (to include quantity cookery, and organization and management).

(3) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The only method known by which persons may obtain the basic knowledge required to perform adequately the duties of a student dietitian is through the completion of the courses outlined in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph. The student receives, in such courses, competent instruction in the technical and theoretical subjects that she will have to apply as a dietitian, and works in well-equipped chemistry, physiology, bacteriology, foods, and nutrition laboratories. The scientific information thus obtained cannot be acquired by individual study because the necessary facilities for laboratory experimentation are not available. Requisite studies other than the biological and physical sciences represent information from such a variety of fields that the student cannot cover the material except through the careful correlation of such material into directed classroom study and reading.

(b) Staff (SP–5 and P–1)—(1) Duties. With varying degrees of responsibility at the different grade levels, a dietitian performs or supervises the performance of other dietitians in the following duties: Planning and supervising the preparation and serving of therapeutic diets, charting components and measurements daily for conformance with type of diet prescribed by the doctors; conferring with physicians, and patients regarding prescribed diets, and instructing patients in the composition and preparation of discharge diets as required; planning and supervising the preparation and serving of the basic diet for patients and hospital personnel; compiling periodic analyses for conformance with standards of the agency; making annual budget estimates of food and allotments; determining the kind and amount of food to be procured; serving as a member of the board of awards on contracts for perishable food items; requisitioning dietary supplies and equipment; overseeing the care and sanitation of equipment, and work and storage areas; specifying the work assignments of dietary employees; interviewing and selecting applicants for nontechnical employment in the dietary department; formulating in-service training courses for food handlers; and performing related duties as assigned.

(2) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The duties of a dietitian require that she be able to apply in her daily work a knowledge of the physiology and digestive processes of the human body; the nutritional requirements of individuals of varying ages and occupations; the special diet requirements of persons suffering from a variety of diseases; bacteriological principles as applied to food spoilage and sanitation; and the organization and administration of a hospital dietary department.

The Commission has determined that the duties of dietitians at all levels are such that they cannot be performed by a person who does not have 36 semester hours of study in a college or university of recognized standing: Provided, That this study has included: 12 semester hours in chemistry (to include general, organic, and biochemistry); 6 semester hours in biology (to include human physiology and bacteriology); 6 semester hours in foods (to include food preparation and meal planning); 6 semester hours in nutrition and diet in disease; 6 semester hours in institution management (to include quantity cookery, and organization and management). The possession of a bachelor's degree in dietetics or institutional management from a college or university of recognized standing will be accepted as meeting the educational requirement for these positions.

(3) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The Commission has determined that the only method known by which persons may obtain the basic knowledge required to perform adequately the duties of a dietitian is through the completion of the courses outlined in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph. The individual receives, in such courses, competent instruction in the technical and theoretical subjects that she will have to apply as a dietitian, and works in well-equipped chemistry, physiology, bacteriology, foods, and nutrition laboratories. The scientific information thus obtained cannot be acquired by individual study or through practical experience because the necessary facilities for laboratory experimentation are not available. Requisite studies other than the biological and physical sciences represent information from such a variety of fields that the individual cannot cover the material except through the careful correlation of such material into directed classroom study and reading.

NOTE: The provisions of paragraph (b) of this section are applicable to paragraphs (c), (d), and (e) of this section.

§ 24.11 Physical training, Veterans' Administration—(a) Physical Director, P–2, formerly SP–6 (Revised)—(1) Duties. The duties of a physical director are to direct the physical activities and the carrying out of therapy, both general and that prescribed for certain patients (neuropsychiatric); to promote athletic activities by forming teams and instructing the players; to direct indoor and outdoor classes in gymnasium ward work according to program; to conduct calisthenics in ward classes; to maintain equipment used in the work. This position exists only in Veterans' Administration Facilities.

(2) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. Knowledge and training requisite for the performance of these duties described in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph include knowledge of formal and informal exercise activities and their therapeutic application to specific and general treatment of the various types and needs of hospital patients—remedial and corrective exercises for general hospital patients, re-socializing exercises for psychotic patients, formal graduated exercises for regressed psychotic patients. The duties of the position require ability to observe intelligently the physical and mental reactions of patients and to make discerning reports to the medical staff so that an effective treatment program can be formulated and carried out.

(3) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The Commission is of the opinion that the only method by which persons may obtain the knowledge required to perform adequately the duties of physical director is through the successful completion of at least:

(i) 16 semester hours in physical education in a school of physical education, a college, university, or teacher training institution of recognized standing, including:

4 semester hours in anatomy, physiology, hygiene, or kinesiology;

4 semester hours in psychology, tests and measurements, or education;

4 semester hours in physical fitness, therapeutic or corrective exercise, or physiology of exercise;

4 semester hours in methods of physical education, organization and administration of physical education, recreational leadership, or techniques and fundamentals of sports.

In addition, at least 2 years of responsible experience in any one or any combination of the following types of experience:

Planning, supervising, or conducting athletic activities or therapeutic exercise for hospital patients;

Administering, supervising, or teaching physical education in schools or colleges;

Supervising physical activities or athletic programs in camps, clubs, community playgrounds, or settlement houses;

Service in or for the armed forces in physical fitness or athletic programs.

(ii) Completion of the requirements for graduation from a school of physical education, a college, university, or teacher-training institution of recognized standing with specialization in physical education, including at least 16 semester hours of work in the subjects listed in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph. In addition, at least 1 year of responsible experience in any one or any combination of the types of experience listed in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph.

(iii) Any time-equivalent combination of subdivisions (i) and (ii) of this subparagraph above: Provided, That at least 16 semester hours of work in the subjects listed in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph have been successfully completed. In any such combination, 1 year of study in a school of physical education, a college, university, or teacher-training institution of recognized standing with specialization in physical education may be substituted for each 4 months of experience. For 1 year of the required experience, applicants may substitute 1 year of graduate study in a school of physical education, a college, university, or teacher-training institution of recognized standing with specialization in physical education. This study must be in addition to that used for meeting the basic educational requirement.

(b) Assistant Physical Director, P–1—(1) Duties. The assistant physical director acts as full assistant to the physical director, P–2, acting in his absence and assists in initiating and executing a full program of calisthenics, athletics, and games for all patients for whom these activities are prescribed; planning and organizing physical exercise activities suited to the various types of neuropsychiatric patients; instructing, supervising, and directing hospital attendants assigned to assist in this work; interviewing patients, consulting with physicians, and reporting observation of patients' behavior reactions as helpful material for diagnosis and prescription for treatment; cooperating with the chiefs of all adjunct therapies in the promotion of group therapy; supervising the planning, building and upkeep of playing courts, athletic fields, bowling alleys, gymnasiums, swimming pools and other space allotted for physical exercise activities; arranging exhibitions and competitive sports events with outside organizations; preparing and submitting records, reports, etc., relative to the operation of this work.

(2) Educational requirement. Since this position is substantially identical although less responsible in nature than the duties of physical director, P–2, Veterans' Administration, the Commission has determined that the educational requirement established for physical director, P–2, covered in paragraph (a) (2) of this section, be the same for assistant physical director, P–1.

§ 24.12 Teacher; all grades—(a) High School and special subjects—(1) Duties. The duties of high school and special subject teachers consist of imparting basic knowledge of one or more subject matter fields of social, economic, vocational or cultural value to the student; training the student in effective, impartial thinking in the medium of a special subject; making use of the best methods of accomplishing these results; directing appropriate extra-curricular interests.

(2) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. Knowledge of various subject-matter fields; understanding of mental and physical characteristics of various age groups; knowledge of and skill in applying effective methods and techniques of instruction; and ability to evaluate the adequacy of methods employed.

In addition, experience in teaching is required for higher grade positions; the length, nature and extent of responsibility varies with the grade of the position.

(3) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The method by which this essential basic knowledge and training may be acquired is in regularly organized teacher training departments of colleges or universities of recognized standing, including, or supplemented by relevant courses in educational psychology, theory and methods courses in the field of subject-matter specialization, and practice teaching. During his training the student works under competent instructors; has access to well stocked libraries and to well equipped laboratories; and receives actual practice in teaching. The literature in most vocational and cultural subjects and in the field of education is so voluminous that an individual cannot master it by random study; guidance in reading is essential for mastery and proper evaluation of the materials in the field.

(b) Elementary teachers—(1) Duties. The duties of elementary teachers consist of organizing and conducting classroom teaching; teaching elementary school subjects in such a way as to lay a broad foundation for later learning; training in habits of thinking; and evaluating results.

(2) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. Knowledge of (i) mental and physical characteristics of various age groups, (ii) (accepted methods of classroom management, (iii) various subject-matter fields, and (iv) effective methods and techniques of instruction to meet a wide variety of needs of individual pupils as well as of groups; ability to apply such methods and techniques and to evaluate results.

(3) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The method by which this fundamental knowledge of methods of classroom instruction can be obtained is in regularly organized teacher training departments of colleges or universities of recognized standing. In such institutions prevailing practices have undergone analysis and experimentation, and those found to be most effective have been organized into relevant courses and a system of supervised practice teaching. During his training the student works under competent instructors; has access to well stocked libraries and well equipped laboratories; and learns a variety of methods and techniques which have been demonstrated as effective. The literature in the field of education is so voluminous that an individual cannot master it by random study; guidance in reading is essential for mastery and proper evaluation of the materials in the field.

(c) Teacher (academic subjects), Veterans' Administration facilities—(1) Duties. The duties of this position are to teach an academic subject or a combination of such subjects to enlisted men in reconditioning centers.

(2) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. To qualify for this work, applicants must have had at least 1 year of responsible experience in teaching academic subjects. Experience in teaching one or more subjects such as English, language, journalism, science, mathematics, history, above the elementary school level, may be offered to meet this requirement.

In addition, applicants must have successfully completed a full 4-year course of study leading to a bachelor's degree in a college, university, or teacher-training institution of recognized standing, with major study in education, including at least one course in practice teaching, provided that an additional year of the experience described above may be substituted for the required course in practice teaching. For this position applicants showing 12 semester hours in education will be accepted as having major study in education.

(Twelve semester hours in education are the requirements in some States for secondary teaching certificates, and twelve semester hours are all that are required by the New England and Southern accrediting associations.)

(3) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The method by which this essential basic knowledge and training may be acquired is in regularly organized teacher training departments of colleges or universities of recognized standing.

(d) Training specialist, War Department—(1) Duties. The duties of the position of training specialist are the duties of a teacher position, and consist of teaching non-English speaking persons, illiterates, and slow learners in the Army who do not meet the standards of literacy established by the Army; preparing daily lessons, classroom exercises, and maintaining necessary class records; helping maladjusted trainee by means of frequent conferences and by special tutoring and securing the aid of the personnel consultant in cases of pronounced maladjustment; and assisting the trainee in Army indoctrination.

(2) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties—(i) Education. Applicants must have completed at least a 3-year course in a college, university or teacher-training institution of recognized standing with major study in education including at least one course in methods of teaching reading, provided that an additional year of the experience described below may be substituted for the required course in methods of teaching reading.

(ii) Experience. At least 2 years' experience in any one or in any combination of the following:

(a) Teaching non-English speaking persons;
(b) Teaching illiterates;
(c) Teaching remedial reading classes;
(d) Teaching backward children;
(e) Teaching grades 1, 2, or 3 in elementary schools.

(3) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The method by which this essential basic knowledge and training may be acquired is in regularly organized teacher training departments of colleges or universities of recognized standing.

(e) Instructor (academic subjects), CAF–6, War Department Reconditioning Centers.

(g) Elementary school teacher, SP–4, War Relocation Authority.

NOTE: The provisions of paragraph (b) of this section are applicable to paragraphs (c), (f), and (g) of this section.

§ 24.13 Navy Department, instructor, school activities, schools at Quantico, Va., Lejeune, N. C., and Patuxent River, Md.—(a) Principal, P–3—(1) Duties. Serves as head of school; in this capacity, organizes and administers educational programs; advises on teacher selection; assigns teachers; supervises classroom procedures and instructional techniques; encourages faculty participation in programs of curriculum improvement; promotes extra-curricular activities; requisitions and assigns school supplies; prepares the school budget; maintains records; and performs such other duties as may be assigned.

(2) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The duties of an instructor, school activities, require that he be thoroughly familiar with the effective methods and techniques of instruction. He must be able to develop standards of instruction, to evaluate the effectiveness of the various methods used; and to offer constructive criticism concerning teaching methods and materials used by the classroom teachers under his supervision. In addition, he must know the basic principles of educational planning, organization, and management.

The enrollment in schools maintained by the Navy Department is extremely transient due to frequent shifting of Naval personnel from one assignment to another. In order that the pupils may be able to transfer their credits, the schools must meet the requirements of the Board of Education of the State in which they are located. Among these requirements is the provision that the principals must be properly certified. The following educational qualifications for certification of secondary school principals and superintendents in the States of Maryland, North Carolina, and Virginia are required:

MARYLAND

Superintendent and high school principal:
(i) Bachelor's degree.
(ii) Professional requirements—1 year of graduate work.
(a) For superintendent—In education, including school administration, supervision, and methods of teaching.
(b) For high school principal—advanced study related to high school branches and approximately two-thirds in education, including high school methods, supervision and administration.

NORTH CAROLINA

Superintendent and principal:
(i) Hold or be qualified to hold class A teacher's certificate.
(ii) Master's degree.
(iii) Professional requirements:
(a) Superintendent—18 semester hours in education, including—

The curriculum	2
Supervision	2
General administration	2
School finance	2

(b) Principal—12 semester hours in education, including—

The curriculum	2
Supervision	2
High school administration	2
Elementary school administration	2

VIRGINIA

High school principal (two options):
(i) Collegiate professional certificate and two years of successful teaching experience. (A collegiate professional certificate is granted to those who have a bachelor's degree from an accredited institution and have completed 18 semester hours in education.)
(ii) Collegiate certificate and three years of successful teaching experience. (A collegiate certificate is a four-year non-renewable certificate issued to those who have a bachelor's degree but have not completed 18 semester hours in education.)

Superintendent:
(i) Master's degree.
(ii) Professional requirements—15 semester hours in education, including graduate courses in educational administration and finance.

(3) Method of obtaining knowledge and training required. It is believed that the requisite knowledge and training can be acquired only in regularly organized teacher training departments of colleges and universities. In such institutions prevailing theories and practices of instruction have undergone analysis and experimentation, and those found to be most effective have been organized into relevant courses which are presented by competent instructors. During his training the student is guided in his study and reading by persons who know the literature in the field and who are therefore able to help him select from the mass of available professional literature that which is significant. He is given an opportunity to observe various materials and methods of instruction, and he undergoes assignments in practice situations and receives constructive criticism concerning his methods of dealing with them.

(b) High School Teacher, P–1 and P–2—(1) Duties. Under supervision, organizes and conducts curriculum activities in a particular subject-matter field or related fields in a high school; prepares instructional materials; instructs by means of discussions, demonstrations, and group activities; devises and administers tests or measurements of pupils' development; counsels and guides students to facilitate their adjustment; suggests revisions or modifications of the curriculum and techniques to adapt the education program to available facilities and to the personal characteristics of the students; and, as assigned, engages in other activities designed to lead the students into well-adjusted citizenship.

(2) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The Commission has approved education as a requirement for the position of teacher according to § 24.12 (a) (2).

(3) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. Inasmuch as the enrollment in schools maintained by the Navy Department is extremely transient due to frequent shifting of naval personnel from one assignment to another, children must be prepared to take up their work in any school in any State to which they may be transferred. The schools must therefore meet requirements for approval from the State Board of Education in which they are located. There is reciprocity between the States in the acceptance of students from an approved or certified school. The educational qualifications for this position are the current requirements of the State in which the position is located.

(c) Elementary Teacher, P–1—(1) Duties. Under supervision, plans, organizes, and directs the activities of elementary classes in government operated schools; provides instructional material for purposeful activities; instructs by means of group activities, demonstrations and discussions; plans or suggests modifications in curriculum as necessitated by changing needs; and, as assigned, engages in other activities designed to lead the students into well-adjusted citizenship.

(2) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The Commission has approved education as a requirement for the position of teacher according to § 24.12 (a) (2).

(3) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. Inasmuch as the enrollment in schools maintained by the Navy Department is extremely transient due to frequent shifting of naval personnel from one assignment to another, children must be prepared to take up their work in any school in any State to which they may be transferred. The schools must therefore meet requirements for approval from the State Board of Education in which they are located. There is reciprocity between the States in the acceptance of students from an approved or certified school. The educational qualifications for this position are the current requirements of the State in which the position is located.

§ 24.14 Office of Indian Affairs, Teacher, community school; elementary, junior and senior high school; home economics, junior and senior high school; agriculture, junior and senior high school—(a) Duties. Under general supervision to serve as teacher in an Indian school. Indian schools do not follow prescribed courses of study. Teachers are expected to draw upon the environment and upon their own general practical experience for much of the material for their educational program. Emphasis is placed upon free and spontaneous use of English, upon group discussions, and other informal processes. Teachers in Indian schools associate constantly with Indians, and it is necessary that they have a full appreciation of the Indian viewpoint and Indian culture, including native arts and crafts, music, and religious ceremonials. Indian service teachers are expected to be not only teachers in the usual sense, but to be active participants in the community in which they work and exercise educational leadership. They must be conversant with problems of rural economy and eager to elevate and dignify rural life.

The primary objectives of Indian schools are: To give students an understanding and appreciation of their own tribal lore, art, music, and community organization; to teach students through their own participation in school and government to become constructive citizens of their communities; to aid students in analyzing the economic resources of their reservation and in planning more effective ways of utilizing these resources for the improvement of standards of living; to teach, through actual demonstration, intelligent conservation of natural resources; to give students first-hand experience in livestock management, use of native materials in housing and clothing, in subsistence gardening, cooperative marketing, farm mechanics, and whatever other vocational skills are needed to earn a livelihood in the region; to develop better health habits, improved sanitation, and higher standards of diet with a view to prevention of trachoma, tuberculosis, and infant diseases; to give students an understanding of the social and economic world immediately about them and to aid them in achieving some mastery over their environment; and to serve as a community center in meeting the social and economic needs of the community.

(b) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. For teacher, community school (elementary), SP–4, applicants must have successfully completed two full years of study in a college, university, or teacher training institution of recognized standing.

For teacher, community school (junior and senior high school), SP–5, applicants must have successfully completed a full four-year course leading to a bachelor's degree in a college, university, or teacher training institution of recognized standing.

For teacher, community school (home economics, junior and senior high school), SP–5, applicants must have successfully completed a full four-year course leading to a bachelor's degree with major study in home economics in a college, university, or teacher training institution of recognized standing.

For teacher, community school (agriculture, junior and senior high school), SP–6, applicants must have successfully completed two full years of study in an agricultural college of recognized standing and in addition must have had two years of practical farming experience.

(c) Substitution. Additional study successfully completed in an agricultural college of recognized standing may be substituted year for year for the required practical farming experience.

§ 25.15 Range conservationist, P–1, Department of Agriculture—(a) Duties. Under supervision, but with individual responsibility for applying the fundamental scientific principles in the solution of range conservation problems, performs specific duties such as the following:

(1) Classifies and maps forage types, involving the identification of important forage and other native plants; secures basic information on the location and nature of the forage resources; evaluates the condition of the range in relation to the ecological stages of plant succession and determines whether it is progressing or retrogressing; determines proper rates of stocking and suitable grazing periods and systems of management based on utilization standards and the growth requirements of forage plants; and ascertains the need for range reseeding, rodent control, water development, eradication of noxious plants, and other range improvements required for the improvement and conservation of the range.

(2) Compiles and analyzes such data, and in correlation with information on the economic factors affecting management, prepares tentative recommendations and assists in the development of conservation or range management plans, requiring familiarity with grazing management practices and structural improvements, the conditions under which they are suitable, and the cost of their installation.

(3) Prepares information on feeding of domestic livestock on the basis of the nutritional requirements of animals and the local availability of feedstuffs; makes utilization surveys and instructs ranch operators in their use; evaluates the effectiveness of conservation practices and assists farmers and ranchers in establishing and maintaining such practices; keeps records and prepares preliminary reports and other informational material relative to the conservation and management of range lands.

(b) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. Range conservation is the application of a number of separate, but related sciences in the physical, biologic, and economic fields. It embraces a body of scientific principles regarding plants and animals, both as individuals and as they are affected by other plants, animals, climate and other factors influencing their existence, growth and production on the range. Range management is closely related to plant ecology and animal husbandry, and these in turn are based on certain fundamental plant and animal sciences. Therefore, knowledge and training requisite for the successful performance of the duties of the position include a thorough knowledge of the supporting sciences upon which range conservation is based, as well as intensive training in range conservation itself.

(c) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The Commission has determined that the only method by which persons may obtain the basic knowledge required to perform adequately the duties of a range conservationist is through the completion in a college or university of recognized standing, the courses specified below:

1 course in each of the following: Plant ecology, plant physiology, soils, elementary surveying, and systematic botany or plant taxonomy.

4 courses in range management (any combination of general range management; range utilization and maintenance; range history and laws; range surveys; range or ranch economics; range plants).

3 courses in animal husbandry (any combination of animal nutrition and feeding; breeds and breeding; livestock management; market classes of livestock; livestock production).

3 courses in any one or in any combination of agronomy, general botany, silviculture, forest management, wildlife management, or zoology.

All of the above courses must have been acceptable for credit toward the completion of a standard 4-year curriculum leading to a bachelor's degree in agriculture, animal husbandry, botany, forestry, science, or range management.

The possession of a bachelor's degree from a college or university of recognized standing with a minimum of 20 semester hours in range management or plant ecology or in a combination of these two subjects, or with a minimum of 10 semester hours in a combination of these subjects and 10 semester hours in a combination of animal husbandry, pasture management, botany, agronomy, or forestry will be accepted as meeting the educational requirements for this position.

The student receives, in such courses, competent instructions in the technical and theoretical subjects that he will have to apply as a range conservationist. Teaching staffs keep up-to-date on the most recent developments in their respective fields, and are in position to give instruction in basic scientific principles of range conservation which have been repeatedly tested and confirmed. The student has access to pertinent reference materials and works in well-equipped laboratories. The Commission is of the opinion that the scientific information thus obtained cannot be acquired by individual study because the necessary facilities are not available. The requisite studies represent information from a variety of fields, and it is believed the student cannot cover the material except through supervised progressive courses of study designed to provide a comprehensive understanding of the subject.

§ 24.16 Social worker (psychiatric and medical), Veterans' Administration, SP–6 and SP–7. (These positions have been reallocated to P–2, P–3, and P–4; effective July 1, 1945).—(a) Duties. The duties of a social worker (psychiatric and medical) with the Veterans' Administration are to assist veterans who are suffering from physical or emotional illness. In collaboration with the physician, the social worker promotes the veteran's best response to treatment by recognizing and alleviating emotional and social problems that threaten the recovery of the veteran and thus prolong the necessity for treatment. When the veteran's personal adjustment is threatened by the nature of his emotional or physical handicap or by social circumstances and relationships, the social worker helps the veteran to develop resources within himself and the capacity for utilizing existing resources to overcome handicaps and to attain maximum self-reliance and independence. The social worker participates in diagnostic, trial visit, and discharge staff meetings, and in conferences with individual physicians. At such meetings the social worker presents the social data necessary to the medical profession in making vital decisions regarding the lives of disabled veterans.

Social workers (psychiatric and medical) assist veterans in planning their future activities following the period of hospitalization in order that the transition from hospital life to community life may be facilitated. A determination is made as to the social factors, personal circumstances, or community attitudes that are likely to prevent the carrying out of the health measures recommended by the doctors, and assistance is given to the veteran in order to prevent rehospitalization. In carrying out this responsibility it is necessary for the social worker to interpret to social and health agencies and other organizations within the community, the health problems of individual veterans and to cooperate with such agencies in utilizing their resources in advancing the rehabilitation of veterans.

(b) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. In order to give adequate service to physically and emotionally handicapped veterans, the social worker must have a knowledge of basic medical information including symptoms of disease and accepted forms of treatment; medical terminology; and the principles of psychosomatic medicine. There must be a knowledge of the field of psychopathology, including the structure of the various psychotic or neurotic personalities, motivations of human behavior, and the clinical study and treatment of neurotic and psychotic individuals.

The social worker must have a knowledge of and skill in judgment in applying the principles and methods of social case work. The social worker must have training in interpreting technical medical or psychiatric information in such a way as to make it intelligible to patients, their families, and other lay persons. Moreover, a knowledge of the differentiation between the functions of psychologists, psychiatrists, physicians, nurses, and other medical personnel concerned with the case of the patient is necessary.

In order to prepare communities for receiving the disabled veteran and helping him to make a normal adjustment, it is necessary for the social worker to have a knowledge of the aims and methods of urban and rural community organization; and the ability to develop within local communities a sense of their social responsibility to the returning veteran who is mentally or physically handicapped. This entails understanding of such centers of community activity as social, fraternal, and industrial organizations, school centers, and community health facilities.

(c) Method of obtaining knowledge and training required. The Commission is of the opinion that the only method known by which persons may obtain the basic knowledge required to perform adequately the duties of a social worker with the Veterans Administration, is through the completion of one year of training in an accredited school of social work including supervised field work and courses in psychiatric or medical information. The student receives, in such training, competent instruction in the technical and theoretical subjects that will have to be applied as a social worker. A definite part of the training period is devoted to supervised practice in a controlled setting. During this field work period, the student acquires ability in applying the skills and techniques necessary for dealing with people who may not be so adjusted as to conduct themselves in a socially acceptable manner. This necessitates the development of a concept of acceptance of individuals, a recognition of their rights, and of their potentialities for change. The student works in a social welfare or health agency of acceptable standards with a limited number of selected cases; is trained in techniques of psychiatric interviewing and social case recording; participates in case conferences with psychiatrists, psychologists, and highly skilled social workers; and throughout the period works directly under a case work supervisor especially selected by the school. The scientific knowledge and skill obtained cannot be acquired by individual study because the necessary facilities and supervision are not available. Requisite studies represent information from such a variety of fields that an individual cannot cover the material except through the careful correlation of directed classroom study and reading with the supervised field work.

§ 24.17 Agronomist (Research), P–1 Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Plant Industry—(a) Duties. The duties of a research agronomist are, under supervision, to conduct experiments on one or more of the following problems concerned in crop production or improvement:

(1) The effect of cultural practices and rotation sequences on soil moisture, nitrate accumulation, availability of soil nutrients, and the effect of these and allied factors on the growth, yield, composition, and nutritive value of crops under varying soil and climatic conditions as determined by physical, chemical, and biological tests;

(2) The effect of rate, date, method of seeding, fertilization, and other factors on the growth, time of maturity, yield, and nutritive value of crops or crop varieties as determined by physical and chemical tests;

(3) The effect of applying irrigation water to crops in varying amounts and under differing physiological conditions of the plants and degrees of approach to the wilting coefficient of the soil on yields and nutritive values;

(4) The effect of method, time of beginning, frequency of cultivation, shading, and other effects of competitive crops, and the rate, frequency and kinds of chemical herbicides applied on the physiological reactions of the weeds, and on the storage of carbohydrate and protein reserves in the roots of perennial weeds, the relation of these reserves to the rejuvenation, growth, and reproduction of perennial noxious weeds, and the development of weed control practices based on all these relationships;

(5) The development by self fertilization and selection of inbred lines of corn or alfalfa and hybrids between these lines, or of new varieties of other crop plants by hybridization and selection, which possess specific genetic characteristics valuable in improving these crop plants such as (i) resistance to the diseases of the crops involved (smuts of corn, sorghum, small grains and grasses, etc., rusts of small grains and grasses, and the root rot and leaf diseases of all crops); (ii) resistance to insects attacking the particular crop, (aphids, stalk borers, hessian fly, root borers, chinch bugs, etc.); (iii) resistance to stalk breaking and lodging; and (iv) plant, physiological, and yield characteristics which contribute to adaptation of the new hybrid or variety for a given region or locality;

(6) The genetic analysis of plant materials in order to determine the proper crosses for obtaining desired combinations of desired characteristics in improved hybrids or varieties;

(7) Field tests of hybrids, varieties, fertilizers, and other field practices, using appropriate experimental designs so that data can be analyzed statistically, and by analysis of variance and other appropriate statistical methods obtain data on relative yields and other factors necessary to determine values for farm use;

(8) The production and maintenance of foundation seed stocks of improved inbred lines, parent single crosses, and improved varieties for distribution to farmers, and growing such seed stocks under conditions necessary for each crop which insures absence of contamination by physical mixture or foreign pollen in order to insure genetic purity and integrity of type.

(b) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. Knowledge and training requisites for the successful performance of the duties described in paragraph (a) of this section include a thorough knowledge of the supporting sciences upon which agronomy is based, as well as intensive training in agronomy itself and an intimate working knowledge of the theory and application of the scientific agronomic principles employed in technical crop production or improvement.

(c) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The Commission has determined that the duties of the position of agronomist are such that they cannot be performed by a person who does not have the following: 6 courses in crops, including crop breeding or genetics; 2 courses in soils; 2 courses in advanced chemistry; 1 course in physics; 1 course in plant physiology; 1 course in plant pathology; and 1 course in entomology.

The possession of a bachelor's degree in agronomy, or in agronomy and soils combined, will be accepted as evidence that the applicant has met the above requirements.

The Commission believes that the only method by which persons may obtain the basic knowledge required to perform adequately the duties of an agronomist is through the completion of the courses listed above. The student receives, in such courses, competent instruction in the technical and theoretical subjects that he will have to apply as an agronomist. He attends seminars and lectures, has access to a scientific library, and works in well-equipped laboratories. The scientific information thus obtained cannot be acquired by individual study because the necessary facilities are not available. The requisite studies represent information from a variety of fields, and the student cannot cover the material except through supervised progressive courses of study designed to provide a comprehensive understanding of the subjects.

§ 24.18 Office of Education—(a) Education specialist, P–4 through P–8—(1) Educational requirements. Completion of a full four year course in a college or university of recognized standing which must have included, or have been supplemented by, major study in education or in the particular field in which the duties as a specialist are to be performed.

(2) Duties. The duties of educational consultants or specialists consist of advising school administrators, supervisors, boards of education, or other official school or community groups concerning technical phases of educational programs; providing assistance in planning curriculum content and methods of teaching; and advising local officials in the application of approved educational methods to their individual school and to their community problems.

(3) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. Thorough knowledge of one or more specialized fields of vocational, general, or cultural subjects; comprehensive grasp of the written material and instructional methods related to the specialized fields; ability to impart this knowledge both formally and informally; and an understanding of the relationship of special fields of knowledge to the needs of the school or the community as a whole.

In addition, except for positions in the P–1 grade, experience in research, teaching, or administration of educational programs is required for most positions; the length, scope, nature, and quality of the experience varies with the grade of the position involved.

(4) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The only method known to the Commission by which the basic knowledge and training can be acquired is by successfully completing, in a college or university of recognized standing, a full, four-year course leading to a bachelor's degree, and, in addition, specialized study and training in the principles and methods of education. By such training the student learns under competent instructors, is guided in his reading and in his evaluation of materials read. He had access to well-stocked scientific libraries and to well-equipped laboratories; he is given an opportunity to observe various materials and methods of instruction in operation, and in a controlled and supervised setting, can experiment for himself under professional guidance. The literature in the field of education and related fields is so voluminous that an individual cannot master it on his own initiative or by random study. Without this basic college training on individual cannot recognize significant social data or draw valid conclusions.

The duties of an educational consultant require more than usual knowledge in the educational and subject-matter fields, as well as leadership ability.

(b) Director, Division of School Administration (Assistant Commissioner)—(1) Duties. The director, Division of School Administration (Assistant Commissioner), works under the general direction of the U. S. Commissioner of Education with full responsibility for nation-wide leadership in formulating developing, and executing the program of the Division of School Administration in the U. S. Office of Education, and the policies and plans for its most effective operation.

These responsibilities are carried through in such ways as the following: establishing cooperative arrangements with State and local educational authorities and with other agencies in planning and conducting essential studies of such problems as State participation in the financing of local school districts, legislation governing school textbooks, improved plans for school housing in rural areas, pupil transportation as a State responsibility, and business management in State departments of education and in county and city school systems; planning and conducting conferences, workshops, and training institutes; directing national surveys and studies and preparing reports and bulletins based on such studies; exercising national leadership in the improvement of school administration; and otherwise enabling the Office of Education to serve as a national clearing house of information on matters of State, county, and city school administration.

(2) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The duties to be performed require broad knowledge of educational programs and practices at various levels, standards maintained in various educational institutions, patterns and procedures in school administration, curricula both conventional and experimental, and philosophies underlying educational systems in this and other countries.

(3) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The Commission believes the only satisfactory method by which the requisite knowledge and training may be secured is through the training obtainable in recognized colleges and universities. In such institutions, prevailing practices have undergone analysis and experimentation, and those found to be most effective have been organized into relevant courses of instruction. Through such training the student receives competent instruction in specialized fields of education and is expertly guided in his selection of readings from available literature which is so voluminous that in the opinion of the Commission no individual could master it by random study.

The Commission has therefore determined that requirements for this position include the following minimum educational requirement:

Applicants must have successfully completed a full year of graduate study in a college or university of recognized standing with major work in school administration.

(c) Director, Division of Secondary Education (Assistant Commissioner), P–8—(1) Duties. Works under the general direction of the United States Commissioner of Education with full responsibility for nation-wide leadership in formulating, developing and executing the program of the Division of Secondary Education in the United States Office of Education and the policies and plans for its most effective operation. The divisional objective is to assist State and local authorities in promoting and improving the secondary school programs of the nation in the fields of organization and supervision, teacher training and instructional problems in the various subjects of instruction in secondary schools.

These responsibilities are carried through in such ways as the following: to analyze the need for and establish adequate research programs for the collection and interpretation of facts and information which will aid in the improvement of secondary education programs; to establish and effectuate cooperative arrangements with and through State and local educational authorities and with other agencies in planning and conducting essential studies of problems that lie within the purview of the Division's interests and functions (for example, analyzing and reporting trends in the development of the curriculum for secondary schools of the nation; instructional problems of secondary education as they relate to large and small high schools; urban and rural high schools, and high schools for white and negro youth); to provide expert and impartial consultative and field service in connection with the over-all Divisional program; to identify, describe, and evaluate innovational programs and practices; to cooperate with State boards or institutions in the administration of federal funds when and as required by law; to provide for and maintain liaison with officials of governmental and non-governmental agencies and organizations whose programs involve or are related to the constituent fields of work of the Division; to plan and conduct conferences, institutes and workshops, and address State, national and other organizations; to be responsible for the preparation of bulletins, reports and other published material covering all phases of Divisional activities; and otherwise to serve as a national clearing-house of information on secondary education.

(2) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The duties to be performed require broad knowledge of educational programs and practices at various levels, standards maintained in various educational institutions, patterns and procedures in school administration, curricula both conventional and experimental, and philosophies underlying educational systems in this and other countries.

(3) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The Commission believes the only satisfactory method by which the requisite knowledge and training may be secured is through the training obtainable in recognized colleges and universities. In such institutions, prevailing practices have undergone analysis and experimentation, and those found to be most effective have been organized into relevant courses of instruction. Through such training the student receives competent instruction in specialized fields of education and is expertly guided in his selection of readings from available literature which is so voluminous that in the opinion of the Commission no individual could master it by random study.

The Commission has therefore determined that requirements for this position include the following minimum educational requirement:

Applicants must have successfully completed a full year of graduate study in a college or university of recognized standing with major study in the field of secondary education.

(d) Chief, Instructional Problems, P–7, Division of Secondary Education—Duties. The chief, instructional problems, is responsible for exercising national leadership in the improvement of programs of instruction in secondary schools; formulates and directs national studies revealing current problems, objectives, and outcomes of instruction in English, foreign languages, social sciences, health and physical education, and other subject fields; arranges for leadership of conferences and training institutes; provides for various field services; establishes and maintains liaison with officials of governmental and non-governmental agencies and organizations concerned with secondary-school instructional problems; and directs the preparation for publication of manuscripts, reports, and articles reflecting the findings and developments in this field.

The specialist for social sciences and geography and the specialist for science assist the chief, instructional problems, in carrying out the duties and responsibilities described above.

Specifically, the specialist for social sciences and geography is concerned with secondary-school instructional problems in the social sciences (history, sociology, political science, economics, and geography), such as: the emphasis is to be given in social science instruction as a result of the new global geographical concepts due to more rapid means of communication and transportation; the organization of materials of instruction for developing ideals and attitudes for citizenship in a world society; the development of criteria to be used in evaluating the effectiveness of instruction; and the translation of a knowledge of political science into functioning civic activities on the part of students.

The specialist for science is concerned with secondary-school instructional problems in the natural sciences (physics, biology, chemistry, general science, geology, meteorology, aeronautics, gardening, floriculture, and other applications of the natural sciences), such as: the determination of the elements of the aeronautical sciences to be included in science courses; the differentiation of materials and methods of instruction in the natural sciences for students expecting to complete their formal schooling with high school graduation and for other students looking forward to collegiate specialization in sciences; and the relation of teaching of natural science in rural high schools to rural life and environment.

(2) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The duties to be performed require broad knowledge of educational programs and practices at various levels, standards maintained in various educational institutions, patterns and procedures in school administration, curricula both conventional and experimental, and philosophies underlying educational systems in this and other countries.

(3) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The Commission believes the only satisfactory method by which the requisite knowledge and training may be secured is through the training obtainable in recognized colleges and universities. In such institutions, prevailing practices have undergone analysis and experimentation, and those found to be most effective have been organized into relevant courses of instruction. Through such training the student receives competent instruction in specialized fields of education and is expertly guided in his selection of readings from available literature which is so voluminous that in the opinion of the Commission no individual could master it by random study.

The Commission has therefore determined that requirements for this position include the following minimum educational requirement:

Applicants must have successfully completed a full year of graduate study in a college or university of recognized standing with major study in education, including courses in the teaching or supervision of secondary-school subjects.

(e) Specialist for Social Sciences and Geography, P–6, Division of Secondary Education.

(f) Specialist for Science, P–6, Division of Secondary Education.

NOTE: The provisions of paragraph (d) of this section are applicable to paragraphs (e) and (f) of this section.

(g) Chief, Instructional Problems, P–7, Division of Elementary Education—(1) Duties. The chief, instructional problems, is responsible for exercising national leadership in the improvement of instructional materials and methods in elementary schools; formulates and directs national studies revealing current problems, objectives, and outcomes of instruction in reading, history, geography, physical education, safety education, science, music, art, mathematics, and other subject fields; arranges for leadership of conferences and training institutes; provides for various field services; establishes and maintains liaison with officials of governmental and non-governmental agencies and organizations concerned with elementary school instructional problems; and directs the preparation for publication of manuscripts, reports, and articles reflecting the findings and developments in this field.

The specialist, health instruction and physical education, is responsible for promoting and assisting in the development of improved programs of health instruction and physical education in the elementary schools; serves as a consultant to school superintendents, members of school boards, officials of teacher-training institutions, State departments of education, and professional organizations of teachers on instructional problems in the teaching of health and physical education, including problems such as: making effective use of information gained from school health examinations, determining the physiological knowledge desirable as a basis for health and physical education at various ages and grade levels, and developing and utilizing visual aids to health instruction.

(2) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The duties to be performed require broad knowledge of educational programs and practices at various levels, standards maintained in various educational institutions, patterns and procedures in school administration, curricula both conventional and experimental, and philosophies underlying educational systems in this and other countries.

(3) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The Commission believes the only satisfactory method by which the requisite knowledge and training may be secured is through the training obtainable in recognized colleges and universities. In such institutions, prevailing practices have undergone analysis and experimentation, and those found to be most effective have been organized into relevant courses of instruction. Through such training the student receives competent instruction in specialized fields of education and is expertly guided in his selection of readings from available literature which is so voluminous that in the opinion of the Commission no individual could master it by random study.

The Commission has therefore determined that requirements for this position include the following minimum educational requirement:

Applicants must have successfully completed a full year of graduate study in a college or university of recognized standing with major study in education, including courses in the teaching or supervision of elementary school subjects.

(h) Specialist, health instruction and physical education, P–6, Division of Elementary Education.

NOTE: The provisions of paragraph (g) of this section are applicable to this paragraph.

(i) Chief, European Educational Relations, P–7, Division of International Educational Relations—(1) Duties. The chief, European educational relations, is responsible for planning, developing, and directing a program for the further development of relationships to improve understanding and appreciation between the schools, school systems, colleges, universities, and other educational agencies of the United States and those of European countries; formulates and directs field studies of education in European countries; participates in formulating plans, policies, and programs for educational relations between the United States and European countries; provides expert consultative assistance to officials of State departments of education, school systems, colleges, universities, and other educational institutions in the United States and to school and college officials of European countries on educational matters; administers programs of exchange of professors, teachers, and students between the schools, colleges, and universities of the United States and those of European countries; directs the preparation and exchange between the United States and European countries of instructional materials for use in schools and colleges; and establishes and maintains liaison with other governmental and non-governmental agencies and organizations with respect to programs of educational relations with European countries.

(2) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The duties to be performed require broad knowledge of educational programs and practices at various levels, standards maintained in various educational institutions, patterns and procedures in school adminstration, curricula both conventional and experimental, and philosophies underlying educational systems in this and other countries.

(3) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The Commission believes that the only satisfactory method by which the requisite knowledge and training may be secured is through the training obtainable in recognized colleges and universities. In such institutions, prevailing practices have undergone analysis and experimentation, and those found to be most effective have been organized into relevant courses of instruction. Through such training the student receives competent instruction in specialized fields of education and is expertly guided in his selection of readings from available literature which is so voluminous that in the opinion of the Commission no individual could master it by random study.

The Commission has therefore determined that requirements for this position include the following minimum educational requirement:

Applicants must have successfully completed a full year of graduate study in a college or university of recognized standing with major study in comparative education or related courses basic to the understanding of European educational relations, such as: international relations, contemporary European history or political science, and social anthropology.

§ 24.19 Forester, P–1, Department of Agriculture—(a) Duties. Under immediate supervision, but with individual responsibility for applying the fundamental scientific principles involved, participates in the management or administration of forest lands or in research thereon by performing the following duties:

(1) Classifies and maps topographic features, areas of different soil and site qualities, forest types and condition classes; collects field data and computes growth of trees and yield of timber; collects data and information on markets, prices, and costs of logging and manufacturing applicable to individual timber tracts; prepares preliminary timber appraisals, management plans, and recommendations for silvicultural treatment of forests;

(2) Administers small timber sales on national forests, or assists farmers and others in the sale of timber from small forested areas; selects and marks trees for removal in accordance with established practices and policies; scales, measures, and grades logs and other forest products, and inspects cutover areas for compliance with the terms of the sale;

(3) Assists in the preparation and application of plans for the prevention and control of forest fires, tree disease epidemics, and outbreaks of forest insects;

(4) Classifies and maps areas as to soil, erosion, and cover conditions and prepares recommendations for planting or otherwise revegetating barren or open areas; selects aud times for collection of tree seeds; tests tree seeds for quality and germination; inspects the work of foremen in tree nurseries; trains planting crews and inspects their work; examines plantations and prepares reports thereon with recommendations as to future treatment;

(5) Makes measurements or observations on resources other than timber, such as forage, water, wildlife, and recreational values, on specified areas and assists in the preparation and application of correlated multiple use plans of management.

(b) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The Forest Service carries on specialized technical research for the whole field of forestry, not only on the national forests but also on land administered by other government agencies and on private land under a large and diversified ownership. The professional forester therefore, must be trained to perform skilled duties of a professional and scientific nature in managing and caring for forest areas. He must be able to diagnose and prescribe for the numerous diseases peculiar to forest trees, and to identify and eradicate the various insect pests, rodents, etc., in his area. Forest fires are such a universal threat to the forests of the country that special training in the principles governing their inception, spread, detection, and control is essential to professional status as a forester. Inasmuch as the national forests are valuable as grazing areas for livestock, and are also the home of vast numbers of wild game, the forester is concerned in the application of a number of separate, but related sciences in the physical, biologic, and economic fields. Forest management embraces a body of scientific principles regarding plants and animals, and the factors influencing their existence, growth, and production. Therefore, knowledge requisite for the successful performance of the duties of the position include a thorough knowledge of the supporting sciences upon which forestry is based, as well as intensive training in forestry itself.

(c) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The Commission has determined that the duties of the position of forester are such that they cannot be performed by a person who does not have the following: one course in dendrology or taxonomic botany; one course in forest ecology, silvics, or plant physiology; five courses in any combination of forest mensuration, silviculture, forest planting, or forest management; three courses in any one or in any combination of forest entomology, forest pathology, or forest fire protection; three courses in wood technology and forest utilization; two courses in any one or in any combination of forest economics, forest finance, forest valuation, or forest history, policy, and law; one course in range management or wildlife management; one course in soil science, forest soils, or geology; two courses in any one or in any combination of plane surveying and mapping, topographic surveying and mapping; or forest improvements.

All of the above courses must have been acceptable for credit toward the completion of a standard four-year curriculum leading to a bachelor's degree in forestry, science, wildlife management or range management.

The possession of a bachelor's degree in forestry from a college or university of recognized standing will be accepted as meeting the educational requirements for this position.

The Commission believes that the only method by which persons may obtain the basic knowledge required to perform adequately the duties of a forester is through the completion of the courses listed above. The student receives, in such courses, competent instructions in the technical and theoretical subjects that he will have to apply as a forester. Teaching staffs keep up-to-date on the most recent developments in their respective fields and are in position to give instruction in basic scientific principles of forestry which have been repeatedly tested and confirmed. The student has access to pertinent reference material, and works in well-equipped laboratories. The scientific information thus obtained cannot be secured by individual study because the necessary facilities are not available. The requisite studies represent information from a variety of fields, and the student cannot cover the material except through supervised progressive courses of study designed to provide a comprehensive understanding of the subject.

§ 24.20 Psychiatric social worker, P–1, War Department, Fort Story, Virginia. This position is substantially identical to the position of social worker (psychiatric) in the Veterans Administration described in § 24.16. The Commission has determined that the same educational requirement, that is, one year of training in an accredited school of social work to include supervised field work and courses in psychiatric or medical information, be included in the requirements for psychiatric social worker, War Department, Fort Story, Virginia.

§ 24.21 Range conservationist (Ecology), P–1, Department of Agriculture—(a) Duties. Under the immediate supervision of conservationists of higher grade but with individual responsibility for applying the fundamental scientific principles involved and for the accuracy of tests, observations, and measurements made, performs specific duties such as the following:

Assists in the conducting of research in the management, use, and improvement of forested and other range lands, including the laying out of experimental plots for studying ecological changes on the range in response to use by domestic livestock and game; the intensive mapping of such plots involving the identification of plants thereon; the collection of data on growth and utilization of range plants and their physiological response to grazing, under different soil and climatic conditions; the laying out, planting, and recording of success in establishment of reseeded forage species on experimental plots; the compilation and preliminary analysis of data resulting from such studies; the preparation of preliminary drafts of reports or portions thereof; and the performance of related duties as assigned.

(b) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The research problems involved in range conservation deal with an extremely complex set of relationships involving soil, water, climate, plants and animals. The range conservationist is concerned in the application of a number of separate, but related sciences in the physical, biologic, and economic fields. Range management is closely related to plant and animal ecology, and embraces a body of scientific principles regarding plants and animals, and the factors influencing their existence, growth and production on the range. Therefore, knowledge and training requisite for the successful performance of the duties of the position include a thorough knowledge of the supporting sciences upon which range conservation is based, as well as intensive training in range conservation itself.

(c) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The Commission has determined that the duties of the position of range conservationist (ecology) are such that they cannot be performed by a person who does not have the following: Seven courses in any combination of range management, plant ecology, pasture management, wildlife management, silviculture, forest management, animal ecology or animal husbandry, provided two courses in plant ecology or one course in plant ecology and one course in range management are shown; one course in plant physiology; two courses in systematic botany, plant taxonomy or agrostology; two courses in any one or in any combination of soil science, agronomy, or geology. All of the above courses must have been acceptable for credit toward the completion of a standard four year curriculum leading to a bachelor's degree in biology, botany, zoology, agronomy, or forestry.

The possession of a bachelor's degree from a college or university of recognized standing with a minimum of 20 semester hours in plant ecology, range ecology, or forest ecology or in any combination thereof, or with a minimum of 10 semester hours in plant ecology and 10 semester hours in any one or in any combination of plant physiology, systematic botany, soil science, geology, range management, pasture management, agronomy, forestry, or animal husbandry will be accepted as meeting the educational requirements for this position.

The Commission believes that the only method by which persons may obtain the basic knowledge required to perform adequately the duties of a range conservationist is through the completion of the courses listed above. The student receives, in such courses, competent instruction in the technical and theoretical subjects that he will have to apply as a range conservationist. Teaching staffs keep up-to-date on the most recent developments in their respective fields, and are in position to give instruction in basic scientific principles of range conservation which have been repeatedly tested and confirmed. The student has access to pertinent reference material and works in well-equipped laboratories. The scientific information thus obtained cannot be secured by individual study because the necessary facilities are not available. The requisite studies represent information from a variety of fields, and the student cannot cover the material except through supervised progressive courses of study designed to provide a comprehensive understanding of the subject.

§ 24.22 Biologist (Land Management), P–1, Soil Conservation Service—(a) Duties. The duties of a biologist are, under supervision, to assist with the planning and application of soil and water conservation practices requiring a special knowledge of biology and ecology; to appraise the interrelations of plants and animals as they affect soil and water conservation and land use; to assist with the ecological use of plants and animals, especially native species, in accordance with the capabilities of the land, particularly on eroded and waste areas unfit for tilled crops, pasture, or woodland; to identify and evaluate species of insects, birds, mammals and other animals, populations of which are influenced by the establishment of soil and water conservation practices and to suggest methods of reducing injurious organisms, especially by ecological methods; to prepare information on ecological aspects of soil and water conservation, including relation of conservation practices to populations of both beneficial and harmful wild plants, insects and other invertebrates, as well as rodents, predators, big game and other mammals; to assemble biological data useful in determining the effectiveness of conservation practices and to work with and assist farmers and ranchers with the use of ecological knowledge essential to the successful establishment and maintenance of such practices; to keep records and prepare reports and other informational material relative to biological and ecological aspects of soil and water conservation and land use; and to perform related duties.

(b) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. Knowledge and training requisite for the successful performance of the duties described in paragraph (a) of this section include a thorough knowledge of the supporting sciences upon which biology is based, as well as intensive training in biology itself. The work of the biologist requires an intimate knowledge of living things and of environmental conditions—organic and inorganic, physical and biotic. It demands particularly familiarity with environmental conditions as they result from past and present use of the land, and appreciation of the relationship between such conditions and living things. Particularly important is an understanding of the interrelationships between wild plants and animals and the practices being applied to the land in order to achieve soil and water conservation. The biologist must possess a fundamental knowledge of the life histories, habits, and habitats of plants, birds, mammals, and other animals, and of plant and animal communities as dynamic forces of value in land management.

(c) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The Commission has decided that the duties of the position of biologist are such that they cannot be performed by a person who does not have the following:

Twelve courses in biology, botany, zoology, or ecology which has included at least 4 courses in entomology, herpetology, ichthyology, mammalogy, or wildlife management;

Two courses in soil science or earth science or in any combination thereof;

Two courses in any one or in any combination of agriculture, horticulture, forestry, or range management.

The possession of a bachelor's degree from a recognized college or university with a major in biology including 12 or more courses in any combination of 3 or more of the following will be accepted as meeting the educational requirement for this position: ecology, botany, zoology, entomology, herpetology, ichthyology, ornithology, mammalogy, wildlife management, agriculture, forestry, range management.

In the field of biology a great deal of scientific, technical, and applied knowledge is available in the educational institutions of the country which offer courses in the biological sciences. The Commission believes that the only method by which persons may obtain the basic knowledge required to perform adequately the duties of a biologist is through the completion of the courses listed above. The student receives, in such courses, competent instruction in the technical and theoretical subjects that he will have to apply as a biologist. He attends seminars and lectures, has access to a scientific library, and works in well equipped laboratories. The scientific information thus obtained cannot be acquired by individual study because the necessary facilities are not available. The requisite studies represent information from a variety of fields, and the Commission is of the opinion that the student cannot cover the material except through supervised progressive courses of study designed to provide a comprehensive understanding of the subject.

§ 24.23 Clinical Psychologist P–2 through P–5 in Veterans Administration hospitals and out patient clinics and in U. S. Public Health Service clinics—(a) Duties. Appointees to these positions apply psychological principles and techniques to the diagnosis and treatment of maladjusted individuals. With a degree of responsibility appropriate to the grade, they administer and interpret psychometric tests of intelligence, achievement, vocational aptitude, or personality, or use other diagnostic techniques; confer with psychiatrists, physicians, social workers, and professional staff members; contact representatives of schools or other institutions or individuals to secure information as a basis for diagnosis; carry out psychotherapeutic treatment as affected by the psychiatrists; perform psychological research in the field of mental health; promote public relations by radio and personal addresses; collaborate in the preparation of informational material; perform related work as assigned. At the higher levels also direct and supervise a clinical psychological program.

(b) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. A thorough knowledge is required of the fundamental and supporting arts and sciences upon which psychology is based as well as intensive training in psychology and psychopathology. In order to make appropriate application of tests in a variety of situations involving maladjusted individuals, to analyze and interpret results of such tests in the light of available psychiatric, medical, social, and educational data, and to make recommendations for treatment of maladjusted individuals, it is essential that the clinical psychologist have knowledge of human behavior, of neurotic and psychotic variants, of basic medical information and terminology, and of the social forces that affect the development of the individual. In addition to the knowledge required, the clinical psychologist must have command of specialized techniques of measurement, of observation, and of interpretation of data.

(c) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The Commission has determined that the duties of the position of clinical psychologist at all levels are such that they cannot be performed by a person who does not have, in addition to the experience required for the various levels, at least 10 courses in psychology in a college or university of recognized standing, including

Two courses in abnormal psychology, clinical psychology, mental hygiene, or personality adjustment;

Two courses in clinical techniques such as individual testing, interviewing, or the case study method;

Two courses in differential psychology or tests and measurements (educational, vocational, psychological, personality, attitude), or statistics;

One course in human biology, neurology, or physiological psychology; and

Three courses in general, experimental, child, adolescent, social, animal, or systematic psychology or additional courses listed in the foregoing paragraphs.

Completion of all requirements for the Ph. D. degree in psychology will be accepted as meeting this educational requirement.

The Commission is of the opinion that the only satisfactory method by which persons may obtain the basic knowledges and skills is through the training given at recognized colleges and universities. Through such training, the student receives competent instruction in both the theoretical and the practical aspects of the subject matter that he will later apply as a clinical psychologist. Such scientific knowledge and skill cannot be acquired by individual study because the necessary facilities and supervision are not available. Requisite studies include pertinent information from a variety of fields which are so voluminous that the student could not cover the material effectively on his own initiative or by random study.

NOTE: The provisions of § 24.9 are applicable to this section.

§ 24.25 Educational Consultant, Grades P–7 and P–8, Army Air Forces.

NOTE: The provisions of § 24.4 are applicable to this section.

§ 24.26 Educational Retraining, Veterans' Administration—(a) Instructor, SP–6.

(d) Chief, P–3.

NOTE: The statement showing justification for educational requirements for Teachers, All Grades (see § 24.12), is applicable to the position listed above.

NOTE: The provisions of § 24.12 are applicable to this section.

§ 24.27 Pharmacist P–1 through P–4—(a) Educational requirement. Applicants must hold the degree of bachelor of science in pharmacy, or its equivalent, from a school of pharmacy approved by the Administrator, and be registered as a pharmacist in one of the States or Territories of the United States or in the District of Columbia.

(b) Justification of educational requirements. Section 5, 59 Stat. 676; 38 U. S. C., Sup., 15d, an act to establish a Department of Medicine and Surgery in the Veterans' Administration, provides that a person to be eligible for appointment in the Department of Medicine and Surgery as a pharmacist must "hold the degree of bachelor of science in pharmacy, or its equivalent, from a school of pharmacy approved by the Administrator and be registered as a pharmacist in one of the States or Territories of the United States or in the District of Columbia."

By authority of 59 Stat. 675; 38 U. S. C., Sup., 15–15n, the Administrator of the Veterans' Administration has established minimum qualifications for professional pharmacists' positions in that agency to include a degree in pharmacy or an equivalent degree from a four year standard college course. In view of the almost identical nature of duties of pharmacists wherever found it is not believed that different requirements may reasonably be established for pharmacists in Government agencies other than the Veterans' Administration.

§ 24.28 Chemist—(a) Grade P–1—(1) Educational requirements. Applicants must have successfully completed one of the following:

(i) A full 4-year course, in a college or university of recognized standing, leading to a bachelor's degree in chemistry. This study must have included courses in chemistry consisting of lectures, recitations and appropriate practical laboratory work totaling at least 30 semester hours; or

(ii) Courses in chemistry, in a college or university of recognized standing, consisting of lectures, recitations and appropriate practical laboratory work totaling at least 30 semester hours; and in addition, sufficient appropriate experience which, when combined with the required 30 hours in chemistry, will give the applicant the substantial equivalent of a 4-year college course.

In either subdivision (i) or (ii) of this subparagraph above, the courses must have included analytical chemistry, both quantitative and qualitative, and in addition any two of the following: (a) Advanced Inorganic Chemistry; (b) Biochemistry; (c) Organic Chemistry; (d) Physical Chemistry.

(2) Duties. The statements in subparagraphs (3) and (4) of this paragraph are with reference to those positions in chemistry of a highly involved technical nature having to do with original research in chemistry of a very difficult fundamental character or in other duties of comparable scope or scientific difficulty.

Appointees perform these duties in connection with a wide variety of chemical projects necessitating scientific research of more than ordinary difficulty and requiring a knowledge of other sciences connected with such chemical investigations.

(3) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. These positions are characterized by investigations in new, untried and unfamiliar chemical fields. Incumbents must have aptitude for and training in the methods of original research coupled with scientific curiosity, decided ability to discover new methods or compounds or to do work necessitating the use of new instruments and the adoption of unusual means. In order to perform these duties and so that there be less likelihood of failure in them incumbents must have received broad training which has furnished a very adequate comprehensive and preferably an exceptional background and foundation in Chemistry, Physics, Mathematics and related sciences. They must have a thorough knowledge of recent accomplishments in the field of chemistry and a thorough knowledge of modern literature in chemistry and its related sciences. They must also have been trained in the use of written language and be fitted for advancement into more responsible and exacting positions.

(4) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The only place to obtain broad reliable training in the fundamentals of the various sciences involved of the level and extent required for the proper performance of these duties is in a college or university of recognized standing where a full staff of competent instructors are available and where adequate laboratory facilities exist and suitable standards for completeness of the program and thoroughness of the methods of instructions are maintained.

(b) Grades, P–2 through P–8—(1) Educational requirements. Applicants must have successfully completed one of the following:

(i) A full 4-year course, in a college or university of recognized standing, leading to a bachelor's degree in chemistry. This study must have included courses in chemistry consisting of lectures, recitations and appropriate practical laboratory work totaling at least 30 semester hours; or

(ii) Courses in chemistry, in a college or university of recognized standing, consisting of lectures, recitations and appropriate practical laboratory work totaling at least 30 semester hours plus additional appropriate experience or education which, when combined with the 30 semester hours in chemistry, will total 4 years of education and experience and give the applicant the substantial equivalent of a 4-year college course.

In either subdivisions (i) or (ii) of this subparagraph, the courses must have included analytical chemistry, both quantitative and qualitative, and in addition, any two of the following: (a) Advanced Inorganic Chemistry; (b) Biochemistry; (c) Organic Chemistry; (d) Physical Chemistry. All of these courses must have been acceptable for credit toward the completion of a standard 4-year professional curriculum leading to a bachelor's degree in chemistry at a college or university of recognized standing.

(2) Restrictions of certification for highly technical positions. For those positions involving highly complicated or fundamental scientific research or similar difficult scientific duties, certification may be restricted to those eligibles who show the successful completion of a full college education in chemistry in a college or university of recognized standing.

(3) Duties. The duties of the P–2 to P–8 chemist are: to perform, conduct, plan, or direct scientific investigative, developmental, or fundamental research work in one or more of the specialized fields of chemistry; to collect, examine, and interpret scientific data; to coordinate assignments and programs; to prepare budget estimates for specified research programs; and to perform related duties as assigned.

(i) Those positions in chemistry requiring, as a positive requirement, formal education to the extent only of 30 semester hours of college study in chemistry supplemented by appropriate experience or education are characterized as follows:

The solution of specific problems of limited scope which does not involve the application of all the principles of the scientific fields related to chemistry—in general, problems where a broad viewpoint or training is not necessarily required; conducting important chemical analyses of material; directing the standardization and testing of well-known types of equipment or instruments; developing modifications of standard procedures, tests, techniques, etc.; making literature surveys of the field; and preparing, editing, and reviewing technical reports on the results of the work performed in the field of professional chemistry.

(ii) Those positions requiring the successful completion of four years of college or university training in chemistry are characterized as follows:

Critical investigative work requiring a sound knowledge of the fundamental laws, theories, principles and terminology of chemistry and related sciences and having for its objective the discovery of new facts, the development of new theories or principles, or a new interpretation of known facts, leading to a revision of accepted theories and laws.

The application in new ways of known complex scientific laws and facts to the development of new processes, techniques, devices or products.

The coordination of a broad research program requiring the combined efforts of several specialists in different scientific fields. The leader of such a program must have an understanding of the scientific principles, procedures and potentialities of the scientific fields involved, and the ability to coordinate the activities of the various specialists.

(4) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The minimum amount of formalized training required for the successful performance of the duties described in subparagraph (3) (i) of this paragraph consists of the completion of 30 semester hours of study in chemistry in a college or university of recognized standing. This study represents essentially the fundamental body of knowledge of the science of chemistry. It includes courses in the principal fields of chemistry (analytical, inorganic, organic, and physical) which are required to furnish the basic knowledge for any type of professional work in chemistry. In addition, it is supplemented by laboratory training in the application of the scientific principles involving the use of apparatus and equipment, and skills essential to work in chemistry. A familiarity with scientific literature, especially the methods by which such literature is compiled, classified, indexed and made available is also a necessary part of such education. And finally, the training will include experience in preparing technical reports in which it is necessary to organize material logically, to make clear distinctions between theory and facts, to make precise and unambiguous statements and to draw conclusions that are useful and fully warranted by experimental results.

The minimum amount of training required for the successful performance of the duties described in subparagraph (3) (ii) of this paragraph is the competition of a 4-year college course leading to a bachelor's degree in a college or university of recognized standing, including or supplemented by 30 semester hours of study in chemistry. Such a college course consists of laboratory work (including the use of complex apparatus) lectures, recitations, seminars, and selected reading in chemistry and other fields given under competent instruction and guidance. Such a curriculum is planned and integrated so as to provide a sound and comprehensive training not only in chemistry but in related subjects such as physics, mathematics, biology, engineering, etc. Training in the fundamentals of other fields affords the necessary breadth of knowledge as well as an understanding of the inter-relationships of different fields. New advances in science flow from the combination of new knowledge, sometimes from widely separated fields. The justification for requiring a full 4-year college course for certain positions is that it is the only known method by which a broad understanding of the fundamentals of various related fields may be acquired. Full recognition is also given to the importance of training in verbal facility and the development of facility in logical thinking and expression. The research scientist must be able to present the results of his work clearly and concisely both orally and in written form.

(5) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. Subparagraphs (1)–(4) of this paragraph contain statements of the minimum knowledge and training required to carry on successfully professional work in two broad areas in the field of chemistry. The only method by which such knowledge and training may be acquired is by attending a college or university where competent instruction and guidance is available, where courses are arranged in a systematic progressive schedule and where adequate laboratory facilities and libraries are provided, and where objective evaluations are made of a person's progress in acquiring professional and scientific information.

(6) Justification of educational requirement. The world of today is conscious that it is living in an atomic age and the people of the United States are aware of the urgent need for fundamental research and developmental work in all scientific fields in order to safeguard and improve the nation's security, health, and general welfare. The Congress has given recognition to the vital necessity for such scientific research and developmental work and has authorized, through appropriations, the spending of large sums of money for varied and important programs. These programs are carried on by the various departments and agencies of the Federal Government, and have resulted in very notable achievements in scientific research during World War II.

The advances in the various sciences, during World War II, have been outstanding and of major importance. Particularly is this true of the field of chemistry in all of its branches and further advances will depend on the number of highly qualified and properly trained chemists who are competent to explore the particular field in which a research problem is centered. Concurrent with these advances in the fields of science is the flow of new scientific knowledge, so that persons engaged in highly complicated scientific research in a specialized field of chemistry must of necessity possess the fundamental scientific knowledge characteristic of their own field and in addition that of certain allied fields in order that they may successfully attack these complex problems with which they are faced.

Private industry doing research in chemistry has long recognized the necessity for broadly trained men for professional chemists' positions who are well-grounded in the fundamentals of the sciences involved. They are required to have education represented by at least the attainment of a bachelor's degree in the science, and in many instances a doctor of philosophy degree with specialization in a particular field is demanded.

§ 24.29 Physicist, P–1 through P–8—(a) Educational requirements. Applicants must have successfully completed one of the following:

(1) A full 4-year course, in a college or university of recognized standing, leading to a bachelor's degree in physics. This study must have included courses in physics consisting of lectures, recitations, and appropriate practical laboratory work totaling at least 24 semester hours; or

(2) Courses in physics, in a college or university of recognized standing, consisting of lectures, recitations, and appropriate practical laboratory work totaling at least 24 semester hours; plus additional appropriate experience or education which when combined with the 24 semester hours in physics will total 4 years of education and experience and give the applicant the substantial equivalent of a 4-year college course.

In either subparagraph (1) or (2) of this paragraph, the courses must have included a fundamental course in general physics and in addition any two of the following: (i) Electricity and magnetism; (ii) heat; (iii) light; (iv) mechanics; (v) modern physics; (vi) sound. All of these courses must have been acceptable for credit toward the completion of a standard 4-year professional curriculum leading to a bachelor's degree in physics at a college or university of recognized standing.

NOTE: For those positions involving highly complicated or fundamental scientific research or similar difficult duties, certification may be restricted to those eligibles who show the successful completion of a full college education in physics in a college or university of recognized standing.

(b) Duties. (1) Those positions in physics requiring, as a positive requirement, formal education to the extent only of 24 semester hours of college study in physics supplemented by appropriate experience or education are characterized as follows:

The solution of specific problems of limited scope which do not involve the application of all the principles of the scientific fields related to physics—in general; problems where a broad viewpoint or training is not necessarily required; conducting important physical tests of material and scientific instruments; directing the standardization and testing of well known types of equipment or instruments; developing modifications of standard procedures, tests, techniques, etc.; making literature surveys of the field; and preparing, editing, and reviewing technical reports on the results of the work performed in the field of professional physics.

(2) Those positions requiring the successful completion of four years of college or university training in physics are characterized as follows:

Critical investigative work requiring a sound knowledge of the fundamental laws, theories, principles and terminology of physics and related sciences and having for its objective the discovery of new facts, the development of new theories or principles, or a new interpretation of known facts, leading to a revision of accepted theories and laws.

The application in new ways of known complex scientific laws and facts to the development of new processes, techniques, devices or products.

The coordination of a broad research program requiring the combined efforts of several specialists in different scientific fields. The leader of such a program must have an understanding of the scientific principles, procedures and potentialities of the scientific fields involved, and the ability to coordinate the activities of the various specialists.

(c) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The minimum amount of formalized training required for the successful performance of the duties described under paragraph (b) (1) of this section consists of the completion of 24 semester hours of study in physics in a college or university of recognized standing. This study represents essentially the fundamental body of knowledge of the science of physics. It includes courses in the principal fields of physics (heat, light, sound, mechanics, electricity and magnetism) which are required to furnish the basic knowledge for any type of professional work in physics. In addition, it is supplemented by laboratory training in the application of the scientific principles involving the use of apparatus and equipment, and skills essential to work in physics. A familiarity with scientific literature, especially the methods by which such literature is compiled, classified, indexed and made available is also a necessary part of such education. And finally, the training will include experience in preparing technical reports in which it is necessary to organize material logically, to make clear distinctions between theory and facts, to make precise and unambiguous statements and to draw conclusions that are useful and fully warranted by experimental results.

The minimum amount of training required for the successful performance of the duties described in paragraph (b) (2) of this section is the completion of a 4-year college course leading to a bachelor's degree in a college or university of recognized standing, including or supplemented by 24 semester hours of study in physics. Such a college course consists of laboratory work (including the use of complex apparatus), lectures, recitations, seminars, and selected reading in physics and other fields given under competent instruction and guidance. Such a curriculum is planned and integrated so as to provide a sound and comprehensive training not only in physics but in related subjects such as chemistry, mathematics, biology, engineering, etc. Training in the fundamentals of other fields affords the necessary breadth of knowledge as well as an understanding of the inter-relationships of different fields. New advances in science flow from the combination of new knowledges, sometimes from widely separated fields. The justification for requiring a full 4-year college course for certain positions is that it is the only known method by which a broad understanding of the fundamentals of various related fields may be acquired. Full recognition is also given to the importance of training in verbal facility and the development of facility in logical thinking and expression. The research scientist must be able to present the results of his work clearly and concisely both orally and in written form.

(d) Method of obtainining basic knowledge and training. Paragraphs (a) – (d) of this section contain statements of the minimum knowledge and training required to carry on successfully professional work in two broad areas in the field of physics. The only method by which such knowledge and training may be acquired is by attending a college or university where competent instruction and guidance is available, where courses are arranged in a systematic progressive schedule and where adequate laboratory facilities and libraries are provided, and where objective evaluations are made of a person's progress in acquiring professional and scientific information.

§ 24.30 Engineer, Trainee, SP–3, SP–4, SP–5—(a) Education requirement. Applicants must have graduated from an accredited high school and must have successfully completed the following high school work:

English	3 units
Algebra	1 unit
Plane geometry	1 unit
Solid geometry	½ unit
History	1 unit

(b) Duties. The duties of an Engineer Trainee position will consist of a combination of (1) on the job training at Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, and (2) scholastic training in Engineering at a university designated by the Air Matériel Command.

(c) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The applicant must be qualified to meet the university entrance requirements in order to enroll for scholastic training in Engineering. Graduation from an accredited high school and completion of the courses listed in the education requirement are required for admission into an engineering course at a college or university of recognized standing. The education prescribed above is therefore necessary for the adequate performance of the duties listed for the Engineer Trainee position.

(1) A full 4-year course, in a college or university of recognized standing, including courses in geology consisting of lectures, recitations and appropriate practical laboratory and field work totaling at least 30 semester hours; or

(2) Courses in geology, in a college or university of recognized standing, consisting of lectures, recitations and appropriate practical laboratory and field work totaling at least 30 semester hours plus additional appropriate experience or education which when combined with the 30 semester hours in geology will total 4 years of education and experience and give the applicant the substantial equivalent of a 4-year college course.

In either subparagraph (1) or (2) of this paragraph, the 30 semester hours must include or have been supplemented by any five of the following: (i) Physiography; (ii) structural geology; (iii) geophysics; (iv) mineralogy; (v) petrology; (vi) optical mineralogy; (vii) economic geology (metals, non-metals or fuels); (viii) ground water geology; (ix) invertebrate paleontology; (x) stratigraphy; (xi) sedimentation; (xii) map interpretation; (xiii) field geology.

(b) Duties. Appointees conduct or assist in professional geological work in one or more of the specialized fields of geology. This work usually involves scientific research of more than ordinary difficulty and requires a knowledge of the fundamental principles of other sciences connected with such geological investigations. In the higher grades in addition to performing difficult and responsible individual work many of these geologists occupy administrative and supervisory positions, planning the work of a group of geologists, or reviewing and directing the activities of lower grade geologists or assistants. The duties performed and the responsibilities assumed will vary with and be commensurate with the grade of the position.

Typical duties of geologists include: Making maps showing the location and character of rock formations, mineral deposits, ore deposits, underground water, etc., recording factual data about each and sampling systematically for laboratory study; examining and making generic and specific identification of fossil material requiring a knowledge of paleontology, systematic classification, the structure and evolution of various classes of organisms and the principles of nomenclature; making investigations of sedimentation resulting from accelerated soil erosion; classifying sedimentary deposits; preparing technically comprehensive and scientifically and economically sound reports including such items as the compilation of accurate maps from field triangulation, cadastral surveys and aerial photographs using photogrammetric and other methods; constructing cross sections, three-dimensional diagrams, charts and tables illustrative of observed, inferred or computed subsurface relationships of rock formations involved in folds, or offset by the several kinds of faults or cut by intersecting dikes or mineral bearing veins; the analysis, appraisal and summation of various kinds of geologic data.

(c) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. For the successful performance of the duties described in paragraph (a) of this section, the geologist needs a basic general knowledge of the principles of stratigraphy, sedimentation, structural geology, paleontology, ore deposition, and mineralogy; and a specialized knowledge of the following: The various types of sedimentary, igneous and metamorphic rocks; the rank and grade of coals; the porosity and permeability of rocks as potential reservoirs of oil and of underground water; the distinctive structural features and paragenesis of ore veins; the criteria for the evalution of unconformities, the geomorphic cycles that have sculptured the landscape and their correlation with Tertiary and Quaternary sediments; the processes of erosion and sedimentation; the applications of mathematics and the physical and biological sciences to geological problems.

(d) Methods of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The only place to obtain broad reliable training in the fundamentals of the various sciences involved of the level and extent required for the proper performance of the duties described in paragraph (b) of this section is in a college or university of recognized standing where a full staff of competent instructors are available and where adequate laboratory facilities exist and suitable standards for completeness of the program and thoroughness of the methods of instructions are maintained.

§ 24.32 Bacteriologist, P–1, P–2, P–3, (option, agricultural)—(a) Educational requirement. Applicants must have successfully completed, in a college or university of recognized standing, courses consisting of lectures, recitations, and appropriate laboratory work totaling at least twenty semester hours in either bacteriology or in any combination of bacteriology, biology and biochemistry which includes at least ten semester hours in bacteriology.

(b) Duties. Appointees conduct or assist in scientific, investigative or fundamental research work in one or more of the specialized fields of bacteriology. This work involves the careful collection of scientific data and the examination, study and interpretation of this data requiring a knowledge of the fundamental principles of Bacteriology and related sciences and the ability to apply them. The work also necessitates a knowledge of and ability to apply laboratory methods and techniques and requires familiarity with the apparatus and instruments used.

With supervision received and responsibilities carried varying in accordance with the grade occupied, appointees study, describe and identify organisms which are responsible for: the deterioration and spoilage of foodstuffs, the changes in and the improvement or degradation of soils, the precipitation from solution of valuable chemicals, etc. They work out details for carrying out plans and programs. They supervise the work of laboratory aides and technicians engaged in bacteriological examinations. They observe, tabulate, and study results and they write reports describing the work and discussing the results.

(c) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The science of Bacteriology includes the study of the properties of bacteria as living animal or plant organisms capable of producing beneficial or harmful effects on other organisms directly or by means of substances resulting from their growth or metabolic processes. Such study involves investigation of the physical and chemical changes that accompany the growth, development and degradation of the species and therefore demands a knowledge of the related sciences of Biology, Chemistry and Physics. The laboratory techniques of the latter sciences as well as those used in bacteriological examination such as methods of bacterial culture, development of strain virility, and the isolation of friendly bacteria, etc., is in turn demanded in order to solve the problems of the sciences. Closely supervised training and knowledge of specialized equipment and its use can only be obtained in institutions that have been thoroughly investigated and found to possess competent instructors, adequate resources, and the essential scientific laboratory equipment.

(d) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The technical knowledge required for the performance of the duties described in paragraph (b) of this section can be obtained only by attending and completing courses in a recognized college, university or medical school.

§ 24.33 Engineering positions involving highly technical research, design or development, or similar functions—(a) Educational requirement. Applicants must have successfully completed a full college course in engineering.

(b) Duties. Professional engineering positions which require the successful completion of four years of college or university training are those positions "involving highly technical research, design and development or similar functions", the duties of which include the performance of such functions as the following:

(1) A critical investigation requiring a high level of intelligence and a sound knowledge of fundamental scientific concepts, principles, and terminology and having for its aim the discovery of new facts or principles, the interpretation of new knowledge or the more complete interpretation of facts already known, or the revision of accepted conclusions, theories, and laws in the light of newly discovered facts; or

(2) The application of known complex scientific laws, facts and discoveries, in new and untried ways to develop new or improved processes, techniques, methods of production, devices, or products; or

(3) In general those scientific activities of an extremely complex nature in which new methods are devised, or new and advanced contributions to knowledge are developed.

(c) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. It is widely recognized that improvement in, and the safeguarding of, the health, security, and welfare of the nation and the modernization and safe and adequate design of large and complicated engineering structures is dependent upon the quality and extensiveness of the scientific and engineering research and development activities of the nation. These problems are recognized as of such vital importance to the activities and existence of the nation that the Federal government, through its various departments and agencies, is required by Congress to engage in scientific research and development.

In their infancy scientific and engineering research were of necessity concerned with the discovery of the simpler and more elementary facts, laws and processes of nature. However, so much has now been learned about the facts, laws, materials and processes of nature, and so complex are the concepts and tools of modern science and engineering that personnel engaged today in carrying out highly technical scientific and engineering research, design, or development and similar functions must possess special qualifications if their work is to be productive and in step with the times.

The more successful establishments throughout the country now require of applicants for research and similar scientifically exacting positions at least a bachelor's degree and frequently a doctorate in scientific subjects. Because of the complexity of scientific knowledge, concepts and specialized tools required for satisfactory achievement in modern engineering research, design and development, and because of the difficulty of acquiring proficiency in the scientific fields, agencies of the Federal government must have for certain positions in scientific work, personnel who have a sound fundamental knowledge in the sciences and the ability to apply this theoretical knowledge to the interpretation of data gathered in the fields of research or to the production or development of new processes, devices or techniques.

(d) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. Positions in the engineering field as defined in paragraph (b) of this section require the completion of a full four year course in engineering in a college or university of recognized standing to insure technical knowledge and training of the level and extent required for the proper performance of these duties. In the professional schools of such institutions a student receives competent instruction and guidance in the technical and theoretical subjects that he will have to apply in his profession. He attends seminars and lectures, has access to scientific libraries and works in well equipped laboratories provided by the professional schools. In these schools prevailing practices have undergone analysis and those found to be most effective have been organized into relevant courses of instruction. Through training received in the professional schools the student receives competent instruction in specialized fields and is expertly guided in his selection of readings from available literature which is so voluminous that no individual could master it by random study. The required studies represent information from a variety of fields and the student cannot cover the material except through supervised courses of study designed to provide a comprehensive understanding of the subject.

§ 24.34 Instructor, Academic Subjects, Apprentice Schools, Navy Department.

NOTE: The provisions of § 24.12 are applicable to this section.

§ 24.35 Geophysicist, P–2 through P–6—(a) Educational requirements. For those positions involving highly complicated or fundamental scientific research or similar difficult scientific duties, certification may be restricted to those eligibles who show the successful completion of a full college education in a pertinent field in a college or university of recognized standing.

(b) Duties. The duties of the P–2 to P–6 geophysicist are: (1) Planning, directing, and making geophysical observations in the field or at fixed stations, interpreting the results, preparing charts, tabulations, and securing other scientific information required in observations for interpretations, designing or assisting in constructing specialized operatives and equipment for use in connection with geophysical investigations; (2) conducting or assisting in geophysical prospecting, explorations, or other geophysical observations; (3) making reports, and preparing articles for publication.

These positions involving the duties described in subparagraphs (1)–(3) of this paragraph and requiring the successful completion of four years of pertinent college or university training are characterized as follows:

(i) Critical investigative work requiring a sound knowledge of the fundamental laws, theories, principles and terminology of geophysics and the related sciences and having for its objective the discovery of new facts, the development of new theories or principles, or a new interpretation of known facts, leading to a revision of accepted theories and laws.

(ii) The application, in new ways, of known complex scientific laws and facts to the development of new techniques or devices.

(iii) The coordination and planning of a broad research program requiring the combined efforts of several specialists in different scientific fields, in which the leader of the program must have a thorough understanding of the scientific principles, procedures and potentialities of the scientific fields involved, and the ability to coordinate the activities of the various specialists.
